AMERICAN GIRLS IN MEXICO.

Their Mission as Reformers Changes the Customs of Native Women of Fashion.

Uncle Jacob not long ago was riding in one of those trolleys here called eletos electrios, on his way down town to discover whether exchange was up in the skies or on the sea level. Just before his stopping place, La Calle de Gante, his flying machine, vulgo "car," passed another; in it he caught just a glimpse of an American girl, fair of complexion, beautiful in features and carriage, one of those American girls who make the United States famous, that marry princes, dukes, counts, millionaires or ordinary good men, as their hearts may desire or their caprice direct. It was all over in a moment, the young lady was only visible from the shoulders up. But the just correct dip of her hat caught the eye and, catching, held it. The drapery of said hat could not have been more graceful, yet the effect total was that of the utmost simplicity. Oh, artful simplicity, how thou drawest the hearts of men! Those large, blue eyes, clear, white and rosy complexion, round but firm chin, all so truly Anglo-Saxon, were but a fleeting and enchanting vision, just one long glance, says a writer in Modern Mexico.

Uncle Jacob fell into a brown study, and nearly forgot to leave the "electro" at the corner nearest "the man" he was going to see. He was reflecting what a change had come over these happy streets since the advent of the American girl. Uncle Jacob is a bachelor, a foreigner of many years residence in Mexico. Years ago, in the far-off New England states, a plump little maiden made that now so mineralized heart go pit-a-pat, pit-a-pat. He still remembers this charming dream of his youth, in soft white, muslin and pale blue sash, therefore his love for delicate, discreet colors.

Formerly we saw here mantillas, becoming to many, but often hiding more beauty than they allowed to be seen. Now, light and becoming hats, allowing the well-dressed hair of the Mexican senoritas to be seen, have taken their place. Formerly it was considered improper to shop, the families sending for muestras or samples, be it for a yard of manta or a $50 hat. This was the cause of much sending to and fro, with the ancient mode of no fixed prices, and then the feeling of distrust if "Fulanita" or "Sotanita" had bought at a lower price just the same article by a little more bargaining. Now all purchasing is done by the women going to the stores, choosing what they like, which is much quicker and better for buyer and seller.

Uncle Jacob remembers very well the small, dingy show windows filled with dress goods of hideous purple, eternal wine color, maroon color, guisada in Spanish and shrieking pinks and blues. Not that the Mexican girl has not innate good taste; she may like a little more color than her northern sister, but her love of flowers has taught her that delicate taste which we all admire in the dainty ball dresses of the Mexican senorita at society gatherings. But men, not women, bought the dry goods imported to Mexico, probably very often what Europe refused. Only the very rich could order robes from the extranjero. The American girl came, saw and conquered the shopkeeper. She plainly told him that she must have what she was accustomed to find in Uncle Sam's domains; he must have piques, taffetas, organdies, etc., in the proper quality and of stylish design, or she would, with the improved facilities, order from "at home" what she wanted. Hence the improvement of show windows and assortment. We now find seats of some kind for the weary shopper in all the stores. Parcels are sent home, and there are a great many places where you can get real ice cream.

Uncle Jacob was all ready to go into a reflection as to the improvement of largartijos and other admirers of el bello sexo when some one spoke, awakening him to actual life. This some one was much surprised to hear Uncle Jacob say "surely the American girl has had a mission."

Pew Blossoms Bring Fruit in Japan.

"I would hesitate to say that the Japs would rather fight than eat," said a Philadelphian who has spent considerable time in Japan, "but I do know that they would rather feast their eyes than their stomachs. They are great lovers of the beautiful, and that is the reason there is little fruit raised in Japan, in spite of the fact that there are plenty of fruit trees, and the climate is ideal. Instead of allowing the blossoms to remain on the trees and mature, they are cut off in sprays and are used for decorating the interiors of the houses. The Japs would much rather use the blossoms in this way than raise the fruit. Imagine an American using cherry blossoms for decorative purposes rather than eating the cherries. But, then, the American hasn't the poetic soul of the Jap."—Philadelphia Record.

Long-Lost Rings.

Two rings stolen from a house in Massachusetts 33 years ago lately came into the possession of George L. De Blois, of Boston, son of the original owner. They are mourning rings, family heirlooms, and were stolen by a discharged servant. They were recently purchased by an honest man, who, finding that they were marked with names not accounted for in the personality of the vendor, turned them over to the police, with the idea that they might have been stolen. The newspapers published descriptions of the rings, and Mr. De Blois came into his own from seeing the stories.—N. Y. Sun.

A HOME PROBLEM.

Women Themselves Will Settle the Question of Domestic Service.

The Chicago Women's club held recently a conference on "Woman In Modern Industrialism." It is a good sign that much of their discussion concerned the home and work in the household. Wise observations also many of the ladies made, not merely "shooting off their mouths," after the too frequent manner of women.

The home department of the club had sent this question to sociologists and housewives all over the country: "How Can the Servant Girl Problem Be Solved?" The sum and substance of the answers is as follows:

Recognize that they are working at a trade.

Pay the experts by the hour.

Give them share in the family life.

Give them the best labor saving inventions.

Clearly define their duties. Don't order suppers after the hired girl has ended her day's work.

Eliminate the talk about social superiority and recognize the servant as a human worthy of consideration.

DOMESTIC UNIFORM.

Teach ignorant mistresses that caprice is not popular with the women who sell their time for specific duties.

Perhaps the best suggestion of all is that we must look on housework as a trade, thus taking it out of the department of mere rough labor. The fool contempt for manual labor which has prevailed even in this country is happily vanishing and we are learning the truth that work with the hands is exactly as honorable as that with the mere head and at the same time much more healthful.

The lack of training of the servant girl has done much to bring her trade into obloquy, but that is now being remedied in the numerous schools of housekeeping that club women and others are conducting. The raw, ignorant girl is taken and taught that the very foundation of her trade is to be immaculately clean and tidy in her person, in her kitchen and about her work. Uncleanliness in these respects is the first of the unpardonable sins in housekeeping, and the next is wastefulness. On the part of the one hiring the maid an unpardonable sin is to treat the sister woman who works for her as an inferior, belonging to a lower order of flesh and blood than herself. Another unpardonable sin of the employer is to "nag" the domestic worker day and night and to demand of her more than any woman can perform.

The elevation of housework to the rank of a trade, in which certificates of proficiency are given by the domestic science schools, will go far to remove the social ban that now hinders so many fine girls from entering domestic service.

A regular uniform, made shirt waist fashion, has been suggested for the houseworker. In Great Britain such a dress has already been largely adopted. There it is black and white, black sateen or alpaca, with, of course, voluminous and oft changed aprons for work. The waitress and nurse on duty have dainty white aprons, with plain white collars and cuffs. For this country a uniform of very dark blue, with the white apron, collar and cuffs, has been suggested.

Such a uniform for domestic workers will come into vogue if the next step of progress which has been planned be taken. It is that all domestic laborers, while classed as expert workers, as much as the plumber or house painter, shall have, like these, regular hours of employment. In order that this may be achieved the houseworker will usually live outside her employer's residence in a home of her own, going on duty at the hour fixed and going off when her day is done. Lodging houses specially for domestic workers will give them the advantages of the independent existence enjoyed by the shopgirl and other feminine day workers. In some of the great flat districts of the large cities this plan is already in operation.

One organization of women in the United States is helping to bring harmony and system into the chaos of problems that beset the modern home maker. It is the Women's Domestic Guild of America. In New York these ladies maintain a housekeeping school, an employment agency and recreation rooms for domestic workers who are off duty. The organization investigates both mistress and maid before sending a woman to service. It is now placing regularly 100 workers daily.

MARCIA W. CAMPBELL.

PLAYING THE RACES.

WASHINGTONIAN SAYS IT IS AN EXPENSIVE SPORT.

He Attended the Bennings Meetings Nineteen Times at Enormous Cost of Hard Cash and Self-Respect.

On Thursday evening a worried and "all-in" looking Washington man spent an hour or so massing idle figures on a scratch pad.

"I'm just trying to dope out where I stand," he explained, disconsolately, to a Star reporter. "I've lost an average of $30 a day during the 19 racing days of the meeting. That makes $570. Of course, I won a few bets, but I've made allowance for those, and the average net loss per diem for me was $30. I neglected my business at the very least $500 worth, if not more. Let things get away from me, in my eagerness to make the track, that is to say, that would have brought me in $500 if they'd have fetched me in a nickel. Then, I've framed up about 912 different kinds of lies, and no two of them alike, explaining to customers how it was that I couldn't meet them, in order to make a wild dash for the track as the racing hour drew nigh.

"I've spoiled three suits of clothes, one rain coat and one overcoat and two pairs of shoes, in the betting ring, being jostled and joggled and pushed and pulled and tugged and hauled and knocked around and stepped upon and gouged and elbowed and prodded and chucked aside, and so on.

"I have suffered the physical and mental torture of having my horse left or nearly left at the post eight times, and there's no way of estimating just how much that's taken out of me. Every time a man goes through the grueling misery of being left at the post just so many days are lopped off his life. I know it. You can't tell me any different.

"I've been mistaken in the colors of my horse four times, so that on four occasions I have presented the idiotic and egregious spectacle of rooting violently and noisily for the horse sweeping with long strides into the stretch when he wasn't the one I played to win at all. The chagrin which afflicts a man who does this is also of so keen and agonizing a nature that it is bound to shorten his days.

"I have been grossly insulted by eight or ten different heavy-jawed bookmakers when, after having bet all of my money except a dollar, I have sneaked up to their stools and offered to make dollar bets. "Aw, I ain't takin' no dollar bets from pikers!' these bookmakers have overwhelmed me by growling at me out of one corner of their mouths, while people I knew standing about have chuckled at my discomfiture.

"I have been compelled to make all sorts of groveling explanations of my weakness to friends to whom, at the close of the Bennings meeting last fall, I swore that I never intended to look at another race as long as I lived.

"I have been so stingy with myself in order to have all of the incoming dough to bet that I haven't bought a necktie or a pair of suspenders or a collar since the middle of March, and the first thing I know, if I don't buck up, I'll be pointed out by my friends as a buzzard who got to his sad estate through playing the ponies.

"I have clung to trolley cars by my eyebrows in my eagerness to get to the track, and on one day I got to the track too late to play the 50 to 1 shot in the first race that I had been told was a sure thing, and that I found, when I arrived late, had won in a common canter by 15 lengths.

"I have growled like blazes when my wife told me that she needed $8.79 to buy a spring hat that had made a hit with her, when I've had in my jeans several hundreds of dollars of money carefully hoarded to chuck at the bookmakers in order to enable them to get their wives hats and things of the kind that my wife never even dreams of.

"I've paid 25 cents apiece for dozens of rotten race track cigars that I wouldn't use for cholera fumigators anywhere else.

"I forgot to mention the $1.50 a day that I paid for badges for straight 19 days in order to get a chance to throw my hard-wrung coin at the birds.

"I've got my nerves in such a jangled up state that I won't be able to transact any business until I begin to simmer down, which will take at least a week.

"In short, now that the tumult and the shouting have died away, I feel like an infinitesmal portion of fromage de brie.

"Great game, the sport of kings, hey?

"But what's the use?"

BRYAN AND PARKER.

New Yorker Called a Speechless Candidate.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The following letter from William J. Bryan to Mr. M. G. Palliser of New York city has been made public here:

"I am in receipt of your letter inclosing the call for a convention of protest to be held in New York on the 20th of June. I am very glad this step is being taken and assume that it is not the object of the protesting convention to send a contesting delegation to St. Louis or to question in any way the regularity of the Albany convention, but merely to enter a protest on behalf of a large number of New York voters who believe in honesty in politics and are opposed to the burglarious methods which are now being employed to foist upon the party a speechless candidate and a meaningless platform.

"The argument made in favor of Judge Parker is not that he is in any way fitted for the position, because his fitness cannot possibly be ascertained without a knowledge of his views on public questions. The argument made by his friends is that he can win, and they base their belief on the fact that as he has never said anything in connection with pending questions he has no record that can be used against him. His virtues are purely negative, and his friends think it sufficient that the Democrats send him forth as a candidate with the indorsement, 'We know nothing against him.'

"I mistake the loyalty and earnestness of the Democrats who were true to the ticket in 1896, when loyalty meant abuse and ostracism, if they are really in favor of a silent candidate whose most conspicuous supporters have in recent years been more familiar with Republican headquarters than with Democratic headquarters."

AT WEST POINT.

Grand Review by the Corps of Cadets—Handsome Saber Presented.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 15.—Secretary of War Taft, Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador; Lieutenant General Chaffee and Major General Corbin witnessed a grand review by the cadets in honor of the ambassador's visit.

There also was a special review of the corps of cadets for the Filipino commission, which has arrived here.

While the cadets were seated at dinner Colonel Lieberger, in behalf of the army officers and athletic association, presented Cadet Horatio B. Hackett, Jr., of Philadelphia, a member of the graduating class, with a handsome gold mounted army regulation saber. This was in recognition of Cadet Hackett's successful work in all round athletics and his excellent service with the football and baseball teams.

Pleaded Not Guilty.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 15.—In the United States district court in this city Benjamin L. Peer, formerly deputy appraiser of customs at Syracuse, pleaded guilty to fraudulently using $905 of government money. He has returned the money. He was fined $250. George Murphy pleaded guilty to robbing a mail bag at Schenectady and was sentenced to Auburn prison for one year.

Dale and Linden Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

MRS. PONCH.

GOELET-WHELEN WEDDING.

Miss Alice Roosevelt Bridesmaid at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—The wedding of Miss Elsie Whelen to Robert Goelet of New York was celebrated in St. Mary's chapel at Wayne by Bishop McVickar of Rhode Island in the presence of the most distinguished social gathering of the season.

Mr. Goelet was attended by Mr. Ogden Mills of New York as his best man, while Mrs. Craig Biddle, Miss Whelen's sister, acted as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Alice Roosevelt, Miss Marion Haven and Miss Norah Iselin of New York and Miss Adelaide Jordan, Miss Edith Bruen, Miss Frances Griscom, Miss Esther Harrison and Miss Pauline Biddle of Philadelphia.

Miss Whelen was given away by her father, Henry Whelen. The color scheme of the wedding was pink, the bridesmaids and matron of honor carrying pink parasols.

The bride made her debut four years ago and has been an acknowledged belle and beauty not only of this city, but also of New York and Newport.

A HITCH SOMEWHERE.

Perdicaris and Varley Will Not Be Free as Soon as Expected.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—United States Consul General Gummere, at Tangier, Morocco, has cabled to the state department indicating that the negotiations for the release of Perdicaris and Varley have not yet been completed. Just where the hitch is cannot be learned.

It is suspected that it relates to the vexed question of a guarantee by the United States and Great Britain of immunity for Raisuli and the faithful observance of the sultan's promises. As a result of these advices officials here have changed their opinion as to the date of the release of the captives and say that several days must yet elapse before they will be free.

The British minister at Tangier says there is a hitch in the negotiations which will probably delay the release of the prisoners, but does not state the nature of the difficulty.

It is reported that great uneasiness is felt at Fez on account of an offer made by one Kaid, who is some twenty miles distant from Fez, of $2,000 for the capture of any Christian in order that he may exchange him for his brother, who is a prisoner.

The United States cruiser Brooklyn will leave today for Gibraltar to take on coal and stores, but Rear Admiral Chadwick remains at Tangier.

French occupation has been urged as the only remedy for the serious internal condition of Morocco, as a revolution is practically certain within a couple of months, and it will be supported by the entire educated class. The sultan's authority is virtually nonexistent, and until the country is occupied Europeans are on the edge of a volcano. Should France avoid her responsibility America or Great Britain may be forced into energetic action, thus creating a situation similar to that existing in Egypt.

BRYAN AND BENNETT'S WILL.

Nebraskan to Come East on His Appeal Case.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 15.—William Jennings Bryan has sent word to his counsel that he will arrive in New Haven early on Monday next. He is now in Lincoln, Neb. His presence is desired here at the hearing on an application made by the widow of P. S. Bennett, of whose estate Mr. Bryan is an executor. Mrs. Bennett has asked that the sum of $75,000, now in the hands of Mr. Bennett's former partner, Mr. Sloan, be turned over to her. This matter comes up in the probate court next Monday.

Arguments are to be made before the supreme court within a few days on the appeal of Mr. Bryan from the decision of the superior court, which threw out the $50,000 gift provided for him in the sealed letter left by Mr. Bennett.

Senator Matheny Indicted.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 15.—State Senator M. F. Matheny of Raleigh county has been indicted by the United States grand jury for procurement of perjury.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Farmer has Burke beat a mile in outsiding. "Al." is as steady as a machine and nothing gets past him.

Alis now has the fastest outfield in the Metropolitan district and could not be improved upon. With a fast second baseman, the team will be invincible.

Manager Johnston has the sympathies of all friends of true honest support. He was besieged on every hand Saturday and his decision was the result of honest deliberation.

New Market defeated the Y. M. C. A. team on Saturday by a score of 10 to 6. Through an error the score was reversed in Monday's Press. This was the first defeat this season for the association team.

McLane, the Fordham College twirler, announced his intention of retaining his amteur standing. It cannot be possible that he has pitched two games for Westfield just for the "love of the game."

The friends of "Hughey" Gauven were more than pleased to see him on first Saturday. Rothfuss could not cover the initial any better. He caught everything coming his way and many were difficult ones. He also had his eye on the ball.

Manager Denman told Manager Johnston that he would like to pay the guarantee, but that the club would not stand for it. There is nothing honorable in this action. Alis was entitled to the money after playing five innings.

Manager Denman had little to say on Saturday, but he thought a great deal. He is a "foxy" manager and never loses a point. By his silence he neither commended or condemned the finale in Saturday's contest. He is now on his dignity.

The Alis left the field in the ninth inning of the game with Westfield on Saturday. There is just one conclusion —that the Alis are a lot of quitters. Now the Alis are thinking of canceling the remainder of the games with Denman's nine.—Elizabeth Journal.

Although Walton, the new shortstop for Alis, was a trifle nervous in Saturday's game, he put up the real article and is sure to become a favorite. When he made the sensational one-handed catch and received the applause of the crowd, he modestly accepted the praise.

Friends of "Smiling Jimmie" Montross are pleased with the showing he is making in the box for Scotch Plains. The Plainfield boy is now in the best of condition and it is claimed that he is strong enough to meet Alis. In connection with this many fans have expressed a desire to see the 'Plains team meet Alis and no doubt such a game would be popular.

Those who were afraid to have "Lefty" Davis pitch Saturday's game are now taking their hats off to the popular twirler. Although he has faced Westfield many times, he was just as effective and pitched all around McLane, of Fordham College. Manager Denman says he would like to have "Lefty" and gives him credit with being the best pitcher in this section.

It would be for the best interest of baseball in this vicinity if Captain Mallen should retire from the Westfield team. He is a moral disturber and always plays questionable ball. He is not popular with Westfielders, let alone outsiders. It would have been more to his credit on Saturday if he had not walked on the field with a bat in his hand. His language was far from that of a gentleman.

Manager Johnston, of Alis, announced today that he has secured Quinby to play second base on Saturday. Otherwise the team will remain exactly as it appeared at Westfield, except that Badgley, the Lehigh pitcher, will occupy the box in place of Davis, for a try-out. Davis will be on hand, as will also Captain Lauder, who will probably coach. It is to be hoped that Hoboken will decide to use Lindeman and Lamar as the battery.

Arrangements are now complete for the baseball game to be played on Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon between the colored Masons and Odd Fellows. This is the lineup for the Masons:

This will be the lineup for the Odd Fellows:

A. Smith, catcher; R. Hopkins, pitcher; R. Stevens, first base; R. Washington, second base; Tucker Johnson, third base; L. Cobb, shortstop; J. Carter, right field; J. Webley, center field; R. Harris, right field.

The Scotch Plains ball team is proving that a team of local players are capable of putting up as fast an article of baseball as any of the teams in his section. In the last three games they have played not a run has been scored against them. "Smiling Jimmy" Montross's work in the box will compare favorably with the other slab artists in this vicinity. Before the team was in condition (the second game of the season) they were pitted against Westfield. They were defeated by a score of 9 to 8, but Manager Denman had to make hay while the sun shone in two innings when the 'Plains team was in the air. For six innings they were shut out. The morning of Decoration Day Westfield played the Garwood A. C., defeating them by the score of 9 to 0; Scotch Plains on Saturday done the trick 14 to 0. In their game against the Aeolians the score was 2 to 2 for nine innings and in this game Manager Hand was sadly handicapped. The Aeolians put it all over Westfield the following week. The Garwood A. C. has defeated the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. This team is included in the schedule of the Alis Club. There is no doubt but what a game between a team of crack local players and Manager Johnston's team would create a great deal of interest among the lovers of the game and a series should be arranged with the 'Plains management. It would give the followers of the old City League a chance to see their favorites together again and from the game they are putting up the contest should be an interesting one.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

During the months of July and August it has been decided to suspend the Sunday-school sessions at Grace Episcopal church.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the German Reformed church, will hold its yearly meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the lecture room of the church for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year.

Bishop Charles C. Grafton, of the Episcopal Diocese of Fond du Lac, celebrated "pontifical high mass" in the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Edward the Martyr, in Jersey City, Sunday morning. The bishop, over his other vestments, wore a richly embroidered cope, and on his head rested a much jeweled mitre.

SILLY YANKEE MAID.

MARRIES A LAZY JAP AND IS DESERTED BY HIM.

An International Love Story with a Sad Ending—Girl Carried Away by Sentimental Notions and Whims.

Mrs. Irene Tyler Fuwa, a pretty American girl with fluffy blonde hair and blue eyes, lives with her parents at Georgetown, Mass., with her little boy, a black-haired, beady-eyed little Jap, in a Buster Brown suit.

Eight years ago Irene eloped with a Japanese student at Howard university. She married him at Annapolis, thinking he was a Tokio prince of some kind, and that she loved him. He deserted her. She followed him to Japan and discovered there that he was of humble origin, and that he had grown tired of her and of all things American. So she returned to America.

Irene Tyler was a college-bred girl, with a liking for things odd and quaint. In 1891 she left her home at Georgetown to accept a position as librarian at Howard university, at the national capital.

Tomotsu Fuwa, a good-looking young Jap, was a student at the university. It was supposed that he was an attache of the Japanese legation at Washington. But when the embassy was changed, he said he preferred to remain in America to perfect his education.

Tomotsu Fuwa took to American ways with the characteristic readiness of the Japanese. He wore good American clothes. He spoke English fluently. He adapted himself to American social ways, and took a lively interest in everything American.

Finally Fuwa enrolled himself as a student in the law department, and thus became a frequent visitor to the library. There he met Irene Tiyer, and she struck his fancy at once. He studied so hard, and consulted so many books, that he had to visit the library many times a day, and each time he lingered for a little chat with the pretty librarian.

It was not long before all the university knew that the Japanese law student had "serious intentions." Miss Tyler met him on equal terms. She went with him to social gatherings, walked with him in the graves and spacious grounds surrounding the university.

Everybody at Howard univesity knew how it would end. All knew tthat Irene Tyler believed Tomotsu Fuwa held a position of prominence under the government of the mikado. She even confided to some of her friends that he was a prince in disguise.

The members of the faculty tried to interfere. They told the infatuated girl that Tomotsu Fuwa had all the characteristics of an ordinary plebeian Jap, without any particular claim to genius. Their warning, however, only hastened the climax of the romance. In 1897 Irene Tyler resigned her position as librarian, went to Annapolis, and became Mrs. Tomotsu Fuwa.

She was proud of her husband—her Japanese prince in disguise—and took him to her parents' home for her honeymoon. Her parents were shocked, but accepted the oriental son-in-law with what grace they could. The villagers did not approve of the Jap. He was coldly received everywhere. Finally he tired of living in a village and one day kissed his wife and baby good-by and went home to Japan.

No word ever came to Georgetown, Mass., from Tokio. Mrs. Fuwa, however, with true American spirit, decided she would not be deserted. So she packed up her trunks, took her baby, and went to Japan.

There, after some search, she found her husband. He had lost all interest in things American. He had resumed native dress, habits and occupation, or, rather, indolence.

Mrs. Tomotsu Fuwa was compelled to earn her living for herself and her little boy in a strange land. She readily obtained a position as teacher of English, and soon became contented and happy. Except while teaching, she lived as all Japanese women did, and the costumes and pretty country delighted her. In other ways, however, life in Japan was a disappointment, and last year Mrs. Fuwa returned to Georgetown, where she now lives with her parents. She is writing short stories of life in Japan, and declares that when her little Hamao—the name she gave her boy—is older, she will recross the Pacific and make Japan her home.

Westfield's Offer.

By a unanimous vote of the Westfield Club the guarantee was paid to the Alis Club and a check was placed in the hands of the treasurer this morning. A committee, composed of Manager Denman, Clifford Pearsall and Randolph Perkins, were appointed to meet a similar committee from the Alis Club tonight and see what can be done toward continuing the series. Another proposition was decided upon to present at tonight's meeting. That is that a committee of three, two of which shall be Plainfielders, shall select the umpire who is to officiate at the other games.

President Randolph Takes Office.

L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, president of the Consolidated Exchange, who was re-elected on Monday, yesterday made a speech to the brokers on assuming the office for another year. Referring to the recent "housecleaning," he said that the foundation of a lasting success for an institution, as well as an individual, was strict honesty. The Consolidated Exchange was taking steps to put itself on a basis above reproach. The efforts that had been begun during the last year should and would be continued.

Fire Scare.

A fire scare upset the tranquility of James White's blacksmith shop on West Third street yesterday afternoon. No damage was done. The blaze was caused by the dropping of welding sparks in an overturned can of kerosene. There was a brief display of big flames for a short time, but Mr. White smothered them with burlap and ashes before the woodwork caught.

Money Paid Into Court.

Before Vice Chancellor Emery, at Newark, yesterday, an order of the Court was granted upon request of the plaintiff in the case of Anderson against the Catholic Benevolent Legion, placing the insurance money in the courts' jurisdiction where the question of its disposition will be decided. William Newcorn, Esq., represented the plaintiff.

Republican Committee Meets.

James F. Buckle and Evarts Tracy, epresenting the First and Second wards, were the only Plainfield representatives at the regular monthly meeting of the Union County Republican Committee, held at Elisabeth, last night. There was nothing special outside of routine business and the session only lasted ten minutes.

John Conway and Thomas Rafferty, of this city, joined the Order of the Eagle in Elizabeth Monday night.

PLEAS IN SPEAKEASY CASES

Several Plainfield "speak-easy" cases were called at Elizabeth, this morning. Larence Paoli withdrew his plea of not guilty and it is understood that he wil make a plea of non vult. The case will be called tomorrow. Bennett Britton, Thomas Babarette, Tony Carolero also entered pleas of non vult and they will be sentenced on Wednesday.

P. H. S. Medals.

The 100 per cent. medals were presented after chapel exercises at the Plainfield High School this morning to the cadets who have maintained a perfect standing in attendance during the spring drills. The list of winners has already been published in these columns.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Knigh's Templar decided yesterday to postpone their announced musicale until October. It was also voted to give a reception to the president of the Camden auxiliary in September. It is designed to have her give a talk to the local auxiliary upon the best means of conducting the organization.

SIXTY-TWO PUPILS LEAVE GRAMMAR SCHOOL

President of Board of Education Makes Short Address and Presents Diplomas.

EXERCISES IN DETAIL

REV. E. VICARS STEVENSON DELIVERS THE ANNUAL ADDRESS.

Superintendent Henry M. Maxson Talks to the Graduates—Katharine Gray, Harold Robins and Bertha Jones Recite.

Graduation exercises of an interesting character were held in Franklin School Assembly Hall, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Grammar School department of the Plainfield High School. In all there were sixty-two graduates, the names being published yesterday. There was a large attendance of parents and friends of the pupils.

The programme was opened with an invocation by Rev. George B. Shaw, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, followed with "Hail Him with Songs of Gladness," by a chorus from the graduating class. Miss Katharine Helen Gray then recited "The Story of the Rose," after which "The Voice of Song," a three part song for female voices, was given.

"The Combat," was the subject of a declamation by Harold Robins. Part one of the programme was concluded with two instrumental selections by B. A. Parcubek, violin; C. K. Shupp, 'cello, and J. Edmund Skiff, piano.

Miss Bertha Amelia Jones opened part second with a recitation, "Battle of Waterloo," followed with "Out on the Deep," by a chorus of boys. The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church.

Commencing with a few words on the comparative importance of education, Rev. Mr. Stevenson spoke briefly of the great educational advantages placed at the command of the children of the present time.

The system of public education which this country employs, said he, has opened to the youth of the country almost immeasurable possibilities for growth and developement and the burden of fault rests altogether with the pupils who, in the presence of such opportunities, fail to improve them to the full extent.

After the address, Superintendent Henry M. Maxson made a short address to the graduates.

In opening his remarks, Mr. Maxson mentioned the principle that the physical attributes of any person are an almost unfailing index to their mental tendencies and after dwelling briefly on this thought he expressed the hope that the record of the graduates would continue throughout their high school days, to be as good as it was in the grammar school.

The chief points on which he advised them, were to cultivate concentration of thought, which quality will render comparatively easy, tasks that appear impossible of execution to many people. Added to concentration, the speaker said, should be found self-control, which is sadly lacking in many cases and initiative, which often proves too abundant with some people, while lacking in others.

The exercises were concluded with the presentation of diplomas to the graduates by Dr. J. B. Probasco, president of the Board of Education and the singing of America by the school and audience.

MISS BRISCO A BRIDE.

Plainfield Girl Becomes Wife of a Newark Man.

Miss Julia Brisco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brisco, of 941 West Second street, and Laurence Toures, of Newark, were married in St. Mary's church at 7 o'clock last night by Rev. Andrew M. Egan, rector of the church. Miss Mamie Connolly, of Newark, was maid-of-honor, and Joseph Gray, also of Newark, was the best man. The bride was gowned in a traveling costume. After a honeymoon, the couple will live in Newark, where the groom holds an excellent position.

K. G. E. at Service.

A special musical service will be given Sunday afternoon at the Church of the Holy Cross under the direction of Choirmaster J. Edmund Skiff. A string quartette will take part and the service will be attended by Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle.

PUPILS HONOR THEIR TEACHERS

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN WITH THE MISSES HUBER AS GUESTS OF HONOR.

In honor of Miss Helena Huber and Miss Gertrude Huber, teachers in the Franklin School, who leave town for their home today, a literary and musical entertainment was given last night at the home of Mrs. Boss, on West Fifth street, by some of their pupils. There were about twenty guests present, including Miss Verplank, from the Borough High School.

This excellent programme was presented:

Piano solos, Miss Netta Newcorn, Miss Anna Boss, Miss Frances Mosher; piano duet, the Misses Netta Newcorn and Anna Boss; scarf drill, the Misses Frances Mosher, Helen Woolley and Anna Boss; recitations, Miss Helen Woolley, Miss Frances Mosher, Miss Hilda Bennett; soprano solos, Miss Hilda Bennett. The entertainment was concluded with a vocal selection by the Misses Frances Mosher, Anna Boss, Helen Woolley and Hilda Bennett.

GROOM IS A WESTERLY MAN

MISS ANNA UNDERHILL MORRISON WEDS W. A. EELLS.

Miss Anna Underhill Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Morrison, of 715 South avenue, and Walter Adelberg Eells, of Westerly, R. I., were married yesterday afternoon at 1:30 at the bride's home. The affair, while very quiet, was one of the prettiest of the season's home weddings, it being attended by the relatives and intimate friends of the couple.

The parlor was decorated with flowers and greens, the combination of colors lending a pretty effect. Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, officiated, using the Episcopal ceremony.

The bride was gowned in white silk, trimmed with old point lace and she carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was given away in marriage by her father. Miss Florence May Morrison, cousin of the bride, was the maid-of-honor. Her gown was also of white silk, trimmed with lace. She carried pink roses.

The wedding march from Lohengrin was rendered on the piano by Miss Ethel Guldberg, of South avenue, while the bridal party entered the parlor. There it was met by the groom and best man, Clarence Sopher. The party took its position beneath a floral bower, where the ceremony was performed.

Afterward a wedding dinner was served at which the bride and groom received the congratulations of the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Eells left during the afternoon for a two weeks' tour through the New England States. Upon their return they will reside for the present with the bride's parents. The couple received a number of handsome gifts, including silverware, cut-glass and bric-a-brac. The bride's gift to her maid-of-honor was a pearl stick pin.

The groom is an employee of the Walter Scott Printing Machine Company, and both he and his wife are well-known and popular among a large circle of friends.

Benjamin LaVere has been given the contract for the music. He will have a full band on the grounds.

Thomas Coffey, of North avenue, underwent an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday, for appendicitis.

MISS EMMA L. NELSON WEDS CHARLES S. DAY

Ceremony Takes Place at Home of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Nelson, the Bride's Parents.

EPISCOPAL CEREMONY

TWO MINISTERS OFFICIATE AT THE NUPTIAL SERVICE.

Frank Nelson Best Man—Miss Annie Wilcox, of This City, Maid-of-Honor—Many Relatives Present.

Beneath a bell of blush roses overhanging a white altar, Miss Emma Louise Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brown Nelson, of Dunellen, was married at 7 o'clock last night to Charles Stanley Day, of New Market. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, corner of Prospect avenue and Walnut street, Dunellen, and was attended by about one hundred relatives and near friends of the bride and groom.

As the Lohengrin wedding march was played on the piano by Miss Irene Day, the bridal party entered the parlor and advanced to the altar where they met the officiating clergymen, Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, and Rev. A. B. Phelps, pastor of the Bound Brook Episcopal church, who performed the Episcopal ceremony.

The bride wore white chiffon veille, trimmed with duchesse lace and carried a white prayer-book. She also wore a handsome diamond and pearl pin, the gift of the groom, her maid of honor, Miss Annie Wilcox, of this city, being costumed in white china silk and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

The best man was Frank Nelson, who has been a life-long friend of the groom. Alfred Osmun, a nephew of the bride, and Robert Reif, of Bethlehem, Pa., were the ushers. A large number of valuable presents were received.

The whole house was tastefully decorated with roses and daisies and was completely filled by the throng of well-wishers, some of whom came quite a distance, there being present relatives of both parties from Yonkers, Bloomfield, Atlantic Highlands, South Orange, Bensonhurst, Roselle, New York, Dunellen, Plainfield and Bound Brook.

Later in the evening the couple left for a six-weeks or two months trip through Canada, where the groom's sister will entertain them for a time and finally to St. Louis to visit the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, after which they will make their home in this vicinity.

FIRST BAND CONCERT TONIGHT

PROGRAMME FOR OPEN AIR FEAST OF MUSIC UNDER LAVERE'S DIRECTION.

Everything is in readiness for the first band concert of the season to be given tonight at the corner of Chatham street and Watchung avenue. A large grandstand has been erected and the grounds have been graded. The band stand is covered with a roof, thus allowing the music to be heard much better than it otherwise would. A nominal admission fee of ten cents will be charged those wishing to sit on the grand stand. Carriages and automobiles will be allowed on the grounds, plenty of room being provided for them.

Benjamin LaVere, conductor of the band, has announced this programme:

March, "Uncle Sammy," Holsman; overture, "Schauspiele," Bach; concert waltz, "Sweet Remembrance," St. Clair; cornet solo, "Columbia Polka," Rollinson, L. R. Anderson; medley, "Swanee River," VonTilzer; intermezzo, "Anona," Gray; selection, "Prince of Pilsen," Luders; descriptive, "Dance of the Skeletons," Allen; finale, "The Sentry," Hankins.

TALK ON GENERAL SYNOD.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck Gives Account of Its Work.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, gave an intensely interesting report last night on his visit to Grand Rapids, Mich., as a delegate to the General Synod of the Reformed church. He spoke in the highest terms of the hospitality of the residents of Grand Rapids, they doing everything in their power to make the stay of the delegates one of great pleasure. While away Dr. Schenck preached at Holland, Mich.

SPEAKEASY CASES ARE NOW BEING TRIED

David Ramozetti the First to Face Judge Vail at Union County Court Today.

VERDICT NOT GUILTY

CARRIE CARBONE THE SECOND DEFENDANT BEFORE THE COURT.

Witnesses Testify That They Purchased Liquor on Sundays at the Ramozetti and Carbone Shops.

The first of the Plainfield "speakeasy" cases was called for trial before Judge Vail at Elizabeth this morning. It was that of David Ramozetti, the fruit dealer, of Park avenue. The case occupied all of the morning, the jury retiring at 11:55.

At the outset the prosecutor addressed the court, saying that conditions in Plainfield are different from those in Elizabeth. It is a high license city, where saloon keepers pay a license fee of $750 and that they are asking for protection against these "speak easies."

Bernard Tracey stated that he visited Ramozetti's place on Sundays and purchased whiskey and Daniel Connors made a similar statement. W. G. DeMeza, Esq., counsel for the plaintiff, asked Tracey if he knew the difference between whiskey, ginger ale and beer. He replied in the affirmative, but the court refused to allow him to reply to Mr. DeMeza's question asking him if he knew what whiskey is made of.

Randolph Thorn, Isaac M. Traynor and John Sprague testified to having purchased beer and whiskey in the store. David Bell and Charles H. Coriell contradicted the statement made by Thorn and Traynor.

Ramozetti denied absolutely that he had sold liquor and was substantiated by his wife and William Boe, his clerk. He stated that Bernard Tracey was a common drunk.

The next case called was that of Mrs. Carrie Carbone and J. F. Mc Keon was the first witness. He testified to having purchased liquor in the defendant's store on Park avenue. The case will occupy the afternoon.

In the Ramozetti case the jury returned a verdict, this afternoon, of not guilty.

John Brown, another defendant, pleaded non vult and will come up for sentence Wednesday.

1,000 DEAD.

According to the latest information the number of dead and injured in the disaster on East river will be at least 1,000.

Elks Stalk to Easton.

Twenty-three members of the local lodge of Elks went to Easton last night to attend the institution of a new lodge at that place. There were Elks present from Trenton, Lancaster and Plainfield. The new lodge has a charter list of forty-two.

Miss Christiani Weds.

Marie Julie Christiani, daughter of Mrs. John E. Christiani, of this city, was married to Edward Warren Sawyer, of Paris, France, yesterday, by Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of All Souls' Unitarian church.

Dr. MacArthur, the Orator.

Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, New York, will deliver the address at the Plainfield High School commencement to be held tonight in the First Baptist church.

Hillside Golf.

The events at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Saturday will include the Gilbert cup finals at 10 o'clock in the morning, Men's Handicap and Golf Committee cups in the afternoon.

Designed by School Boy.

Upon the cover of this month's High School "Oracle" is a striking design in the form of a seal. It is the work of Charles F. Neagle, son of Sergeant John Neagle, the weather man.

Mr. McCutchen to Present Diplomas.

S. St. John McCutchen, of North Plainfield, a member of the State Board of Education, will present the diplomas to the graduates at the State Normal School at Trenton tonight.

Raising Cain.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cain, of Sycamore street, are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter at their home on Tuesday. She tips the scales at eight pounds.

PLAINFIELD CANCELS THE WESTFIELD SERIES

After a Prolonged Conference Between Representatives of the Teams, Alis Withdraws.

REASON FOR ACTION

MANAGER DENMAN SCORES MANAGER JOHNSTON'S POLICY.

Meeting at the Hotel Kensington—Westfield Refuses to Throw Out Saturday's Game From Count.

The series of baseball games between Alis and Westfield are off for this season. This decision was reached last night at a meeting of representatives from the Westfield Baseball Association and Alis Club, held at the Hotel Kensington. There was just one thing that effected this result. The Alis Club committee insisted that, inasmuch as there were so many questionable decisions in the disputed game, the contest should be thrown out and not be counted in the series. This the committee from Westfield refused to do under any circumstances and negotiations are now off.

Manager Denman, Clifford Pearsall and Randolph Perkins composed the committee from the Westfield Baseball Association, and the Alis Club was represented by Manager George Johnston, J. J. Slevin, Arthur Boone and Benjamin A. Mumford. The perplexing points in Saturday's game were discussed pro and con and after all was said and done, the result was announced.

To the impartial one, it seemed just for Westfield to throw out a game in which there were so many suspicious things and questionable decisions and start with a clean slate. By the action of the committee from Westfield it looked as though they felt somewhat guilty over the incidents in Saturday's game, but in order to continue the series made a proposition that a disinterested committee select an umpire for the succeeding games. This proposition would no doubt have been accepted had the game been thrown out.

Manager Denman declared to a reporter for The Daily Press after the game that the action of Manager Johnston in taking his team off the field should be condemned. He said that had such a thing happened in a major or a minor league, the game would not only have been forfeited, but the retiring team would have been heavily fined. Mr. Denman says that he wants to strictly adhere to recognized baseball rules and if he cannot do that he will give up the game entirely.

Now that the Westfield-Alis series is off the local club will fill the open dates with other strong teams.

It is generally regretted that the series is off for it will terminate good sport, productive of considerable money for both teams. However, it is believed that Westfield will suffer the most by the deal as the local support of the team is small in comparison to that given the Alis team here.

MR. BARNABY DENIES BLAME

FORMER PLAINFIELDER SAYS HIS STEAMBOAT WAS IN GOOD ORDER.

F. A. Barnaby, who lived on Plainfield avenue less than two years ago, is president of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company, which owns the General Slocum.

In a statement to the New York newspapers this morning, Mr. Barnaby declares that no blame for the holocaust and its attendant horrors can be laid upon his company. He says that every requirement of the law had been observed upon the steamboat.

Regarding life preservers and other equipment for the boat, against the adequacy of which charges have been brought by survivors of the disaster, Mr. Barnaby says that the vessel was inspected recently and that if any blame attaches for what happened in that direction, it rests solely with the steamboat inspectors.

"We did all that, and even more than the inspectors asked."

Miss Apgar to Wed.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Estella Apgar, of East Front street, to Elbridge H. Neal, of New York. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride next Wednesday evening, June 22, at 7:30 o'clock.

CONSISTORY'S BUILDING PLANS

TRINITY CHURCH OFFICERS APPOINT COMMITTEE TO OBTAIN DESIGNS.

More definite shape was given to the project to enlarge the Sunday-school room of Trinity Reformed church at the meeting of the Consistory last night. A committee was appointed to secure plans and specifications for an addition at the rear of the church.

Discussion hinged upon the question of one or two stories. Sentiment appeared to be about evenly divided. The chief objection advanced against the erection of a two-story addition was the cost. It was to settle that question that a committee, headed by F. E. Smith, was appointed to get plans, specifications and cost for both a one story and a two story addition. This data will probably be submitted at the next meeting.

In event of the erection of a two-story addition, the second floor will comprise a choir room and a study for the pastor. There is no study in the church at present.

METHOD OF IDENTIFICATION

JERSEY CENTRAL POLICE DEPARTMENT TO USE FINGER PRINT SYSTEM.

Chief of Police Dougherty, of the New Jersey Central, who has just returned from the St. Louis Exposition, where he attended the annual convention of police chiefs, was favorably impressed with what is known as the finger-print system in police circles and he intends introducing it in his department on the railroad. It may prove of benefit to him, and at the same time assist the various departments along the line of the road.

This system is considered by the chiefs of the big cities to be a valuable addition to the Bertillion system, which has been in use for a long time. The finger-print system to be effective must be accompanied by a photograph of the person whose finger-prints are kept as a record. The remarkable feature about it is that it is claimed that the fingers never change and that the prints made a year or more from now would be just the same as those made at the present time. The prints are made by the use of ink, the fingers being placed on an inked plate and then on a sheet of paper to be kept as a record. There is space for each finger and also for the fingers collectively.

In tracing a criminal through the use of the prints a powerful magnifying glass is used. It is claimed that two facts are noticeable in the examination of fingers. One is what is known as the whirl and the other the loop, that is the prints will either show circular lines or a loop. These statements were made at the convention by officers who have used the system for years.

Chiefs claim that without the use of photographs the system is worthless. A criminal's face and general makeup is likely to change frequently, but not so with the finger-prints. The two combined is said to be a sure way of identification. The strongest testimony in favor it was given by representatives of the Scotland Yards, who attended the convention.

If Chief Dougherty adopts the system for the railroad, it is possible that Chief Kiely may do the same here, when the Bertillion system is in use. It is said that he was also favorably impressed with the finger-print system.

BURIED WITH MASONIC HONORS

FRANK B. READ LAID AT REST AND MAUSOLEUM TO MARK SPOT.

Funeral services of the late Frank B. Read, who was killed in an automobile accident in New York, on Sunday, were held at the Hotel Endicott, New York, yesterday morning and in the afternoon the interment took place in Hillside Cemetery.

Masonic services were held under the auspices of Bedford Lodge, No. 74, F. and A. M.; Orient Chapter, No. 138, R. A. M.; Clinton Commandery, K. T., and Kismet Temple, of Brooklyn. Mr. Read was thirty-seven years old and was a brother-in-law of Mrs. W. T. Kaufman, of West Seventh street. He was engaged in business in New York as a paper manufacturer. It is planned to erect a costly mausoleum at Hillside Cemetery to mark the resting place.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN TEACHERS' CORPS

Many New Faces to be Seen Among the Group of Pedagogues When School Opens.

WHO NEW ONES ARE

COMPLETE LIST OF TEACHERS IN THE CITY'S PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Miss Ellen E. Niles to Return to Her Duties—Miss Ariadne Gilbert to Take Charge of English in High School.

Miss Grace Burroughs will spend some months in rest at her home and in special study for a position in the vicinity of Boston. Her place will be filled by Samuel B. Howe, Jr., who is now principal of the high school at Saugerties, N. Y. Mr. Howe was a classmate in Union of Henry Pearce, Plainfield High School, '98.

Miss Eloise Santee will spend the first part of the year at her home in Hornellsville, N. Y., in rest and study and will then take a position in one of the New York high schools. Her place will be filled by Mary Ethel Ferry, a graduate of Smith College, who is now assistant principal in the high school at Matteawan, N. Y.

Miss Ellen E. Niles, who has been taking a year's rest, will return to the school in the fall with restored health. As an additional teacher to take charge, specially of the work in English, Miss Ariadne Gilbert has been chosen. Miss Gilbert was a member of the class of 1898, of Plainfield High School, who has had long and successful experience in Plainfield in the Bryant School, but for the last two years has been doing special work in Johns Hopkins University and at Radcliffe College, in preparation for this position.

At the Whittier School there are no changes. In the Franklin School, Miss Charlotte C. Merrill, Miss Lottie B. Strong, Miss Geraldine McCauley and Miss Edna G. Potter have resigned. Miss Potter goes to Brookline, Mass., the most desirable school system in N. E. Their places will be filled by Miss Caroline M. Shaver, a graduate of New Paltz Normal School, now teaching at Northampton: Miss Alice C. Miller, Miss Mary Bannister, and Miss Mary L. Searle, of the Westfield Normal, and Miss Helena Huber, of the Cortland Normal School.

At the Washington School, Miss Elizabeth R. VanderVeer, a graduate of the Framingham Normal School, with many years experience, takes the place of Miss E. Adelia Beebe, who goes to the Brookline, (Mass.) schools.

The Bryant School loses Miss Marion E. Norton, whose place is filled by the appointment of Miss Mary L. Marsh, of the Brockport Normal School, now teaching at Holley, N. Y.

In the Irving School, there are three changes: Miss Jessamine R. Granger, of the Potsdam Normal School, now teaching at Gloversville, N. Y., takes the place of Miss Elsie M. Kattelle. Miss Georgia Ricker has been transferred from the Lincoln School to take the place of Miss Mary M. Griswold, who is soon to marry Dr. Guy Hillman. Miss Anna Gosman, of the Trenton Normal School, takes the place of Miss Helena M. Huber, transferred to the Franklin School.

At the Lincoln School, Annie E. Minnikin, of the Westfield Normal School, now teaching at Westfield, takes the place of Miss Agnes B. Freeman, who goes to Greater New York. Annie T. Wood, of the Rhode Island Normal, now teaching at Providence, takes the place of Miss Georgia Ricker, transferred to the Irving. Myrtle S. Reynolds, of the New Paltz Normal School, now teaching at Saugerties, takes the place of Miss Angela Morey, who has resigned to go West and reside with her brother.

This is a complete list of teachers for 1904-1905:

High School—I. W. Travell, E. W. Niles, Samuel B. Howe, Jr., S. L. Bass, E. K. Cumming, P. D. Lovell, K. F. Ball, Mary E. Ferry, Lindsey Best, J. D. Macnab, M. E. Benedict, A. J. Bennett, drawing, C. L. Lewis, music, Ariadne Gilbert.

Whittier School—Anna M. Day, K. Louise Dillon, Alice W. Lansing, Rita C. Pond, Dorothea E. Bull, Lillian Sharp, Eleanor T. Wilber, Alice R. Barlow, Addie P. Jackson, Phy. training.

Franklin School—Noel J. Bullock, Clara J. Churton, Caroline M. Shaver, Alice C. Miller, Emma Force, Mary Bannister, Florence Churton, Gertrude Huber, Helena Huber, Charlotte

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Go to W. H. Kirch, carpenter and builder, for careful work in his line. He is the best man for the business in this city.

Headquarters for pure drugs and fine soda—B. J. Schreiner's pharmacy, Park avenue. All pharmaceutical specialties, at low prices.

The bill of fare at the Kensington changes with the season but the high standard of preparation and service never fluctuates a moment.

John Wirth turns out fine bread and cake as well as pastry of all kinds, plain and fancy, every day, not once or twice a week as some bakers do.

Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue, will be pleased to take your orders for coal, lumber or mason's materials, believing that entire satisfaction can be given.

There is only one place in the city or borough where you can get a livery rig that looks like a private carriage. That is at J. D. Frazer's, the Park Stable, Somerset street.

A. H. Enander, of Park avenue, contracts for all kinds of sanitary plumbing and his work is of the highest order. All orders left with him will be promptly attended to.

Marchant Brothers, of North avenue, sell pure milk, fresh eggs and butter, guaranteeing to give their patrons entire satisfaction. Prompt deliveries are made to all parts of Plainfield and vicinity.

Many seafood dealers have lost good customers by failing to appreciate the important part played by prompt deliveries in the chief task of a merchant's life, that of keeping the patron satisfied with the services as well as with the goods. Fred Ivamy makes new friends daily by just the opposite method.

The June sale of undermuslins at Hill & Shupp's store is now the talk of the women of the town. The items of special interest include fine wash goods, hosiery and millinery. The basement of the store is headquarters for all lines of summer goods, including hammocks, window screens, ice cream freezers, lawn mowers and many other things. The second floor is devoted to porch furniture and the third floor to porch rugs and matting.

There is always something notable for the housewife at Neuman Bros. Just now it is the famed Colburn strawberry that attracts attention there. The Colburn is the handsomest berry on the market. Big and as red as a splotch of crimson color, it would be worthy of note for its color alone. But, unlike most large sized and rich-colored berries, it has flavor as well as beauty. The berry is the result of careful cultivation, and not of forcing that has sapped all its qualities.

Twenty-five to forty per cent. saving is offered by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company this week, together with the greatest extra stamp offer of the season. Especially selected Java and Arabian Mocha coffees at the price you ordinarily pay for the kind that makes you wish you hadn't. Finest new-crop teas, Chinese, Japan, Oolong, Assam, Ceylon, Formosa, Imperial and Young Hyson, the finest to be procured anywhere. Franco-American soups in pints and quarts, the finest groceries, butter and eggs and the biggest bargains in laundry supplies.

Harry Werner, the West Front street clothier, made the other day, what is probably the largest custom made suit turned out in years by any Plainfield tailor. The trousers were over fifty-three inches in waist measure and nearly thirty-eight inches long in the inseam. This man got quantity as anyone can tell from the measurements, but, he also got quality, that other very requisite thing, at the same time as does every customer of Werner's Clothing House. The new uniforms for the North Plainefild firemen were made by Werner also.

—Charles McCann, formerly of the local telephone company, but now of Trenton, spent Saturday night and Sunday at his home here.

—The through trolley cars running between Jersey City and Trenton are provided with an electric whistle. They are used instead of the usual gong.

—Several new trolley cars similar to those operated between Jersey City and Trenton are now being run between Elizabeth and Plainfield. The only difference in the cars is that the seats extend lengthwise, instead of crosswise as in a regular passenger coach.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

When Will Plainfield People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first;

But when you know 'tis from the kidneys.

That serious kidney troubles follow;

That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end.

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Plainfield citizen.

Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Brothers, grocers, of 257 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for eight or nine years—pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated it. At last my back grew weaker and any heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me additional pain. In the morning my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise, when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was throwing money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper, and, being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved and continuing their use all the pain left me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

HOW TO OBTAIN Summer Boarders!

There is in New York City one daily newspaper which has made tremendous gains in popular favor during the past five years. Its net cash paid circulation is over 100,000 copies daily throughout every section of New York City (including Brooklyn), larger than that of any other recognized resort medium. This newspaper's readers are among the wealthy, and well-to-do, intelligent people—those who can afford and do take extended vacations in the country during the Summer. It carries more resort advertising than any other morning newspaper, so the public naturally look to it for information as to where to go.

An advertisement in its columns is, therefore, exceedingly valuable and sure to produce results. This paper is

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

"The Highlands of Ontario for Your Holidays."

With the knowledge of what America has to offer the summer tourist and the rest and health-seeker, the thousands of summer travellers who spend their vacations in "The Highlands of Ontario," unhesitatingly pronounce the Muskoka Lakes region the ideal, the perfectly satisfying summer resort. Such an ideal is a combination of two features—primeval nature in a perfect bewilderment of beauty, charm and variety, along with the facilities for most of the modern necessaries and conveniences. In addition to these, the even temperature, the high altitude (1,000 feet above the sea), the health-giving ozone from pine, hemlock and fir, and the dark, soft waters of innumerable lakes, teeming with the gamiest of fresh water fish. What more has a weary, nerve-racked man or lover of nature to desire? Handsome, illustrated, descriptive publications will be sent free on application to Frank P. Dwyer, E. P. A., Grand Trunk Railway system, 290 Broadway, New York. 6 6 12

HELL GATE WRECK

Steamer General Slocum Destroyed by Fire.

SIX HUNDRED BURN OR DROWN

St. Mark's Church Sunday School Excursion's Fatal End.

BURNING VICTIMS LEAP FOR LIFE

Captain In Endeavor to Save His Passengers Beached the Blazing Boat on a North Brother Island Shoal—The Wreck Full of Burned and Drowned Women and Children.

NEW YORK, June 16.—One of the most appalling disasters in the history of New York, tragic in its immensity, dramatic in its episodes and deeply pathetic in the tender age of most of its victims, took place in the East river at the entrance to Long Island sound, within a short distance of the New York shore and within sight of thousands of persons, the majority of whom were powerless to minimize the extent of the catastrophe.

By the burning to the water's edge of the General Slocum, a three decked excursion steamer, the largest in these waters, more than 000 persons, the majority of whom were women and children, were burned to death or drowned by jumping overboard or by being thrown into the whirlpools by the lurching of the vessel.

Four hundred and ninety-eight bodies have been recovered and are now being tagged at the morgues of Bellevue hospital and Harlem. Divers are still busy taking bodies from the hold of the vessel, which, they say, is choked with bodies, and hundreds who leaped or were thrown into the river have not been recovered.

The three decked excursion steamer General Slocum of the Knickerbocker Steamboat company burned to the water's edge near Hell Gate has resulted in the death through burning or drowning of at least 600 persons, mostly women and children. Four hundred and forty-seven bodies have already been recovered. Divers are now busy taking bodies from the hold of the vessel, and the bodies of many who leaped into the river have not yet been recovered.

The General Slocum, which was the largest excursion steamer in these waters, left Third street, East river, at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, having on board the annual Sunday school excursion of St. Mark's German Lutheran church, Sixth street. Her destination was Locust Grove, one of the many resorts on the sound. The excursion was in charge of the Rev. George C. F. Haas, pastor of the church. The vessel was commanded by Captain William Van Schaick, one of the best known excursion boat captains in New York harbor, who has commanded the General Slocum almost since she was built in 1891. The number of excursionists on board is variously estimated at from 1,500 to 2,500, but according to an official statement issued by the Knickerbocker Steamboat company the number of passengers was 873, that being one-third of the vessel's licensed capacity.

The steamer proceeded up the East river, each of her decks being crowded with merrymakers, with bands playing and flags flying. The Slocum had reached a point at the Sunken Meadows off One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street, which is at the extreme eastern end of Randall's Island, when fire broke out in a lunch room on the forward deck, caused by the overturning of a pot of grease. A high wind fanned the blaze into instant fury.

Efforts to subdue the fire were futile, and word was sent at once to the captain, who started to land the steamer at One Hundred and Thirty-fourth street.

He was warned, however, that the boat would set fire to lumber yards and oil tanks there and changed the Slocum's course, heading her for North Brother Island, half a mile away. The flames had now broken out all along either side of the steamer and were fanned by a strong head wind. The passengers, seized with panic, rushed to the rear of the vessel to escape the heat and the smoke that were constantly increasing. Policemen and deckhands aboard the boat struggled hard to quiet the panic, but their efforts were unavailing. The wild disorder increased as frantic mothers sought to find their children, who had been at play about the decks.

The steamer's whistle was blowing for assistance, and tugs and other nearby craft answered to the call. Before any of the boats could reach the burning steamer, however, the frantic women and children began to jump overboard. The current was strong, and there are many whirlpools in the channel. The boats that were following the Slocum picked up many from the water, but these were only a small number of those that were seen struggling in the swift current.

On the Slocum the first sweep of the flames cut off escape from the hurricane deck, where a great many of the women and children were crowded together, and soon burned away the light woodwork which supported the deck. It is thought that most of those who were on this deck were burned.

As the fire increased the struggle to gain a point of vantage at the stern became frightful. Women and children crowded against the after rail until it gave way, and hundreds were pushed off into the river. After this there was a steady stream of those who jumped or were thrown into the water. The tugs and small craft following after kept close within the wake of the Slocum and rescued all of those who came within reach of their crews. Few of those who were saved had on life preservers. At no time during the progress of the fire was there any opportunity to either lower the lifeboats or get the life preservers out from underneath the seats. Through all the wild panic the officers and men of the blazing boat stayed at their posts.

Women went literally insane at once. Some had allowed their little charges to be separated from them, and in that frantic mob there was no chance for reunion. Men, maddened by fear, trampled down women and children to get to the sides and leap overboard. To most of the terrorized multitude it was but a choice of death that offered.

To stay on board meant the awful certainty of being burned alive. To take to the water meant for all but a few the certainty of death by drowning.

With the fire roaring behind them the excursionists began to leap from the vessel's side, and as she was sent forward at full speed in her wake was a stream of struggling humanity. From the shore tugs, rowboats and all manner of craft put out, but many of the excursionists drowned before they could be reached. The Slocum, her whole superstructure a mass of flames, turned, with her helm unguarded, and finally went ashore between Riker's island and Hunt's point.

The greatest loss of life happened on the hurricane deck, where hundreds clung to the rail in their efforts to avoid the flames and to be ready to jump into the water when they could no longer endure the fire. Under the great pressure the rail gave way, precipitating hundreds of half burned women and children into the water.

At the point where the steamboat was beached is a high stone wall which made it impossible for those who were in the water to climb out on land. They swam, such as could, round and round in a vain effort to gain a foothold somewhere.

The engineer of the locomotive of the gas company at Lawrence point says that when he saw that the Slocum was afire he blew his locomotive whistle, signaling to the captain of the burning vessel to put in at that point.

The Slocum's captain, however, either did not hear the whistle or for some reason decided that it was better to beach the vessel on North Brother island.

Had the Slocum been beached at Lawrence point a thousand willing hands would have been ready to assist in the work of rescue, as there were hundreds of men at work along the shore at the time.

It was reported that George Conklin, chief engineer of the General Slocum, had been burned to death at his post.

The Slocum got within fifty feet of the northwest point of North Brother island and there stopped in the shallow water. Just before beaching, the hurricane deck, the supports of which had burned away, fell with its load of women and children, adding to the panic and horror of those on the deck below. Very soon after parts of the second and third decks also caved in. But before this happened the tug Walter Tracey had come alongside the burning steamer and been lashed to it. Many of the passengers were taken off by the crew of the Tracey, which remained alongside the steamer until the tug's pilot house took fire.

The point where the Slocum beached was just off the scarlet fever ward on North Brother island. The patients, who had been out on the porches and lawns watching the approach of the burning steamer, were ordered indoors, and the physicians on the island hastened to the assistance of those who were being brought ashore through the shallow water. Many of those who leaped from the Slocum were carried away by the current even here and were drowned.

The scene on North Brother island as described by the rescuers was a pitiful one. Body after body was washed ashore or brought in by boats and added to the long row on the beach. Fifty-three persons died there while the doctors were attending them.

As the bodies of the living and the dead were taken out of the water those alive were taken to the hospitals on the island or sent across the river to hospitals in Manhattan. Here ambulances from almost all the hospitals in the city and every other sort of conveyance which could be found were put into service.

For hours the bodies of the burned and the drowned drifted ashore on the island and between One Hundred and Thirty-first and One Hundred and Thirty-eighth streets in Manhattan. Some came ashore still alive. Many of these died, while others will recover.

Herbert S. Nulson, an employee of the De La Vergne Refrigerator company, said that he was working in a tower in the company's factory at the foot of East One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street when a fellow employee called:

"Here comes a big boat up the river, and I believe she's on fire."

"I looked down the river," said Nulson, "and saw this steamboat, which I was sure then was the General Slocum. The flames were just beginning to make headway when I first saw her, and by the time she came opposite us I could see that her decks were crowded with women and children, who began to jump into the water. I was certain then that the captain would come to land at the foot of East One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street, as it seemed the only logical thing for him to do. It was a straight short course. But no, for some reason he kept out in the river and headed for North Brother island.

"The women were jumping in tens and twenties now. It was terrible. I don't see why the boat was headed for North Brother island. She could have been run into the Bronx kills, where the Harlem joins the East river. And her progress out there in the middle of the river fanned the flames so that they swept from stem to stern in an astonishingly short time."

As soon as the police heard that the captain and most of the officers and crew of the General Slocum had escaped with their lives they set out to find them. They corralled the officers on North Brother island.

Captain William Van Schaick, First Pilot Edward Van Wart and Second Pilot Edward Weaver were arrested.

The General Slocum was licensed to carry 2,500 passengers. Persons who saw the Lutheran excursionists go aboard said that they had no doubt that it carried the full limit of passengers. The excursionists were bound for Locust Grove, New York, and the promise of a fair day on the water and ashore brought out a teeming crowd.

Geisha Waists

3.00, 4.00, 5.00 and 6.00 Grades Special at

$2.00

WE have had many important waist sales—we have conducted great movements of this nature in which all Newark has joined; but this great purchase, by virtue of its splendid values, will create a waist selling sensation of huge importance and mark an epoch in bargain giving. Everyone knows of the excellence of this famous waist and the mere announcement of this sale is sufficient in itself to crowd the waist store.

How we came by these 1200 Waists

This great group is composed of waists that have been cut over orders; i. e., garments that have exceeded specified orders by probably three or four of a style, thereby forming "broken lots." Accumulations of this nature are viewed with positive dismay by the average maker, and great sacrifices are not uncommon. In these few words we have recounted the story of these beautiful waists.

2.00 The Styles are Myriad—The season's cleverest conceits are included in this vast assortment, the finest Persian lawns are here, together with the daintiest of Swisses and linens. Beautiful trimmings of lace, embroidery, medallions and drawn work, while deft hemstitching and the cunningest of tucks form pleasing adjuncts. Open back and front. Sizes from 32 to 44, but not every size of a style. 2.00

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that an ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance to lay out and widen Sycamore street from the southeasterly side line of East Fourth street to the northwesterly side line of East Fifth street," a copy of which is subjoined to this notice, has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time, and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Common Council to adopt such ordinance at the regular meeting of the Common Council to be held in the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at eight o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, the fifth day of July, A. D. nineteen hundred and four, at which time and place, prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

Dated: Plainfield, N. J., June 6, 1904.

AN ORDINANCE

to Lay Out and Widen Sycamore Street From the Southeasterly Side Line of East Fourth Street to the Northwesterly Side Line of East Fifth Street.

WHEREAS, The Common Council judge that the public good requires the laying out and widening of Sycamore street between the points named in the title to this ordinance, therefore

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That Sycamore street in the City of Plainfield, from the southeasterly side line of East Fourth street to the northwesterly side line of East Fifth street, be laid out and widened so that said portion of Sycamore street shall be of the uniform width of thirty feet on each side of the center line thereof, which said center line is described as follows:

Beginning at an iron bar in the center line of said Sycamore street, where the same is intersected by the southeasterly side line of East Fourth Street as now laid out and now opened, and running from said point in a magnetic course of south forty-four degrees and forty-four minutes east, a distance of three hundred sixty-two and twenty-one one-hundredths feet to an iron bar in the northwesterly side line of East Fifth street.

The land to be taken for such purposes on the northeasterly side of said street, in addition to the lands already dedicated to the public, includes that part of the property now or formerly of Margaret Thatcher, Catharine Lynch, Agnes Littell, Charles H. Hand and Elizabeth Chapin, which lies between the present northeasterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the center line of said street and distant therefrom thirty feet in a northeasterly direction.

The land to be taken for such purposes on the southwesterly side of the said street in addition to the lands already dedicated to the public, includes that part of the property now or formerly of Michael Quinn, William B. Wadsworth, Joel Manning and Sarah J. Brower, which lies between the present southwesterly side line of said street as now laid out and opened, and a line parallel with the centre line of said street and distant therefrom thirty feet in a southwesterly direction.

That the lands and real estate and appurtenances necessary therefor shall be taken and appropriated for the said laying out and widening of Sycamore street, as aforesaid, pursuant to the charter of the City of Plainfield and the general statutes in such case made and provided.

The land to be taken and the lines of Sycamore street, as the same is hereinabove ordered to be laid out and widened, are shown on a map on file with the City Clerk entitled: "Map for Laying Out and Widening Sycamore street from East Fourth street to East Fifth street, City of Plainfield, N. J." dated May, 1904, which said map is hereby referred to and made a part of this ordinance.

Section 2. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance be and the same are hereby repealed.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY, Plainfield, N. J., June 6, 1904. City Clerk.

A Supplement to an Ordinance, entitled for the Assessment of Taxes for the Year 1904," Approved May 4, 1904.

WHEREAS, The Board of School Estimate of this district, that is to say, the school district comprising the City of Plainfield, has fixed upon and determined the amount of money necessary to be appropriated for the use of the public schools in such district for the ensuing school year, exclusive of the amount apportioned to it by the County Superintendent of Schools, to wit, the sum of Sixty-Eight Thousand, Three Hundred Dollars ($68,300), and has made two certificates for said amount signed by all the members of said Board, one of which certificates has been delivered to the Board of Education, and the other to the Common Council of said City:

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of the State of New Jersey, entitled "An Act to establish a thorough and efficient system of Free Public Schools and to provide for the maintenance, support and management thereof," approved October 19, 1903, the sum of Sixty-Eight Thousand, Three Hundred Dollars ($68,300) be, and the same is hereby appropriated for the purposes aforesaid as other appropriations are made by the Common Council, and that said amount shall be assessed, levied and collected for the year nineteen hundred and four in the same manner as moneys appropriated for other purposes in this City are required to be assessed, levied and collected.

She could have been run into the Bronx kills, where the Harlem joins the East river. And her progress out there in the middle of the river fanned the flames so that they swept from stem to stern in an astonishingly short time."

As soon as the police heard that the captain and most of the officers and crew of the General Slocum had escaped with their lives they set out to find them. They corralled the officers on North Brother island.

Captain William Van Schaick, First Pilot Edward Van Wart and Second Pilot Edward Weaver were arrested.

The General Slocum was licensed to carry 2,500 passengers. Persons who saw the Lutheran excursionists go aboard said that they had no doubt that it carried the full limit of passengers. The excursionists were bound for Locust Grove, New York, and the promise of a fair day on the water and ashore brought out a teeming crowd.

Roosevelt's Sympathy For Sufferers.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The following telegraphic message from President Roosevelt has been received by Pastor Haas: "Accept my profound sympathy for yourself, your church and your congregation."

SWEET VOICE DID IT.

Singing of "My Old Kentucky Home" Sent Convention Wild.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 16.—A sweet voiced young woman of Norfolk, Va., Miss Mary K. Ewell, maid of honor for the south, by her singing of "My Old Kentucky Home" won for Louisville the reunion next year of the United Confederate Veterans.

It was after the old veterans had chosen Lieutenant General Stephen D. Lee as their commander in chief and had listened to a stirring speech by Colonel Bennett H. Young of Kentucky extolling the beauties, capability and hospitality of his home city and people and their desire to entertain the followers of the stars and bars that Miss Ewell was escorted to the front of the stage.

Her voice thrilled the great crowd that filled the Tabernacle, and the last note of the famous song had barely left her lips when the convention went wild with shouts of "Louisville, Louisville!"

PAYNE PROSTRATED.

Postmaster General Suffers Collapse at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Henry C. Payne, postmaster general and chairman of the national committee, who has not been in good health for some time, collapsed at the Auditorium Annex here. He recently took an ocean trip for purposes of recuperation, his ailment being apparently of an apoplectic character. The time was shortly before the hour set for the convening of the Republican national committee, over which Mr. Payne expected to preside.

It was said that Chairman Payne's illness was such as to preclude the possibility of his taking active part in at least the preliminary work of the convention. It is stated that Senator N. B. Scott of West Virginia will probably succeed as executive head of the committee and would preside at the first meeting of the committee.

Miss Swentzel Wedded Secretly.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 16.—It is announced that Miss Margaret Swentzel, daughter of the Rev. Henry C. Swentzel, D. D., of St. Luke's Episcopal church, Clinton avenue, Brooklyn, was married last January to William A. Cable, son of Arthur J. Cable, a wealthy real estate dealer of this city. Miss Swentzel was formerly a student at Ogontz, a girls' school near Philadelphia, and when she came here last January to visit her school friend, Miss Elsie Henshaw, she met Mr. Cable for the first time at the Henshaw residence. As she is not quite twenty-one years of age, while Mr. Cable is only a few months more than that, their relatives objected to the marriage, and the young people were wedded secretly. Mr. Cable's father has verified the report, saying that it occurred in January.

Hungary Will Restrict Emigration.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 16.—In the course of a statement in the diet on the Cunard line's consent to waive the stipulation in its contract with the government that Hungary provide 30,000 emigrants yearly, the premier, Count Tisza, declared the government intended to restrict emigration as much as possible. He characterized the statement that the government intended to carry on a kind of slave trade as an unpatriotic misrepresentation of the government's attitude.

Sons of America at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The Sons of the American Revolution have opened their fifteenth annual congress in Festival hall. Addresses were made by General E. S. Creely, the president; George H. Shields, president of the Missouri society; George W. Bates of Michigan, Walter S. Logan of New York and James Benton Hancock of Pennsylvania.

Armenian Villages Destroyed.

LONDON, June 16.—A dispatch from Constantinople says the consular reports confirm the destruction of many Armenian villages in the Sassun district. The number of killed is estimated to exceed 3,000 persons.

BATTLE OF FUCHAU

Japanese Gain Great Victory North of Port Arthur.

RUSSIANS LOST ONE THOUSAND MEN

Tokyo Dispatch Tells of Big Fight on Railway—Enemy Left All Their Field Guns and Are In Full Flight.

LONDON, June 16.—A dispatch from Tokyo says news has been received there, but has not yet been officially published, of a great Japanese victory near Fuchau, on the railway seventy miles north of Port Arthur. The Russians were overwhelmed, lost a thousand men, left all their guns on the field and retreated in disorder.

The Russians, to the number of 7,000 men, are now in full flight toward Tshichiaao and Kaiochau.

Semiofficial advices just received from Tokyo say that a flotilla of torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, under the command of Captain Tsuchiya and co-operating with the army, made a reconnoissance in force near Siaoping island, twelve miles to the west of Port Arthur, and bombarded the Russian outposts on the coast to the west of the island. At noon the Russian cruiser Novik, convoying torpedo boat destroyers, steamed out from Port Arthur. The Russian shore batteries protected these vessels with a heavy cannonade. The Japanese flotilla retreated slowly, firing as it went for the purpose of decoying the enemy to sea. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Russian ships returned to the entrance of Port Arthur.

The Russians returned to Port Arthur by train, leaving behind them only some old Chinese guns, the breech locks of which they destroyed.

The Japanese artillery fire was well directed, but the Russians suffered more from the fire of the Japanese gunboats. When the Russian merchant from whom these details were obtained left Port Arthur the Japanese were within twelve miles of that place. The Russians have trenches and earthworks at intervals of two miles throughout this distance.

The Japanese fleet is no longer able to support the army, the water along the coast being too shallow to permit the vessels to approach.

The Vladivostok squadron is reported in the Korean strait. Reports of cannonading have been received here from various points, such as Chikuzen province, Oki island and Tsushima.

Three Japanese transports outward bound from Simonoseki met the Russian warships outside the strait of Korea. The Russians fired eighteen shots at the Japanese ships. One transport escaped. The fate of the other two is not known.

It is believed at Sasebo that a naval engagement is imminent.

It is reported that the Japanese protected cruiser Niitaka engaged the Russian squadron off Tsu island, in the strait between Korea and Japan.

The fact that the Novik came out of Port Arthur makes it certain that the Russians have succeeded in blasting a channel through the cement laden merchantmen sunk by the Japanese in the entrance to the harbor.

This freedom of egress comes too late to permit of any effect on the operations of the Japanese army, for men, guns and stores have practically all been landed, and Admiral Togo is capable of keeping the remnants of the Russian fleet imprisoned in Port Arthur.

Japanese vidette boats, protected by torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, have succeeded in reaching the entrance to Port Arthur, and there they planted a series of mines. The darkness of midnight favored the operation. The Japanese vessels were not observed, and they returned to the rest of the squadron without having sustained any damage.

A Liaoyang report says:

"The battle at Vafangow has been renewed, with fierce fighting on both sides. It is said that the Russians were partly successful, destroying three squadrons of cavalry and making prisoners of sixty Japanese. The Russian casualties in a former fight were 308 men killed or wounded. The Japanese casualties are not known."

Important Insurance Decision.

ST. LOUIS, June 16.—According to a decision rendered by Judge Almer B. Adams here a woman illegally married can become the legal beneficiary of an insurance policy on a man's life, provided she is more dependent upon him for support than the man's legal wife, even if the latter be living. The decision was rendered in the case of Eliza James against an insurance society.

Jury Could Not Agree.

WARREN, O., June 16.—The jury in the trial of R. N. Ford, the Burton banker, charged with embezzlement, reported to the court that it was impossible to reach an agreement. Judge Hole instructed the jury to make another attempt at finding some verdict.

Conger Case With Jury.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 16.—Prosecutor Ward finished his closing argument in the trial of E. D. Conger, manager of the Herald here, on the charge of conspiracy in connection with the Lake Michigan water deal, and the case was given to the jury.

Judge Dropped Dead.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 16.—Judge E. C. Severance, aged seventy-four, a prominent lawyer and pioneer of Minnesota, dropped dead as he was about to take a seat in a barber's chair here. His home was in Mantorville, Minn.

Now for the Horse Show!

The reappointment of John W. Murray, Jr., as a member of the Union County Board of Elections is a deserved compliment to a man who discharges his official duties as he should.

The New York Tribune announces today that Flanagan will run again. It will be remembered that this inoffensive chap had the courage to race with Charles N. Fowler, a man of brains, the goal being a seat in the United States House of Representatives. Flanagan's chief claim to fame is that he sometimes visits Grover Cleveland and that he possesses a large size dough bag.

Gen. R. H. Pratt, the father of Indian education, is in trouble because he told some plain truths about the Department of the Interior, lese majestat being a serious offense under the eat-'em-alive-administration. If there is any man in the country who knows what he is talking about when he discusses the conditions of the Interior Department affairs that man is the founder of the Government's Indian Industrial School. That "Round Robin" seems to have passed from Roosevelt's memory.

HOBOKEN NEXT.

A Strong Aggregation to be Alis' Opponents for Saturday's Game at the Crescent Oval.

The baseball game on Crescent Ov l Saturday between Alis and Hoboken will be one of the best of the season. The Hobokens have the reputation of being the best in the State, having defeated nearly every team played this season.

Alis will give its opponents a lively brush and a good game is assured. Badgley, the Lehigh pitcher, will occupy the box for Alis and Quinby will play second base with Walton at short, Gauvey at first and Bradley on third. Farmer will do the catching, while Lynch, McGeey and Cregan will occupy the outfield.

P. H. S. 1904 CLASS ODE

POEM WRITTEN BY VANWYCK BROOKS, SON OF C. E. BROOKS.

VanWyck Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, of West Seventh street, composed the ode read at the Plainfield High School class day exercises at the Franklin School hall Tuesday night.

This is his poem:

"The Captain's voice decrees:
'Upon the shoreless seas,
Launch out the ships I made thine own, today;
All that Arabia holds,
Spices and stones and golds,
Rich-stored abundance waits for him who braves the way.'

"Equal the ships He gave,
To stem the wildest wave;
Equal to all the fulness of His dower;
Unwarped, He filled our sails
Ever with favouring gales;
Yet do we find today Will equal to our Power?

"Us He has given all,
'Tis through ourselves we fall:
What we shall be we only can decide;
Whether to grasp the chance,
Not blaming circumstance,
Or let it pass unused—speak, ere thy Now has died!

"Ours is this plastic being,
Plastic beyond our seeing,
Mould it a Lincoln or a Cain at will!
All to the high proves truer
Than to the selfish doer,
The clay is ours to mould, our hands the potter's, still.

"Forgive the deeper Vision
Unaided by Decision,
Thought that aspires, with the hands to act;
Judge not the seeming fool
By the harsh tests of rule:
Truth has more sides concealed than she displays in fact.

"Know and embrace the whole,
Knowledge exalts the soul;
Knowing, loving, striving on for ever;
The Captain went before;
Far on the other shore,
Behold He crowns at last our trusting, weak endeavor!"

Refrigerator Talk.

For some time back we've been telling you about "Jewett" Refrigerators—what we thought of them, how many we sell, how they are made, why they were better than others, etc. Now we're going to let you see what other people think about them. Read the following:

New Brunswick, N. J., June 8, 1904.

WOODHULL & MARTIN,
Plainfield, N. J.

Gentlemen:

The John C. Jewett Manufacturing Co. has written me, in reply to information that I wrote concerning their make of refrigerators, that you sell their complete line exclusively. I have used one of their make for fifteen years in Ohio, and upon moving east sold the same and no other make will answer. Will you kindly give me the prices of Nos. 135 and 136. Thanking you for the courtesy of a reply, I beg to remain,

Yours truly,

Mrs. Smith Watson has returned home after a visit in New York city.

Lee Perrine, of New Market, has resigned his position at Garwood.

Miss Emma Space visited friends in Somerville yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The cemetery committee of the Baptist church are planning to start a fund for the purpose of keeping the cemetery in presentable condition during the summer months. Several years ago the church expended considerable money upon the old historic resting place, in cleaning up the neglected plots, especially in the old part of the grounds. Since then the plot owners have only partly done their share, many of the lots having become overrun with weeds and vines again. The committee is endeavoring to have the plot owners contribute a certain sum each year for the purpose of having a caretaker to look after the work.

Manager Hand will make no change in his lineup against the Newark A. C. team on Saturday afternoon. The team is playing fast baseball and any attempt to pad the team would not strengthen it. Game will be called at 3:45.

The Chautauqua Boy's Club Wednesday night meeting was held as usual last night. The boy's weekly gathering will soon be discontinued for the summer.

PISCATAWAY SCHOOL CLOSES

THREE PUPILS ARE GRADUATED AT EXERCISES HELD IN BAPTIST CHURCH.

Commencement exercises of the Piscataway Township Public Schools were held last night in the First Baptist church, New Market. The edifice was thronged with pupils and friends, and the exercises were interesting. J. Alfred Wilson, supervising principal of the schools, was in charge of the programme. The graduates were Miss Mary Naylor, Frank W. Smalley, valedictorian and James R. Harris, salutatorian. Prof. Alfred C. Garland's orchestra, of New Brunswick, furnished music.

This programme was presented:

Selection, "The Yankee Consul," orchestra; march, "Polly Prim," orchestra; invocation, Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of First Baptist church, New Market; salutatory, James R. Harris; recitation, "The First Mosquito," Russel Burdick; class song, chorus; essay, "The Companionship of Books," Miss Mary Naylor; waltz, "Fiancee," orchestra; essay, "The Effect of Inventions on Natural Development," Frank W. Smalley; recitation, "The Young Soldier," Miss Maud Rupell; history and prophecy, Miss Mary Naylor; Entre Act, "New Mown Hay," orchestra; essay, "Electricity," James R. Harris; violin solo, Miss Minnie Naylor; valedictory, Frank W. Smalley; address, Rev. Theodore P. Peckman, First Reformed church, New Brunswick; intermezzo, "The Gondolier," orchestra; presentation of class, Principal J. Alfred Wilson; address to class, Rev. L. E. Livermore, Seventh-Day Baptist church, New Market; awarding of diplomas and certificates, benediction, Rev. J. A. Cubberley, First Baptist church, South Plainfield.

—E. H. Goodwin, of Rockview avenue, has purchased a house on West Seventh street, near Clinton avenue. He has taken possession.

—The Colburn strawberry still holds the center of the stage at Neuman Bros. It is there by right. Better and cheaper—best berry in the market today.

MISSISSIPPI'S VOTE.

Convention at Jackson Instructs For Parker.

WANT FREEDOM FOR THE FILIPINOS

Platform Calls For Economy, Honesty, Reduction of Tariff, Maintenance of the Monroe Doctrine and Open Door In Orient.

JACKSON, Miss., June 16.—The Democratic state convention here has instructed the delegates from Mississippi to the national convention to vote for Alton B. Parker as long as there is any chance for his nomination. Little or no work was done by the convention, most of the time being taken up in speechmaking.

The permanent chairman of the convention was former Congressman A. W. Fox of West Point. Rousing speeches were made by Congressman Williams, Senators H. D. Money and McLaurin and Governor Vardaman. The following is the delegation from the state at large to the national convention:

Senators Money and McLaurin, Congressman Williams, Governor Vardaman, former Congressman T. C. Catchings and former Congressman Hooker.

The resolutions committee, through its chairman, Congressman Williams, reported a platform. It calls for economy in the expenditure of public money, honesty in the public service, the nomination of a citizen trained in the ways of the constitution, a wise, conservative and business reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and the commonwealth and not by the friends of its abusers and the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine as conceived by Jefferson and announced by Monroe. In this connection the platform says:

"We think it our duty to guard from European oppression and colonization and from European superimposition of monarchial intrusions the countries of the western hemisphere, but we do not think it our duty, nor did Jefferson, Madison, Monroe or Jackson imagine it our duty, under the Monroe doctrine, as the acting president of the United States seems to conceive it, to administer the affairs of Central and South America."

Referring to the preservation of the open door in the orient, the platform contains a strong plea for freedom for the Filipinos. It sets up that the white man has no right to go to the brown man's country and set up his civilization there.

Women as Land Rushers.

CASS LAKE, Minn., June 16.—One hundred and ten weary seekers for land lined up before the United States land office here before the doors of the office were open in order to file on government lands within the confines of the Chippeway reservation. Among the number were four women, who bravely withstood the all night vigil. The first man to file was Daniel Caldwell, who got 160 acres located sixteen miles southeast of the village of Northcome.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

June 19: "Rising Above Discouragement."—II Cor. iv, 7-18.—Salvation Though Suffering.

Freedom from difficulty cannot be secured in this life. Nor is it the course of wisdom to seek to escape from the burdens and cares common to all. Pain must be the lot of one endowed with nerves. To use anaesthetics whenever a twinge of pain is felt is to deprive oneself eventually of all experience of pleasurable sensation as well as of the suffering.

Strength, fortitude, endurance, the sterner qualities of nature, are as essential as the milder virtues. Nothing so develops robustness in soul as well as in body as the necessity for grappling with troubles and mastering them. Softness and needless self indulgence unfit us for the enjoyment of life as well as for its tasks.

The sources of our perplexities are manifold. Some arise from the necessary constitution of things, some from our own makeup and some from the actions of others. Some can be cured; a greater number must be endured.

Our strongest temptation is to become discouraged. This is disastrous, since courage and confidence are indispensable elements of success in any operation. The discouraged soul is two-thirds defeated. It is a weakness which is more to be feared than any outside opposition. It is a foe within the stronghold opening the gates to the enemy without. It may lead to fatal panic from which there is no recovery.

Oftentimes our depression of spirit is the result of overwork, mental or bodily, and simply means low nervous vitality. Then the remedy is to build up the body and brain and use all the resources of reason not to be deceived into imagining ourselves as unspiritual and evil of heart. The strength of Christian Science lies in a truth which has been unfortunately neglected by Christians too largely. Rescue this and the fanatical elements will do little harm. Many a discouraged pastor will do wisely if, when he finds everything turning dark to his vision, he will take that long deferred vacation and rest himself. When he gets his strength up to normal he will find the trouble was in the way he looked at things.

We are to bear things in this world. We are to learn patience through the things we suffer. Companionship in suffering is better than shielding another from all pain. Even Jesus did not bear all life's anguish for us. Paul glories in being able to fill up that which was lacking and to "know the fellowship of His suffering."

We faint not because we know our Father in "bringing many sons to glory made the Captain of their salvation perfect through suffering," and He purifies by suffering every son whom He receives. In every time of trial we can be assured that all is working for us the very best possible results.

We need not say that pain is sweet, but we can say exultantly "we would rather suffer with Christ than enjoy all things without Him."

Our strength and hope lie in getting and keeping close to Him. He knows the way we take, and after we have suffered awhile may He bring us unto Himself in peace, deep, full, abiding.

"God is in His heaven; all's right with the world."

The Chariots of God.

I have not a shadow of doubt that if all our eyes could be opened today we should see our homes and our places of business and the streets we traverse filled with the "chariots of God." There is no need for any one of us to walk for lack of chariots. That cross inmate of your household who has hitherto made life a burden to you and who has been the Juggernaut car to crush your soul into the dust may henceforth be a glorious chariot to carry you to the heights of heavenly patience and long suffering. That misunderstanding, that mortification, that unkindness, that disappointment, that loss, that defeat—all these are chariots waiting to carry you to the very heights of victory you have so longed to reach. Mount into them, then, with thankful hearts and lose sight of all second causes in the shining of His love, who will carry you in His arms safely and triumphantly over it all.—H. W. Smith.

"Peace."

There is no respite to the Lord's soldiers, but in their hearts all through the war there is peace which passeth all understanding. It is grace, mercy and peace to each forgiven soul. They are in the kingdom which is righteousness and peace and joy even when fighting in the whole panoply of God, and when for them the fighting is over, their bit of victory accomplished, the victor's crown in sight and only death, the last enemy to be conquered easily and without effort, conquered for them by their Saviour, what peace that passeth understanding fills their souls! They look back on the old years of struggle and forward to the new and timeless year of the Father's eternal presence.—Independent.

Our Only Assurance.

A covenant or promise of God is our only assurance for the future life. In our straits, in trials of affliction, under conviction of sin and in fear of judgment, looking into the darkness of death and the grave, we must cry to God for help and hope, and when we can plead His presence we shall not cry in vain. Peter would have those to whom he writes remember the word and promise of God, particularly those concerning His coming or presence.—Evangelist.

Private Access.

What a blessing no man can hinder our private access to God! Every man can build a chapel in his breast, himself the priest, his heart the sacrifice and the earth he treads on the altar.—Jeremy Taylor.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning June 19.

Topic.—What Paul teaches about rising above discouragement.—II Cor. iv, 7-18.

Few lives, perhaps no life, have ever been lived into which discouragements did not come. Sometimes the discouragements are temporal, and sometimes they are spiritual. The mere obtaining of a livelihood is to thousands beset with discouragements. If every person now living and ever to live were assured of even the necessities of life—home, food and raiment—for all the days of his life, to how many discouragement would give place to hope and joy! The struggle for existence is such a bitter one that, directly and indirectly, it brings discouragements to many. And when we strive to do more than exist, to accomplish a great work in life, to realize a fond and cherished dream, how often discouragements beat thick and fast upon us! The same conditions exist in the spiritual realm of life. No child of God ever tried to serve Him without meeting with discouragements. "The natural heart is enmity against God," and it is hard to go against nature. The environments of life are not always conducive to spiritual growth. "Is this poor world a friend of grace to help us on to God?" No one has ever found it so. Nor shall we. Christianity is a struggle. It is following Christ, who traveled a steep and rugged road; it is taking up the cross even as He took it up and carried it to Calvary.

But in spite of the varied and manifold discouragements of life we need not despair, for we can rise above them. Some think not and fall beneath them without making an effort to rise above them. Others try to do so in their own strength and do not meet with signal success, but Paul teaches us that there is a way by which we may rise above the discouragements of life. And the apostle spoke from an abundant experience. He had demonstrated his theories in his own life. He was no pessimist preaching optimism; he was no novice, declaring in ignorance that which he knew nothing about. He knew from experience, and therefore he spoke. For he says that he was "troubled on every side, yet not distressed; perplexed, but not in despair; persecuted, but not forsaken; cast down, but not destroyed." What an array of discouragements—troubles, perplexities, persecutions and depressions—and yet the apostle arose above them all. His troubles were not allowed to distress him; he did not despair because of his perplexities; he was persecuted, but God did not forsake him, nor did he succumb to depression, whether it was mental or spiritual. He arose triumphantly above all adversities, and so may and should we.

But Paul also teaches us how we may arise above our discouragements. (1) By the power of God. Prayerful trust in God is absolutely essential to success in this work. It can be done only by "leaning on the everlasting arms." (2) By keeping in mind that if we suffer with Christ we shall also reign with Him. "We are always delivered unto death for Jesus' sake, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our mortal flesh." (3) By remembering the relations between the temporal and eternal. Our afflictions are light in comparison to the eternal joys they work out for us. Too many of us only see the temporal. Paul kept his eyes upon the eternal and was supported by looking "not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal."

BIBLE READINGS.

Josh. i, 1-7; Ps. xxvii, 1-6; xlvi, 1; cvii, 1-8; Isa. xxvi, 1-4; Matt. vi, 25-34; John xiv, 1-3; I. Cor. xv, 57, 58; Gal. vi, 9; Rev. ii, 10.

In Brazil.

The Brazilian Christian Endeavor union publishes a monthly bulletin of its work. In addition to several pages of news and notes it has a concise exposition of the weekly prayer meeting topic, the same topics being used as by the societies in English speaking countries. The past year has seen an increase of 100 per cent in the number of Christian Endeavor societies in Brazil, and they now have over 1,000 members.

With Foreign Flavor.

Rev. Carey Bonner is drilling a choir of 1,200 voices for the coming British Christian Endeavor convention in London.

The Kensington Baptist Endeavorers of Liverpool, England, recently took more than 200 waifs on a river excursion and gave them refreshments and toys.

Items That Interest.

The three live Endeavor societies of the First Presbyterian church, Colorado Springs, Colo., are carrying on a mission Sunday school in a tent. The Juniors and Intermediates recently distributed more than sixty baskets of fruit and flowers, the result of a harvest home festival, in the hospitals, sanitariums and sickrooms of the city. The church has been without a pastor ten months, yet not one feature of the work has lagged, and the pastor who goes will find 200 loyal Endeavorers ready to do his bidding.

The Samoan union of Christian Endeavor now has 31 societies and 2,066 members.

The 1,700 English Baptist Endeavor societies are asked to take up as their special work the providing of a new missionary steamer for the upper Kongo, at a cost of $35,000.

A Christian Endeavor society of 100 members has been organized at the Italian Presbyterian mission, Tenth street, above Washington, Philadelphia.

SUMMER STYLES.

Warm Weather Suits of Linen and Silk—Foulard Not Dressy.

Linen suits heavily appliqued with lace are the smart thing for warm weather wear. These costumes are made jacket and skirt fashion, and the little coats are very short and full, with equally short and full bell sleeves. Both skirt and jacket are embroidered and ornamented in a variety of ways, so that little of the original linen shows. None of the handsome linen and cotton gowns of this season are made with a view to the washtub. They are invariably sent to the cleaners to be dry cleansed.

Taffeta in a much softer weave than used formerly makes delightful little tailor mades. These have coats made blouse fashion, the sleeves having wide cuffs filled in with lace. Often to add a quaint touch little embroidered waistcoats of linen or pique are added to these blue or red taffeta costumes.

Every season sees some novelty in laces. This year it is the tiny knotted effects like the pin dots in veiling, and lace of this sort is in great vogue for sleeve frills and bands of insertion.

Foulard is not used so much this season as formerly. It is made up largely into shirt waist suits and general utility dresses. For dressy wear there are the plain surfaced materials, such as veiling and pongee, which last comes now in all the attractive colorings.

The illustration shows a costume of gray veiling trimmed with bands of a darker shade. With this is worn a white hat trimmed with crimson wings.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

COTTON COSTUMES.

Spots and Lozenges of Contrasting Shades For Trimmings.

Spots and lozenge shaped disks are ultra smart used in the way of trimming. Spotted fabrics of every kind are also considered very chic. Some of the spotted cottons make admirable trimming bands, or large spots are worked in ingrain cotton on stitched bands or on fancy cotton braid.

Unlined blouse costumes made of fine gingham or linen have the skirts eased in at the waist line, clearing the ground all around and finished at the bottom with from three to five large tucks. The waists are bloused both back and front and are worn with a lace or tulle bow under the chin and pretty frills in the sleeves.

Some of the best summer hats are of very fine dead white or black leghorn. The newest show the high crown trimmed with bands of colored ribbon and a single huge rose with its foliage.

Scarlet linen makes an admirable tailor made or shirt waist suit, especially when relieved with crimson and white embroideries. A rich deep cream is a favorite in linens of the coarser weaves. This is very smart trimmed in royal blue or grass green.

Walking suits are tucked in clusters and the skirts are allowed to flare from the knees down.

The illustration shows a white linen waist trimmed with embroidery and bonilon lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

STRANGE WAR STORY

DRAWING THE BLACK BALLOT MEANT INSTANT DEATH.

Trying Ordeal for Two Confederate Soldiers in Civil War—How Retaliation Was Met and Satisfied.

On almost any Saturday or court day there can be seen on the streets of Wytheville, says the Wytheville correspondent of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, two farmers, simple and retiring in their tastes and habits, who were called upon to undergo as trying an ordeal during the war between the states as any soldier on either side of that memorable struggle.

The old confeds. are Joseph Headrick, a farmer who lives on and owns a comfortable country estate lying on the waters of Stony fork, nine miles west of Wytheville, and Jackson Grubb, likewise the possessor of a goodly country home a few miles south of town.

They, like thousands of other young mountaineers of southwest Virginia, answered promptly to Virginia's call for volunteers in '61 and later became members of the Sixty-third Virginia regiment, which was afterward assigned to and became a part of Gen. Palmer's brigade in Gen. Hood's army, and while in that command they were captured by some of Gen. W. T. Sherman's men at Midway Station, nine miles west of Branchville, in South Carolina. That was on the 7th day of February, 1865.

Some days after their capture a federal soldier was found dead in the swamps not far from Orangeburg in that state. There were marks upon his person which indicated that he had been beaten to death with clubs.

A hasty conference of the federal officers was held and they determined upon retaliation, so 100 of the 400 confederate prisoners in their charge were marched out, and Joseph Headrick and Jackson Grubb were with them.

Three federal officers accompanied them, and without any explanation the prisoners of war were lined up. The three federal officers took position at a short distance, one of them holding above his head a cigar box, while the two others acted as guards. The confederate soldiers were then commanded to march one by one between the guards and past the one holding the cigar box and draw therefrom a slip of paper.

Then, for the first time, did it dawn upon the prisoners what was being exacted of them.

The ordeal of that moment can better be imagined than told. The fearful agony and strain which 99 of the soldiers endured was soon over with, for the orders were soon executed, and the "die was cast." Jackson Grubb was fortunate in that he was among the first to draw and he drew a white ballot, which eventually meant life, home and loved ones in old Virginia again.

Joseph Headrick was not quite so fortunate, being late to draw, seventy-fifth in number, but he drew a white ballot also.

The one who paid the awful penalty was No. 81 to draw. As soon as he drew the black ballot he was halted, told to step aside and the drawing ceased. He was at once marched off to Gen. Sherman's headquarters and in an hour or so afterward gunshots were heard and the fullest terms of war retaliation had been met and satisfied.

When Mr. Headrick recalled the events of that moment tears came into his eyes, and he said that he had often faced cannon loaded with all of the deadly missiles of war; that for four days and nights he had been exposed to the shot and shell of the federals before Nashville, but that none of them was as trying as when he faced that cigar box with its 100 ballots on that spring morning in 1865.

Public Auctions in China.

To a stranger a Chinese auction is a most curious spectacle. The auctioneer leans over a slightly elevated counter and exhibits his wares. He says nothing, neither does the bidder, who merely steps forward to the auctioneer and runs his fingers up his sleeve, making pressure on the salesman's arm, thus indicating how much he will pay for the article. Then another and another repeat the action until the one signifying the highest price receives the article without a word being exchanged on either side. Only the auctioneer and the successful bidder know the price offered and accepted.

Papa Was Full of Joy.

A coffee planter in Madras, India, recently became a father for the first time. He was particularly overjoyed, especially as the progeny was twins. The happy father galloped to the nearest telegraph office and wired to his wife's sister in Calcuttta: "Twins to-day—more to-morrow."

LIVES ON SMALL DIET.

New Hampshire Editor, Seventy Years Old, Spends Sixty-Five Cents a Week for Food.

While some of Uncle Sam's commissary officials are being worried by people who wish to learn if it is possible to live on a food ration costing only 15 cents per day, Samuel H. Story, printer, editor and newspaper publisher, whose residence is at 10 Dexter street, Claremont, N. H., is supplying his table at an average cost of 65 cents per week, or for less than ten cents per day.

He works 12 or more hours each working day, keeping healthy and strong on a food ration costing no more than an ordinary glass of whisky. The man who thinks Mr. Story should be pitied, because he does not expend more for food, should visit him.

He would find a man of 70, who has not been bent by age, thinks nothing of a 20-mile walk, works steadily, and is never sick. The visitor, if dyspeptic, might envy him.

The articles bought by him, for his table each week, with the prices paid, are as follows: Thirty-six graham biscuits, 36 cents; a pound of pork, 12 cents; pork scraps, five cents; one pound sugar, five and one-half cents; cheese, ten cents; a quarter of a pound of ginger costing eight cents, and a pound of chocolate costing 20 cents lasts him a month.

WHERE STORY LIVES.
(Home of New England Editor Who Lives on 65 Cents a Week.)

He buys neither milk, tea nor coffee, but drinks either chocolate or a weak infusion of ginger with his meals. His luxuries, he says, are lemons in the summer, when lemonade takes the place of ginger tea, and apples in the winter.

In the winter he often walks to Cornish, a distance of six miles, chops wood through the day and walks home at night. He gets to Cornish before daylight, and does not return until after it becomes too dark to chop.

He was born in Claremont August 15, 1833. His father was of Scotch and his mother of German descent. He has worked at the type case since 1848, and has published a newspaper here since 1870. His creeds are brief. He says: "I believe in living a pure life and in right doing, but have no religious preference.

"I do not believe in the free and unlimited coinage of drunkards. For all good women I have a liking, but never wished to kiss or marry one. Have been a bachelor from choice. I love quiet, and would not like to place myself where I would have to endure the wear and tear of married life."

Mr. Story refuses to be photographed, and hides when he fears a snapshot will be attempted.

JOHN LEE WEBSTER.

Nebraska Republicans Want to See Him Nominated for Second Place Next June.

John Lee Webster, whose friends are organizing in Nebraska to procure for him the republican nomination for vice president, is a lawyer of Omaha and is widely known for his defense of the Indians and for other cases in which he has disclosed legal talent of an unusually high order. He has won his prominent position at the bar by innate ability and unrelenting industry. He is a native of Ohio and 57 years of age. He has been quite prominent in the political affairs of his state. In 1901 he was a candidate for the United States senatorship, and he was a delegate at large and chairman of the state delegations to the national conventions of 1892 and 1896. Mr. Webster also was a delegate to the last Nebraska state constitutional convention and was honored by being elected its president. A committee has been organized to advocate his claims before the national convention in Chicago next June.

Clothing for Stage Favorites.

Appreciation of good acting is strangely expressed in some parts of Japan. The theater patrons throw portions of their clothing on the stage, and after the performance redeem the articles, the money going to the actor or actress who has excited their admiration.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE, IF UNAVOIDABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THE SIGN BOARD EVIL.

Governor of New Jersey Says Beauties of State Are Hidden Completely by Advertisements.

New Jersey is to be made beautiful if Gov. Murphy can have his way. It is his hope to disentangle the scenery of the state from the mass of advertising signs which now hide it from the view of the public.

The govenor considers the evil of sufficient enormity to demand special attention in his message to the legislature. He makes the following statement regarding the signs of the times:

"I venture with some diffidence to call the attention of the legislature to the increasing number of advertising signs located on various lines of railway throughout the state, and I hope some means may be devised not only to prevent their increase but to remove those already in existence.

"New Jersey is a beautiful state, with an attractive and varied landscape. This gradually is being shut out from the view of the traveler. On the leading line of railway between Jersey City and Trenton there were in the early part of December, by actual count, 1,601 signs.

"They are of all kinds and sizes. They are disfigured by all sorts of effigies of impossible men and women; they advertise remedies for all ills that human flesh is heir to, as well as all sorts of foods, drinks and various contrivances born of human ingenuity.

"If they continue to increase it is not difficult to imagine the day near at hand when the traveler will have the beautiful hills, vales, trees and flowers shut completely from view, and will pass through a continuous and unbroken lane of signboards that will trouble his nights and his days with suggestions of things that are disagreeable.

"I am told by lawyers the problem is difficult, but perhaps the solution might be through taxation, made so high as to be effective.

"In the interest of the suffering and indignant public I present the subject to the legislature in the hope it may be able to find a remedy."

ROYAL FIRE FIGHTER.

By That Title the Crown Prince of Denmark Is Known by the People of Copenhagen.

The crown prince of Denmark, Christian Frederick Charles, is one of the most popular members of the various royal families of Europe. He is liked even by the enemies of monarchical institutions, and the people of Denmark, who have never adored the venerable King Christian IX., will be glad to see him succeed to the throne. The crown prince was born in 1843. In 1869 he married Princess Louise of Sweden. They have four sons and four daughters. In

CROWN PRINCE OF DENMARK.
(Known in Copenhagen as "The Royal Fire Fighter.")

Copenhagen his highness is known as the royal fire fighter, because on two occasions he commanded a bucket brigade when flames threatened the Amalienborg palace. When fire started in the apartments of the crown princess recently he summoned the servants and organized a bucket brigade, standing himself in the blazing room and throwing water on the flames. He is going about with his right hand bandaged as the result of slight burns, but his injuries are trivial.

Frescoes in German Schools.

The committee of the Berlin town council in charge of the primary schools have taken a novel decision with regard to school decoration. The proposal is to spend 10,000 marks every year for eight years, with the object of painting frescoes on the walls of classrooms and corridors. These pictures will be simple in character, and will represent for the most part scenes in German history. Before, however, the plan can be carried out, experiments will be made in three selected schools.

ANARCHY HIS HOBBY.

JOHN TURNER, SPOKESMAN OF THE BRITISH REDS.

Is a Mild-Mannered Chap and Has a Poor Opinion of Our Government, Which He Considers a Joke.

Chicago Special.

In an anarchist hotbed on the West side a small, mild mannered and highly intelligent man sat the other day, and said to a Chicago Inter Ocean reporter he believed in the destructive principles of anarchy.

The man was John Turner, an Englishman, who is one bundle of startling contrasts. Turner is as gentle as a woman in his manner, but he condones all the outrages which anarchists have committed in the wronged name of liberty. He is not a vindictive man, yet he preaches the anarchical practices for the sake of the principle. He will sympathize with a man in distress in one breath and in the next will speak sympathetically of men whose self-assigned duty is to kill kings and overthrow governments.

Last October John Turner left England to come to America. He got as far as Ellis island and there he went to a cell under the law's mandate. Until the first week of March he remained in prison, while the federal government was trying to decide whether he should be deported, for it is notorious that John Turner is not only an anarchist, but a leader of anarchists.

When this at least superficially mild mannered man came to Chicago a week ago he did so with the understanding that he must surrender himself to the government authorities if it is decided he has no right in this country. But he never will surrender, for he declares he will be on his way to England before the United States supreme court can hand down its decision in his case.

On the other side of the Atlantic John Turner is known as a labor leader. Through his wonderful tact, his keen judgment and his unusual executive ability he has been able to form an organization among the retail clerks of England that has for several years been a power.

In this country John Turner is known best as an anarchist. His speeches and his writings are anarchistic sermons. Like all men of his class, he talks all the while of the evils of government, of oppression, of persecution, of the social and economic uselessness of what he calls the ruling classes. While he is an anarchist, it is indisputable that he is a man of sense and culture.

JOHN TURNER.
(English Anarchist Who Is Now Lecturing in United States.)

It has been said that it is not surprising that John Turner is an anarchist. When he was a boy of 18 he was a free thinker. Later he became associated with William Morris, and about that time became a socialist. In 1886 he switched from socialism to anarchy, as a result of his close study of the events leading up to and following the Haymarket outrage in Chicago.

In changing from free thinker to socialist and from socialist to anarchist Turner naturally became, through each change, much more radical in his belief and his teachings, and his radical utterances brought him to his present position.

Until 1889 Turner was the manager for a company in Liverpool. After the dock strike there he formed the first union among the retail clerks. During the last six years he has been the chief executive of that organization.

"My visit to America has been a sort of opera bouffe affair," he said the other day as he put aside a letter he was writing to his family in England. "Only Gilbert and Sullivan or some one else engaged in writing comic operas could fittingly tell the story of my coming to this country. This is a most stupid government, and it is as far behind England in permitting free speech and the ordinary liberties as the benighted lands are behind the United States. You have laws which prevent an anarchist from landing in this country. I am an anarchist. I cannot, therefore, come here to visit my brothers or to speak to the men who have common interests with me. The whole machinery of this government seems to be run for a huge joke."

Some Facts About Manchuria.

Manchuria's latitude corresponds with that of Manitoba, North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Nebraska. Its area of 362,310 square miles is only 10,000 square miles less than the combined area of these great grain states.

Disease Lurks in Masks.

A medical journal asserts that disease is spread by the lending of masks, which are used at fancy dress balls. Forty-two masks were examined, and on eight of them were discovered bacilli of various diseases.

BOROUGH EXEMPTS MAY BUILD

VOLUNTEERS PLAN TO HAVE HOME OF THEIR OWN.

Although it is the youngest organization of its kind in the State, the North Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association is on as strong a basis now as any other in New Jersey. It is growing steadily, and is so firmly established that there is serious talk among the members of buying a lot and erecting a thoroughly appointed building of their own.

Discussion of the matter was broached at a meeting Tuesday night. The proposition was received with a good deal of enthusiasm by the members, and a decided sentiment in favor of it was manifested.

The project has gotten to such a point that the organization has its eye on a suitable lot. The location is on Manning avenue, near Somerset street, back of C. W. Tallman's store. This lot can be secured by the organization, and the members regard it as ideal for their purpose. In addition to this site, there is another good lot nearby that the Exempts can secured, so that the question of a site has been practically settled. If the building is erected, it will be completely furnished with comfortable, club-like features and fixtures. Further, and more definite consideration of the subject, will take place at the first fall meeting.

At the session Tuesday night the members decided to hold their first entertainment as Exempts on Tuesday night, July 12. The affair will be somewhat elaborate, with a programme of entertainment and bounteous refreshments. As its initial affair, the Exempts will strain several financial points to make the entertainment a notable one. The committee in charge is made up of Frank Kesselring, Frank Kelier and J. J. Stahl.

Four new members were elected to membership.

Likely Congressional Candidates.

DeWitt C. Flanagan has formally announced his desire to run again for Congress in opposition to Charles N. Fowler. Another item of political news interesting to Plainfield is that Joseph A. Frelinghuysen, of Somerville, whom Senator Childs defeated two years ago, is mentioned as a possible candidate from the Fifth District.

Another One of Those Luncheons.

The luncheon for the benefit of the Women's Exchange given at the Hillside Club last week is to be repeated on Thursday, June 30. The charity is a most worthy one, and it is hoped that the receipts from the affair will be heavy.

—Cool the blood and soothe the nerves, and hot weather is robbed of its terrors. Neumans Bros.' Java and Mocha coffees and Formosa Oolong tea make the ideal iced beverages.

NATURE'S REMEDIES.

Yarrow for Coughs and Horse Radish Leaves for Neuralgia in the Adirondacks.

When the Adirondack native becomes afflicted with and of the numerous trifling ills which make mankind wretched, said the returned visitor, according to the New York Herald, he does not waste much time on doctors, but goes straight to the woods or the attic for nature's own remedies.

There is one old man whom I have met with packbasket on his shoulder and shears and a rough board stool in his mittened hands going after yarrow, which, dried, is a standby for coughs when it has been made into a wicked looking brew.

Fir balsam, coaxed, drop by drop, from the blisters which swell on the balsam fir at full moon, is a sovereign remedy for chest and lung complaints.

Gravel weed, by which name they insult trailing arbutus, is excellent for the complaint which gives it its name, and bladder root has a desirable effect on the kidneys. Sage tea, containing a little summer savory, is efficacious for worms in children, for which belmonia is also used. Sunflower seeds, steeped, strained and sweetened with molasses, will cure whooping cough.

Horseradish leaves, wilted and bound on the face and back of the neck, will drive away neuralgia, and a nutmeg, bored and tied around the neck, will keep it away. The nutmeg must be renewed about once every six weeks.

Onions sliced, pounded and placed in a cloth and laid over the affected part, will draw out inflammation. A red onion, halved and with one part slightly scooped out and the cup placed over a carbuncle or a boil, will speedily remove the pus.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—One of the black team owned by Boice, Runyon & Co., died last night.

—The graduates of the Plainfield High School visited L. W. Randolph's pharmacy today and were treated to refreshing draughts of soda water.

—William Day and J. Worth Coddington, of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., left for Asbury Park today to attend the G. A. R. Encampment.

—Allan E. Beals, formerly of The Daily Press staff, but now of the Evening Times, Elizabeth, has about recovered from a recent operation and will return to his reportorial duties on Monday. Yesterday he was a visitor to The Daily Press office.

PERSONAL.

Owen Fleming, a Princeton student, has returned to his home on Park avenue for the summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwed, of the borough, will leave town early in July for their summer vacation.

Siegfried Arens, of Rahway road, returned today from a trip to Germany. He was absent about a month.

Sydney R. Titsworth, of West Fifth street, has returned from Hackensack, where he has been visiting a college friend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson, of Crescent avenue, will spend the summer in their cottage in the Thousand Islands.

Miss Lou Crosson, formerly of this city, but now of New York, is devoting her time to the study of music. She will spend Saturday and Sunday in Plainfield.

Mrs. Charles Taggert, formerly of the borough, but now of New York, has returned here, where during the summer she will keep house for H. R. Munger, of Washington avenue, during the absence of his family in Europe.

Golf at Park Club.

In addition to the weekly play for the President's and Park Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club on Saturday, there will be the first team match between the Park and Colonia Club teams.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

John Lansing has resigned his position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

Another large slotting machine has been installed in the machine shop of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

After six weeks of tie-up on the Great Lakes that has involved over one hundred thousand men, the strike has been settled.

John Kenny, of the Garwood Foundry, is suffering from a badly bruised finger which he received while playing ball yesterday.

Samuel Danz, of New Market, has resigned his position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant. Mr. Danz will take a position with a firm in Bloomfield, N. J.

The employes of the Manganese Steel Safe Company's plant will start on a five work day schedule this week. The men will work ten hours a day, only losing four hours.

Thomas Buckley, of Orchard place, who has been in Washington, D. C., on business for the Potter Press Company for the past two months, will return home tomorrow.

Four hundred more men were suspended by the Pennsylvania Railroad at their Altoona shops yesterday. This brings the total laid off in the past month to 2,700. The shops were ordered to work but four days a week and eight hours a day, 5,000 men being affected by the reduction in time. All overtime is strictly prohibited.

At the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, it is said, the services of 1,700 men, fourteen per cent. of the total number employed, have been dispensed with since the boom of two years ago, and weekly wage payments have been cut down $60,000, or twenty-seven per cent. A like showing for the Schenectady Locomotive works, the largest in the Locomotive Trust, so-called, reports 1,100 fewer men employed and a drop of $16,000, or twenty-three per cent., in the weekly wage payment.

Westfield Man and Plainfield Booze.

Samuel Bolston, of Westfield, was picked up last night on East Second street by the police patrol wagon, helplessly drunk, having consumed the contents of a pint whiskey-flask. His horse and buggy were placed in George Cole's stable for the night and this morning Judge Runyon sentenced him to a $3 fine or ten days in jail. As Bolston was dead broke, he communicated with Westfield friends and was locked up again to await the necessary funds

Arranging for Signal Tower.

Officials of the New Jersey Central have been making a preliminary inspection here preparatory to locating a signal tower. It has been decided to place the tower at a point opposite the freight house. The switch will be in the shape of an X, making it possible to run a train from the extreme eastbound to westbound track without backing up.

Mrs. Tanner's Funeral.

The funeral services of Mrs. Frederick Tanner were held at 11 o'clock this morning from the late home on West Front street, there being a large attendance of relatives and friends. The remains were taken to Lebanon, Hunterdon county, where another service was held in the church at that place. The interment will be in Lebanon.

New Chancellor Takes Oath.

Counsellor Lindley M. Garretson, of Jersey City, was sworn in yesterday afternoon as Vice Chancellor, to succeed Alfred Reed, who has been appointed Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, to take the place of Bennet VanSyckel, whose resignation took effect yesterday. Mr. Garretson served as a Justice for thirty-five years.

Mrs. Pyatt Dead.

Miss Cornelia Pyatt died yesterday at the home of J. M. B. Pyatt, on the New Market road, Dunellen. Miss Pyatt was in her eightieth year. Funeral services will be held from her late home, Saturday, at 10 o'clock. Interment will be private.

J. W. Murray, Jr., Reappointed.

John W. Murray, Jr., whose term expired as a member of the Union County Board of Elections, was unanimously endorsed as his own successor at a meeting of the Union County Republican Committee, Tuesday night.

Gift of a Valuable Dog.

Proprietor J. A. Staats, of the Hotel Kensington, yesterday received a valuable pointer about eight weeks old. The dog is the gift of George Voehl, of West Front street.

Children's Day Exercises.

Children's Day exercises will be held at the East Third Street chapel on Sunday. Rev. J. W. Musson, the new pastor, will be in charge.

Miss Mae Anthony, of Fishkill, N. Y., is visiting Miss Mabel Wilson, of West Sixth street.

LOVING CUP FOR MR. BEATON

CITIZENS OF ATHENS, O., MAKE PLAINFIELDER A PRESENT AT HIS DINNER.

The crowning feature of yesterday's celebration of the centenary of Athens, Ohio, was the home-coming dinner on the college campus provided by George A. Beaton, of this city, a native of Athens. Three thousand five hundred people sat down at eighteen tables, each table more than 200 feet long, and enjoyed a bounteous feast.

The beautiful souvenir plates presented to the guests bore a picture of the Ohio University building, erected in 1807, and the inscription, "Athens Home-Coming, June, 1904; compliments of George A. Beaton."

The citizens of Athens presented to Mr. Beaton last evening a handsome silver loving cup lined with gold. The presentation, which took place at the dormitory where Mr. Beaton has been keeping open house for the past few days, was made by Prosecuting Attorney I. M. Foster, who made a brief, appropriate speech.

Mr. Beaton responded feelingly. He said he did not provide the dinner for self-aggrandizement or to seek notoriety, but merely to give his old-time friends a good time and show that he sincerely appreciates the friendship they showed him in his early struggles in the town where he was born and reared.

Congressman Grosvenor was master of ceremonies at the dinner.

When Bishop Moore, a native of Athens, arose, the great company stood up threw flags, college pennants and handkerchiefs and cheered enthusiastically.

Mr. and Mrs. Beaton will leave Athens tomorrow for this city.

Refutes Popular Belief.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey, of Warren chapel, was the speaker at the meeting of the Young People's Society of Hope chapel last night. He delivered a talk upon "Honesty." His most important statement was that most things and people at the present time seem to be running after graft, although he did not believe, as some commentators on modern conditions hold, that every man or every politician has his price.

Work at Baby Camp.

Herman Hansen, contractor, of Vine street, commenced the work on Monday of erecting a laundry house at the City Union, King's Daughters' baby-camp on the mountain. The structure will be 11x16 and the south-side will be left open. A slat floor will be laid to permit wash water to run off readily. Mrs. Howard J. Runyon and Mrs. Frank W. Jones, the camp committee, were present when the work was started.

To Wed This Month.

Miss Anna Dunavan, of this city, will be married to Walter Fisher, also of Plainfield, some time this month. The prospective groom is employed in the passenger traffic department of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

A MILITARY EUCHRE PARTY

MRS. H. W. MARSHALL ENTERTAINS AT HER HOME IN GRANT AVENUE.

A military euchre was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. H. W. Marshall at her home in Grant avenue. The idea was carried out in many features. The tables were arranged to represent forts, while those playing at them were designated as companies A, B, etc. The affair was held on the large spacious porch which was attractively decorated with flags, flowers and bunting.

Not only on the porch, but throughout the house there was a profusion of roses. The souvenirs were small silk flags. The color scheme, red, white and blue, was prominent everywhere. In the hallway there was stationed a dummy figure, representing Uncle Sam, and here the favors were distributed to the guests.

During the afternoon Miss Edna Schooley, of Elizabeth, rendered a number of patriotic airs on the piano, and an unexpected feature, was an improvised programme by a stringed orchestra. The musicians appeared while the play was going on, and it was hinted that they were purposely despatched to the scene of social activity by the male friends of the women. The programme added to the enjoyment of all.

At the conclusion of play, prizes were presented to these women for having scored the most number of points: Mrs. Charles B. Clifton, Mrs. Arthur T. Gallup, Miss Hattie Martin, Mrs. E. J. Cooley and Mrs. L. B. Woolston. Following the presentation of honors, the guests enjoyed the refreshments served by the hostess, also a social hour, and when they left for their homes they all voted the affair a decided success.

Reception to Bishop.

Bishop Spellmeyer, the newly elected prelate of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be tendered a reception by the preachers and laymen of the Newark Conference, of which Plainfield is part, in St. Paul's M. E. church, Newark, next Wednesday night. The local clergymen of the M. E. Church will probably attend in a body. The affair is under the direction of the Preachers' Social Union, of Newark, and the Laymen's Association of the Newark Conference.

Reports Conference Work.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of the borough, who attended the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church in Los Angeles, reported on the big meeting at the week-day prayer service of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church last night. Dr. Carroll described the proceedings of the convention, and explained the meaning of the most important measures introduced.

Back From the Fair.

Alfred Berry Marsh, of Plainfield avenue, returned home yesterday from a visit to an aunt in Missouri. While there he went to the St. Louis fair.

Board of Education Presents Diplomas to a Bright Lot of Young Men and Women.

DR. MAC ARTHUR SPEAKS

Distinguished Divine the Orator of the Evening—Valedictory by Miss Annie Broadnax, a Young Colored Woman, and Salutatory by Miss Anna Corlell Randall.

That Plainfield is deeply interested in its public school system was shown by the great crowd that attended the commencement exercises—better than ever—of the High School last night. An enthusiastic reception was given the forty-five graduates at the exercises held in the First Baptist church, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion.

As usual there was great interest manifested, not only in the graduation, but in the awards of prizes for special work. During the evening an attractive programme of music was rendered by Frank's New York orchestra, and in addition to the salutatory and valedictory, there were orations by VanWyck Brooks and Harold Chamberlain Fenno, and an exceedingly able address by Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, of the Calvary Baptist church, New York.

There was an innovation in the way the graduates took their seats on the platform. Instead of entering the edifice from the rear of the platform, they approached from the front of the church and preceded up the two main aisles two by two, while the orchestra rendered an appropriate march. As they took their positions, together with the members of the Board of Education and others who took part in the programme, several minutes' applause followed. The platform was tastefully decorated with palms, flowers and potted plants.

The programme was opened with an overture by the orchestra, followed with the invocation by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. Another selection by the orchestra preceded the salutatory by Miss Anna Corlell Randall. This address was most creditable. Greetings were extended to the Board of Education and superintendent for their special thought and labor in making gifts of the most value to the pupils. Referring to the new High School, Miss Randall said: "We appreciate the efforts they have put forth to secure for us a more commodious building. We are sorry that their plans could not have been accomplished during our course in school, but we are glad that in the near future their efforts promise to meet with the success which they so greatly deserve."

The young woman then referred to the gifts included in this school life as being three-fold. First the help and guidance of the teachers, next the comradeship of schoolmates and lastly the most permanent gift of all, that of the inspiration of books. Due credit was given to the principal and teachers as directors of intellectual development and for their sympathy and friendship.

"The Mission of American Art" was the subject of an oration by Van Wyck Brooks. In this the young man declared that no other phase of National life so generally embodies and so accurately expresses the National characteristics and ideals as the Nation's art. He then reviewed the part that Italy, Germany and Spain has taken in the world of art and spoke of the famous artists who have helped in the great work of education. He also referred to the work of art as carried on in this country and which has become a very part of education.

In glowing words of tribute Harold Chamberlain Fenno depicted in John Hay "The Adeal American," which was the subject of his oration. He told of his humble beginning and his steady but rapid rise to his present position as Secretary of State, where he exerts a world-wide influence in every affair of National importance as this country becomes one of the great world powers. He saw in John Hay the height to which a humble American citizen may reach: not through luck, nor through double dealing, but by plain, honest, hard work.

In the opening part of the evening given by Dr. MacArthur, which followed, he took occasion to refer to the

CROWD ENJOYS MUSIC AT OPEN-AIR CONCERT

First Free Musical Feast a Signal Success Judging From the Popular Demonstration.

EXCELLENT PROGRAMME

SOME FINE TENOR SOLOS BY JOHN J. NESTER.

L. R. Anderson's bupurb Cornet Solo—The Ten Members Are All Heartily Applauded—Mr. LaVere the Leader.

Under conditions that could not be more auspicious with municipal aid witheld, the public concert series was begun by LaVere's Band last night in the new location near Tier's lake. Every feature surrounding the concert was admirable, and the programme and attendance were all that those interested in the success of the series hoped for.

The size of the audience effectually dispelled the fear that the change in location might affect the attendance. Fully 2,000 music lovers were gathered about the new bandstand, and a good many people loitered in Watchung avenue to listen to the strains of the band.

Concert Park, as Bandmaster LaVere has formally dubbed the scene of the concerts, proved to be admirably adapted to the purpose for which it has been set aside. There is ample space for all the people who may attend the concerts, and paths of easy approach and travel lead to it.

Leader LaVere's innovation, the grandstand, proved to be as popular as he had predicted. It was filled with music lovers who gladly paid ten cents in preference to standing up through the programme, and comment on it indicated that it will be used just as largely all through the series. The money received from this source will be a substantial contribution to the music fund, and insure one or more additional concerts. The stand faces directly on the bandstand. Both stands are roped in, to prevent grafting at the seats, and to keep the space before those seated clear. Tickets for seats were sold at an entranceway near the foot of the stand.

Printed programmes were distributed. These will be a feature of every concert, the local newspapers having agreed to furnish them.

Chief Weiss had officers patrolling the park, and there was none of the rowdyism by youthful hoodlums that marred the concerts given over the brook last year at Grandview avenue.

The band played splendidly, and LaVere led it with his old time grace and skill. Hearty applause followed each number. This is the programme in full:

March, "Uncle Sammy," Holsman; overture, "Schauspiele," Bach; concert waltz, "Sweet Remembrance," St. Clair; cornet solo, "Columbia Polka," Rollinson, L. R. Anderson; medley, "Swanee River," VonTilzer; vocal solo, (a) "The Man with the Ladder and Hose," (b) "Lonely Little Maid," John J. Nester; intermezzo, "Anona," Gray; selection, "Prince of Pilsen," Luders; descriptive, "Dance of the Skeletons," Allen; finale, "The Sentry," Haskins.

As usual, the vocal solos scored the hit of the evening. Nester has a voice exceptionally fitted for outdoor work, and the numbers he had last night were very catchy.

DOG CATCHER'S ZEAL ENRAGES A CITIZEN

Andrew Carney's Counsel Serves Notice on Borough For Return of Canines.

TROUBLE IN STORE

SUIT TO BE BROUGHT UNLESS ANIMALS ARE RETURNED.

Owner Alleges That His Pets Were Taken From Private Property—The Borough Jail Being Used as a Dog Pound.

Through the zeal of Walter Bernardo, one of its dog catchers, the borough is facing the possibility of another suit against it by an enraged citizen. The latter, who accuses Bernardo of taking his dogs unlawfully, is Andrew Carney, of Lincoln place. He has retained Codington & Swackhamer, and will fight determinedly to force the return of his pets.

Bernardo took two dogs, one of them a very valuable one, belonging to Mr. Carney yesterday afternoon. Mr. Carney declares that the dogs were taken from his lawn, which is against the law. He immediately instructed counsel to take legal measures to fight the borough, and the lawyers served formal notice on the authorities that the dogs must be returned unharmed or suit would be started.

Mayor Smalley said this morning that the matter would be investigated. The dog catchers of the borough, two in number, have been told that dogs must not be taken from private property.

The catchers have been busy for two weeks past. There is no make believe about the campaign the borough has inaugurated against unmuzzled or untied dogs, and every stray or unguarded canine will be picked up. During the time they have been at work the men have captured a large number of bowwows. Some of them have been redeemed by owners, but the most of them have been shot. The old jail is being used as a pound.

ALIS VS. HOBOKEN TOMORROW

LOCAL TEAM IS THE FAVORITE WITH THE "KNOWING ONES."

The baseball fans are looking for a fine game tomorrow on Crescent Oval between Alis and Hoboken. The locals are in fine condition and are picked to win against the strong combination from Hoboken. The visitors are rated as being probably the strongest team in the State, being a great rival of the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team. They play fast, snappy ball from start to finish and considering the kind of baseball Alis is putting up now, the game should be close and exciting.

This is the Alis lineup:

Walton, ss; Quinby, 2b; Cregan, lf; Farmer, c; McGoey, cf; Lynch, rf; Bradley, 3b; Gauven, 1b; Badgley, p.

MANAGED BY L.A.D. OF A. O. H.

DANCING A FEATURE AT STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL IN T. A. B. HALL.

A good sized crowd attended the ninth annual strawberry festival and dance given by the Ladies' Auxiliary, Division No. 1, A. O. H., in T. A. B. Hall last night.

Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, president of the Auxiliary, has been prominently engaged in the preparations, which were particularly in the province of Mrs M. A. Owens, chairman, and the following committees: Mrs. Cassie Fitzgerald, Catherine Bimble, Miss Keogh and Miss Margaret Whalen. Samuel Goff was floor master and the refreshments were served by four young women, Miss Josephine Smith, Miss Mary Meehan, Miss Bridget Mc Cue and Miss Bridget Gillespie. It is intended to hold the affair again tonight and possibly Saturday as well. Eugene O'Reilly furnished the music.

Fresh Air Camp Talk.

Mrs. Gertrude H. Diehl, matron of Westfield Fresh Air Camp, will speak at the Seventh-Day Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 for the benefit of the camp. She will bring a few mission children who will sing.

Miss Yates' Luncheon.

Miss Margaret Yates entertained a number of friends at luncheon at the Hillside Club yesreday afternoon. The affair passed off delightfully.

YOUNG COLORED WOMAN AS THE VALEDICTORIAN

Bright Essay on the Revival of Interest in Hand Industry is Given by Honor Graduate

MISS ANNA BROADNAX

HER REMARKABLY GOOD ADDRESS REPRODUCED IN FULL.

Value of Manual Arts in Developing Character—Points Out the Good Work Being Done at Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes.

Much favorable comment was expressed at the Plainfield High School commencement exercises last night over the valedictory address of Miss Anna Frances Broadnax, the fact that she was the only member of the colored race in the class of forty-five pupils making the essay all the more marked. Her address was entitled "The Revival of Interest in Hand Industry" and is reproduced in full:

"Within the last few years great progress has been made in the development of hand industry. Many years ago, before man's ingenuity had fashioned the great inventions which we have today, much of the work now performed by machines was done by hand. But after the inventions came into use, hand industry glided into the background and became of secondary importance. Now the work of the hand is assuming its place decreed by nature. Now men are beginning to see the value of the hand arts.

"If we try to trace the revival of hand industry to its source, we shall find that there are various causes which have led to this great movement. There are a few, however, which seem to stand predominant. First, a wide spread interest is now being manifested in the handicrafts, and this interest has led to a great demand for hand-made articles. Again, the place that this new industry is taking in our national life is due not only to the realization of the intrinsic value of hand work, but also to the understanding of the educational discipline and economic value of the hand arts.

"In the first place, men have begun to realize that works of the hand are truly productions of art and have a peculiar value that no machine-made goods can possess. The work that is being done in Deerfield, Mass., furnishes a striking example of this revived interest in hand work. Hand industry gives pleasant employment to many of the inhabitants. The women sew, embroider, weave baskets, make carpets. The men make and carve furniture, as has been said, 'with the nicety of a Chinese puzzle.' A personal achievement is that of Mrs. Wynne. She invented various ways of decorating copper and silver with enamel, and has lately embellished it with semi-precious stones, opals, and even pretty pebbles. The demand for the articles made in Deerfield by these deft fingers is always in advance of supply.

"Again, we might devote an entire essay to the work of the Indians. Many have become interested in these semi-barbarous tribes, and are eager to possess their work. The blankets, pottery, and lace made by these people are sold almost as fast as they are made. The finely woven baskets are especially highly prized. They are delicate in weave, beautiful in design. They give evidence of patience and endurance, and almost constitute an Indian literature. Old myths, religious beliefs, and even the lives of some designers are woven into the baskets.

"Aside from the interest felt in hand-made work—an interest which shows that now men appreciate the superiority of hand-made articles to those made by machine—lies the far most important reason for the revival of interest in industrial work. This is the realization of the value of the manual arts in developing character and mind and in training for life, the true aim of all education.

"The value of the work of the hand was first realized in the South where it began to bring about wonderful results among the colored people. This work has proved so valuable that it has extended to all sections of our own land and even to lands across the sea. In Georgia a Massachusetts model school was started not long ago for the benefit of the poor whites of that state. In the highlands of Tennessee, industrial training is bringing about a marvelous change among the

FINISHED AT LEAL'S AND READY FOR COLLEGE

Private School for Boys Turns Out Eight Sturdy Young Graduates.

THEIR FUTURE PLANS

YOUNGER PUPILS GIVE A PROGRAMME OF ORATORY.

Donald Greenleaf Wins the First Honors, While Howard Underhill Captures Second Place—Who the Graduates Are.

Prize speaking and the award of honors marked the closing exercises at John Leal's School for Boys, this morning. The parents and friends of the young men were present, the affair terminating one of the best years in the history of the institution. Prof. Leal, assisted by Prof. E. B. Smith, was in charge.

In the prize speaking contest, Donald Greenleaf won first honors, and Howard Underhill the second. The contest was among the younger boys. This programme was given:

"Nathan Hale," Henry Fullerton; "The Chambered Nautilus," Chauncey Haughey; "Ultimate America," Russell Lawrence; "An Appeal to Arms," Louis B. Strong; "Opportunity," Kenneth Runyon; "Puritanism," Donald Greenleaf; part of Brutus' speech in the Forum, Harold Underhill; "Toussaint L'Ouverture," William Wilson; "A Brother's Complaint," John Ubler; "Abraham Lincoln," Tom Foote; "Is a Turtle a Fish," Kenneth Browne.

The graduates and their future plans are: Robert Abbott and Richard L. Lovell, Yale; Henry G. Babcock, Columbia; Charles C. Perkins, Harvard; DeWitt P. Brokaw, John D. Haughey, Lawrence C. Haughey and Elmer W. Stryker, Princeton; William F. Doane, business.

These awards were announced by Prof. Leal:

Geometry, P. A. Chapman, Grenville Strong, Robert Abbott; Caesar, Elliot Rowland; algebra, W. Glenney, Elliot Rowland, H. Vandervoer, P. A Chapman; solid geometry and trigonometry, H. Babcock; arithmetic, Otis Averill, Donald Greenleaf, Chauncey Haughey, Norman Averill; physics, H. Babcock; French, John Haughey.

SAD BLOW TO MISS CURRY

HER YOUNG CHARGES WERE NUMBERED AMONG THE RIVER VICTIMS.

Miss Sara Curry, of the Little Missionary Day Nursery, St. Mark's place, New York city, has been called to many a sad mission but yesterday all day and night she was sent for at homes that had almost been wiped out by the accident on the General Slocum—mothers and children all lost, some of the families of five children all drowned.

Miss Curry and Mr. D. M. Torrey were most of the night at the morgue trying to identify lost friends amongst the dead. Over 400 hundred lying in rows, some past recognition. One very sad case was a mother holding her baby clasped in her arms as she leaped into the river. One of Miss Curry's brightest children was found there lying just as if she was asleep—Jennie Eysel, nine years old, a beautiful child. Many of the friends will remember she sang with the children Miss Curry brought out to sing at Plainfield. She was one of the first nursery babies, a sweet face, with long curls. The mother let her go with some friends. Many a mother Miss Curry has labored with the past ten years is lost. Deep sorrow prevails on the East Side.

May Flower Descendants.

Plainfielders were prominent in the annual meeting of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the State of Jersey at Summit, Wednesday afternoon and night. The following Plainfielders were elected to office: Mason W. Tyler, governor; L. N. Lovell, deputy governor; Boardman Wright, secretary; W. S. Tyler, E. H. Ladd, Jr., and W. M. Stillman, on the Board of Assistants.

BOY DROWNED IN THE BROOK

Freddie Bennett Fell From Tree and Met Death in Two Feet of Water.

STUNNED BY THE FALL

Harry Bennett, of Elm Place, His Father—Body Found by Parent After an All Night Search—Boy Only Eight Years of Age.

Lying in Green brook, just above the Norwood avenue bridge, where he had fallen from an overhanging cherry tree, last evening about 5 o'clock, the body of eight-year-old Freddie Bennett was found at 9 o'clock this morning, by his father, Harry Bennett, of Elm place, after an all night search for the missing lad.

The boy left home in company with Eddie Drake, also of Elm place, at noon yesterday and no more was seen of him by his parents until his body was taken from the water, where it had lain since the fall, which is supposed to have stunned him and thus made it possible for him to drown in water less than two feet deep.

After being together all the afternoon, the boys separated shortly before 5 o'clock in the evening. Young Drake returned home, leaving the Bennett boy eating cherries in a tree which overhung the brook, near the Norwood avenue bridge. A passerby, named Knight, says that about 5 o'clock he crossed the bridge and noticed a slight commotion in the brook, but paid no heed, thinking that some boys might be swimming there.

At supper-time, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, becoming anxious about the boy, questioned Eddie Drake and learned that their son had not returned with him. The father then set out to look for him, going all the way to the mountain and back without getting any trace whatever. Finally, after searching all night, he got the Drake boy to show him just where his son was last seen and noticing the fact that the branches stretched over the water he looked in the brook and saw what he had been dreading for hours.

When found, the little fellow had some cherries in his mouth. He was fully dressed, showing that he had fallen into the water from the tree.

This fatality is the third or fourth within the last few years, to take place along the stretch of Green brook between Norwood avenue and Elm place.

VICTIM OF RIVER DISASTER

TILLIE VANDUZER, A FORMER PLAINFIELDER, PERISHED ON GEN. SLOCUM.

Tillie VanDuzer, thirteen years old, only daughter of Mrs. Tillie Van Duzer, who for many years lived on West Fourth street, is among the many excursionists who were on the Gen. Slocum and who are missing. The young woman and her mother were living at 171 East Fourth street, and it had been planned that she was to come here and visit the Misses Brown, of Prescott place, upon her return from the excursion.

Many Plainfielders will remember Miss VanDuzer. She was, while living here, an attendant at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and was very popular in a large circle of friends.

Henry Windham, of East Front street, had several friends on the ill-fated boat, but yesterday they were found and are now at the Lebanon Hospital, New York. He visited them today.

POLICE DEPARTMENT NEWS

Lawrence Wallace was locked up last night by Patrolman Overbaugh, charged with being drunk and disorderly in the vicinity of the Hotel Rosell. He was fined $5 by Judge Runyon this morning.

An overdose of booze put John M. Wyckoff so completely out of commission last evening, that he was put in a cell at the station house to recover and in court this morning, sentence was suspended on him.

natives. The industrial arts have been introduced into the public schools of Boston. In Manhattan, industrial training will form one of the main features of the curriculum this fall.

"To go across the sea—this same work is going on in Ireland, and it is thought that it will greatly benefit the Irish nation. These arts have also been introduced into the schools of England with remarkable results. But far away from either of these two countries, we find this work carried on. In India we see the value of this discipline among the orphans and others made wretched by famine. In Turkey the industrial training is bringing forth good fruit among Armenian women and children left destitute by the massacres of eight years ago.

"To understand what this work is accomplishing, it may be well to give the testimonial of one who stands in a position to know the fruits of the industrial work in education. The Rev. James Smith, of India, in an article devoted to this subject, says in substance:

" 'I believe in Industrial Training because for nine years I have tried it, and found that in general my most intelligent and resourceful pupils are those who have had a simple course in manual training in addition to their other work; because it fits my boys and girls for life; because it seems to develop faithfulness and truthfulness better than arithmetic and spelling and other forms of mere book-work in which cramming and whispering make deception and superficiality so easy; because it makes my boys more self-reliant; because it makes them more manly; and lastly, because working men and boys must have education suited to their future.'

"In speaking of the economic and educational value of hand industry, we are at once reminded of the grand work that is being done at Hampton and Tuskegee Institutes. In both schools the manual arts are taught with admirable results. In both schools are found dress-making, tailoring, weaving, blacksmithing, millinery and other industries. As great stress is laid on these trades as on arithemtic and English. For it has been observed that this training teaches the students to think and to develop originality; it teaches them the beauty, dignity and honor of labor.

"It may be said here that industrial education alone will not bring about desired results among the colored people. Education of the head as well as that of the hand is necessary. One with the exclusion of the other is not sufficient. Let those who are capable and who wish, pursue the higher education, that they may become wise, intelligent leaders and teachers fitted to lead their people aright. Although this is so, it cannot be denied that industrial education has been and is the most potent factor in elevating the masses. It enables them to gain a better living. It helps to develope the all-around manhood and womanhood by calling forth skill of hand as well as power of head.

"These results are known to be true. Students who go to Hampton and Tuskegee from log cabins leave school no longer content to live as before, but desirous of entering the world with higher aspirations and nobler ideals. They build good homes and earn their living through some skilled trade which they learned at school. The officials of such institutions as Hampton and Tuskegee keep a careful record of all who leave their schools, and it is found that these students lead pure, noble lives, and that they live up to the high moral standard which they followed in school.

"These are some of the advantages of hand industry. And are these not valuable? It would certainly mean peace and happiness among all citizens, if, while we are striving to wipe out all illiteracy, we should, at the same time, prepare every future citizen for life. When we consider that the dominant tendency in the world today is toward industrialism, when we consider that a large share of the prosperity and progress of our nation depend upon the efficiency and intelligence of our workmen, we can see the necessity of promoting these arts and can realize the value of this new phase of education.

"There is no man perhaps who has done more to emphasize the value of manual training than has Mr. Booker T. Washington. He has given himself up wholly to the work which he believes to be the salvation of his people. His is a life of unselfishness and of love for his fellowmen, for his country. From the life of one who has done so much, surely something may be learned. Even as Mr. Washington has served and is serving his race, his country, may we, too, as we enter upon our greater work, live a life of unselfishness and happiness in the service of others round about us. For that is the secret of true living. Some one has rightly said,

" 'That man may last, but never lives,
Who much receives, but nothing gives.' "

Hitch in Building Operation.

Work on the four new houses being erected on Madison avenue, near Randolph road, and the two houses being put up on New street, near Fourth street, has been stopped suddenly. The same man is the backer in both cases, and he has abandoned the project suddenly through some financial hitch. It is said that he has written to a real estate man here, declaring that he has given up the erection of the buildings for good. All the houses are well under way, and they will probably be taken over and completed by other persons.

A Suggestion from
STEINWAY & SONS
About Piano Tuning
Incompetent Piano Tuners
are continually doing a great deal of mischief to good pianos. It will therefore doubtless be of interest to owners of Steinway and other pianos, residing at not too great a distance from New York, to learn that we are now prepared to take orders for the tuning and regulating of pianos during the summer months at special rates. Not only the members of our large regular tuning force but also those of our staff of experts who, during the winter season, have been traveling with eminent pianists on their concert tours, and who have now returned to New York, are available for this work. The greater the number of orders from any one place or vicinity the lower our charge will be for each piano attended to. Consequently we would suggest to prospective customers in any locality that they "club together" in sending us their orders, whenever feasible and agreeable, as the most economical and satisfactory plan. Your patronage is respectfully solicited.

SLOCUM WRECK DEAD

Hell Gate Disaster Grows In Horror as Victims Appear.

DEATH LIST PUT AT SEVEN HUNDRED

Boat Loads of Bodies Brought In. Heartrending Scenes at Morgue, Where Men, Women and Little Children Are Identified.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The horror of the Slocum disaster grows with each hour. Instead of overestimating the loss, as is often the case in such times of great excitement, the extent of the catastrophe was generally underestimated. Even now it is impossible to say what the number of the dead is.

With unceasing effort search is going on for the bodies of those who perished in the disaster. What the list of victims will total scarce one dares venture a guess, but whatever the number may be there is hardly a parallel in the history of fires where death came to so many in so brief a period of time.

Police and health department officials have placed the number at a figure as high as a thousand and more, but it would seem that the maximum fatality will not largely exceed 700.

There have been recovered 534 bodies, for the great part women and children—mothers who weeks ago had planned that fatal outing for their children; little ones who had longed for the coming of that fair day.

Up to dusk 499 bodies had passed through the morgue, and of these more than 300 were identified. The east side has its human sympathies, and down by the river, where the boats unloaded their dead, thousands gathered throughout the day. Streets leading to the morgue were blocked, and only with difficulty could the police keep clear the passages leading to the long rows of coffins for those that came to search for the missing.

Up the sound, where the hull of the General Slocum lies submerged, showing only a paddle box, scores of small craft aided the tugs in grappling for the victims. Divers went down time and time again, and when their work ended for the day they declared there were no more bodies in the wreck. A score of times a diver reappeared after his plunge with the body of a woman or a child. Two of them coming to the surface together on one occasion had in their arms two little girls—sisters—clasped in each other's embrace and their mother, it was thought, whose dead hand tightly clutched the skirt of one of them.

As far as it was within their power the divers searched the wreck from stem to stern, but there were masses of broken timbers through which it was almost impossible to explore, and it may be that some will find a grave under those sunken timbers until the hull is raised or the waters of the sound wash away the last trace of the wreckage.

At this point the water is deep and the currents are swift, and beyond a doubt many have been borne along with the tides, to be given up on a later day at some distant point.

There are a number of places where the living may have landed, and it is believed that many that are now reported missing are safe and eventually will be heard from by the officials who have the rescue work in hand. Indeed, a surprising number of persons reported to these officials that they had been saved, thus cutting the list of missing down considerably as well as the probable mortality list.

Perhaps the most remarkable case in the many appalling experiences of those who were on the Slocum was that of Miss Clara Hartman, who was picked up for dead, towed behind a boat for several miles, wrapped in a tarpaulin and tagged as dead and then recovered consciousness at the Alexander avenue police station. It is now believed she will recover.

Mayor McClellan has issued a proclamation to the citizens of New York and appointed a relief committee of prominent men, and relief will be sadly needed in that little east side territory which the vast majority of those that perished were accustomed to call home.

Captain Van Schaick has stated that his idea in running for North Brother island was to get to shallow water, where the people could wade ashore. If they had waited, as did Van Schaick and his pilots, hundreds that lost their lives by jumping into the river could have been saved by reaching the beach. Van Schaick and Van Wart and Weaver, the two pilots, landed in three feet of water.

Cortelyou Orders Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—An investigation of the General Slocum disaster has been ordered by Secretary Cortelyou of the department of commerce and labor. The investigation will be made under the direction of George Uhler, supervising inspector general. It will be conducted by General James A. Dumont and Thomas H. Barrett, constituting the local board of steamboat inspectors in New York.

Big Motor Car Killed Unknown.

NEW YORK, June 17.—One of the big automobiles used to take sightseers about the city ran over and killed an elderly man in Broadway last night while members of the merry party were laughing and singing. Before the body of the victim could be taken from under the car several of the women passengers became hysterical and jumped down and ran away from the scene. The man killed has not yet been identified.

Rev. Dr. Robert Stuart MacArthur, as the speaker of the evening at the Plainfield High School commencement exercises last night, referred to John Hay as the greatest statesman in the world. John Hay is the kind of man who ought to fill the Presidential chair, but unfortunately political parties, for very plain reasons, do not always seek that type for the most important office in this free country.

orations on art and John Hay and he declared that Mr. Hay was the foremost diplomat tonight beneath God's stars in the world. He then spoke on the "Elements of Success in Life," in his characteristic forcible manner.

He divided his subject into three parts indicating these elements: First, the possession of good health; second, the selection of high ideals and lastly, the performance of tremendous hard work. In speaking on the first element he said that it is not a privilege to have good health, that some persons ought never to be sick, and if they are it is a reflection on themselves. He believed that the majority of people should be strong and well and to this fact he attributed the success of many. Where one man is exhausted in making one blow, another one after striking twenty-five blows will be ready for another twenty-five.

He then briefly referred to Daniel Webster, Robert Browning and Robert Hall, the great preacher, showing in their characters that physical force so essential. He said that men who sin against their bodies sin against God, for their bodies are intended to be the temple of the Holy Ghost.

Coming to his second point, he urged the graduates to select high ideals and to study lofty specimens, whether it be in art or any other branch of education. "The trouble," the speaker said, "was that a person would often imitate the poorest elements in ideals. It was easier for persons to imitate Plato's defects than his good traits." In referring to a very poor opening delivery of Thomas Chalmers, the great preacher of Scotland, it was found that students found themselves imitating him in this respect. The speaker held Jesus Christ up as the one ideal to be followed and imitated.

Dr. MacArthur deplored the element of genius in a boy and especially so if his mother thought likewise. He said that men who have attained success have worked hard. He then cited illustrations in Noah Webster, who was thirty-six years compiling a dictionary and in Daniel Webster, whom he considered the greatest parliamentary orator of the time. He said that he was a fiend on the subject of the dictionary and if he was going to be banished all he would ask for would be the Bible and a good dictionary. By getting a first-class dictionary and learning how to pick out the words and put them together he argued that anyone can become a Shakespeare or a Milton.

In conclusion Dr. MacArthur spoke of the possession of old character. "Reputation is seeming, but character is being," declared the speaker. "Put sixty years of pure life behind a lawyer, politician or a preacher, and he is a power for good. The man must have a clean life. Be loyal to your country, your church and your God."

Following the address, Leander N. Lovell, of the Board of Education, presented the various prizes, each recipient receiving hearty applause.

More than usual interest was shown in the valedictory which followed. Miss Anna Frances Broadnax, the only colored member of the class, was given this honor, through meritorious work during her four years' work. She was given a cordial reception and for the excellence displayed in her composition and in delivery, unstinted applause was received by her. Her essay appears in full in another column of today's issue.

The graduates are the Misses Harriett Mae Batchelor, Anna Frances Brodnax; Jean Douglass, Helen Robins, Evelyn May Berg, Bessie W. Bond Martha Klein, Anna Cerieli Randall, Mary Harriet Dunham, Dorothy Fleming, Mary Amerman Griggs, Eloise Haven, Jessie Alice Burt, Marie Louise Finch, Winifred Haven, Helen Annetta Munro, Margaret Anne Pearce, Mary Alice St. John, Laura Estelle Bent, Antoinette Paine Moodey, Mary Daisy Shimer, Anna Louise Wenzel, Elizabeth Terribery Wilson, Elizabeth Townley Ulrich, Augusta Wolfers Bogen, Bessye Rizpah TenEyck, Frances Ludlow VanDeventer, Winifred Grace Wilcox, Margaret Frances Kenney, Wilhelmina Mott Paston, Martha Adelaide Robert, Jean Georgina Hayman, Jessie Katherine Stevens, Mildred Josephine Spicer and Abbie Louisa Lewis, and Francis Ketcham Anderson, VanWyck Brooks, Joseph Lord Tweedy, Charles Elliot, Lucius Tilghman Koons, Frank Harding Lock, Monroe Hyde Long, Charles Fisher Neagle, Harold Chamberlain Fenno and Louis Bock.

Of the young men who were graduated, Joseph Lord Tweedy will continue his studies at Princeton, Van Wyck Brooks will go to Harvard and Frank Harding Lock will go to Stevens. Miss Harriett Mae Batchelor will go to Wellesley. A small percentage of the graduates will go to college, a majority of the young men having planned to go to business and the young women will remain at home.

In conclusion the diplomas were awarded to the graduates by Dr. J. B. Probsco, president of the Board of Education.

After the commencement, the reception and dance to the graduates was held at the Casino under the auspices of the Alumni Association.

—No matter how high the praise bestowed on the Colburn strawberries, sold by Neuman Bros., they are underestimated. Remarkably big, clean and bright looking, richly flavored, they are nonpareil in berry culture.

DUNELLEN HIGH'S, '04, GALAXY OF GRADUATES

Diplomas Are Awarded to Those Who Have Completed Their Course of Study.

SOME GOOD ESSAYS

"THE PURPOSE OF EDUCATION," SUBJECT OF PRINCIPAL ADDRESS.

President of the Board of Education, William J. Hamilton, Presents the Diplomas—Rev. Mr. Casselberry's Talk.

The Misses Alice Apgar, Mary Baldwin, Ethel Clum and Leola Dunham were graduated from the Dunellen Public Schools, last night, at which time exercises of an interesting character were held in the First Presbyterian church of that place. The edifice was appropriately decorated with flowers, while the class motto, "A Thing Well Done is Twice Done," was given prominence. During the evening an orchestra rendered an excellent programme of music. The members of the Board of Education, including Wilson S. Fredrick, occupied seats on the platform.

Of course, the principal interest centered in the four graduates. Their essays were: "Historic West Point," Miss Leola Dunham; "Superstitions," Miss Alice Apgar; "Modern Chivalry," Miss Ethel Clum. Eugene Ketterer was excused from giving his essay. The work of the graduates reflected credit upon Principal Lester Meserole and his teachers.

The address of the evening was delivered by Rev. W. W. Casselbery, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. His subject was "The Purpose of Education." William J. Hamilton, as president of the Board of Education, made an address to the graduating class and presented the diplomas and gifts for special work, while Principal Meserole presented the scholarship prizes for clear records and attendance. In this Miss Cathie Sampson received a handsome book for the excellent record that she holds of not having missed a single school session in eight years.

Others who took part in the programme were Rev. S. K. Doolittle, pastor of the Methodist church, who made the opening prayer and Rev. Frank Fletcher, of the First Baptist church, New Market, who pronounced the benediction.

Herbert Wyckoff, Ruliff Fisher, Robert Humpston and Charles Coriell were the ushers. The orchestra was in charge of Mrs. N. E. Buckley, of this city.

ODD FELLOWS WON.

Masons Defeated in Colored Men's Baseball Game.

The colored Odd Fellows defeated the colored Masons at a game of what was called "homemade baseball." It certainly wasn't like the regular kind. The score was 20 to 13. The game took place on Crescent Oval. Colored society from both sides of the brook attended in large numbers.

Lineup:

Odd Fellows — Smith, Hopkins, Stevens, Washington, Johnson, Cobbs, Harris, Webley and Carter.

Masons—Austin, Johnson, Cook, Dr. Anderson, Erby, Coles, Venable, Batts, Jones.

RECEPTION FOR THEIR PASTOR

COLORED FLOCK GREET REV. H. C. ASHLEY, THEIR NEW MINISTER.

A reception was tendered the Rev. H. C. Ashley, the new pastor of Mount Zion A. M. E. church, last night, by his congregation, who took this means of welcoming the new shepherd among them.

Rev. F. D. Tildon, pastor of Bethel chapel, made the opening prayer and delivered an address to the pastor and his wife. Rev. Mr. Ashley replied.

Following this feature, a programme of short readings and music, both vocal and instrumental, was enjoyed. The following are names of those taking part in this programme: Miss Chatman, Miss Brown, Miss Landers, Thomas Toney and Edward Blair.

E. B. Maynard, the minister's steward, and Mr. Hooper escorted the pastor to the church; Mrs. Ashley being accompanied by Mrs. Maynard and Mrs. Grobes. Walter Johnson and Charles Richardson acted as ushers.

Mrs. E. B. Maynard was chairman of the committee on arrangements, being assisted by Mrs. Henrietta Grobes, Rebecca Voorhees, Lindora Brown, Emma Silby, Anna Everett, Mary Laing, Katie Mayhew, Sarah Marsh, Martha Hooper, Matilda Dunham, Laura Frazer, Belle Stills, Lulu Dempsey, Lucy J. Henry, Josephine Till, Sarah Riley, Eunice Reyees and Carrie Hemings, H. T. Everett, Major Silby, Alfred White, William H. Grobes, Howard Grobes and Alexander Stills.

HORSE SHOW BEGINS TODAY

FIRST ANNUAL EXHIBITION ATTRACTS A GREAT CROWD AT DRIVING PARK.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the horseshow this afternoon. All incoming trains brought loads of people attracted by the event.

All the horses are on hand, groomed to the highest pitch, ready for the sound of the horn that will bring them into the track before the critical eyes of the judges.

The show opens at 2:30 o'clock.

At noontime, horsemen and horsewomen had already begun to gather at the Driving Park. The attendance at the show will be very large. Rain or shine, the show will go on. There is no provision for postponement in the event of a downpour.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

Columbia Lodge, A. O. U. W., will entertain a number of high officers of the order tonight, at the lodge rooms. Grand Master Wood, of Camden, will be present.

I. C. Harris Buried.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of Isaac C. Harris, who died at Haddonfield, on Monday. Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, officiated at the service at the home in West Fourth street. Interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

Want More Members.

AGAIN THE JAPANESE

Russians Sustain Disastrous Defeat at Vafangow.

STAKELBERG'S ARMY CORPS CUT OFF

Planned to Attack Japs' Right Flank, but They Were Too Quick and Outflanked Him—Acknowledges Heavy Loss.

LONDON, June 17.—Advices from St. Petersburg say General Stakelberg has sustained a disastrous defeat at Vafangow by the Japanese army under General Nodzu. The retreat of his army has been cut off.

The war office announces that General Stakelberg was forced back before greatly superior numbers and retreated to Vantsialin, thirty miles north of Vafangow. Officials here deny that there was a rout.

Emperor Nicholas has received the following telegram from General Kuropatkin:

"I have received the following dispatch from Lieutenant General Baron Stakelberg:

"'I had planned to attack the enemy's right flank, but just as our troops had been assigned for the purpose and were beginning to successfully envelop the enemy's right flank the Japanese in their turn attacked my right flank with superior forces, and I was compelled to retreat by three roads to the north.

"'Our losses are heavy, but they are not yet completely known.

"'During the engagement the Third and Fourth batteries of the First artillery brigade were literally cut to pieces by the Japanese shells.

"'Of sixteen guns thirteen were rendered completely useless and were abandoned.

"'The conduct of the troops was excellent, a large proportion of them refusing to retire until after they had been repeatedly ordered to do so.'"

The popular disappointment felt in St. Petersburg over the result of Lieutenant General Baron Stakelberg's fight, which it had been hoped for the past thirty-six hours might turn out to be a victory, is tempered somewhat by the knowledge that the Russian force was overwhelmed by numbers. General Stakelberg does not attempt to conceal the seriousness of his losses, but his report and the reports from all other Russian sources agree that the retreat was in no sense a rout.

The fierce character of the fight is made evident by the fact that the Russians were again forced to abandon their guns, thus indicating, as in previous encounters, the superiority of the Japanese artillery.

The Russian official reports of the losses are awaited with the keenest interest. The war office declines to accept the Japanese figures unreservedly, although the officials frankly admit that they believe the Russian casualties were severe.

The keenest interest is now manifested in the reported advance of two Japanese divisions from Siuyen with the intention of taking General Stakelberg in the rear. It is realized that if this report should prove true the Russian commander may be unable to extricate himself and that if he should be cut off from General Kuropatkin's main army the fate of the detachment would be sealed.

The public derives some consolation from the foreign reports of the raid southward made by the Vladivostok squadron. It is believed that the squadron has returned to Vladivostok.

Port Arthur Conditions Unchanged.

CHEFU, June 17.—Eight junks have arrived here from Port Arthur, all of them loaded with Chinese. They left that town Tuesday. Up to that time the conditions there were unchanged. Small skirmishes are reported continually ashore, and the Japanese ships throw a few shells daily into the city, around which the Russians have just completed an immense trench.

Wreckage From a Burned Vessel.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—The observer at Cape Henry, Va., reports wreckage coming ashore there apparently from some burned vessel. Cabin furniture, several five gallon cases of oil and a passenger check of the Ocean Steamship company of Savannah, numbered 7567, were among the articles recovered. The wreckage came ashore between False Cape and Currituck, and other articles were visible off the coast.

Shakespearean Scholar Dead.

BRISTOL, R. I., June 17.—Thomas T. Bryce, aged sixty years, until within ten years a prominent member of the New York Cotton Exchange, was found dead at a local sanitarium, death being due to heart trouble. He was a well known Shakespearean scholar.

THE LATEST FROM PARIS.

Embroidered Cottons and Linens the Rage—Novelties In Laces.

Embroidered cotton and linen goods promise to be all the rage for warm weather wear. The less transparent muslins are also delightful for afternoon wear, specially in white. These dresses are trimmed with embroidery and valenciennes insertion. Batiste in light tan shade is very pretty embroidered in white.

Valenciennes lace is used on the thin muslins. The other dress materials, even the veilings, are trimmed this season with quite heavy laces and embroideries. Detachable medallions play also quite an important part among the season's trimmings, and scallops and detachable figures ornament the edges of the full sleeves.

Embroidered and dyed laces are among the novelties, and a palm leaf design seen recently was enriched by pink roses embroidered in the center of each of the large leaves. This was to be used to trim a pink veiling gown. The long shouldered effect is in evidence more than ever, and the linings of transparent yokes are cut out off the shoulder instead of round, as formerly, in order to give this wide sloping effect.

Collarless waists are not to be worn as much as formerly, although a few are seen.

Among the season's novelties are suede buttons overlaid with metal, the color of the suede harmonizing with the shade of the gown. Perfectly exquisite are those of orange suede with a design in steel. Suede buttons with just a rim of metal will also be much in evidence.

The picture shows an ecru straw hat faced with pink tulle. It is trimmed with a ruching and an ostrich feather.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Dainty Fronts For Linen Costumes. The New Summer Shirt Waists.

The new fronts to wear with the tailor made linen costumes are models of smartness. They are made of lace ruffings, of pale blue or pink muslin trimmed with ruffings of narrow valenciennes, or of dotted mull. They have plain foundation sleeves reaching to the elbow, but from there down the sleeve is composed of a multiplicity of ruffings which show below the short bolero sleeves of the linen coat.

Very attractive shirt waists are of the lingerie order. Coarse linen ones look well with frocks of the more severe description, and these are enriched with French knots and heavy embroidery done in white or pale blue linen thread.

For warm weather nothing, however, can be prettier than the blouse of fine Persian lawn trimmed with flower application done in lace, combined with handwork embroidery.

A smart taffeta frock in an odd shade of green seen recently had a very full skirt eased in at the waist. The bolero was quite full and was trimmed with tiny suede buttons and gray cording of the same shade.

Crepe marquise is a pretty new summer fabric that may be washed. It has a background of monotones with embroidered dots. Crepe armazine is similar to crepe marquise, having, however, silk stripes instead of dots. Very lovely, too, is the new cotton material, crepe princesse. Pompadour crepe is a new dress material combining the softness of crepe with the lustre of silk and printed in Pompadour designs.

The cut shows a veiling suit trimmed with guipure lace and made up over lustrous white silk.

GOVERNOR GENERAL SHOT.

Ruler of Finland Mortally Wounded by Anti-Russian Agitator.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 17.—General Nikolai Bobrikoff, governor general of Finland, was shot and mortally wounded at the entrance to the Finnish senate at Helsingfors.

The assassin, a man named Schaumann, a son of Senator Schaumann, immediately committed suicide. Bobrikoff was shot in the stomach and neck. He is being brought to St. Petersburg in a dying condition.

Three shots were fired, two of which caused slight wounds in the neck and chest. The third bullet penetrated the abdomen and necessitated a serious operation, which was successfully performed after the sacrament had been administered to General Bobrikoff. The bullet was extracted and a portion of the intestines removed.

The attack is ascribed to Finnish patriotism. Schaumann was a member of what is known as the Finnish Patriotic party.

General Count Bobrikoff was appointed governor general of Finland in April, 1899, and soon afterward distinguished himself by his severity. He inaugurated a campaign against the Finnish press which aroused considerable feeling.

While little is known here concerning the motives behind Schaumann's act the authorities entertain no doubt that it grew out of opposition to the policy of the Russification of Finland.

Tennis Tournament at Boston.

BOSTON, June 17.—At the Massachusetts state tennis championship here the best match, although decided in two sets, was between E. E. Leonard and W. Blagden. Twenty-two games were played in the first set and twelve in the second before Leonard won.

Tennis at Hartford.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 17.—At the tennis tournament here in the singles Beals Wright defeated Jones, 6—3, 6—2, and Le Roy defeated Nettleton, 6—1, 6—4. Wright and Le Roy will therefore play for the championship.

Moyer Charged With Murder.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 17.—Assistant District Attorney S. D. Crump today wired Sheriff Rulan at Telluride to hold Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners. Moyer will be brought here on a warrant charging him with aiding and abetting the murder of Charles McCormack and Melvin Beck, who were blown up in the Vindicator mine by an infernal machine. The warrant implicates Charles G. Kennison, former president of the Miners' union No. 40, who was arrested in Denver last Monday; Sherman Parker, Stephen Adams, W. B. Easterly and a number of others not yet under arrest.

Council of War at White House.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Frank C. Travers of New York and Judge Edward J. Garvan of Hartford, Conn., personal friends of the president, were guests of Mr. Roosevelt at a luncheon at the White House. They discussed with the president the political situation in New York and in Connecticut. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California is a house guest of the president and Mrs. Roosevelt.

High Water Tears Out Dam.

FORT LYONS, Colo., June 17.—The Amity dam, completed last year at a cost of $100,000, has been torn out by the high water in the Arkansas river. The wreck is complete. Immense damage is feared to crops under the Amity canal, which cannot secure water until the dam is rebuilt.

Fatal Collision Near Caseyville.

EAST ST. LOUIS, June 17.—In a collision between two through passenger trains on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Caseyville, eleven miles east of here, the engineer of the westbound train was killed and three passengers were seriously injured.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that on Monday the 4th of July, 1904 at the Council Chamber No. 149 North Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, N. J., at 8 o'clock, p. m., the Common Council will receive and open sealed proposals for the purchase of 3 bonds of $700 each. The bonds, proposals for which are now invited, are in denominations of $700 each, will bear date of May 2, 1904. The bonds are issued for the purchase of real estate for the cremation of garbage. Every bidder as a condition precedent to the reception of consideration of his proposal, shall deposit with the City Treasurer a certified check drawn to the order of the City Treasurer of the City of Plainfield, N. J., for $1,000. No proposals shall be received or considered that is not accompanied by such deposit.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

SUBURBAN TO HERMIS

Handicap at Sheepshead Bay Won by Thomas' Horse.

PICKET SECOND, IRISH LAD THIRD

Son of Hermence Took Command of the Field at Once and Was Never Headed—Half a Million Dollars Changes Hands.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Hermis, owned by Edward R. Thomas, easily won the Suburban handicap, valued at $20,000, at Sheepshead Bay. The son of Hermence was on his toes when the barrier snapped. He crossed in front of six competitors from the outside and passed the judges' stand in the lead on his journey of one and one-quarter miles. From the position of command thus secured on the rail he was never headed and won under a perfect ride by Arthur Redfern in the time of 2:05, the best on record for the Suburban and two-fifths of a second slower than the track record of 2:04 3-5, held by McChesney. Irish Lad, the public favorite, failed entirely to justify the confidence of his backers and finished third, nosed out of second honors by The Picket.

The field was lined up and sent away in perfect order by Starter Fitzgerald. Hermis, from outside position, shot to the front as if hurled from a catapult. Passing the judges' stand he had secured the coveted place on the rail, with Irish Lad and The Picket close behind. The others did not appear to be in the same class. On the racers sped, around the turn and down the backstretch, never changing position for an instant. Irish Lad challenged again and again, but to no purpose. He crept up on the flying leader repeatedly, but was unable to hold the terrific pace, much less overhaul him.

The Picket, the hope of the western and southern contingent, ran along unconcernedly in third place until the mile post had been reached. Then he drew up and crept past the Duryea horse inch by inch. Hermis, never touched by the whip, simply threw defiance out to the others in the dust from his pattering hoofs, and through the stretch he was not even challenged. The Picket nosed out Irish Lad for second money, and the great race was over. Proper, Major Daingerfield and Africander brought up the rear.

Had the winner been pushed he would have broken the record for the track with ease. When the vast crowd realized the splendid exhibition of equine worth shown by the victor it arose en masse and cheered him wildly despite the fact that the bookmakers had accepted and won nearly $500,000 on the defeat of Irish Lad. Hermis was heavily backed, however, and at least one-quarter of the amount taken in on the defeat of the favorite was paid out on the winner.

Racing at World's Fair.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—T. P. Hayes' pair, Braden and Layson, ran first and second, noses separating them, in the Kindergarten stakes, for two-year-olds, worth $2,000 to the winner, at the fair grounds track. Broomhandle, the odds on favorite, finished third, a length and a half back. Braden led all the way. Layson carried the favorite wide at the stretch turn, then came on into second place. Old Stone, a World's Fair handicap candidate, made his first appearance this year, running an excellent race over a heavy track, being beaten a head by a bungling ride.

Horatius Won $2,870.

CHICAGO, June 17. — The Austin Selling stakes, the feature event at Harlem, was won by Horatius. Fonsoluca was a good second, with Glassful an easy third. The stake was worth $2,870 to the winner.

Fox Hunters at Bryn Mawr Won.

PHILADELPHIA June 17.—The Fox Hunters of Bryn Mawr defeated the Rockaway polo team by a score of 9 goals to 4½ in the semifinal contest for the Philadelphia Country Club cup.

Harrison Party Will Fight.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Mayor Carter H. Harrison and his political managers have decided to contest before the Democratic national committee five of the Chicago districts. The mayor had before him legal advice to the effect that in the event of the ten delegates, including the mayor himself, being seated as delegates they will not be bound by the Hearst instructions adopted by the Democratic state convention at Springfield, Ill.

Von Sternburg at Schuetzen.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Baron Speck von Sternburg, German ambassador to the United States, was the guest of honor at the schuetzenfest at Union Hill, N. J. The ambassador's party was received at the park by President Kroeger of the National schuetzenbund. Baron von Sternburg and President Kroeger spoke briefly in German, and the ambassador's party reviewed the veterans of the Franco-Prussian war.

Moody Back at Washington.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—At the request of the president Secretary Moody has cut short his stay in Massachusetts and has returned to Washington to confer with the president about his successor as secretary of the navy when he shall succeed Mr. Knox as attorney general. The secretary holds a conference with the president at the White House today.

Great Storm In Cuba.

HAVANA, June 17.—There are rumors of a storm and floods at Santiago, causing heavy loss, but as the telegraph wires are all down it is impossible to learn the facts.

OPENING OF HORSE SHOW

Society Gathers in Force at the Plainfield Driving Park to See the Prize Equines.

FIRST DAY AWARDS

Judges Decide in Twelve Classes and Announce Result—Those Who Contributed Financially to Make First Annual Exhibition a Success—Final Attractions Today.

Brilliantly successful in every respect, the opening of the horse show at the Driving Park yesterday afternoon took its place as one of the most noteworthy events of Plainfield society history. From start to finish, the show went off with a degree of eclat that more than realized the expectations of the management and the public.

As a show of fine horseflesh it was all that the spectators could ask for. Splendidly bred animals of all classes and sizes were shown, under saddle and in harness. Handsomely appointed rigs and showy harness set off statuesque animals so that they looked like animated pictures.

And as a society show, the event was just as notable. Plainfield's fashionables were there in force. Grandstand and boxes were aflutter with bright dresses, and the track fence near the stand was crowded with horsey looking men and with spectators just as much interested in the show, if less sporty looking. There was not an overwhelming attendance, but the management had no cause for acute dissatisfaction upon that score. It is estimated that over 500 spectators were present, and a much heavier attendance is expected today, when the show will close.

The show was favored with exceptional weather conditions. There were many anxious hearts among the exhibitors yesterday morning, when lowering clouds threatened a downpour, but the weather man confessed a love for horseflesh by pulling in his dark blankets and giving the show ideal outdoor conditions, with sunshine and balmy air that helped to put the horses, the rigs and the spectators at their best.

Horsemen of prominence from all over Union County and the fashionable centers near here were present. Westfield, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Bernardsville, Morristown, Hempstead and Glen Cove, L. I., all noted for their horsey sets, were represented either among the spectators or the exhibitors.

Plainfield horses were prominent in all but one or two of the classes. They won several blue ribbons, and a gratifying share of the other prizes, and that in competition with some of the best horseflesh in this section of the country.

Twelve classes and a pony race were on the programme. The judges were Dr. F. C. Grenside, Louis Haight, James G. Marshall, all of New York; and George Willing, of Philadelphia. They discharged their duties carefully, and popular opinion agreed with them in every decision.

The show opened at 2:30 o'clock. It was timed to bring the last class on at 5:55, but the schedule dragged for various reasons—none of which were tiresome, however—and it was not until 6:30 that the programme for the afternoon ended.

The classes came up in the following order. The number of horses and the ribbon winners, and the prizes offered, are noted.

Classes 23 and 28 were local, the entries being confined to horses owned in Union, Middlesex and Somerset counties.

Class 4, pacers, any height, to wagon: Lizzie H, ch m, owned by J. Girard Keenan, Elizabeth, first; Ned Davis, b g, owned by D. C. Smalley, Plainfield, second. Four entries, A. C. Blair's Rex and G. P. Mellick's Lady June scratched. First prize, cup.

Class 8, pairs in harness over 15.2: Archer, br g, and Jim Crow, br g, owned by G. D. King, Springboro, Pa., first; Duchess, b m, and Duke, b g, owned by H. G. Runkle, this city, second; Maud, br m, Mary, br m, Ballentine Bros., Bernardsville, third. Four entries. First prize, $40; second prize, $10.

Class 19, ponies under saddle, 14.2 or under: Lady Boss, b m, Miss Annie G. Fisk, this city, owner, first; Pilot

MINOR TRANSACTIONS OF COMMON COUNCIL

Report as Received From the Public Library Shows Receipts for Year to be $13,600.

NO FREE GAS FOR CITY

P. S. C. NOT TO FURNISH ILLUMINATING GAS FOR MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENTS.

More Electric Lights—Error in Assessment Referred to Committee—The Trees to be Trimmed.

Aside from the business of receiving bids for the construction of the extension of the sanitary sewers, matters of a minor nature occupied the attention of the Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night.

Walter Whittlesey, of East Orange, communicated with the Council regarding the assessment in error of a property owned by him in Watson avenue. The assessment has been erroneously made on property owned by J. F. Daggett, the tax bills having been transposed. The matter was referred to the proper committee for adjustment.

Mason W. Tyler, treasurer of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading room, submitted the annual report. In the general fund the total receipts were $7,316.05 and the balance, $1,660.63. The total receipts for the Babcock Fund were $6,285.62, the disbursements, $3,378.72 and the balance, $2,907. There are 27,887 books in the library and the total circulation was 49,781.

In accordance with resolutions offered by Mr. Gloak, the sum of $200 was appropriated for the purpose of caring for the East End dump at the gravel pit and $200 was appropriated for the work of trimming trees during the coming season.

Mr. Randolph reported on the matter of free gas at police headquarters, stating that the Public Service Corporation will continue to furnish the gas free until July 1 next, after which a charge will be made if it is used. The same is true at fire headquarters.

Mr. Murphy reported still further on the matter and presented a letter from W. R. Causbrook, of the company, in which he set forth the facts as stated by Mr. Randolph and Mr. Lee. However, he said that if the city would have police and fire headquarters wired the company would furnish the current for electric lighting free. This will probably be done.

In view of this statement, on Mr. Murphy's motion, the bills of the Public Service Corporation held up at the last meeting, were ordered paid.

Mr. Murphy moved that in response to a request that one electric light be placed on Lee place, and two more, one midway between Hillside and Woodland avenue and the other between Woodland and Evergreen avenues. The motion prevailed.

Somerset Council Nominates.

Nomination of candidates for office, constituted the chief business before Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., No. 104, at last night's meeting. These were named: Councillor, Fred Soffer; vice councillor, William La Tourette; warden, P. VanArsdale and F. Welsh; conductor, W. Dunham and G. Wilson; outside sentinel, E. D. GaNun; financial secretary, George Allen; recording secretary, Walter Walker; assistant recording secretary, Charles Sebring; treasurer, Jesse M. Scull; trustee, W. G. Creveling, candidate for re-election and E. D. Ga Nun, opposition.

Dance at Hillside.

It has been decided to hold a dance at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, tonight, and arrangements were completed today for the affair. It was originally planned to give up the dance for tonight, but there was such a demand for it that a change was made.

Mrs. Carbone Acquitted.

Mrs. Carrie Carbone, the Park avenue fruit dealer, was on Thursday acquitted of the charge of selling liquor in her place. She and Davis Ramozetti, also of Park avenue, and who was acquitted the same day, were represented by W. G. DeMeza, Esq.

Speak-Easy Trials Wednesday.

The remaining Plainfield "speak-easy" cases will likely be called at Elizabeth on Wednesday. At that time it is expected that sentence will be pronounced in the case of those who changed their plea to non vult.

—Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Serrell have taken possession of their home on West Seventh street for the summer.

THE HORSE SHOW DINNER

HORSEMEN HAD A JOLLY TIME AT THE CASINO LAST NIGHT.

Two social functions were held in honor of the horse show last night. The men made merry at the board immediately after the show closed, and the women—assisted by the men—enjoyed themselves on the dance floor later.

As the guests of the management, the judges and principal exhibitors at the horse show had dinner at the Casino. The menu was a delightful one, and the affair passed off with as much success as the show itself. The ables were decorated in pink.

Those present were Charles J. Fisk, G. S. Willing, Dr. Grenside, J. G. Marshall, and Messrs. Post, Willetts, Fairbairn, Weaver, Blitz, Coe, Tracy, Schoonmaker, Timpson, Guerin, Von Boskerck, McGibbons, Donnelley and Dr. Knott.

Speeches were made by Mr. Fisk, Mr. Marshall, Mr. Willing, Mr. McGibbons, Mr. Weaver and Mr. Waring.

The horse show dance was held at the Hillside Club. It was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

A. O. U. W. HAS A BIG TIME

COLUMBIA LODGE ENTERTAINS STATE OFFICERS OF THE ORDER.

Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., entertained a number of the State officers of the order last night in its lodge rooms on Park avenue. Several members of Central Lodge, No. 48, were present. A number of speeches were made by the visitors and replied to by officers of the local lodges.

The guests included Grand Master Wood and Grand Foreman Sutton, of Camden; Grand Overseer Fowler, of Irvington, and M. F. Tomlinson, of Elizabeth. These officers made speeches which were replied to by Past Master Workmen Salmon C Baker, F. C. Lounsbury, J. H. Buchanan, W. A. Woodruff, James Foristel, Henry Liefke, R. B. Kinney, Master Workman F. Merton Lunger, of Columbia Lodge, and Henry Nischwitz. Grand Trustee Mosher, of this city, was present also.

The speechmaking was interspersed with violin and piano selections by Dr. J. H. Buchanan and Martin A. Korff. Clarence Leland, organist of Columbia Lodge, rendered piano selections.

Refreshments were served by W. W. Warnock, a member of Columbia Lodge.

The meeting was presided over by Past Grand Master V. W. Nash, of this city, who together with Past Master Workmen Bauersachs and Loughlin arranged the entire affair.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

MR. AND MRS. OSCAR A. DOUGLAS MARRIED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

Surrounded by their many friends in Dunellen and vicinity, as well as thirty or more from West New Brighton and Port Richmond, S. I., Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Douglas celebrated their silver wedding anniversary yesterday and last night at their home on Front street in that place.

After spending an enjoyable afternoon, the guests from Staten Island, who came in a special trolley car, left in a body. Just before leaving, however, they grouped in front of the house and sang "Auld Lang Syne" and other songs, ending with "Till We Meet Again." Among the gifts was one to Mrs. Douglas which consisted of a leather hand bag, containing a pocket purse filled with silver.

Mr. Douglas is a veteran newspaper man, having been engaged in every department of the work and once conducted a paper of his own. Among the guests were Miss Amanda M. Douglas, of Newark, a sister of Mr. Douglas, and Rev. Charles Douglas, of New York. A delegation was present also from a chapter of the Daughters of the Eastern Star at West New Brighton, which was organized fifteen years ago by Mrs. Douglas, while she was a resident of that place.

A Strawberry Luncheon.

Mrs. Sylvester F. Randolph, of West Eighth street, gave a strawberry luncheon at her home Thursday afternoon. Covers were laid for ten. The dining room was decorated with pink roses and white roses and daisies were used in the parlor. Mrs. Randolph was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. William H. Abbott and Miss Lulu Randolph.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR SEWER EXTENSION

Stone & Grossart, of Philadelphia, the Successful Bidders Among the Competitors.

WORK TO COST $7,166.30

THIRTEEN PROPOSALS FILED WITH THE COMMON COUNCIL.

C. M. Meeker & Co., of This City, Offered to Do the Work for $7,576.05—Checks Returned to Unsuccessful Ones.

There were thirteen bids received on the proposal for the extension of the sanitary sewer, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, and Walter B. Stone, Charles W. Grossart and J. Thompson, contractors doing business under the firm of Stone & Grossart, of Philadelphia, were the successful bidders. This firm's price for constructing the proposed 12,000 feet extension to the sewer in the eastern end of the city, was $7,166.30. Accordingly, after a recess, Mr. Gloak, chairman of the street and sewer committee, offered a resolution accepting the bid and awarding the contract to the concern, after the contracts are signed. By resolution checks were returned to the unsuccessful bidders.

C. M. Meeker, of this city, was the second lowest bidder, his price being $7,576.05, while Costo J. Forederici, of Orange, was third lowest, his bid being $7,890.45.

This is the entire list of bidders:

Stone & Grossart, Philadelphia; B. F. Sweeton & Son, Camden; Schimel & Hill, Easton, Pa.; Bolton G. Coon, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; Matt Wade & Jacob Jacquer, Elizabeth; James Maybury & Son, Passaic; J. T. Abel & Co., New York city; Antonio Maglio, White Plains, N. Y.; Donato Tusco, Montclair; Costo J. Forederici, Orange; C. M. Meeker, Plainfield; H. Spinich & Brother, Nanguatuck, Conn.; Wilkesbarre Construction Company, Wilkesbarre, Pa.

The city officials seemed well pleased with the lowest bid. There were an unusually large number of bids in which contractors from distant points took part. This is not usually the case. Mr. Grossart, of the successful firm, is well-known here. His brother supervised the construction of the Pedrick-Ayer works.

PYTHIANS 32D ANNIVERSARY

PERSEVERANCE LODGE, NO. 74, HOLDS ANNUAL EXERCISES.

The thirty-second anniversary of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., was observed last night with an interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music and addresses. There were visitors present from Bound Brook, Flemington, Somerville and Elizabeth. Among the notable visitors was John R. McCall, of Sheepshead Bay, one of the two surviving charter members of Perseverance Lodge. The other member is Julius Canterwitz, of Philadelphia, who was unable to attend.

Mr. McCall, although well advanced in years, made the trip alone and his address was well received.

The programme, in charge of Chancellor Commander Walter Hetfield, Jr., included a sketch, "The Postal Card," given by Bert Firstbrook and Matthew D. Sweeney; piano and vocal solos by William N. Runyon; songs by George Cose, John Cose, Alex. Muir, E. D. Cutting and A. D. Pope. There were also selections by the Jews Harp orchestra and addresses by David Bowden and W. W. Mills. The affair closed with a smoker and refreshments. The committee in charge was composed of John Cose, chairman, Matthew D. Sweeney, Bert Firstbrook, Alexander Muir and Samuel J. Robinson.

Flees to Escape Arrest?

Drawing his wages yesterday and leaving for parts unknown, Dennis Regan, of 225 Stebbins place, narrowly escaped arrest on complaint of his wife, Kate, who charges him with disorderly conduct, using profane and indecent language and threatening to kill her. The complaint was made in police court.

—Herbert Gray, who was graduated from the Grammar Department of the Plainfield High School Wednesday, has taken a position in the New York offices of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company.

GUESTS ENJOYED EUCHRE

THE MISSES BALL HAD A PARTY IN HONOR OF TWO PROSPECTIVE BRIDES.

A card party was given yesterday afternoon by Miss Ball and Miss Adelaide Graybiel Ball, of Myrtle avenue, in honor of Miss Ruth Berry and Miss Eleanor T. VanDeventer, two prospective brides. The tables, ten in number, were arranged on the piazza and in the parlor and during the afternoon the guests played euchre. The prize winners were Miss Laura Long, Miss Hattie Shreve and Mrs. Frank French. After the game, refreshments were served and Miss Frances Weir entertained the company with piano selections finely rendered, one of them being a minute of her own composition in process of publication in Germany at the present time.

Miss Berry will be married on Wednesday at Holy Cross church, to William Rowley Faber, of Rockview avenue, and two hours later, Miss Van Deventer will be married at the same place to George Herbert Whittingham, also of the borough. A large number of invitations have been issued for both weddings.

DUNELLEN TEAM REORGANIZED

SEMI-PROFESSIONAL BALL A THING OF THE PAST IN THAT BOROUGH.

Semi-professional baseball has seen its best days in Dunellen, for the present at least, and as far as Manager Smith is concerned it is a thing of the past. The prospects at the beginning of the present season were very bright but things have not been running as smoothly as was anticipated and the climax was capped when the Dunellen team was defeated by the Clinton Avenue A. C. last Saturday. It was then that Manager Smith decided to disband. Although there was $150 in the treasury at the beginning of the season the games have been so slimly attended that Smith has had to go pretty deep in his own money and is now $23 out of pocket.

Although all this is sad news for the borough fans they need not give up in despair as "Billy" Giles, who has played at short for the local team for the last three seasons, has come to the front and during the present week has been busily engaged getting together an aggregation of purely amateur players and arranging games with teams of this class. "Billy" is a hustler and with the assistance of Howard Craig, who has been covering third base for the locals this year, has secured the following men: "Phil" Smith, of P. H. S. team; "Al" Giddes, of Dunellen; "Shorty" Alberts, "Rule" Dailey, of Plainfield; Matthews, of Bound Brook; David Smith, of New York, and Malcum Davis, of Plainfield. With Giles and Craig playing in the diamond, this will make a full team.

The following games have been arranged: Reform A. A., for today; and Clinton Avenue, June 25. Such a team as this will probably receive the support of the boroughites and should prove a success in every way.

SCOTT POST MAN HONORED

JAMES ATWOOD IS CHOSEN G. A. R. DEPARTMENT COMMANDER.

James Atwood, of Trenton, a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 78, G. A. R., of this city, was elected department commander of the G. A. R., at the annual encampment held at Asbury Park Thursday and yesterday. His candidacy was advocated by the members of Winfield Scott Post.

Other honors came to Plainfield in the selection of Mrs. M. C. Dobbins as a member of the executive board of the Woman's Relief Corps, at its annual convention held at the same time, and Mrs. Andrew Cox was elected chairman of the department of patriotic instruction. While at Asbury Park, the Women's Relief Corps presented a handsome flag to the Public Schools of that place. Mrs. Sadie Baglin, of the local Corps, was elected a delegate by the convention. Mrs. Cox took the initiative in the presentation of the flag.

Horse Show Admission Fee.

Somebody with malicious intent has started the false report that admission to the horse show costs from $3 to $5. The admission fee is only $1. The show is not run as a society event, but just exactly for what it is advertised—a display of fine horse flesh and stylish carriages, for the enjoyment of all those who love good horses and fine looking rigs.

ST. GABRIEL'S ACADEMY CLOSING EXERCISES

Many Pupils Take Part in a Pleasing Programme of Recitations and Songs.

AN ADDRESS IN LATIN

A BOUQUET IS PRESENTED TO REV. WILLIAM MILLER.

Seventy-Five Guests—Public Exhibition of Work Done to be Given on June 26 and 27.

In the artistically decorated parlors of St. Gabriel's Academy, the pupils of this select institution, held the closing exercises of the term yesterday afternoon. About seventy-five friends of the institution were present.

Those taking part in the programme were the Misses M. Clark, D. Bullard, A. Pedefious, I. Duchesne, Bernadette Duchesne, M. Boehm, Mary Kenney, A. Jaeger, S. Lee, H. Pedefious, E. Voshl, A. Williamson, M. Clark, L. Jacot, E. Willoughby, M. Berkhan and Lucy Traynor, who delivered the Latin address. Two little girls, only one year at the academy, S. Moskovits and R. Weinberger, made a particularly fine showing in a piano duet.

Other features deserving special mention were the recitations by Miss Mary Kenney and Morton Kapp. There was an arrow drill by some of the junior girls. The arrow drill was the original idea of Miss Hortense Smith, instructor in elocution and vocal training. Miss Smith rendered a vocal solo. John Pedefious gained applause by a recitation.

At the close of her Latin address, Miss Traynor handed a bouquet to little Clara Windham, who presented it to Father Miller, pastor of St. Joseph's church.

Among the guests were people from Brooklyn, New York, Saratoga, Philadelphia, Jersey City and Bound Brook, Rev. Father Dietrich, of the latter place, being present.

A public exhibition of the work done duinrg the past year will be given Sunday and Monday, June 26 and 27 at the academy.

SCORES JOHNSTON.

Denman, Westfield's Manager, Has Something to Say About Plainfield's Manager.

Manager Denman, of the Westfield baseball team, in speaking of the recent decision in the Westfield-Alis dispute, says: "It isn't necessary to quote a precedent regarding the Alis-Westfield game and its standing to Westfield's credit legally, but to show Manager Johnston's clearness and knowledge of what ball is, the Scotch Plains-Aeolian game of last year is mentioned. In the ninth inning," he continued, "the Aeolian's quit the game disputing the umpire's decision. Scotch Plains held this as their game rightly and, further, it is the statement to me by Manager Lenz, of the Aeolians, that Scotch Plains never paid them the guarantee. Alis has no leg to stand on in demanding that our game be considered as nothing."

Rev. Mr. Francis to Preach Here.

N. P. HIGH'S EXERCISES

Borough Board of Education Sends High School Pupils Out Into the World.

THIRTEEN GRADUATES

Prof. Louis Bevier, Jr., of Rutgers College, Speaks—Exercises in Y. M. C. A. Hall—The Valedictory and Salutatory—Rev. E. V. Stevenson Opens With Prayer.

Putting their class motto into effect, the graduates of the North Plainfield High School went "out of school life into life's school" last night. Commencement exercises of brilliant character were held in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The graduating class contained thirteen young men and women, as follows: Leslie Herr Backer, Ethel Augusta Daggett, Mary Rankin Davenport, Mabel Elizabeth Farlee, Angelina Jackson, Bertha M. Lindsay, Mary Elizabeth Mair, Leonard Mantz, Wesley M. Messersmith, Ernest K. Powlison, Ethel Burton Quipp, Florence Heyer White, Fannie L. Wolfe.

They were all present, ranged in semi-circle about the back of the platform, the girls in white and the young men in full evening dress. Friends and alumni of the school were present in overflowing numbers to see them matriculate into "life's school." Every available seat on the floor and in the gallery was occupied, and interested listeners crowded the doorway and the sidewalk of Watchung avenue near the open windows.

The platform was decorated with flowers and palms. The front of the platform was almost hidden by the masses of bouquets for the graduates, and the rear of it was entirely masked by a bank of palms and greens. Above the palms, on the wall, the class motto showed in letters of pink and green, the class colors.

The speaker of the evening was Prof. Louis Bevier, of Rutgers College. He delivered a very happy speech.

Rev. B. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, opened the programme with an invocation. The "Chorus of Revellers," from "Philemon and Baucis," was sung by a selected chorus of voices from among the children of the school. The singing was led by J. Edmund Skiff.

Miss Ethel Augusta Daggett delivered the salutatory after the chorus. In part she said:

"Of all the customs of the human race, none can be traced so far back as that of salutations. Go where you will, back to the very earliest Bible times, and into the most obscure country of the earth, and still you will find man paying his homage to man. Salutation was the first smile of humanity in its cradle.

"Most of all do we rejoice that the deep sense of civil liberty infused through the spirit of the most enlightened people of today forbids that a common man prostrate himself before a ruler or princeling as is the custom in the East. Think of the subjects of a Siamese king crawling on hands and knees to see their ruler, seated on a magnificent throne amidst all the gorgeousness and luxury of the East. Compare this picture with Dicken's description of his visit to our president. He says the president's residence resembles a clubhouse. In the first apartment gentlemen and ladies are promenading up and down, leisurely viewing the premises; in the next room a swarthy, muscular, old Western farmer, with a fat umbrella between his legs, is pondering over the petition he is about to present to the president and finally in a small secluded apartment he finds the president himself, with a worn, yet pleasant look on his face, toiling away at the stacks of papers on his table. What a glorious thought that, when, a few years hence, one from his little group shall sit in the presidential chair, his old classmates may approach him without fear and trembling.

"Since we have never been deprived of this privilege of showing out kindly feelings one for another by modes of politeness, perhaps we cannot fully conceive the virtues lying in civilities; for it is ever true that our keenest appreciation of a thing comes when the thing is gone. But we can imagine to some extent how cold and stiff the world would be without greetings, what happiness would disappear with the banishment of courtesies. And

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

No better place in the city for bicycles and bike sundries than the store of Harry K. Lister, North avenue. Phonograph records in big variety.

Best fruits in the city are sold by R. W. Barnes, of Park avenue. Cold boiled meats a specialty. Staple groceries of the finest quality. Best service.

It pays to buy your medicines, toilet articles, confectionery and soda at Hodge's pharmacy in the Y. M. C. A. building. Try one of those rubber sponges.

Give your order for the winter's fuel to John Johnston, of South avenue, and then you can watch the next coal strike dispassionately and in comfort.

With an establishment like that of S. Hirsch, of Watchung avenue, in town, women waste their time going to New York for suits. He can fit them satisfactorily.

For expert manicuring and chiropody one need no longer go to New York. Dr. Fred Heinecke, graduate chiropodist, has offices in the Woodhull & Martin building and Mrs. Heinecke is a finished manicure.

J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, will be glad at all times to show you his fine stock of goods. He has been engaged in business many years and his word can be relied upon. He guarantees all goods to be as represented.

If in need of farming or garden implements of any kind, household and kitchen utensils, or oil stoves, lawn mowers or refrigerators, give the H. E. Gayle Hardware Company a chance to do business with you. The firm is sure it can please you.

Place your order with Roth & Co., of East Front street, today for your Sunday dinner. The firm carries only the choicest cuts of meat, the best poultry and strictly fresh fish. By trading here you can save money and you will always get the best.

Weinberger, the West Front street clothier, has a fine assortment of men's and boys' clothing, of the best quality, all sizes and at remarkable prices. He also carries an attractive line of men's furnishings, plain and fancy shirts, collars, cuffs and neckties. A first-class custom tailoring department is also maintained.

Fresh, tender spring lamb at Fred Endress' market where the very best meats and fish are to be had at all seasons. This lamb in particular is without its equal anywhere. "Fisherman's luck" at Endress' takes on a cheerful meaning, for the fish to be "caught" there are sure to be fresh, whether they are mackerel, porgies, blue fish or any fish in the market.

When you drink coffee, drink good coffee. L. C. Ortner, of Park avenue, sells the best coffee in the city. And the prices are not the kind that discourage coffee drinking more than the health food cranks. Fine in quality, but reasonable in price, the coffee offered by Ortner is the best grocery value in the city. Other grocery staples in the same attractive array.

If you are troubled with flat feet go to VanArsdale's shoe store and let them show you the instep arch supporter which they handle. Flat feet may result from ill-fitting shoes but never from the kind sold by VanArsdale. The shoes in his stock depend for stylish appearance, on the material and finish, not as some do, on a freak shape which pleases by reason of its novelty.

Lake Excursion.

The beauty spot of New Jersey is Lake Hopatcong and one who visits the place is charmed with the diversified entertainment afforded. The surroundings are delightful in every respect and a day spent in the rarified mountain air of the Jersey foothills will do wonders for the tourist. There are ample facilities for fishing and boating and one who enjoys the rambles in wooded paths and the quietness of the natural pines, to him Lake Hopatcong is the gem of places. On June 19 the New Jersey Central is going to run one of its famous low priced and popular excursions to the Lake. Round trip $1, and special train leaves Plainfield at 9:20 a. m. The run is made in three hours and the entire day can be spent in delightful enjoyment. 6 8 5 eod

"The Highlands of Ontario for Your Holidays."

With the knowledge of what America has to offer the summer tourist and the rest and health-seeker, the thousands of summer travellers who spend their vacations in "The Highlands of Ontario," unhesitatingly pronounce the Muskoka Lakes region the ideal, the perfectly satisfying summer resort. Such an ideal is a combination of two features—primeval nature in a perfect bewilderment of beauty, charm and variety, along with the facilities for most of the modern necessaries and conveniences. In addition to these, the even temperature, the high altitude (1,000 feet above the sea), the health-giving ozone from pine, hemlock and fir, and the dark, soft waters of innumerable lakes, teeming with the gamiest of fresh water fish. What more has a weary, nerve-racked man or lover of nature to desire? Handsome, illustrated, descriptive publications will be sent free on application to Frank P. Dwyer, E. P. HUNDRED MISSING.

Slocum Disaster Victims Still at Bottom of the Sound.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Before Coroner Joseph J. Berry a deck hand on the General Slocum said that flames were first discovered among hay and barrels used in packing glasses and that when the hose was unrolled it kinked so badly that it burst when water was turned on.

When the fire was discovered, the deck hand testified, the boat was at Blackwell's island, opposite Eighty-sixth street.

According to the chief engineer, who is now at Catskill, the fire was not discovered until the Slocum was off One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street.

First Officer Edward Flanagan of the boat told the coroner that a hose coupling became loose, and before it could be tightened the passengers grew alarmed, and a fatal panic set in.

Against the statement of the deck hand is the mute testimony of the stand pipe of the General Slocum, which was raised from the wreck and taken to the coroner's office. The valves of the pipe were closed, showing that no water was turned on.

Inspector Albertson, who is in charge of the police at North Brother island, has made a sensational statement that he believed there were fully 500 more victims whose bodies have not been recovered. Of the 532 bodies recovered all but forty-four have been identified, and as there are still hundreds missing the early hopes that those classed as missing would be found among the unidentified dead are being abandoned, and instead it is thought that the bottom of the sound harbors many more bodies.

George B. Cortelyou, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, who is in this city, said that President Roosevelt had directed that a rigid investigation be made.

GRANT ALL DEMANDS

Sultan of Morocco So Notifies Bandit Raisuli.

PRISONERS TO BE FREE MONDAY

Admiral Chadwick Sends Full Report of Situation and Conditions Leading Up to Outrage on Perdicaris and Varley.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—A Tangier dispatch says news has been sent by the sultan to Raisuli, through the shereef of Wazan, that all his demands have been complied with.

Rear Admiral Chadwick, commanding the fleet of American warships at Tangier, in a report relative to the seizure of Perdicaris and Varley by the bandit Raisuli, says he called with Consul General Gummere on the minister of foreign affairs at Tangier, informing him that "the squadron had been sent to mark the sense of the gravity of the situation on the part of our government." The report says Raisuli's adherents, numbering not more than 100 men bearing arms, occupy a region thirty or forty miles southeast of Tangier, that Rasuli long has been disaffected and in a state of insurgency against the sultan's authority. A number of his adherents are now in prison in Tangier, and there are a number of Moors in the city who aid him. About a year ago a village of Raisuli's people, a short distance from Tangier, was burned by government troops. An Englishman named Harris, the admiral adds, had a servant who was a native of the village attacked and on his requesting to go there to look after his family was accompanied by Harris. Continuing the admiral says of Harris:

"He was seized and carried back some ten or twelve miles into the country and, though many of the tribesmen were his warm friends, held to exchange for some prisoners taken from the tribe and held in Tangier. From Harris' account he narrowly escaped murder, as many of the unruly and fanatic hillsmen knew nothing of him except that he was a Christian and a captive. He was, after a three weeks' detention, exchanged for seventeen of the prisoners mentioned. This was the foundation of the present difficulty.

In conclusion the admiral says:

"There can be but one outcome which can be insisted upon, which is a yielding by the sultan to Raisuli's demands. Apart from the fact that the former knows he is powerless to accomplish anything against Raisuli's people in the mountain region of the latter such an attempt would be a signal for the immediate death of the two captive men. This is well understood, and no such attempt will be made. Pressure has been put upon the sultan to force his compliance in the matter. Muley Ali, shereef of Wazan, a son of the late grand shereef who married an Englishwoman, is now with the captives. As he represents one of the foremost religious families his influence over the fanatical natives is a powerful one, though somewhat vitiated by his European education, which extended so far as serving as an officer in the French cavalry."

A British steamer is momentarily expected with the remainder of Raisuli's followers who were imprisoned at Larache.

The authorities express the hope that Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley will be freed at once and reach Tangier on Monday.

A Tangier report says:

"The ruffianly Moorish troops are still here despite the strong protests lodged with the authorities by Great Britain and the United States.

"It is stated that the Americans are prepared to occupy the town with a thousand men unless the sultan withdraws these soldiers.

"Should Mr. Perdicaris be killed the United States will cast the Morocco question into the melting pot."

A Moorish official said that the troops were sent here in consequence of pressure put upon the sultan by the secretary of the French legation, who practically insisted upon such action in order to lessen the chance of the disembarkation of American or British troops.

Dropped Match Into Oil Can.

CHICAGO, June 18.—A dispatch to the Record-Herald from Winona, Minn., says that the dropping of a match into a can of oil in a hardware store at Altura, near there, has resulted in practically wiping that village from existence. Fanned by a high wind the flames licked up building after building, while the people stood by powerless owing to a lack of water. The loss amounts to many thousands of dollars, with little insurance.

TO CUT OFF RETREAT

Kuroki's Army In Collision With Enemy at Tashichao.

COOLNESS OF AMERICAN ATTACHES

Our Representatives In Hottest Fighting at Vafangow—Russian Shells Overwhelmed the Transport Hitachi.

LONDON, June 18.—A Newchwang report says:

"The advanced guards of General Kuroki's army are in collision with the Russian forces fifteen miles south of Tashichao."

It is thought here that this force is a Japanese army corps under General Nodzu moving from Siuyen to intercept General Stakelberg's retreat.

A Nagasaki report says that seventy-three survivors from the transport Sado have arrived there. They escaped in a water-boat and contrived a sail from their clothing. They met a British steamer off the island of Iki and were towed to a point near Nagasaki. The survivors say that the Sado's engines were disabled after a few shots had been fired by the Russians. When the survivors left the scene the Hitachi was still afloat.

A Liaoyang report says that a lieutenant of Cossacks reported that the American military attaches were with his command through most of the hottest part of the fight at Vafangow. He commented upon their coolness and their professional interest in the operations to the exclusion of the idea of personal danger.

"The Russian artillery," the lieutenant says, "was splendidly served, but was outmatched in number by the Japanese guns."

Detailed reports from Nagasaki of the sinking of the Japanese transport Hitachi by Russian warships are being furnished by survivors. The Russian ships were sighted at 7 o'clock in the morning, and in response to a signal the Hitachi was stopped, but at 10 o'clock got under way again and attempted to escape.

The Russians followed and opened a heavy fire, directed at about the water line, with the evident intention of destroying the troops on board. The fire was terrific, and in a few minutes the decks were covered with corpses and awash with blood.

One shell struck the engine and killed 200 men. The ship began to fill and sank gradually by the stern. At 6 o'clock in the evening she was completely submerged.

Colonel Luchi, commanding the troops on the Hitachi, and many others committed suicide. Luchi was educated in France. Before taking his life he ordered the flag to be burned. The greater number of those on the transport were annihilated.

It is probable that fog has again saved the Vladivostok squadron. Many rumors are extant of an action at sea, but they are not confirmed.

The Russian ships were first sighted off Okino island at 8:30 a. m. by a patrol boat, which reported the fact to Vice Admiral Kamimura. The admiral, with his squadron, is still chasing the enemy. The fate of the transport Izumi is unknown. There were no foreigners on board the destroyed transports except their officers.

Military circles at St. Petersburg do not view the battle of Vafangow as a defeat, and they contend that General Baron Stakelberg, unlike Lieutenant General Zassalitch, won more than he lost.

It is pointed out that the force engaged at Vafangow must recuperate for several days, and it is expected that the fight will materially retard the siege operations against Port Arthur.

Nearly Ran Into an Iceberg.

NEW YORK, June 18.—The British steamer South America, which has arrived from Shields, had a narrow escape from what might have been a serious accident. The steamer had encountered heavy fog since leaving Shields, but on June 13, at 4 o'clock in the morning, it became so dense she was brought to a full stop. Shortly afterward the fog lifted, showing an immense iceberg scarcely 250 yards dead ahead. This iceberg was fully 1,000 feet long and from 150 to 200 feet high.

Train Robbers Got $65,000.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18.—A special from Butte, Mont., says that the North Coast limited was held up near Bear Mouth, and $65,000 was taken from the Northern Pacific Express company's safe, which was dynamited. Kid Curry, a former Montana desperado, is leading a posse after the train robbers. Another posse is in pursuit with bloodhounds.

Bryan at World's Fair.

ST. LOUIS, June 18.—William J. Bryan, accompanied by former Governor John E. Osborne of Wyoming, has visited the fair. When asked his opinion of the fair he said, "I have only just reached here, but I have seen enough to know that it is a great, big thing." He declared that his call was purely social and without political significance.

Former Governor Nash Dying.

COLUMBUS, O., June 18.—Former Governor George K. Nash is moribund, being kept alive only by powerful stimulants. He is conscious only at intervals. The physicians have informed Judge Nash that he cannot recover.

BOBRIKOFF DEAD.

Governor General of Finland Succumbs to Assassin's Bullet.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 18.—The Russian flag at half mast over the governor's palace proclaimed to the people of Helsingfors that General Bobrikoff, governor general of Finland, was dead.

The father, mother, brother and sisters of Schaumann, the assassin of Bobrikoff, were arrested and subjected to a searching examination, but they were released and allowed to return to their country house.

How far the Swedish party is implicated in the killing of the governor general has not been established, but the authorities are convinced that Schaumann had accomplices, who found in the brooding, half fanatical student a ready tool.

Warning of the intended assassination of the governor general reached the authorities in December last, but Bobrikoff, against the pleading of his official family, declined an escort.

The body reposes in a room in the governor's palace attired in a military uniform.

General Bobrikoff will be buried Monday next in the family vault at Sergievo, near St. Petersburg.

It is stated that Schaumann's father, who was a member of the senate, retired from public life because he was opposed to Finland becoming an integral portion of the Russian empire.

Senator Linden, who witnessed the assassination, has furnished the following account:

"Schaumann reached the building a few minutes before Governor Bobrikoff, greeted a messenger and did not betray any unusual emotion. Bobrikoff, in full uniform, drove up to the senate, dismissed his aids at the door and started upstairs. At the same moment Schaumann started downstairs, and he and the governor reached the second landing simultaneously. Schaumann held a revolver concealed in his hand, and as he passed Bobrikoff he shot him through the body.

"Governor Bobrikoff walked in the direction of the office of the committee of justice, and Schaumann followed, firing two more shots, one of these shots striking the governor in the neck. The murderer then pressed the muzzle of the revolver to his heart, pulled the trigger, fell unconscious on top of the steps and died fifteen minutes later. Not a word passed between Schaumann and the governor. The latter in the meantime had succeeded in opening the door, and, entering the committee room, I asked him if he was wounded, and he replied, 'No.' Then I noticed that blood was flowing from him, and before I could say any more he fainted away."

Bunker Hill Day In Boston.

BOSTON, June 18.—The one hundred and twenty-ninth anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill was celebrated in this city, Lynn and other nearby places. Business was suspended here. As usual, the greatest point of interest was at Charlestown. The feature of the celebration was a military and civic parade. Next in point of interest was the dedication of a monument in Roxbury to General Joseph Warren, the Revolutionary leader who fell at Bunker Hill. Mayor Collins and other city officials reviewed a parade and later, with Governor Bates, attended the exercises at the monument.

Chicago Employers Declare War.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The Employers' Association of Chicago has set May 1, 1905, as the date for a general contest with the Teamsters' union. A resolution carrying this decision, recently passed by the executive board, has just been made public. The organization in the meantime will prepare for the struggle. The resolution follows: "Resolved, That this association instruct its members to refuse to sign any exclusive union or 'closed shop' contracts with any local of the Teamsters' union and that no contract of any sort be signed with them which shall extend beyond or expire after May 1, 1905."

French Loan to Morocco.

PARIS, June 18.—The foreign office has been informed of the final closing of the French loan of $12,500,000 to Morocco. The loan is secured by Morocco's customs receipts. This is the first step in France's taking up the reorganization of Morocco's administration of the finances.

Riot In Railroad Camp.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., June 18.—In a riot here between bosses and workmen at the McCann railroad camp on the Indianapolis Southern railroad, five miles from here, two unknown negroes were shot. The sheriff and deputies have left for the scene.

La Follette Faction Defeated.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The Republican national committee has voted to seat the Wisconsin "stalwarts," including United States Senators Spooner and Quarles. The vote was unanimous and is a defeat for the faction headed by Governor La Follette.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Merchants Reducing Stocks.

NEW YORK, June 18.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Industry suffers from an epidemic of ultra conservatism, emanating apparently from the theory that a season of depression must come every ten years, while the coincidence of a presidential election furnishes another precedent. As a result stocks of merchandise have been reduced, railway traffic is lessened, preparations for future business are curtailed, and less money is distributed in the form of wages, while those having capital to invest confine their attention to the highest classes of bonds or hold back for still lower security prices.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for June aggregated $4,151,108, of which $1,854,762 were in manufacturing, $1,879,394 in trading and $416,952 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 257 in the United States against 213 last year and 16 in Canada compared with 24 a year ago.

TO AWE THE TURK.

American Fleet Will Visit the East to Support Mr. Leishmann.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The American battleship squadron, commanded by Rear Admiral Barker, has sailed from Lisbon on a visit to the ports of Greece and Austria.

It is reported that after spending a few weeks there Admiral Barker will be re-enforced by the European squadron under Rear Admiral Jewell, and this formidable fleet will pay a visit to Turkish waters about the time Mr. Leishmann, the American minister, takes up in earnest again his negotiations with the porte to insure for Americans in Turkey the same rights as are enjoyed by citizens of some privileged European nations.

Demon of Speculation.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 18.—Major McCoy, who has committed suicide here, was in Jacksonville looking after a suit of John L. Davis against the Seminole Hard Rock Phosphate company. To Judge Challen, who was associated with him in the case, he left a letter saying: "During these months the demon of speculation has had me in its grip, and I am as powerless to resist it as any drunkard his dram or gambler his game. The course I am taking is all considered—the wise one. Please do what is needful. Communicate with Mrs. McCoy, 911 Longwood, Chicago."

More Than a Hundred Dead.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 18.—The recent fall of fourteen inches of rain in five hours accompanying a hurricane has resulted in the death of more than a hundred persons. The most severe loss was at the village of El Cobre, where about sixty persons were drowned. The river rose instantly, destroying the lower part of the village. Bodies were carried eight miles to the bay. Thirty bodies were recovered.

VICTORY FOR FRANCE

Emperor of Germany Cheered Thery as He Won.

INTERNATIONAL RACE AT SAALBURG

Great Prize Carried Off by French Representative In Richard Brasier Car—Jenatzy, German, In Mercedes Machine, Second.

SAALBURG, Germany, June 18.—In the presence of Emperor William and the empress, Prince Henry of Prussia and other members of the royal family Thery, representative of France, in a Richard Brasier machine won the international automobile race here. The decision was given on actual time covered, Thery going the four circuits in 5 hours, 50 minutes and 3 seconds. Jenatzy of Germany in a Mercedes car was second.

Jenatzy's complete time was 6 hours, 1 minute and 28 seconds.

The French contingent when the race was finished was delirious with joy.

Emperor William, though his countryman was defeated, heartily cheered the winner.

The kaiser and his party received a great ovation. His majesty, who wore the uniform of the Zeithen hussars, before the racing began exchanged a few words with Jenatzy, Germany's hope, and showed great interest in Jenatzy's car.

The emperor appeared to keenly enjoy the surroundings and was interested in all the details of the course. During the forenoon, accompanied by Ambassador Tower, his majesty left the royal stand and proceeded to another stand some distance off so as to get a better view of certain parts of the course.

With a poor start Jenatzy was sent off sharp at 7 o'clock. He saluted the emperor as he passed and received a smile in return. Seven minutes later Edge started, going well, followed by Lancia, who made a fine passage. Werner was next.

Thery went splendidly and received a rousing cheer not only from the French spectators, but from the Germans. Crawez in a Belgian Pipe was followed by Girling.

Decaters was delayed at the start by some difficulty with his motor, but flew past on the trail of Braun's Austrian Mercedes.

Rehn, the noted Frankfort surgeon, was called in connection with an accident to Baron Leitenberger, but in spite of his efforts the baron died. His wife's injuries are not serious, while his chauffeur had three ribs broken.

Lady Uncas Got Handicap.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Lady Uncas, an added starter, won the Coney Island handicap, six furlongs, at Sheepshead Bay. She was quoted at 30 to 1. The time, 1:13 4-5, was good considering the condition of the track, which was dead. Lady Amelia made the pace to the stretch, where Kunz sent Lady Uncas to the front and won. St. Bellane won the Daisy stakes by a head from the favorite, Diamond. Jockey Cochrane was suspended for one week by the stewards for hitting Redfern with his whip while at the post for the first race. E. R. Thomas, owner of Hermis, has given Arthur Redfern, his jockey, two $1,000 bills for winning the Suburban.

Motor Paced Race at Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 18.—Harry Caldwell of Manchester, N. H., easily won the twenty-five mile motor paced race at Charles River park. Six men started, but Benny Monroe and L. Mettling were forced to retire early in the race, while Will Stinson's motor went wrong late in the race, compelling him to withdraw. Basil De Guichard took second place and Sammy Sulkins was a poor third.

President at Hyde Park Wedding.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 18.—The president, Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Carew were present at the wedding of the president's niece, Miss Helen Roosevelt, to Theodore Douglas Robinson here today. They arrived at Hyde Park about 11:30 this morning and will start on the return trip tonight. It is their intention to spend Sunday with Attorney General Knox at Valley Forge, Pa. The president's train will leave Valley Forge early Monday morning for Washington.

Leland Liner Ashore.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 18.—The Leland line steamer Costa Rican, Captain Woodward, from Liverpool by way of St. Thomas for Vera Cruz, etc., has grounded on a reef off Kingston lighthouse. The efforts made to float the vessel have proved unsuccessful. There is eight feet of water in her forehold, and the wrecking steamer Premier has been requisitioned to assist her. The Costa Rican's propeller is broken, and her position is dangerous.

Hitt of Illinois Ill.

WASHINGTON, June 18. — Representative R. R. Hitt of Illinois is confined to his house suffering from the effect of an attack of acute indigestion several days ago. Indirectly the trouble is the outcome of a severe cold which Mr. Hitt contracted while in Illinois about a month ago and from which he has never fully recovered.

Pittsburg to Help Slocum Fund.

PITTSBURG, June 18.—Samuel F. Nixon has tendered the use of his theater, the Nixon, for a big benefit to be given next Friday evening in aid of the sufferers of the General Slocum steamboat disaster in New York. Mayor Hays has promised his support and will name a committee of prominent men to take charge of the finances.

Boone, of West Seventh street, will be ordained to the priesthood in the Baltimore Cathedral on Tuesday by Cardinal Gibbons, and on Wednesday morning he will celebrate his first low mass. On Sunday, June 26, he will celebrate his first high mass at St. Mary's church. At that time Father E. R. Dyer, cousin of Father Boone, and president of St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore and head of the Sulpician Order, will be the deacon of the mass.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—George Geibelhouse, of West Front street, lost his valuable black horse this week. The animal died with the colic.

—A thoroughbred collie dog owned by Lindley Best, of the High School faculty, was killed yesterday by poison.

—Announcement is made that Miss Louisa V. Wooden, of East Front street, and Theodore J. Pruden, of East Second street, will be married Wednesday night.

—The most notable graduation gift received by any of the North Plainfield High School graduates has been given to Leonard Mantz, of Jackson avenue. His present is a handsome new runabout and horse, the gift of his father.

—On Monday afternoon a very pleasing programme was rendered at the studio of Miss May Vincent Whitney. The selections numbered about twenty, representing compositions by Mozart, McDowell, Jensen, Guritt, Flowbow, Orth, VonWilm, Englemann and others. The programme consisted of solos, duos, quartettes, a recitation, and two vocal solos. Another musicale will be given on Monday evening.

Brookholst K. Miller, of Watchung avenue, has returned from Williams College.

Stryker Hoagland, of Linden avenue, is spending his vacation in the White Mountains.

James A. Stafford, formerly of this city, but now of Toronto, Canada, has been visiting here for a few days. He returns home today.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

It is regretted that Gauvin was not secured early in the season. He might have turned the first game against Westfield.

McKenna and Lamar will probably be the battery for Hoboken today against Alis Lindeman will likely play in the field.

If you visit Crescent Oval today you will witness one of the best games of ball of the season. It will be fast playing from start to finish.

Umpire Merity will officiate today and no "yellow" decisions will be given to spoil the pleasure of the fans. Merity is conscientiously fair.

Despite the fact that Alis has defeated Aeolian twice this season, the merry organ grinders will be made welcome on their third visit to this city.

Umpire Caulium has been engaged to officiate for Trenton Y. M. C. A. in its games. Westfield is scheduled to play Trenton on Monday. Watch the result.

Walton, of Phillipsburg, will be at short today, and Plainfielders will have a chance to see some fine work. He will work all right with Quinby at second.

The Charleston Club, of the Atlantic League, is reported as having signed pitcher "Warry" McLaughlin, of last season's Philadelphia and New London Clubs.

A local baseball fan is authority for the statement that Mallen, of the Westfield team, wanted to wager any part of $200 at last Saturday's game on his team. It certainly does not look well to see players betting money.

Burch, formerly of Westfield, but now of Poughkeepsie, where he is playing second base, made a marvelous record in the game with Kingston on June 3, with a home run, a single, a sacrifice, seven putouts, four assists and no errors.

According to followers of the game, it is said that under ordinary conditions, the attendance at the Westfield ball games will not go over five hundred and that is considered good. That size crowd will not support Manager Denman's present team.

"Kid" Roberts, the popular shortstop, who failed to make good this year, is now playing ball. Nat Strong wants him to play at Long Branch and he may decide to do so. His poor playing here is attributed to illness which was not known at the time.

If Charles Denman, manager of the Westfield ball team, is so anxious to advance clean sport, why is he not willing to clean the slate of a game that has been decided by all friends of true sport to be questionable. Here is an opportunity for him to take a stand in favor of unquestionable baseball.

—Mr. Gardiner, of New York, is greatly improving his house on Grove street, corner of Park place, by the addition of a wide piazza on the front and side, with octagonal projection at the corner. He is preparing the house for his own occupancy.

Mrs. Martha Smith, of West New Brighton, S. I., is visiting Mrs. O. A. Douglas.

John Dent and family will remove to Bloomfield next week.

Oscar A. Douglas is ill at his home on Washington avenue.

I. J. Stites is arranging to have his house painted.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local team lineup against the Newark A. C. team this afternoon is as follows: Baldwin, 1b; Williams, 3b; Allen, c; Enright, 2b; Flannery, cf; Crunius, ss; Taylor, lf; Montrose, p; Alberts, rf. This should be one of the best games of the season as the visiting team is considered one of the fastest of the Newark teams. Game will be called at 3:45.

The graves of Knights of Pythias members, who are buried in the Baptist Cemetery, will be decorated tomorrow afternoon by a delegation of knights from the Plainfield lodges. At the close of the service at the cemetery a collation will be served in Excelsior Hall.

"Smiling Jimmy" Montrose will make an effort in the game today with the Newark A. C. team, to keep up his good work and shut the visitors out. Not a run has been scored against him in the last three games played by the local team.

The American flag will be displayed from the houses of local Royal Arcanumites on Thursday, June 23. The day being the annual flag or Arcanum day of the order.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a largely attended meeting Thursday night. The semi-annual election of officers was held. One member was re-instated in the order.

A number from town, who are interested in horses, have been attending the two days' horse show at the Plainfield Driving Park. No local entries were made.

Services at the Baptist church tomorrow will be: Sunday-school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7 p. m.; evening preaching, 7:45.

Mrs. Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, has been visiting friends in town. Mrs. Thompson is a former popular member of the corps of teachers of the public school.

Manager Hand has a good attraction on this afternoon for the lovers of the National game, the Newark A. C. being the opponents of the locals.

Cook Bros. the poultry dealers on Mountain avenue, are listed among the exhibitors of fancy chickens at the St. Louis Exposition.

The Saturday night dance at Earl's pavilion will be held as usual tonight. Suhr's orchestra will furnish the music.

THE GAME COUNTRY

Sights to Be Seen Along the New Uganda Railway.

Wild Animals That Are Visible from the Car Windows—Home of His Majesty, the Lion—Some Experiences.

In the days when the first railroads were built across our western plains one of the sights of a journey across the continent was the herds of buffalo, and other game, that might be seen from the car window, and these sights induced many a scenic-loving tourist to make the trip from the Mississippi to the Pacific. In this country these sights have disappeared, but something of the same kind may be found along the line of the Uganda railway in Africa.

To travelers by this new railway the most interesting sight to be seen is that of the great herds of game, from the tiny "paa" that trots unconcernedly out of the way of the cowcatcher, to the bulky rhinoceros, with the by no means rare appearance of a family of lions, or perhaps the head of the family tearing a lately killed hartebeest or zebra, while circling above on the nearest trees are the vultures, ready to descend on the carcase when his majesty has eaten his fill. Since the alteration in the limits of the East Africa game reserve, the line runs through it for about 230 miles. During this part of the journey, Tsavo river to Kikuyu escarpment, it forms the boundary of the reserve, and no shooting is permitted to the south, or left side of it going up.

The game has in consequence become very tame in that district, and as long as the train does not stop, few animals take any notice of it. Notwithstanding the large number of lions about the line, apparently but few become man-eaters, the Tsavo and Kimaa cases being notable exceptions. Several deaths have been caused by wounded lions attacking sportsmen, but, as a rule, when discovered, the king of beasts prefers to seek safety in flight. The writer well remembers chasing six for some distance up a rocky nullah close to a railway station.

Their numbers caused a reward to be given for them, within certain limits of the line, during its construction, as the coolies naturally did not work while lions were near. All camps in certain districts had to be surrounded with thorn fences, and on one occasion a lioness springing over a fence happened to alight on the sharp end of a broken branch, and, being impaled by it, died by an inglorious death where she fell. Not long ago a hartebeest was pulled down close to the railway headquarters, while in March last, when Sir John Kirk and Sir George Whitehouse were traveling down the line, a telegram was sent up to warn their engineer to approach the next station with caution, as the switches could not be put over owing to the presence of four lions in the station yard. The writer, passing down the line last April, saw a hartebeest lying close to Athi river station which had been killed in the night, and the station-master reported "many great roarings in the night time."

All the gangs on the line and the staff at the stations have huts of corrugated iron, which give them perfect safety at night. Very fair fishing can be got in the Athi river, but it is as well to carry a rifle with the rod, as the banks of the river are often visited by lions, a sportsman having once met five lions close to where he had been fishing all the afternoon, the Nairobi bungalows being in sight at the time. Leaving camp early next morning a rhinoceros broke out of some bushes close by, while eight ostriches and several herds of hartebeest and zebra, with another "rhino," were passed on the way home.

The site of the town of Nairobi was, in pre-railway days, a great hunting ground; a line of game pits extended for a great distance round the base of the hills that overlook the station, in which natives lay while the game was driven over them. Most of these pits are now filled up, as they became a danger to passers-by, but the line of them will be still visible in the grass for some time to come.

At Port Florence, the lake terminus, passengers staying in the dak bungalow close to the shore can often hear the blowing of the hippopotamus at night, and their three quick grunts as they call to each other, while many can be seen during the forenoon rising and sinking in the shallow water off the shore some little distance outside the station. As many as 25 have been counted together, while great numbers can be seen in less frequented parts of the coast to the south. From the steamers which now run regularly across to Entebbe there are several spots to be seen which are certain finds for crocodiles, a hoot on the syren always causing them to scramble hastily into the water.

B. WHITEHOUSE.

HORSE KNEW LAND WAS NEAR.

Detected Odor of Sea from Pasture Lands Two Hours Before Coast Was Sighted.

When Thomas McGuiness, a well known horseman of Philadelphia, went to Europe some time ago, he took a blooded horse with him. The animal was in a specially prepared stall on the deck and enjoyed the trip despite the rough weather. When Mr. McGuiness thought land would soon be sighted, says the Philadelphia Telegraph, he asked the captain how far the ship was from the Irish coast. The commander of the steamer, in his usual gruff manner, replied: "Your horse will tell you; watch him."

The owner of the animal could not understand what the captain meant, and he was not particularly pleased with the answer. Finally, however, a couple of hours before land was observed the horse, which was a magnificent bay, poked his head through the stall door, and, stretching his neck, whinnied loudly. "There you are," said the captain to Mr. McGuiness; "your horse smells the land." The horse was like a different animal thereafter until the coast loomed up.

The captain, in explaining the odd occurrence, said that the thoroughbred detected the odor from the pasture lands that was wafted far seaward, and that horses on board ocean steamers always give the first signal when land is near.

STOCK RAISING IN ALASKA.

Northern Plains Well Adapted for the Industry—Aleutian Islands to Be Converted Into Ranges.

Next to the production of gold the most profitable industry in Alaska promises to be the raising of live stock. Within a very few years it is predicted that regular shipments of cattle for export will be made. The extensive areas of rich growths of grass and the absence of storms in the winter make many sections of the country ideal places for ranching. The winters of Alaska are more hospitable than those of the great plains of Wyoming. Montana and some parts of Nevada, and in the dead of winter horses and cattle can be worked without fear of being frozen. The temperature frequently is very cold, but there are no storms.

Several large stock growers of Washington state are planning to convert the Aleutian islands into vast cattle and sheep ranges, which will surpass in extent the rapidly diminishing ranges of Montana and Texas. One company has begun the shipment of 25,000 sheep and 5,000 head of cattle to the Aleutians, a first consignment of 8,000 head of sheep having recently been sent from San Francisco. The company had demonstrated previously that sheep will thrive there, living throughout the winter solely on the grass of the islands, by having landed 1,000 head there about a year and a half ago.

STOVE IN HIS POCKET.

Chinese Ward Off Winter's Rigors by Carrying Hand Furnaces When Mercury Is Low.

The contented smile of the "heathen Chinee" may be partially accounted for by their indifference to the coldness of the winter months. For in the north of China, says the New York Herald, they care not whether they be indoors or out; they always have a stove with them in the shape of a hand furnace. Instead of the fire being placed in the house it is carried about the person, beneath the thickly padded cotton garments or in the hand; at times it is placed beneath the chair on which the celestial is seated. The discovery of this unique method of avoiding winter's rigors was made by a traveler in Fu-kien province, whose attention was attracted to the universal and peculiar deformities of the inhabitants. Strange swellings projected in the most unaccountable places on the anatomy of the villagers. Speculations were set at rest by an old gentleman, who removed his coat and disclosed a small copper furnace secured around his waist by a band and neatly covered with basket work. This artificial mode of warming the body is only resorted to in time of extreme cold, as on ordinary occasions the people deem their thick clothing a sufficient protection during winter.

FACTORY RUN BY WIND.

Air Motors Supply Power to Two Plants in Germany for Generating Electricity for Lighting.

For more than two years two small factories, one near Leipsic, the other near Hamburg, have been driven successfully by windmills, which are also used as a means of generating electricity for lighting purposes, says the Elektrotechnischer Anzeiger.

The windmills have a diameter of about 15 feet and are mounted on the roof of the works.

To insure reliability, the wind wheel itself has no moving parts, the speed regulation being obtained by turning the windmill so as to vary the angle under which the wind impinges upon the sails, which are built of steel sheets.

This is performed by a small auxiliary wind motor, and is said to be done so quickly and accurately that the voltage of the dynamo remains practically constant throughout the range of ordinary wind pressures.

An automatic switch cuts out the battery connected in parallel with the dynamo as soon as the wind falls below a certain point.

American Patents.

Last year there were 50,156 applications for patents at the patent office in Washington. Of these 29,882 were granted. The receipts of the office were $1,500,000. The patent office is the only government bureau that is operated at a profit.

SEEN HERE AND THERE.

Petticoats of Alpaca For Summer. Taffeta Gowns Here to Stay.

For hot weather collar bands and small yokes will be left transparent, but lined, of course, with chiffon or net to veil the transparency. Little touches of oriental embroidery are used on neutral tinted gowns, especially those of burnt orange tints on gowns of soft beige or tan.

Practical petticoats of alpaca are very smart for summer wear with many frills and embroideries of heavy twist in buttonhole design. Skirts of mercerized batiste are also charming for wearing under linen and muslin gowns.

Mull and soft mousseline are both used a great deal for summer evening frocks. They are trimmed with white Irish lace or silk laces of yellowish tints.

The smart toques and hats are trimmed with fruits and flowers at the same time. So far very few flowing veils have been seen, but lace drapings of every description are used on hats.

Taffeta gowns are here to stay for the season. They are inlet with lace, and the wide sleeves are filled in with dainty lace ruffles, which take away much of the stiffness of the silk.

Bias bands are seen even on very thin materials. They are particularly dainty when carried out in dotted effects.

The picture shows a blue mull gown trimmed with lace insertion. It has a cape effect made of folds and insertions, and the bottom of the skirt is made full by the addition of wide ruffings.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

ACCESSORIES OF DRESS.

The Floral Sunshade a Smart Parisian Novelty—Lace Shawls.

The floral sunshade is a smart Parisian novelty, the design of lace which ornaments the same being outlined with small flowers such as banskia roses, pansies or violets.

Lace shawls and fichus promise to be very popular, and the wide cape of lace inlet with pieces of pongee is worn with the embroidered pongee skirt.

A new material which is being exploited in Paris just now is a soft variety of cloth in flesh pink, decorated with black spots. It is hardly heavier than crepe de chine and is very supple.

Silk coutil is now being used for petticoats, and these are much more durable than those of silk. A charming example in pale pink had wide frills composed of a latticework of tucking and diamond shaped applications.

A stock of coarse linen, embroidered in the color of the suit with which it is worn, is the latest French novelty for morning wear.

The straight front is slowly disappearing in favor of the more curved outline.

The picture shows an evening gown. The waist is trimmed with a wide bertha having scalloped edges, and the entire gown is ornamented with waved ribbon ruchings.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WILL GO TO NEVADA.

SENATOR STEWART TO RETIRE FROM PUBLIC LIFE.

National Capital Will Soon Lose One of Its Most Picturesque Figures —Identified with Mining Interests.

Washington (D. C.) Special.

Senator William Morris Stewart, probably the most picturesque figure in the capital, has announced that he will retire from the senate when his present term expires, March 13, 1905. The venerable senator—he will be 77 years old in August—has had enough of public life and wishes to retire to his farm, in Nevada, where he has a fine estate of 1,500 acres and a large dairy.

Senator Stewart, with his sweeping snow-white beard that hides his collar and necktie and much of his vest, is often likened to Santa Claus. Despite his age he is straight and strong and has a fine, ruddy complexion. He surprised his friends in October of last year by marrying Mrs. May Agnes Cone, a widow, of Georgia, who is at least 30 years his junior. The senator is said to have been attracted to her when he first saw her photograph a few months previous. She was invited to his fine country place, Ashburn farm, near Washington, and amid rural surroundings the courtship progressed quickly. The present Mrs. Stewart is the senator's second wife.

No man has left a more indelible mark of his influence upon the mining interests of the Pacific coast than Mr. Stewart. He was born in New York state, but his parents moved to Ohio when he was a small boy. He worked on his father's farm until he was 13 years old, when he was allowed to start in the world for himself. After accumulating $48 he went to school and managed to support himself and attend an academy for three years. He worked during school vacations and during term times boarded himself, cooking his own meals and doing chores to gain pocket money. Later he went to a Lyons (N. Y.) school, where he worked on neighboring farms for wages during vacation.

Then he obtained employment as a teacher and prepared for college, finally entering Yale college. He remained there until 1849, when the entire current of his life was changed by the discovery of gold in California. When he started for the Pacific coast via Panama his capital consisted principally of a stout heart, a determined spirit and a sound mind in a sound body. He took up the pick and shovel of a miner and worked in the "coyote diggings" of Nevada county. He was the discoverer of the celebrated Eureka diggings, which have been worked continuously ever since.

Later he went to Nevada City and studied law. He was apopinted district attorney and in 1854 was named attorney general and moved to San Francisco. Here he married a daughter of ex-Gov. Foote, of Mississippi. Becoming wearied of metropolitan life, he returned to Nevada City, and thence removed to Downieville, in Sierra county, then one of the most important and popular mining camps in the state. There he devoted himself to the study and practice of laws relative to mining, ditch and water rights, etc., a most important and lucrative branch of legal practice.

He continued in this business until April, 1860, when the great "rush to Washoe" took place, and Mr. Stewart was drawn into the maelstrom of surging humanity which flooded Washoe in that memorable year. The rival ledge theories were a prolific source of contention, while the ignorant or intentional inaccuracy in defining the boundaries of claims and the neglect to make proper records or to record locations at all were equally certain to result in expensive litigation.

It was no wonder that lawyers flocked to Washoe, for the prospect of a rich harvest was unmistakable. Into this litigation Mr. Stewart entered with all the zeal and earnestness of his vigorous nature, and he was retained in almost every suit of importance brought before the higher courts of the territory and subsequent state of Nevada. To his legal acumen, sagacity and influence is mainly due the permanent settlement of title of nearly all the mines on the great Comstock lode. His fees were large and his surplus funds being invested in the development of the mines, he soon became one of the leading operators on the Comstock.

Mr. Stewart has served three terms in the senate.

Suggestion for Advertisers.

An American astounded a rival in business. He opened a store in Birmingham, England, next door to an Englishman in the same line of business. Thereupon the Englishman put up a placard reading, "Established 50 Years." The American responded with one reading thus: "Established Yesterday; No Old Stock."

MIND CONTROL OF HUNGER.

Power Resident in Every Individual Enabling Him to Subdue Cravings for Sustenance.

The sensation of hunger can be modified by mental effort. By promptly refusing to entertain the mind with thoughts and images of food and its relish, the gastric secretion will receive no stimulation, and hence the hunger be kept in abeyance, says the Medical Record. The "posthumus notations" of Antonio Viterbi—a Corsican lawyer—who, in the year 1821, was sentenced to death for some political reasons, furnish some very valuable arguments in favor of this view. In order to escape the death on the scaffold, for which he had an uncontrollable aversion, he resorted to death by starvation, and while awaiting a slowly approaching dissolution, took notes of the rise and fall of the feelings coursing through his consciousness.

From these notes we learn that on the third day of his death fast the sensation of hunger disappeared. His head was clear, his thoughts sharp and lucid, and his eyesight extraordinarily keen. As the days went by he felt the coming and going of sensations of thirst, but not of hunger. His consciousness remained alert and rational to the last. On the eighteenth day of his self-imposed starvation he died. Neither thirst nor hunger had seriously annoyed him, and his last moments were calm and painless.

The calm intelligence and full realization with which Antonio Viterbi approached his fate naturally held his thoughts and imagination away from representations of food. Hence the reflexes transmitted from the gastric nerve endings to the brain failed to elicit a conscious response. Hence no flow of gastric juice and no sensation of hunger.

The same physiological principle is manifested in the behavior of demented and hysterical persons, whose minds being busy with subjective images of fright and horror, have been found to starve for weeks without ever making known any sensation of hunger.

On the other hand, if we inquire into the mental conditions of starving sailors, straying travelers and other unfortunates who have been forced to face starvation with their bodies in full health, and their minds bound with chains of torturing fascination to the imagery of a riotous appetite, we will find that their sufferings have been truly indescribable. Like a Tantalus in the tale, who, surrounded by all the sumptuous viands of a highly wrought and morbid imagination, which he found himself unable to seize and to enjoy, so these unfortunates, with their gastric juice flooding the walls of their stomach, and with storms of irritating impulses rushing through their brain, have suffered untold agonies of hunger and thirst. In most cases of this kind the victims lose their season before they lose their lives.

By the strength of the arguments we are entitled to the conviction that there is a power resident in every individual, enabling him to control and subdue, more or less successfully, his morbid cravings for food and drinks. The secret of breaking a habit or a passion lies in the simple rule, hands off! Keep the mind off the enticing subject. Refuse promptly the idea of its gratification by removing the image from the field of consciousness. The undue secretions of the gastric glands will soon cease and with them the morbid cravings.

A study of the physiology of hunger may thus furnish us a powerful lever in the upbuilding of character and manhood. Indeed, the only real value to be found in the study of any science, philosophy or religion, lies in the bearing such a study may have on the elevation and purification of the thoughts and motives of men.

THE COOK WHO GUESSES.

Different from the One of To-Day Who Measures Everything She Uses.

"I'd give a dollar," said the man who coddles his stomach, according to the New York Press, "to find a cook who doesn't measure. She would gladden my soul. The cook who does things by guess is a rare bird nowadays. She has genius, else she could not dispense with the cast iron rules that regulate modern cookery, and geniuses are seldom indigenous to the flat house kitchen.

"But there used to be plenty of them. Why, I remember the time when half the kitchens in the land gloried in a guesswork cook. It did a fellow's eyes and his whole internal organization good to watch her. She would take a pinch of this, a handful of that and a dash of something else and mix them all together, and the result would be the most delectable tidbit that a fellow ever put in his mouth.

"Lord, Lord, but eating was a pleasure in those days. It isn't so now. In these whirligig times everything has a machine-made taste. That's because the cooks measure so much. Instead of trusting to inspiration, as a heaven-born cook is bound to do, the kitchen queens of to-day measure even the salt they put in the porridge. No wonder such cookery lacks individuality, and is all on the same dead level of mediocrity. Merciful heavens, what ails these biscuits? They're as heavy as lead."

"Possibly the cook made a mistake," said the man's wife. "I got a new cook yesterday—one that doesn't measure. I am afraid she didn't put enough baking powder in the biscuits."

Not a New Discovery.

One of the young war correspondents has discovered that exploding shells are likely to hurt the people whom they hit. This was the way they acted in this country 40 years ago.—Chicago Chronicle.

ideal Location

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

utiful and Accessible

from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SETTLING UP IN THE SOUTH

Primitive Business Methods Employed in the Mountainous Part of Tennessee.

"I have just completed my first business trip through the south," said a New York commercial traveler, whose territory heretofore has been the northwest, relates the Sun. "Except in the larger cities I found merchants doing business by the old methods.

"In some of the mountain towns the old credit system still prevails. I do not know just how they do it, but I think it is on some system of reciprocity.

"I was in a store in eastern Tennessee when an old family doctor came in to settle his account. The merchant owed him for professional services, and he owed the merchant for dry goods and groceries. After they had compared accounts the merchant owed the doctor something over a dollar.

"'Shall we settle up now or let it go over on next year's account?" asked the merchant.

"'I reckon we'd better settle now,' was the reply. 'I have a patient up the creek that needs some cod liver oil, and as I haven't any, and you have, you can square by giving me the difference in cod liver.'

"'The cod liver is only a dollar, Doc, and I still owe you something over. Do you think of any little thing you'd like to make it even, or how?'

"The merchant's stock was general merchandise, including druggist's sundries. The old doctor looked around for a few minutes and then said:

"'You might make the balance in a porous plaster. I've got to put one on Jim Hoffington, who sprained his back yesterday trying to pry his wagon out of the mire.'

"The merchant got out the article and handed it over. Then he figured and said:

"'That leaves me five cents in your debt, Doc. How'll you have it?'

"'You might give me a nickel's worth of court plaster to make it even. I've got a case about a mile out where it'll come handy.'

"And so the account was squared.

"Another thing I noticed in the southern towns that I never saw in the north or northwest. Most of the newspapers print a chapter from the Old Testament in each issue. If not a chapter, they print a verse.

"I was told that in some of the settlements these chapters or texts were cut out by the subscribers and put into scrapbooks. They may have been stringing me about that."

PINE FORESTS CUT AWAY.

Timber Cleaned Out of Northern Michigan and Lumbering Concerns Moving On.

The pine in northern Michigan is rapidly disappearing. A few more years and the end of the once magnificent forests will have been reached. The cut has been going on for the past half a century, many fortunes have been won, many thousands of men have been given employment and lumbering has been the main support of a considerable number of thriving cities and towns. There is but little data on which to approximately estimate what the total cut has been—it can be stated, however, that it runs well into the billions of feet.

At first only the choicest white pine trees were taken, but now practically everything goes to the mill, even the standing dry or dead trees having their uses. With the white pine have also gone the Norway pine and hemlock, and now little is left except the hard woods and the poplar, cherry and a variety of other timber, together with low growing trees of little use in manufacture. The swamp cedar, the spruce and the jack pine have been pretty well taken, the spruce and hemlock finding ready market in the manufacture of paper.

As illustrative of the change in the character of the timber cut during the cutting season just closed, the pine and hard wood timber banked on the Menominee and its tributaries together measure only about 150,000,000 feet, while in addition there are about 50,000,000 feet of cedar ties, posts and poles piled along the banks of the streams in readiness for the annual drive, now about to start. In past years several hundred million feet of pine alone would be on the banking ground and there would be but little other timber.

Love and Royalty.

The proposals of royal personages are generally far more commonplace than those of ordinary people, though there is often more love behind them than one would suspect from an arrangement which is really a matter of statecraft. The proposal of the czar is a case in point. While he was still czarevitch, he met and fell in love with Princess Alix of Hesse, who was staying at York cottage. His proposal was made in correct form. "My father, the czar," said he, "desires me to offer you my hand and heart." "My grandmother, the queen, has commanded me to accept the offer of your hand," said the princess, but, she added, "and your heart I take of my own accord."

It was a love match, and, in spite of the trials and troubles that have befallen them, it is a thoroughly happy marriage.—Chicago Daily News.

Effigies in Westminster Abbey.

It was formerly the custom at the funeral of a great man to dress up an effigy representing him while in life, and then to carry it before his hearse to the grave. After the burial it was set up in the church, sometimes under a temporary monument, to which a laudatory poem or an epitaph was affixed. The royal effigies in the Abbey can be traced back to the fourteenth century, but the oldest original one is that of Charles II. —From George F. Parker's "History by Camera," in Century.

FAITHFUL TO DEATH.

AMERICAN MISSIONARIES TRUE TO THEIR TRUST.

Will Not Leave Korea, in Spite of All the Dangers of War, Because the Converts Need Their Presence.

Boston (Mass.) Special.

Americans in northern Korea were recently approached by the United states gunboat Cincinnati, and offered conveyance to a place of safety. Twenty-three refugees embraced the opportunity, but the missionaries decided to remain, with their wives and children. This fact has led to some hostile criticism of "missionary zeal," and suggests an inquiry into the real duty of missionaries in war time. The Boston Congregationalist says:

"Why do the missionaries stay at their posts at such times? Sometimes because the danger to their personal safety is no greater than they would meet by withdrawing. Often their departure or the sending away of their families on a warship would be interpreted by the people in their care as a sign of far greater perils than really exist. A missionary of the American board in Macedonia lately said that if he and his colaborers should flee in response to the warning of our government, the whole district would be thrown into a panic. Many of the people were coming to sleep at night on the missionary premises, but kept at their work by day, and the continued presence of the missionaries was a strong assurance of safety to them.

"In some cases the abandonment by missionaries of their fields in time of danger has caused severe loss, not only of property, but of prestige, which it requires many years to recover. In the recent Boxer troubles in China the American board cabled to its missionaries to use their own judgment as to remaining in a certain district. Another board sent imperative instructions to its missionaries to withdraw, and they obeyed reluctantly. Our missionaries decided to remain, and the wisdom of their choice is now conceded by all acquainted with the facts.

"The warning sent by our government in such a case as this, is not necessarily an expression of the judgment of its officials that missionaries or other Americans ought to remove from the exposed regions, but is an act in the way of its duty, and shifts the responsibility from itself to those who are warned. It is not the government which assumes to decide when the missionaries ought to leave their fields, but certain newspapers, which, if the missionaries followed their advice, would quite quickly be the first to charge them with cowardice and neglect of their duty."

REV. ARTHUR J. BROWN.
(Secretary Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.)

Rev. Dr. Arthur Judson Brown, of New York, who discusses "The War and Our Devoted Missionaries," in the Missionary Review of the World, has this to say:

"It seems to us that for all the missionaries in Korea to be withdrawn at this time would be calamitous. The property abandoned would probably be looted, if not destroyed. Even in America abandoned buildings are apt to suffer from thieves, and in such a country as Korea it is probable that little would be left. Moreover, the missionary is urgently needed for safeguarding the interests of the work and for moral effect upon the Koreans. As we are going on with our work, it is desirable to avoid, if possible, a demoralizing interregnum.

"Consider, too, the lot of the poor Koreans. Neither Russians nor Japanese are apt to concern themselves particularly about the unhappy people who are between the upper and the nether millstones of contending armies, while at such a time lawless and turbulent men are almost certain to find their opportunity. Even in Christian America, when a destructive fire was raging in Baltimore, thieves and scoundrels took such advantage of the general panic that the police were unable to cope with the situation, and strong military force had to be called out. What, then, is to be expected in such a country as Korea in time of war? Those poor Koreans in this hour of need will look to the missionary as to their only friend and counselor, and if he leaves them, they will be scattered abroad as sheep having no shepherd. Now is the time for the missionary ministry in Korea. To leave the field to the politician, the soldier and the trader would be to dishonor Christ, to fail to utilize an unprecedented opportunity, to abandon the helpless native Christians in their hour of sore need, and to prejudice missionary influence at home and abroad for a generation."

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Bevens, who played a few games for Alis this year, is now with the Amsterdam team.

Captain Billy Lauder has assured Manager Johnston that as soon as his ankle will permit he will be back in the game for Alis.

According to the Washington Star, High Bridge couldn't afford to pay Ramsey his price and he is now pitching for the Dover team.

The East Millstone Baseball Club will play a game this afternoon with the team from Raritan. George Dupee will pitch for East Millstone.

Beisel, who wanted a try-out with Alis in the first game of the season, is now pitching great ball for Roselle. He hails from Brandywine, Pa.

Brogan, the former Scotch Plains catcher, is now playing with St. Michael's C. C., of Brooklyn. He has a top-notch record for this season.

Quinby is playing second for Alis today because the majority of his team-mates on the Crescent A. C. went to the Yale-Princeton game and the team will not play. Quinby would rather play than see a game.

Newberry, who has been pitching crack ball for Lafayette, has refused an offer to go with the Stroudsburg team. Manager Johnston had some thought of getting this fine twirler. He recently shut out the U. of P. team by a score of 2 to 0.

It is generally conceded that Alis will make even more money in not playing Westfield. It costs more for the team than is received through the guarantee and it is argued that the Alis team will draw bigger crowds and get more money by playing home.

The general opinion about town regarding the decision in the Alis-Westfield dispute seems to favor the action of the Alis Club. While many fans regret that the series is off, for the sake of the sport, it is believed that more satisfactory baseball will result. There is no doubt but what the Westfield dates will be filled quickly as a number of strong teams are anxious to play here.

Between Class 9 and Class 3 The Watchung, a sweepstakes for ponies, half mile at catch weights, was run. Copper King, a long-limbed flier that exceeded the height limit but was allowed to run by vote of the owners of the other entries, ran away from the field of eight ponies. He is owned by J. T. Jarvis, of Hempstead. Simper, owned by S. VanSchaick, Garden City, L. I., got the place after a game try for the lead. Nenemoosha, owned by Dr. M. O'M. Knott, of this city, ran third. The stake amounted to $90.

Music during the show is furnished by LaVere's band. It played excellently yesterday. W. J. Styles, who is recognized as the best player of the coach horn in this country, and has acted at many shows, sounds the call for the different events on the programme. He gave a surprising variety of calls and trills and tunes yesterday.

Twelve classes will be judged this afternoon. The special feature will be The Hillside, a hurdle race for four year olds and upward, one and a half miles over nine flights of hurdles.

The catalogue distributed at the horse show is a handsome little volume. It has peculiar interest to local people, because a number of half tone pictures of Plainfielders of both sexes, driving or riding appear in it. The views include a group of hunters around Dr. Knott's hounds, Master D. C. Smalley, driving his father's trotter, "Ned," Harvey Fisk with his tandem, Miss Cruikshank on her saddle horse, M. S. Ackerman's children in their pony cart, and Dr. B. VanD. Hedges in his runabout.

The catalogue makes public for the first time the list of subscribers to the prize fund. They are as follows: Ernest R. Ackerman, Marion S. Ackerman, American Horse Exchange, Ltd., George A. Beaton, Paul Taylor Brown, William J. Buttfield, William J. Conroy, Mark Cross Company, P. S. Dayton & Co., George W. Endicott, M. D., Robert A. Fairbairn, Edward R. Finch, Charles J. N. P. HIGH'S EXERCISES after all what is the real aim of our pains, our toils, our strivings, if it is not happiness? I believe that salutations will never die out. For that important underlying dependence of every human being, rich or poor, great or small, upon his fellow-being, prompts every one of us to manifest our friendship and tender feeling. We are all looking for sympathy and to have a friend one must be a friend.

"Like everything else, salutations are exposed to misuse. Did you ever think of the power that lies concealed in a pleasant salutation? Certainly the wily politician realizes its influence when he walks through the streets of the city, or climbs the fences of the country with a 'How do you do?' on his lips, and a perfidious smile on his face. What is he doing? With a few words of pleasantry he is robbing the poor, ignorant laborer of his one, long-cherished right. This is a desecration of our sacred custom.

"Just so an individual's mode of salutation indicates his attitude. The murderer strides along with downcast eyes to avoid the gaze of the crowd, the miser hurries up a back street to escape the ragged orphan's plea for a penny; but the conscientious man, who is working for the betterment of humanity can look you in the face with a smile that comes from the heart.

"So without a word you might read in our faces the attitude of this class toward you and toward the world. Since I am chosen as a representative of the class I extend to you all a most cordial welcome, to our superintendent and teachers, to the Board of Education, to all friends gathered here tonight. Tomorrow we shall have passed from school life into life's school, tomorrow we shall take the first step upward toward the mountain heights, but we never shall fail to recognize good old North Plainfield High School as the lever by which we were lifted."

Prof. Bevier's address followed the salutatory. He spoke in a conversational manner, with constant flashes of wit and humor, that made his discourse delightful to a high degree. His speech was just the right length, and while he said some forceful things regarding the change in educational conditions since colonial days, his remarks were not overburdened with seriousness.

Prof. Bevier spoke for a balance between the old educational conditions and the new—the system with no election and specialization as to subjects, and the system that is tending all to election and specialization. The old system was rigorous and compulsory; it was designed for boys, and the girls had no place in it. Prof. Bevier declared that the girls had a God-given right to develop the best in their minds. Still, he did not condemn the old compulsory system with full sweep. Its rigors made the strength of the nation.

The audience was delighted with Prof. Bevier's address. An allegory on Christopher Columbus, humorous in the extreme, was read by the professor to impress the value of specialization upon the graduates. It raised a storm of laughter.

After two tenor solos by Mr. Skiff, Miss Ethel Burton Quipp delivered the valedictory. She spoke, in part, as follows:

"How many of the troubles of school-days, which now seem trivial and insignificant, have been the means of strengthening some trait in our character? We see that even these petty trials are but small imitations of the cares of real life; and unless we had had some previous training, how could we hope to go through the world with a pure unsullied record?

"Each one of us as we step from 'school life into life's school' is accompanied by innocence and purity. The world needs men and women; men and women pure and frank in every thought, stainless in every act. Women who realize the sacred duties of womanhood, men who glory in the strength of manhood.

"Each of us aims at some high ideal; we know that we can never reach it, yet this thought does not dishearten us. There is sufficient pleasure and satisfaction in feeling that at least we have done the best we are capable of doing. If we aim to be true men and true women, we are sure to become something noble, something worthy of our purpose.

"Now, as we pass away from all bonds of school-life and see ourselves stepping out into the great, mysterious, unknown world, how terribly forceful is the realization of all the untried dangers that we will have to face alone; for the beginning of independence is indeed hard to pass through untainted.

"Some of the companions with whom we have shared the trials and pleasures of the last four years, will perhaps become famous and renowned in some walk of life. Some of us will never be heard of by the outside world again. But whether we successfully step higher on the ladder of life, or whether we remain quietly at home, performing our humble duties there, yet we all are striving toward a common goal—a higher state of manhood and higher state of womanhood. To live to the best of our ability, to make someone else the better and happier for our living, to treat each day as if it were our last day, and so to make the most and best of it—this is to be our aim, this our life-work."

President Edward A. Overton, of the School Board, presented the diplomas and awards. Before the presention he made a brief address to the graduates, in which he laid stress upon character-building.

The only two prizes offered, $15 and $10 in gold for first and second honors in mathematics, were awarded to Leslie Backer and Miss Mair in that order. The Misses Daggett, Davenport and Wolfe received honorable mention.

The programme closed with two selections by the chorus. The flowers were distributed to the graduates before they dispersed.

From the hall the graduates and the alumni went to the Casino, where the latter tendered a welcoming reception to the new additions to their ranks.

Without leaving any instructions regarding the continuation of the work, Frank O. Cook, who ordered the erection of four houses on Madison avenue, near Randolph road, and four brick flats on New street, near Fourth street, left town last Saturday and has not been here since. It is said that he has decided not to complete the houses, and his departure has worried Seaman Williams, who had the contract for mason work, and Herman Hansen, who held the contract for carpenter work, on all the houses.

Cook came to town in February. He bought the four lots on Madison avenue from Clifton & Campbell, and the property on New street from Bacon & Whitaker, executors for the Cortright estate. From Clifton & Campbell he secured a loan of $10,000, on bond and mortgage, $3,500 on each house, for the erection of the Madison avenue row.

The money was to be paid at regular periods, 70 per cent. to go to the contractors, and 30 per cent. to be held. Up to last Saturday Clifton & Campbell paid out $1,500 on each house. The contractors received their money under the contract up to last week and gave releases for the full amounts due to the end of the current period. Saturday, it is said, there was a payment of $1,500 by Clifton & Campbell, but the contractors declare that they did not receive what was due them.

Cook is said to have written to F. M. Bacon, his former agent here, announcing his decision to give up the erection of the houses. He is said to have sent deeds covering the properties to two men here, and that in consequence litigation, to establish the exact status of those deeds, will ensue.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The work of laying gas pipes in Elmwood place is about completed.

—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. will continue its festival tonight in T. A. B. Hall.

—Samuel Humpston, of West Front street, is having his house painted and the property otherwise improved.

—The sale of property under the auspices of the Martin Act was postponed Thursday by Collector F. H. Smith for four weeks.

—Levy Brothers, the dry goods merchants, have an attractive window display at their store appropriate for horse show week. There is a large horse shoe made of fineries and roses, in the center of which is a miniature horse. The arrangement is most creditable to the firm.

Four entries. First prize, $25; second, $10.

Between Class 9 and Class 3 The Watchung, a sweepstakes for ponies, half mile at catch weights, was run. Copper King, a long-limbed flier that exceeded the height limit but was allowed to run by vote of the owners of the other entries, ran away from the field of eight ponies. He is owned by J. T. Jarvis, of Hempstead. Simper, owned by S. VanSchaick, Garden City, L. I., got the place after a game try for the lead. Nenemoosha, owned by Dr. M. O'M. Knott, of this city, ran third. The stake amounted to $90.

Music during the show is furnished by LaVere's band. It played excellently yesterday. W. J. Styles, who is recognized as the best player of the coach horn in this country, and has acted at many shows, sounds the call for the different events on the programme. He gave a surprising variety of calls and trills and tunes yesterday.

Twelve classes will be judged this afternoon. The special feature will be The Hillside, a hurdle race for four year olds and upward, one and a half miles over nine flights of hurdles.

The catalogue distributed at the horse show is a handsome little volume. It has peculiar interest to local people, because a number of half tone pictures of Plainfielders of both sexes, driving or riding appear in it. The views include a group of hunters around Dr. Knott's hounds, Master D. C. Smalley, driving his father's trotter, "Ned," Harvey Fisk with his tandem, Miss Cruikshank on her saddle horse, M. S. Ackerman's children in their pony cart, and Dr. B. VanD. Hedges in his runabout.

The catalogue makes public for the first time the list of subscribers to the prize fund. They are as follows: Ernest R. Ackerman, Marion S. Ackerman, American Horse Exchange, Ltd., George A. Beaton, Paul Taylor Brown, William J. Buttfield, William J. Conroy, Mark Cross Company, P. S. Dayton & Co., George W. Endicott, M. D., Robert A. Fairbairn, Edward R. Finch, Charles J. after all what is the real aim of our pains, our toils, our strivings, if it is not happiness? I believe that salutations will never die out. For that important underlying dependence of every human being, rich or poor, great or small, upon his fellow-being, prompts every one of us to manifest our friendship and tender feeling. We are all looking for sympathy and to have a friend one must be a friend.

"Like everything else, salutations are exposed to misuse. Did you ever think of the power that lies concealed in a pleasant salutation? Certainly the wily politician realizes its influence when he walks through the streets of the city, or climbs the fences of the country with a 'How do you do?' on his lips, and a perfidious smile on his face. What is he doing? With a few words of pleasantry he is robbing the poor, ignorant laborer of his one, long-cherished right. This is a desecration of our sacred custom.

"Just so an individual's mode of salutation indicates his attitude. The murderer strides along with downcast eyes to avoid the gaze of the crowd, the miser hurries up a back street to escape the ragged orphan's plea for a penny; but the conscientious man, who is working for the betterment of humanity can look you in the face with a smile that comes from the heart.

"So without a word you might read in our faces the attitude of this class toward you and toward the world. Since I am chosen as a representative of the class I extend to you all a most cordial welcome, to our superintendent and teachers, to the Board of Education, to all friends gathered here tonight. Tomorrow we shall have passed from school life into life's school, tomorrow we shall take the first step upward toward the mountain heights, but we never shall fail to recognize good old North Plainfield High School as the lever by which we were lifted."

Prof. Bevier's address followed the salutatory. He spoke in a conversational manner, with constant flashes of wit and humor, that made his discourse delightful to a high degree. His speech was just the right length, and while he said some forceful things regarding the change in educational conditions since colonial days, his remarks were not overburdened with seriousness.

Prof. Bevier spoke for a balance between the old educational conditions and the new—the system with no election and specialization as to subjects, and the system that is tending all to election and specialization. The old system was rigorous and compulsory; it was designed for boys, and the girls had no place in it. Prof. Bevier declared that the girls had a God-given right to develop the best in their minds. Still, he did not condemn the old compulsory system with full sweep. Its rigors made the strength of the nation.

The audience was delighted with Prof. Bevier's address. An allegory on Christopher Columbus, humorous in the extreme, was read by the professor to impress the value of specialization upon the graduates. It raised a storm of laughter.

After two tenor solos by Mr. Skiff, Miss Ethel Burton Quipp delivered the valedictory. She spoke, in part, as follows:

"How many of the troubles of school-days, which now seem trivial and insignificant, have been the means of strengthening some trait in our character? We see that even these petty trials are but small imitations of the cares of real life; and unless we had had some previous training, how could we hope to go through the world with a pure unsullied record?

"Each one of us as we step from 'school life into life's school' is accompanied by innocence and purity. The world needs men and women; men and women pure and frank in every thought, stainless in every act. Women who realize the sacred duties of womanhood, men who glory in the strength of manhood.

"Each of us aims at some high ideal; we know that we can never reach it, yet this thought does not dishearten us. There is sufficient pleasure and satisfaction in feeling that at least we have done the best we are capable of doing. If we aim to be true men and true women, we are sure to become something noble, something worthy of our purpose.

"Now, as we pass away from all bonds of school-life and see ourselves stepping out into the great, mysterious, unknown world, how terribly forceful is the realization of all the untried dangers that we will have to face alone; for the beginning of independence is indeed hard to pass through untainted.

"Some of the companions with whom we have shared the trials and pleasures of the last four years, will perhaps become famous and renowned in some walk of life. Some of us will never be heard of by the outside world again. But whether we successfully step higher on the ladder of life, or whether we remain quietly at home, performing our humble duties there, yet we all are striving toward a common goal—a higher state of manhood and higher state of womanhood. To live to the best of our ability, to make someone else the better and happier for our living, to treat each day as if it were our last day, and so to make the most and best of it—this is to be our aim, this our life-work."

HORSE SHOW A TRIUMPH

As on Friday Twelve Classes Are Judged on Saturday at the Supurb Exhibition.

SOCIETY THRONGS PARK

Everyone is Well Pleased Over Initial Effort, and it is Planned to Produce a Bigger and Better Show Next Year—Those Who Aided in the Affair.

Favored again with ideal weather, the horse show closed Saturday afternoon at the Plainfield Driving Park in the blaze of glory born of unqualified success. The attendance was double that of the opening day, fully 1,000 people witnessing the display of horseflesh and horsemanship. The grandstand was almost filled with society people, not only of this city but from the leading suburban towns of the metropolitan distract, and fashionable rigs lined the rail.

As on Friday, twelve classes were judged. The special feature was a hurdle race for four-year-olds and upward. The prizes were awarded as follows:

CHARLES B. SCOTT PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

Instructor in Natural Science at the High School Dies From Typhoid-Malaria.

BRIGHT AND POPULAR SON OF THE PRESIDENT OF HOPE COLLEGE, HOLLAND, MICHIGAN.

University of Michigan Had Made Him a Master of Arts—A Wife and Three Children Survive Him.

Charles B. Scott died yesterday afternoon of typhoid malaria at his late residence, 736 Grant avenue.

During the past year, Mr. Scott has been instructor in natural science in the public schools of this city. With wide and accurate knowledge of birds and plants, he combined great enthusiasm for and clear presentation of his subjects, and a kindliness of manner and sympathy in his relations with his students that made him a very popular teacher.

Mr. Scott was a son of Dr. Charles Scott, late president of Hope College at Holland, Michigan. He received his B. A. at Rutgers and M. A. at the University of Michigan. For a time he was on the staff of the State Geological Survey of Pennsylvania, and then for ten years was teacher of science in the St. Paul High School and Oswego Normal School. For the three years ending in 1902, he was in the employ of the American Missionary Association in charge of schools newly-established in Porto Rico; and the next year he was principal of the A. M. A. School at Savannah, Ga. During the past year he has been teaching at the Hyannis, Mass., Normal School, in Montclair, and in Plainfield. He had recently accepted a professorship in the Hyannis Normal School for the coming year.

Mr. Scott is survived by a wife and three children; by his mother and sister, Mrs. Daniel VanPelt, with whom he was living, and by two brothers, one living at Holland, Mich., and the other at Fort Collins, Colorado. He was forty-three years of age.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 4 o'clock and interment will be at Shawangunk, Ulster County, N. Y.

SOME MINOR BASEBALL GAMES

CONTESTS ON THE DIAMOND OF INTEREST TO THE FANS.

The Dunellen Whittiers crossed bats with the St. Joseph's of Bound Brook on Saturday and were beaten by a score of 11 to 7.

The Levering & Garrigues iron workers defeated the Standard Paint Co. ball team Saturday morning on the Lincoln avenue grounds by a score of 13 to 7.

Teams representing Miantonomo and Watchung Tribes, Improved Order Red Men, engaged in a lively baseball game on the mountains Saturday afternoon. Miantonomo won by a score of 12 to 11. Fred Bimble and Charles Keller was the battery for the victors and Thomas Keefe and Dick Scott the battery for the defeated side. David Allen and John Scott were the umpires.

The Dunellen Field Club covered themselves with glory Saturday by defeating the strong Somerville High School team on the Lincoln avenue grounds by a score of 6 to 5. The Somerville H. S. team is composed of older players than the locals and the victory was very creditable. The game was won by opportune hitting and fine work by Dunellen's battery: Logan and Giles. The Dunellen infield played in good form and hit the ball hard. Garretson, Somerville's pitcher, did good work but his support failed him at critical moments.

Freddie Bennett Buried.

Funeral services of Freddie Bennett, who was drowned in Green brook last Thursday afternoon, were held from the home of his parents yesterday afternoon. Four of his young friends acted as pall bearers. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, conducted the services. Interment was made in Hillside Cemetery.

ALIS IS DEFEATED IN FINE EXHIBITION

Crack Hoboken Aggregation Wins the Game by a Score of 9 to 5.

BADGLEY'S POOR WORK

GOOD STICK HANDLING AND BRILLIANT FIELDING AS FEATURES.

Walton, Quinby, Davis and Farmer Carry Off Honors—Two Thousand Fans Present—The Scores in Detail.

Inability to hit at opportune times, together with the poor showing made by Badgley, the Lehigh University pitcher, in the opening two innings, tells the story of the second defeat of the Alis team on Saturday. The local team put up a good exhibition against the crack Hoboken aggregation, and it is believed by many that had Davis pitched the entire game the score would have been much closer, and possibly 5 to 4 in favor of Alis. However, it was a fine game and the nineteen hundred fans present were pleased, although they would have preferred to see Alis win.

It was a fast exhibition from start to finish, the coaching of Tiernan, of the visiting team, being a feature. Badgley, the college twirler, had a most unfortunate opening and many felt sorry for him. He was a trifle wild, and Hoboken netted a total of four runs while he stood on the firing line. In the first inning Kiernan got a double, Shortell was hit with the ball, Wall and Heckman singled, scoring two runs. In the second inning Kiernan was hit, Shortell singled and Lamar doubled, bringing in two more runs. This was a good lead, while in the first three innings Alis drew blanks. Badgley was relieved by Davis in the third inning and he kept the hits well scattered.

In the sixth inning Walton started a merry go round for four runs. The short-stop, Quinby and Creagen each singled. These hits with a base on balls and an error by Shortell resulted in four runs. Alis got its first run in the fourth. Quinby doubled, Oregan sacrificed and McGoey singled, bringing Quinby home. In addition to his excellent pitching, Davis distinguished himself with a three bagger, only to be left on third.

Farmer, who has been hitting the ball hard, kept up his good work by making a three bagger and a single. He was a trifle slow in running bases, previous experiences making him exercise more care in this matter. Behind the bat he maintained his clever work.

Bradley, at third, was not up to his standard, either in stick work or in the field, much to the disappointment of his friends. Quinby played his same snappy game, giving a fine exhibition in the field and in base stealing. He touched McKenna for a double and two singles. In all Alis got ten hits, against thirteen for Hoboken. In the fourth inning Farmer, Walton and Quinby made a pretty double play, and in the seventh another double was made by Davis, Farmer and Quinby.

The contest was marked by plenty of hitting, brilliant fielding and few errors. The visitors made a good impression, and when they return here again will be greeted by even a larger crowd.

Miss Anna Coriell Randall's Salutatory at the Annual Commencement Exercises.

REVIEW OF THE WORK

APPRECIATES EFFORTS OF SUPERINTENDENT AND BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Refers to Pupils' Exhibit at St. Louis Exposition — Inspiration Received From Books—Address in Full.

Miss Anna Coriell Randall delivered the salutatory at the Plainfield High School commencement exercises. Her address received favorable comment and in response to numerous requests it is herewith reproduced:

"A great many years ago, the world consisted entirely of men. But as, day after day, from his high Olympus, Jupiter observed his handi work, he noticed how incomplete the race appeared, and how desolate and discontented man seemed. One day, as he was making his customary observations, an idea occurred to him. He would create a woman, and send her to earth as a companion for man. Immediately he set to work, and finally the new being was finished. Then the father of the gods sent word to all his children that, on a certain day, he would give a birthday party for this new child, and all were invited.

"At last the time for the long-looked-for event arrives, and in great excitement, the divinities assemble at the appointed grove. In the midst, on his high throne, sits Jupiter with Juno at his side, and before them stands the wonderful being in whose honor the festival is given. When all have assembled, Jupiter gives a signal, and the gods and goddesses approach. First comes Venus with her gift of beauty. She is followed by Apollo, who bestows the faculty of music. Thus, one by one, they advance, each bringing a gift. And last comes Minerva with her priceless gift of wisdom.

"When all have laid down their offerings, Jupiter arises, and announces that the name of this new being is Pandora, 'the gift of all the gods.' Then at a sign from him, two goddesses approach, and, lifting Pandora in their arms fly with her above the heads of the gathered assemblage, and, swiftly descending through the air, leave her upon the earth to dwell there forever.

"Full of meaning as was this story for the ancient Greeks, has it, then, no significance for us? Like Pandora, we, too, have been presented with gifts. We have been surrounded all our lives by influences which have helped to make us what we are.

"The chief of these gifts has come to us in our homes. There, our fathers and mothers have watched and guided us with unceasing care, and no small part of our pleasure tonight lies in the fact that this occasion gives great pleasure to them.

"Next in importance to the influence of the home has been that of the schools, and especially that of the High School in which we have spent so much of our time during the past four years. It is to the citizens of Plainfield that we owe these schools. To these citizens, then, we owe a debt of gratitude for the many gifts which have come to us though these schools.

"To the members of the board of Education, and to the Superintendent we extend our greetings tonight. We wish to thank them for their special thought and labor to make these gifts of the most value to us. We appreciate the efforts they have put forth to secure for us a more commodious building. We are sorry that their plans could not have been accomplished during our course in school, but we are glad that in the near future, their efforts promise to meet

GOLF ENTHUSIASTS FOLLOW ANCIENT GAME

Miss VanBoskerck and Willard Wadsworth Win at Hillside Course.

LIVELY COMPETITIONS

REV. DR. CARROLL WINS FIRST HONORS AT PARK GOLF CLUB.

Team Match With Colonia Golf Club Postponed—Westfield Defeats Westchester Team in a Closely Contested Match.

While the horse show attracted many who would otherwise play golf, there was a good field at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, on Saturday, to take part in the several events. In the morning Miss Maude VanBoskerck won the Gilbert cup, in the finals played in the morning, with a score of 102, 12—90. Other scores were Mrs. N. P. Rogers, 92, plus 6—110; Miss Edith Tracy, 114, 10—104.

Play for the Golf Committee and Men's Handicap cups were the chief events of the afternoon. Willard Wadsworth won a leg on the Men's Handicap cup and he also won first honors in the weekly competition, while E. B. Shoemaker, J. A. Tompkins and H. L. Hall divided the remaining three points with a net score of 76.

These scores were posted for both cups:

Willard Wadsworth, 78, 5—73; E. B. Shoemaker, 89, 13—76; J. A. Tompkins, 90, 14—76; H. L. Hall, 100, 24—76; C. B. Morgan, 87, 9—78; W. L. Glenney, 79, 0—79; S. D. Lounsbery, 88, 8—80; Leighton Calkins, 85, 3—82; C. A. Stover, 97, 15—82; H. D. Hibbard, 92, 9—83; A. E. Barclay, 110, 25—85; F. A. Clark, 99, 12—87; Olaf Sangstad, 100, 8—92; F. H. Andrews, 114, 22—92.

There was a goodly number of contestants at the Park Golf Club on Saturday, the events being the weekly competition for the President's and Park Golf Club cups. By request of the Colonia Golf Club, the East Jersey Golf Club team match was postponed, the date to be fixed later.

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, G. T. Rogers, Herbert Rogers, Arthur Peck and Rev. J. O. McKelvey won the honors for the President's cup, while Morgan T. Townsend, Arthur Peck and Herbert Rogers won the points in the scratch competition. The scores:

Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 100, 19—81; George T. Rogers, 101, 16—85; Herbert Rogers, 96, 11—85; Arthur Peck, 93, 7—86; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, 99, 13—86; Samuel Townsend, 104, 15—89; Morgan T. Townsend, 89, 0—89; Charles A. Reed, 99, 8—91.

The Westfield Golf Club team defeated a team from the Westchester Golf Club on Saturday by 3 points to 2, on the Nassau system. The competition was close throughout. After the match the visiting team was entertained at dinner by the home club. The summary:

Westfield—W. Whitlatch, 0; R. I. Townley, 1; E. D. Floyd, 1; W. M. Townley, 0; F. P. Condit, 1; J. A. Woodward, 0; W. J. Bogert, Jr., 0. Total, 3.

Westchester—A. D. Compton, 0; M. R. Palmer, 0; D. L. Manson, 0; D. E. Walker, 1; K. E. Foley, 0; F. S. Keeler, 1; A. Yaunt, 0. Total, 2.

Y. M. C. A. MEETS DEFEAT

WESTFIELD A. O. U. W. NINE WINS BY SCORE OF 8 TO 3.

Fear that a hoodoo of some sort, is pursuing them, is beginning to chill the hearts of the baseball players of the local Y. M. C. A. since the Westfield A. O. U. W. nine put it over them to the tune of 8 to 3, Saturday afternoon.

The game took place at the Myrtle avenue grounds.

The lineup and score follow: Plainfield Y. M. C. A.—Whitley, p; Overton, c; Jackson, 1b; Cooley, 2b; Marsh, 3b; Conover, ss; Smith, lf; Armstrong, Humble, cf; Woodland, rf. Westfield A. O. U. PYTHIAN KNIGHTS HONOR THEIR DEAD

Memorial Day Observances Here in Which Members of the Order Participate.

DECORATE THE GRAVES

VISIT OF SIR KNIGHTS TO THE CEMETERIES HERE AND SCOTCH PLAINS.

Gen. Hitchcock, Past Grand Chancellor Commander Shanley, Grand Chancellor Laws and Other High Officers of Order in Parade.

Delegations of Pythian knights from half a dozen cities came to join with Crescent Company, No. 13, Uniformed Rank, in observing the annual ceremony of the Pythian Memorial Day. The graves of knights in North Plainfield, Evergreen, Hillside and Scotch Plains cemeteries were decorated, the prescribed ritual of the order being gone through at each place, by Captain J. E. Flannery, David Bowen, O. R. Pearson, Charles McGinley, J. P. Hall, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of this city and Captain Hale, of Brooklyn, the latter having charge at the North Plainfield Cemetery.

Rathbone Company, of Brooklyn; Black Prince Company, of Newark; Ethic Company, of Kearney and Dover Company, of Dover, turned out in full strength. Delegations from companies in Elizabeth and Washington, New Jersey, were on hand also. All the foregoing are of the uniformed rank of the order and in addition to them, delegates from Portchester Lodge, Portchester, New York, were in line. The total number of knights, including these belonging in this city, Crescent Company, Uniformed Rank and Perseverance and Unity lodges, was about 300, making the largest affair of the sort yet held here. Of this number, 100 were members of the lodges, the others being of the Uniformed Rank.

On arriving at the North avenue depot, the sir knights were met by Crescent Company with the Independent Fife and Drum Corps. Afterward the visits were made to the various cemeteries, finishing at Scotch Plains, where a supper was given in Excelsior Hall. The line of march was made from Evergreen Cemetery to Hillside and from there to Scotch Plains, by stage.

In addition to the presence of Col. Howell, of New York, the gathering was honored by the attendance of Past Grand Chancellor Commander P. Frank Shanley, of Jersey City, Grand Chancellor Commander Lewis, Gen. Hitchcock and Grand Outer Guard John Main, all of Newark, officers on the executive staff of the State.

The committees were as follows: Crescent Company—David Bowden, William Young and Robert Good. Perseverance Lodge—William N. Runyon, John H. Case, Alex. Muir, Robert Lee and J. Stephen Higham. The auxiliary committee in charge of supper arrangements consisted of A. D. Pope, W. H. Schorb, M. D. Sweeney, Phillip Jahn, B. C. Firstbrook, V. W. Nash, Jr., E. D. Cutting, Frank Putnam and I. C. Vannatta.

WESTFIELD TEAM SHUT OUT

THE AEOLIAN NINE PUTS IT ALL OVER DENMAN'S AGGREGATION.

With Doesher, of the Brooklyn Nationals, again in the box, the Aeolians gave the Westfields another dose of shut-out Saturday. Aeolian yanked in four runs.

Westfield had a guileful gentleman named Wilson in the box, but it was no go for the long end. Not even with Mr. Raisuli Kenzie, cheered on and applauded by Capt. Diogenes Mallen, as the umpire person. Close decisions wouldn't have mattered anyway. Westfield was the mark in one of those taking - candy - from - a - baby things.

Aeolian only got one more hit than Westfield, but the belts counted. Westfield five swats were scattered drearily along the way.

Score by innings:

ATTORNEY GENERAL UPSETS SCHOOL PLANS

Fanwood Township and Borougd Must Hold Another School Meeting.

WHAT CAUSES HITCH

RESOLUTION AS PASSED IS DECLARED TO BE DEFECTIVE.

Must Hold Another Election to Legalize Act — The Attorney General Reverses His Predecessor.

Because Attorney General McCarter differs in opinion from his predecessor, Attorney General Stockton, upon a point of law, the action taken by the voters of Fanwood Township and Borough several weeks ago, when they authorized the erection of a new schoolhouse, goes for naught. A new election will have to be held, to legalize the erection of the school.

When Attorney General Stockton was in office he passed favorably upon a resolution providing for a school in another district of Fanwood, this resolution allowing the School Board to select by lot each year the school bond to be paid off. The resolution offered to the voters for the proposed school was identical in provisions and phraseology.

Now Attorney General McCarter says the lot-drawing clause is illegal, and formal notice to this effect has been served on the Board. Another election will be held tonight. The objectionable clause has been changed to provide that the Board shall "determine" what individual shall be paid.

The method of paying off the bonds for the first school will be continued.

DINNERS FOR BRIDAL PARTIES

MISS BERRY AND MISS VAN DEVENTER GUESTS OF HONOR AT FUNCTIONS.

Among the social events attended upon the wedding of Miss Ruth Berry and William R. Faber, which will be celebrated Wednesday night at Holy Cross church, was a dinner given by Mrs. Robert McCutcheon, of Plainfield avenue, Saturday night. The guests were Miss Ruth Berry, William Rowley Faber, the Misses Frances Bruce, of Pittsfield, Mass.; Alice Hadden, of Cleveland, Ohio; Isabelle Miln, Elizabeth Valiant, Elsie Brokaw, Sophie Barlow, Marion McCutcheon and Lewis Williams, George Dupee, Arthur Peck, Herbert Rogers, Frank Thompson and A. B. Laing.

Miss Sophie Barlow and Miss Isabelle Milne gave a luncheon this afternoon at the Park Club for the brides-elect, Miss Berry and Miss VanDeventer. Covers were laid for eighteen. Tomorrow night Miss Berry and Mr. Faber will give a dinner at the Park Club for the members of the bridal party, twelve in all.

REV. MR. MUSSON IN CHARGE

NEW PASTOR AT EAST THIRD STREET CHAPEL HOLDS FIRST SERVICE.

Rev. John W. Musson, the new pastor of the East Third Street chapel, took charge of the services yesterday for the first time, preaching morning and night. In the morning his subject was "Why Did You Call Me?" and at night, "Christ—His Name Shall Be Called Wonderful."

Children's Day exercises were held in the afternoon under the direction of Superintendent L. W. Randolph. Those taking part in the programme included Clifford Braider, L. W. Randolph, Miss Minnie Hook, Miss Christine Viebock, Miss Elsie Hone, Lawrence and Elmer French, Howard Post, Whitney French, Mrs. Edward Barker, Miss Winn and E. Nash.

Knights at Service.

Special evensong services were held at the Church of the Holy Cross, yesterday, Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, attending in a body. Rev W. Montgomery Downey preached. The musical service was elaborate. A strong quartette from the Y. M. C. A. Symphony Club assisted in the accompaniment.

Fractured Her Arm.

Miss Ethel Marie Runyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Runyon, of West Fourth street, fell off the porch at the home of N. W. French, opposite her home, last night and fractured her arm.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Berry and fruit dishes, fancy vases in glass, china and the novelty wares are to be found at Gavett's. Just the things you want for table furnishings and decoration through the season of flowers and fruit. Can you look through this splendid stock and fail to recognize that everything is here which the metropolitan stores offer, except the awful crush?

Candidly speaking, the bread and cake, to say nothing of the pastry turned out by W. W. Warnock, the West Front street baker, cannot be improved on by anyone. Don't forget to have him furnish the cream for your receptions this summer.

The fact that H. J. Wierenga has his headquarters at Sattels' music store argues pretty strongly in favor of his ability as a piano mover.

Serges in the best qualities and cut are found at Harry Werner's for the lowest prices consistent with first class goods and this holds true of every garment in the store. Cool summer suits of all the lightest materials, including the newest thing of all, the natty looking Ballaboo homespuns. Many a man, now spending his substance in glad clothes for a campaign among the summer girls at the shore, will repent when he sees the vastly better appearance made by the man who bought his at Werner's, where he couldn't waste money if he wanted to.

To get the satisfaction out of spending your money for painting and papering, give the job to Woolston & Buckle. If you do that, you wont have any reason for suspecting the presence of kerosene in the paint, instead of linseed oil, nor whiting where lead should be.

As thoroughly equipped for a general banking business, as any of the metropolitan concerns, the First National Bank is a thoroughly representative institution and has become a factor in attracting to this city, the class of residents which give the place its distinctive character. Travellers' cheques, letters of credit, foreign exchange and safe deposit vaults, are features which appeal to the wealthy, as do the savings department and interest-bearing accounts to those of moderate means.

If you are in need of cool summer suits or waists, plain or fancy, go to the Boston Cloak and Fur store and you will there find just what you want. You will be pleased with the goods and the price.

When thirsty go to L. W. Randolph's pharmacy on West Front street and get a glass of refreshing soda water, or if you need medicine or drugs of any kind or toilet articles, this is the place to get them at prices that will suit you.

Putnam & DeGraw, the West Front street dry goods merchants, are prepared for a big summer trade. The firm has received one of the best stocks of dry goods in the city and can please you both as to quality and price.

The meals at Timbo's restaurant are of the same uniform goodness every day, as hundreds of patrons can testify. Any one who patronizes this place never goes away hungry and a feature is that the prices are not exorbitant.

There is no place like the right place to get summer dress goods. The right place for Plainfield is L. H. Boehm's store on West Front street. That is a straight tip worth money to the prospective buyer of wash and more expensive fabrics. Summer millinery is also at its best, from every standpoint, in this city at Boehm's.

Only one place in town for cameras and camera supplies. That's at F. W. VanWinkle's store, North avenue. He is headquarters.

More light! Fit you electric lights with Holophane Shades and watch the radiance increase 30 per cent. Your bill wont increase at all.

Fine! The U. O D. cigar, made by Henry Eggerding, Park avenue. No better smoke in its class. Famous here for years.

Dog Case Compromised.

Andrew Carney, of Lincoln place, has compromised his dog fight with the borough over the catching of his two dogs. A conference between Mr. Carney, the dog catcher and the chief of police, ended with the payment of a dollar to the dog catcher and the release of the Carney dogs. The borough waived its claim to fifty cents on each dog.

—Negotiations are under way looking to the opening of Washington Hall on West Second street as an automobile station. Joseph Loughead, at present operating a machine shop on Regent street, is one of the principals in the scheme.

Mrs. H. A. Benn, of Craig place, has gone to Liberty, N. Y., for recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Shepard, of Beechhurst, L. I., are visiting friends here.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Anthony Martell, of West Fourth street, has resigned his position at the Federick-Ayer plant.

James Welsh, a laborer at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, is suffering from a badly lacerated finger which he received while at work at the plant Friday. The injured man was holding a piece of babbit for William Connelly, who was driving on a large shaft, the sledge slipped and struck Welsh on the hand, mashing one of the digits. It will be several days before the injured man will be able to resume his position.

George Fritts, of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, has been transferred from the new electric crane to the erecting department.

Frank Newman, of West Second street, handed in his resignation at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, which took effect Friday night. Just before quitting time his hand was caught between an emery wheel and a shaft he was grinding, nearly severing one of the fingers. The lad went to Dr. Clawson to have the digit dressed. An operation was performed yesterday when the finger was amputated.

Joseph McGauley, of West Fourth street, has taken a position at the Crescent Embossing Company's plant.

John Thompson has returned to his position at the Potter Press Company's works after a two months' vacation.

Thomas Monsell, of the Campbell Press Company's plant, is detained at home with a sore eye. About a week ago he was struck in the eye with a hot chip, but thought little of it. The young lad has been advised by Dr. Ard to go to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Miss Ethel Garertson is suffering from the effects of having run a rusty nail into the ball of her right foot on Thursday.

Miss Emma Space, a teacher in the Lincoln School, will leave for her home in Port Jervis, N. Y., this evening, where she will spend her summer vacation.

Invitations have been issued for the graduates' reception which will be held in the Whittier Schoolhouse tonight. Dancing will be a feature of the evening.

The Plainfield cars run all the way to Dunellen postoffice now, to the great comfort of travel.

Miss Stella Sofield, of New Market, spent the week-end with Port Richmond friends on Staten Island.

Mrs. Robert Chase, of New York city, has returned to her home after spending several days with Mrs. George Craig, of Front street.

A letter addressed to Mr. George Traynor remains uncalled for in the postoffice.

Herbert Wyckoff, who has been detained at his home several days, suffering with an attack of biliousness, returned to work today.

At a meeting of the Dunellen A. C. plans for the new baseball team were discussed. Fred Vail was finally elected manager and William Giles capain for the present season.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT?

Delegates Discussing Cannon, Fairbanks and Hitt.

ROOSEVELT WILL NOT MAKE A CHOICE

Illinois Will Put Up a Big Fight For Their Congressman—Alaskans Arrive With Totem Poles.

CHICAGO, June 20.—In a nutshell the situation regarding the Republican national convention is as follows:

There is a feeling on the part of some of the members of the national committee that the selection of George B. Cortelyou to be chairman of the committee may turn out to be a mistake.

This opposition is not dying out, and Governor Odell says it is a very serious matter, but there is little doubt that Mr. Cortelyou will be selected at the meeting of the new national committee.

Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana is the leading candidate for vice president, but there is some feeling that Mr. Fairbanks does not meet the demand for a popular figure. There is a strong undercurrent in favor of stampeding the convention for Speaker Cannon or Mr. Hitt.

Illinois has decided to make an active, aggressive campaign for Hitt for vice president. A caucus has been held in the state headquarters, and a formal plan of campaign in the interest of the Illinois congressman was adopted.

After a discusssion between the leading men of the delegation it was arranged that Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois should present the name of Mr. Hitt to the convention, and seconding speeches will be arranged for by at least two delegates, one from the middle Mississippi valley and the other probably from New York. After the adjournment of the caucus it was announced by some of the Illinois men that the seconding speeches would be delivered by Senator Dolliver of Iowa and some one yet to be selected. The senator was out of the city visiting friends and could not be seen, but members of the Iowa delegation scouted the idea that he would speak for Mr. Hitt. According to them he had received and had not accepted invitations to speak for the nomination of Senator Fairbanks and George W. Webster of Nebraska, and under the circumstances it was not at all probable that he would second the nomination of Mr. Hitt. Moreover, there is a decided sentiment among the Iowa men in favor of Fairbanks, although a number of them are in favor of Hitt.

The Michigan delegation after learning of the statements made after the Illinois caucus declared that they were in favor of Fairbanks and not of Hitt.

Senator Cullom of Illinois said after the caucus:

"There are many delegates in Illinois and in other states also who do not favor the attitude taken by Senator Fairbanks and prefer that the place should go to a man who will show a little more appreciation of it. Illinois has a good man in Hitt, and rather than let the thing slide to Senator Fairbanks in an aimless sort of way we have decided to push the fight for Hitt as strongly as possible."

In a double header special train of fourteen coaches 300 uniformed members of the Cincinnati Blaine club have arrived here with a band of sixty pieces. George B. Cox, chairman of the delegation, and other delegates accompanied the club.

The members of the Rhode Island delegation have arrived and opened headquarters in the Great Northern hotel.

"We expect to play a negative part in this convention," said Charles Alexander, one of the delegates. "We have no especial candidate for vice president, have not considered for whom we will vote and have no planks for the platform."

The Missouri delegation announces that Major William Warner of Kansas City will present the name of Cyrus P. Walbridge of Kansas City as a candidate for vice president.

Several personal representatives of the president who have arrived here have made an emphatic declaration that the president was positive in his determination to express no preference regarding the selection of his running mate. Both Senator Lodge and Secretary Root said this to all the delegates who approached them on the subject.

Speaking for themselves, the close friends of the president say they do not doubt that Mr. Fairbanks would be acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt, but they are not willing that the president's name should be dragged in to assist the Indiana senator's nomination.

Senators Beveridge and Fairbanks, Governor Durbin, Representatives Overstreet and Watson and most of the other Indiana delegates arrived last night. The delegation met at 10 o'clock this morning. Senator Beveridge will probably be elected chairman of the delegation, Senator Fairbanks member of the resolutions committee and Chairman Goodrich of the state committee the Indiana member of the committee on credentials.

Quite the most picturesque entry into the city was that of the Alaska delegation, half a dozen strong, each man carrying a miniature totem pole on which was mounted a big white necked Alaskan eagle.

A band enlivened the march from the station to the hotel of the Leed's club of Philadelphia, with Mayor Weaver at its head.

Senator Hansbrough's plank in the form in which he will present it to the committee reads as follows:

"We recommend an early readjustment of the rates of duty in existing tariff schedules to meet the requirements of changed and changing business conditions and in the matter of our commercial relations with other countries."

As originally drafted the plank was longer than this, but the senator has declared that he will present it in the form quoted.

The National Manufacturers' association is planning to make a strong fight against the insertion in the platform of any plank calling for or declaring in favor of the adoption of an eight hour day or any declaration against the writ of injunction as applied to labor disputes. Eighteen members of the association, several of whom belong to the executive committee, are expected here to watch over the interests of the association.

Hitt Is Better.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Congressman Hitt of Illinois, who is suffering from the effects of an attack of acute indigestion and a severe cold, is better. He is still confined to his room and in obedience to the advice of his physician is keeping very quiet. There seems no probability that he will be able to attend the Republican convention at Chicago.

KANAWHA IS CHAMPION.

Lysistrata Cup Still Held by H. H. Rogers' Yacht.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Mr. H. H. Rogers' steam yacht Kanawha has successfully defended the Lysistrata cup, defeating Mr. F. M. Smith's steam yacht Hauoli in convincing fashion. The Hauoli was beaten over the entire course of sixty nautical miles. The victory of the Kanawha entitles her to still be called the champion of the steam yacht fleet in American waters, an honor which she has modestly carried for five years and has made her one of the most popular yachts ever constructed.

The course was covered by the Kanawha in three hours and fifty-eight seconds. That is an average so near twenty knots per hour there is no use figuring it, yet it is 19.90 knots.

The time the Hauoli required to cover the course was 3h. 4m. 27s., which is an average of 19.53 knots per hour.

This race and the numerous incidents connected with it will long be remembered by yachtsmen and should be placed on the records in the archives of the New York Yacht club so prominently as to suggest in a feeble way in future years the interest and excitement attending the battle royal.

Each Gained a Victory.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—The St. Louis and New York American league teams broke even here in a double header. The first game went to the New Yorks by a score of 4 to 3, and the St. Louis team took the second by a score of 1 to 0. Howell and Powell, who figured in an anteseason trade, were the opposing pitchers in the first game, the latter winning by a narrow margin. Fred Glade shut the visitors out in the second game, striking out ten men and allowing only four hits.

Race For Kaiser's Cup.

LONDON, June 20.—Under very favorable weather conditions and a fine breeze aft from west-northwest the international yacht race from Dover to Heligoland for the German Emperor's cup was started, with fifteen great ocean going yachts in competition. Never have so many fine cruisers been seen at such a race before. At the start the German schooner Clara at once shot forward and held the lead as the fleet disappeared.

Honors Were Even at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—St. Louis and Pittsburg each won a game in their double header here, the home team taking the first game, 4 to 3, and Pittsburg getting the second, 5 to 2. Both games were hard fought, and in both cases poor work in the field was responsible for defeat.

Brooklyn Got Bad Whitewash.

BROOKLYN, June 20.—The New York team defeated the local players here by a score of 11 to 0. Wiltse for the visitors pitched a fine game, only three hits being made off him. New York batted Jones hard for six innings, and then he was replaced by Cronin.

Boston Won Out at Chicago.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Boston won out in the game here by bunching hits in the first inning, when they counted twice. The locals put up a great fight to overcome this lead, but Tannehill held them safe at critical times. Score, 2 to 0.

Fighting In Tibet.

GYANTSE, Tibet, June 20.—A force of 300 Tibetans attempted to intercept a British convoy near Gyantse. Four Tibetans were killed, and the convoy arrived here safely. The Tibetans around Gyantse, according to the latest information, number about 8,000 men, and there are 7,000 between Kangma and Karola. The Tibetans' fort is receiving more brass cannon, and its fire is increasing in intensity.

A New Rear Admiral.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Captain F. W. Dickins, commandant of the navy yard at League Island, has been appointed a rear admiral in the navy, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Rear Admiral J. J. Read, chairman of the lighthouse board.

British Destroyer a Total Loss.

SHANGHAI, June 20.—The British torpedo boat destroyer Sparrowhawk struck an uncharted rock off Saddle islands, near Hangchow bay, and is a total loss. The guns from the vessel were saved and no lives lost in the disaster.

Comparing Cities.

Plainfield is only a quarter of a century behind the age. Elizabeth, New Brunswick and other New Jersey cities about thirty years ago tried the experiment of having wooden pavements, which proved to be a signal failure and have everywhere been abandoned. But Plainfield is about to pave Watchung avenue with wooden blocks, and the newspapers there have neglected to inform the City Council of the utter worthlessness of such pavements for general use. — New Brunswick Home News.

It is but natural that New Brunswick and Elizabeth should be jealous of Plainfield, a model city with more improvements probably than any other town of its size in the United States. Over thirty miles of well kept macadamized street, an up-to-date paid fire department, a large and efficient police department, an unexcelled health bureau with a chemist and inspector always on the alert, the third largest free library in the State, a big hospital and an isolation hospital, underground storm sewers, a complete sanitary sewage disposal system with an filtration plant that challenges comparison, and a public school system that is considered by educational authorities in the East as a standard, and less saloons and a higher license than any place of its size in the State—these are some of the improvements that go to make Plainfield the queenly city of New Jersey.

Some of the things we have not got are horrible streets badly kept, noisy some alleys, houses of ill-fame, an antiquated volunteer fire department, over a hundred saloons, many being of the disreputable type, shady hotels, corner-loafers, and a board of aldermen said to be controlled by saloonkeepers and politicians, street walkers, and a hayseed police department. A finer class of citizens and better looking women are other proud boasts of Plainfield.

As for being twenty-five years behind the times when the Common Council plans to lay wooden pavements, that is the product of an ill informed editor who wastes his time writing rot and nonsense. The kind of wooden pavements which New Brunswick and Elizabeth had wa.n't fit for anything short of kindling wood. Any kind of wood was used and it was merely soaked in tar and laid on planks in the streets. The type that Plainfield is considering is made of hard wood, Georgia pine, which is thoroughly dried and then treated with twenty-two pounds of preservative mixture to the cubic foot. This mixture is of creasote and rosin. The wood will not rot. The blocks are laid on a solid bed of concrete—not on planks. Boston, Lowell, Providence, Hartford, New York, New Rochelle, Baltimore, Jersey City, Newark, Pittsburg and Grand Rapids are using the wooden pavements with excellent results and on the recommendation of its able street commissioner, Plainfield is likely to follow the example of these cities in its business section.

A filthy city like New Brunswick has lots to learn from progressive Plainfield.

A Philadelphia declares that he will soon be able to make radium for less than the present cost, $500,000 a pound. He's apt to be a little slow, but we'll wait.

During his stay of six years, Pastor Jackson has received 330 new members, making the total membership 422, of which 209 were baptized by the pastor. At the anniversary tonight the officers of the church will, in a substantial manner, express their appreciation of Rev. Mr. Jackson.

Choral Club's Affair.

The first musicale of the Hope Chapel Choral Club, Saturday night, proved highly successful in every respect. Beside the chorus of about thirty-five mixed voices, there were a woman's chorus, two piano duets by Miss Kaltenbeck and W. T. Schneider, of New York. Miss Kaltenbeck furnished the piano accompaniment. Fred A. Ballantyne sang three bass solos.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The annual reception of the graduating class of the Dunellen High School will be held this evening in the Whittier School at 8 o'clock.

G. A. Brakeley spent Saturday in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandford Staples entertained Mr. and Mrs. Richards and son, John, of Plainfield, yesterday.

Several wagon loads of picnickers spent yesterday at Washington Rock.

O. A. Douglass, who is critically ill, remains in about the same condition, but shows a slight improvement now and then.

Miss Blanche Marlow has recovered sufficiently from her illness to be able to get down stairs with assistance.

Mr. and Mrs. Linden Apgar entertained relatives from out of town yesterday.

Several good catches of dace have been made in the brook recently, and the fishing is better than it has been in a long time.

The largest crowd which has ever visited Riverside Park was reported on Saturday night.

Miss Ethel Garretson is suffering from a slight injury caused by running a nail in her foot.

Miss Gussie Long, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wynkoop.

Charles Doolittle has successfully finished a years' work at Rutgers College. He will resume his studies there in the fall.

Sheppard Randolph has returned home from Cornell University for the summer vacation.

An addition is being built to the residence of George Churchill.

The local school teachers have left for their homes to spend the summer vacation.

GIFTS INCLUDED IN HIGH SCHOOL TRAINING

with the success which they so greatly deserve.

"The gifts which are include in this school life are threefold. First, the help and guidance, of our teachers; next, the comradeship of our schoolmates, and lastly, perhaps the most permanent gift of all, that of the inspiration of books.

"Our principal and teachers we have come to look upon not only as directors of our intellectual development but as our sympathetic friends. Not only for their guidance, but also for their sympathy and friendship we are deeply grateful.

"Now that our school life is over, we realize how great has been that second gift, the influence and joys of comradeship. Day after day, we have come into contact with many earnest workers, all having the same interests in study and all striving for the same goal. We have entered into each other's lives, we have sympathized with each other's failures and triumphs. Can we ever forget how we toiled together over Burke's Conciliation; how by the flickering light of the midnight oil, we danced with 'the three weird sisters' in 'Macbeth;' how we labored night and day to impress the visitors at the St. Louis Exposition with the great worth of the Plainfield High School? More than all, can we ever forget those bonds which linked us closer than all else, those little boards, six inches by ten, by means of which all could find seats in chapel?

"Our third gift has been in my opinion the most far-reaching of all. This is the gift of books, but they can mean nothing to us unless we learn to enjoy them. Our training in the High School has taught us how to get this enjoyment. 'Except a living man, there is nothing more wonderful than a book—a message to us from the dead—from human souls whom we never saw, who lived, perhaps, thousands of miles away, and yet these, on those little sheets of paper, speak to us, amuse us, vivify us, teach us, comfort us, open their hearts to us as brothers.'

"Thus we, like Pandora, have been showered with gifts. But unlike Pandora, our creation is not instantaneous, nor are we passive in its process. These gifts do not end with our school life. As we go forth from this place tonight, whether we enter into higher fields of learning or go out into the busy life of the world, more and more shall we realize the greatness of the gifts we have received, and learn to grasp with more resolute hand the new gifts as they come."

THE GREAT HORNED OWL.

It Has Been Known to Kill a Large Tom Cat in Pitched Battle.

The cruel and powerful great horned owl is a bird of the eastern states, but its brothers—the western horned owl, Arctic horned owl and others—are found in the west and north. It has been known, says Woman's Home Companion, to kill a large tom cat in pitched battle, and on one occasion, while I was handling an owl of this species, it drove its talons through two thick pairs of leather gloves, and deep into my hand. I have seen one break the back of a squirrel at a single bite, and only last January I learned of another, which picked up and carried a full-grown struggling grouse over a hill for a distance of more than 50 yards before devouring it. The great horned owl nests very early in the year, sometimes even in February, utilizing the deserted nest of a hawk, crow or squirrel. It lays two or three eggs, which, like the eggs of all other owls, are white. Woe to the small boy who ventures to take these eggs or the downy white nestlings which come out of them. I have known a man to be nearly scalped by the parent birds while trying to steal young horned owls.

Coal Lands in New Mexico.

The area of proposed coal lands in sight in New Mexico is 1,493,480 acres, with 8,000,000,000 tons of coal, estimated to be worth $10,000,000. In spite of the want of water New Mexico has ready for the market 1,123,000 head of cattle, 97,500 horses, 113,000 goats and 5,674,000 sheep, with a wool yield of 20,000,000 pounds annually. The agricultural productions of the territory are valuable. Over 1,100,000 acres have been taken up since 1900 under the homestead act, increasing the number of farmers and ranchmen by nearly 90,000.

Is Brute Creation Wiser?

Every living bird and beast strives its utmost to cram itself with food before retiring for the night, and this food is digested as the night progresses. The evening feed is the feed of the day with the brute creation, and yet the doctors tell us to refrain from eating heartily at night and even advise us to retire to rest with a more or less empty stomach. Are we following nature when following this advice?—Country Gentleman.

Don't Forget the Fourth of July Seashore Trip
which someone is sure to win. If you are not already familiar with the conditions of this contest, read the following:

Anyone saving their "sale slips" of 25c or over may enter this contest by presenting same between 8 o'clock and noon July 1st. The largest number of slips wins. This does not give the largest purchaser the preference, but gives everyone an equal chance, for a check of $10 counts just the same as a check of 25c. It is the number of checks, not the amount, which counts here.

The prize is a RETURN TRIP TICKET TO ASBURY PARK AND $5 CASH FOR EXPENSES.

INNER FORTS TAKEN

Japanese Success Reported at Port Arthur.

IZUMI SUNK BY VLADIVOSTOK FLEET

Russian Cruisers Caught a Third Japanese Transport and Sent Her to the Bottom With the Hitachi and Sado.

LONDON, June 20.—A Chefu dispatch says there is current there a rumor that the Japanese have captured one of the inner forts of Port Arthur, losing 1,000 men in the engagement.

The Japanese transport Izumi, which was reported missing a few days ago, has been sunk by the Vladivostok fleet off Oshima island.

The island of Oshima is situated near the northwest of the western entrance of the Tsungaru strait. The Izumi was retiring to Japan and was carrying 108 passengers. The crew took to the boats when the Russian fleet was sighted. The armored cruiser Gromoboi signaled for the boats to approach. They complied, and all were taken on board and confined between decks. The noncombatants were released and sent on board the Japanese vessel Unbo, which brought them to Matsum.

According to trustworthy advices received, an entire infantry regiment, with its commander, was sunk in the transports Hitachi and Sado.

The Hitachi evidently failed to stop when signaled to do so by the Russians. The claim is made that Captain Campbell, the English master of the Hitachi, refused to stop and planned to ram the Russian, but this is denied. It is said that the Japanese officers on board the Hitachi declined to surrender and required Captain Campbell to keep his ship going. The assertion that the Russians fired upon the lifeboats in which men were escaping from the Japanese transport has been fully substantiated.

The raid of the Vladivostok squadron has brought an unwarranted amount of criticism upon Vice Admiral Kamimura from the Japanese, and his failure to catch the Russians in the fog off Gensan off the coast of Korea when the Japanese transport Kinshiu was sunk with a loss of about 200 men has been recalled.

Some of these even declare that if Vice Admiral Kamamura fails to catch the Russian vessels before they reach Vladivostok he should either resign from the navy or commit suicide.

The popular demand for his replacement is growing, but the public is without information as to the nature of his orders or the plans of the naval campaign.

The Yawata and the Ansei, two sailing ships, were sunk by the Russians between Ko island and Okushiri island, off the west coast of Yesso and north of the Tsugaru strait. Thirty-seven survivors have reached Esashi. This makes a total of five Japanese ships sunk or destroyed by the Russian raiders.

A dispatch from St. Petersburg says the total Russian losses at the battle of Vafangow (Telissu) were about 2,000 men, including more than fifty-five officers. The Russian forces which took part in this fight were described as marching to the northward, and it was said that the Russians had forty-two battalions engaged against forty-four Japanese battalions and that the Japanese had great superiority in artillery, having more than 200 guns.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch from Vice Admiral Skrydloff:

"Our cruiser division has encountered in the strait of Korea a Japanese transport steaming from the south in the direction of the Japanese coast, which was visible on the horizon. The vessel proved to be the Izumi, with troops on board.

"On the expiration of the time given those on board to lower boats and leave the ship, permission to do which was taken advantage of by part of the crew, the transport was sunk by our guns.

"Shortly afterward two more transports were sighted to the southeast. They proved to be the Hitachi and the Sado, the former with troops and the latter carrying coolies, horses and a railway plant. These transports refused to surrender, and at the end of the period granted those on board to take to the boats the two vessels were sunk by torpedoes and shells.

"The losses on the three transports, the tonnage of which aggregated about 15,000 tons, consisted of a portion of the troops and crews, a large quantity of war material and the railway plant.

"Our squadron later met the British steamer Allanton, which was proceeding south with a cargo of coal from the port of Mororun, island of Hokkaido (the administrative name of the Japanese island of Yesso). The lack of clearness of her papers and the irregularity of her log excited suspicion concerning the neutrality of her cargo. The steamer, therefore, was sent to Vladivostok in charge of a detachment of soldiers commanded by Lieutenant Eitroff. She has arrived at Vladivostok, where a prize court will consider her case."

A Tokyo report says:

"The remarkable raid of the Russian Vladivostok squadron evidently is over. The squadron has disappeared off Cape Nanashi, steering to the north, and it has not been reported since. It is assumed to be returning to Vladivostok.

"Whether or not a portion of Vice Admiral Kamimura's squadron is awaiting the Russians off Vladivostok is a carefully guarded secret. Assuming that Vice Admiral Kamimura dispatched some of his vessels to Vladivostok when he learned that the Russian squadron was off Iki island these ships would have had ample time to arrive there ahead of the Russians and will be ready to give battle. Further news of the movements of the squadron are awaited with intense interest."

A Liaoyang report says:

"For the first time since the beginning of the war General Kuropatkin has taken personal direction of the operations, and in consequence of his having assumed the offensive results very different from those following recent events are anticipated. The naval attaches have abandoned their plan to visit Port Arthur and are going to Vladivostok. The military attaches have left for the northward in anticipation of important developments."

KILLED HIS BLIND CHILD.

Chauncey Hotailing Jailed For Murder at Binghamton, N. Y.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 20.—Chauncey Hotailing, aged forty years, has been jailed here, charged with the brutal murder of his three-year-old blind son, whom he had always abhorred because of his infirmities, and the attempted murder of his wife.

Hotailing lived in the town of Vestal, near here. Early in the morning he burned down the house in which the child was and supposed until several hours later that he had also killed and burned his wife.

According to Mrs. Hotailing's story, Hotailing came home partly drunk soon after midnight. He had always misused the child and made the mother keep the boy out of his sight. Mrs. Hotailing says that he soon became abusive and said: "One of us three has got to die tonight. Which shall it be?"

Mrs. Hotailing then ran upstairs and barricaded herself in her room. Her husband followed and knocked out the door panels with an ax, after which he shot three times at her. She shot at him with her revolver, after which she escaped by climbing from a window and down a ladder.

She ran barefooted to the nearest neighbor, half a mile away. Shortly after Hotailing came to the neighbor's, but did not know that his wife was there, and said that his house was burned down and the "—— old ——," as he called his wife, and the child had burned to death.

Hotailing told conflicting stories about how the house was set on fire. His wife thinks that he shot and killed the boy and then fired the house. His revolver was found in the grass, where he had thrown it, with four empty shells in it. Mrs. Hotailing is certain that he shot at her only three times. She is uninjured. The trunk of the child's body was found in the embers in the basement, the head, arms and legs having been consumed by the fire.

In Memory of World's Champion.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., June 20.—The dedication of a monument to the memory of Harry D. Elkes, the professional bicyclist who was killed in a racing accident at Charles River park, Boston, a year ago, took place here. The monument was erected by racing friends of Elkes in Boston and New York. It is a modest sarcophagus of granite. On one side of the stone is the name "Harry D. Elkes" and a wheel with outstretched wings, and on another side are the words "Champion Cyclist of the World."

Steamer Australia Wrecked.

MELBOURNE, June 20.—The Peninsular and Oriental liner Australia, inward bound, struck on the rocks at Point Nepean, at the eastern entrance to Port Philip bay, Victoria, at 2 o'clock yesterday. The bottom of the vessel was stove in, and it is feared that she will be a total loss. The passengers and crew were safely landed. The Australia, commanded by Captain Cole, sailed from Colombo, Ceylon, on June 5.

No Sunday Ball In New York.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Justice Gaynor of the supreme court, sitting as a magistrate in Brooklyn, handed down an opinion, in which he holds that games of professional baseball, such as have been played at Washington park this season, games to which the public is invited and to which an admission fee is charged, are illegal on Sunday.

Lady Journalist With Broken Skull.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 20.—Madeline Banks, a handsome woman of twenty-one years, said to be a journalist, is at St. Joseph's hospital with a fractured skull, the result of a fall. Her money and valuables are missing. She had registered at a hotel as from Birmingham, Ala., but efforts to locate her relatives have failed.

Body Was Cut In Two.

MERIDEN, Conn., June 20. — Karl Schaeffer, aged eighty-one, a well known citizen, has been instantly killed by a switch engine near the depot here. He stepped on the tracks directly in front of the engine and, being deaf, did not hear the shouts of the trainmen. The body was cut in two.

Pastor's Bad Aim Fatal.

RICHMOND, Va., June 20.—The Rev. Decatur Edwards, pastor of the Falmouth Baptist church, while shooting at cats in his back yard at Fredericksburg accidentally shot and mortally wounded Mrs. Lucy Mann, who was standing on her back porch in adjoining premises.

Stevens Nominated For Senator.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 20.—At the Forty-sixth district senatorial Republican convention, held at Portage High Bridge, Hon. Frederick C. Stevens of Attica was nominated to succeed himself in the state senate.

Linen Suits Are Very Smart—Many Simple but Becoming Hats.

In Paris one sees many beautifully embroidered linens made up with little short boleros and skirts clearing the ground. They are combined with scarlet belts, hats and parasols.

Vivid blue, vivid red and vivid green are three shades much used in linen. They are toned down with white or black and white embroideries.

To wear with wash dresses a variety of simple hats have been designed this year—for instance, the plateau hat of canvas, bound with black or colored ribbon and simply trimmed with knots of straw on a ribbon band. The Breton sail shape is as popular as ever, and it is seen at its best trimmed with two wings and a shaded ribbon ruching. The envelope hat is another of the latest millinery confections. This rolls up on one side and folds over on the crown. The entire trimming consists of a twist of tulle or some other soft material.

Many simple sailor shapes are trimmed with fruit and foliage, strawberries being among the latest novelties.

There is a revival of grass lawn linon and tussore of the same ecru shade, but this color is trying and needs to be relieved with dashes of red or green.

The picture shows a silk waist trimmed with valenciennes lace insertion. It has a cape effect, and the blouse is made more elaborate by the use of pin tucks.

WHAT IS WORN.

Apricot Shades Are the Newest Thing. Hats Made of Blossoms.

Apricot shades are the latest, and they are far smarter than the ordinary pink tones. A gown of this shade of chiffon was seen recently. The full skirt was trimmed with shirrings and ruchings of the material. The bodice was snugly fitted and was trimmed down the front with tiny velvet bows of a somewhat darker shade, with a paste buckle in the center of each. The shoulders were draped with a soft fichu of old lace caught with a cluster of three mammoth roses shading from primrose to tangerine.

Some charming negligees are made with a loose coffee jacket and skirt of dimity trimmed with valenciennes. The prettiest lace ornamentation for these is in a vandyked pattern, with the lace frills to correspond.

Large flat hats composed entirely of small blossoms are very smart. These are trimmed simply with a large bow of ribbon.

The gown of all over lace will be worn a great deal this summer, and with it will be seen the all lace hat trimmed with a couple of large, beautifully shaded roses.

Tailor made gowns are this season of much thinner materials. One of pale blue silk was trimmed with broad bias bands, the coat having an Eton front and blouse back, the distinctive features being the narrow black embroidered vest and tiny turnover collar and cuffs of the same. The short puffed sleeves extended to a little below the elbow and were finished with three frills of lace.

The illustration shows a straw hat trimmed with a wreath of leaves and red roses. JUDIC CHOLLET.

CUTTING UP A BEEF

Points That Should Be of Value to the Home Butcher.

How It Can Be Done to the Best Advantage — How the Different Sections Should Be Cooked.

In cutting any kind of meat one should always cut across the grain of the meat. Following this principle will result in uniform pieces and the joints will be more easily carved after cooking.

Beef should not be cut until the muscles have set firmly. When they are in the proper condition divide the halves into hind and fore quarters, from S to T, between the twelfth and thirteenth ribs (Fig. 1). This leaves one rib in the hind quarter. Lay the hind quarter on the block or table with the inside up. Remove the kidney and suet. Cut off the flank as indicated by the line N to P in the illustration. Turn the quarter over and cut off the loin, beginning at the middle of the sacrum near O, and cutting to a point one and a half or two inches above the stifle joint at N. Turn the remainder of the quarter over and separate the rump from the round just below the pelvic arch and parallel to the backbone, as indicated by line R to I.

Lay the fore quarter on the block with the outside up. Beginning at P (Fig. 1),

Fig. 3—Square Chuck of Beef Showing Divisions. a, Neck; b, Shoulders; c, Chuck Ribs; d, Cross Ribs.

10 to 13 inches down the rib from the spinal column—the distance depending on the thickness of the meat—cut across the ribs to the armpit above M. Cut between the third and fourth ribs to M, and then across the shank to B. Then cut off the "cross ribs" just below the shoulder joint, H to X.

The prime "ribs" (Fig. 2) are then taken off between the fifth and sixth ribs, counting from the front. This cut contains seven ribs and is usually taken off in one piece, though it may be cut into as many as are desired. Cut off the remaining five ribs called "chuck ribs" (Fig 3 C), making the division between the first rib and the shoulder bone. Divide the neck and shoulder—G to H.

The uses of the cuts of beef are, of course, varied to suit customs and families. There is no portion of the carcass but what may be cooked by boiling or by roasting.

The flank is usually boiled or braized but is also suitable for corning. Flank steak is sometimes cut from the lean muscle on the inside of the flank. The loin is commonly cut into steaks, though fancy trade often demands its use for roasting. In cutting steak from the loin one should begin at the "butt," or rear end, and cut parallel to the line N O (Fig. 1). The first slices cut are the sirloin steaks (Fig. 4 A). They continue until the "hook point" is passed, when the slices are termed porterhouse steaks (Fig. 4 B). These contain both the sirloin and tenderloin muscles, the sirloin above the spinous processes and the tenderloin muscle below. Unless both muscles are present it is not porterhouse steak. The porterhouse steaks are often erroneously called tenderloin steaks. The tenderloin steak consists of only the tenderloin muscle stripped from beneath the loin. Since it destroys the value of the porterhouse steaks to strip out the tenderloin muscle the tenderloin steaks are usually taken from thin cattle of the "canner" class. Porterhouse steaks are cut from the hip bone forward until the end of the tenderloin muscle is reached.

The seven best ribs are used as oven roasts, and may be divided into one, two or three-rib pieces, as desired. It is from this joint that the rolled roasts are obtained, hence its high value. The chuck-rib cut may likewise be subdivided into one or two-rib pieces for oven roasts, or, in the case of old or tough beef, for pot roasts. In making the "best rib" and "chuck rib" cuts the divisions should always be made parallel with the ribs. The shoulder is used for boiling, corning or mince meat; the plate cut in strips across the ribs is used for stews and corning, and the shanks and neck for soup stock, mince meat or sausage.

Gummere Distrusts Raisuli and Will Only Pay on Delivery.

WASHINGTON, June 20. — The American consul general has cabled that Raisuli's negotiator has returned to Tangier and reported that the terms have been accepted, and the money as well as the prisoners liberated by the sultan must be immediately turned over to Raisuli in Tarudant, and the captives will then be released.

Mr. Gummere and the British minister have both objected to this plan on the ground that they placed everything in Raisuli's hands, and they had no assurance that he would carry out his engagement after he got hold of the money. Therefore they had sent a special courier to Raisuli suggesting that the exchange be effected through the shereef of Wazan, who has a powerful influence over Raisuli. The answer is expected soon.

Wanted to Kill Entire Family.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Samuel Hoffman shot his wife through the heart in their home in a Broome street tenement. Their five-year-old son was asleep in bed at his mother's side when she was killed. Two other children were asleep in another room. When the police reached the scene Hoffman still held in his hand the pistol with which he had slain his wife and was searching for the three children, who had taken refuge on a fire escape. He was disarmed after a hard fight and placed under arrest. He says that he intended to kill his entire family and himself because he was out of work.

Suicide of Confederate Veteran.

JACKSON, Miss., June 20. — J. B. Mills, treasurer of Summitt and a prominent citizen of south Mississippi, has committed suicide here, having come to a local hotel for the purpose. He left notes to several persons explaining that he had not the courage to commit the act at his home and declaring that it was done because he was embarrassed financially. It was learned that his accounts as treasurer of Summitt are all right and that his financial difficulties were personal. He was about sixty years old, a Confederate veteran and prominent in secret orders.

Colonel Shot Three Men.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Colonel Zach Mulhall, live stock agent of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad and a friend of President Roosevelt, has shot three men here. One of them, an innocent bystander named Ernest Morgan, was shot in the abdomen and is dead. The other men are Frank Reed, boss hostler of the Wild West show, and John Murray, one of the cowboys. They are being cared for at the Emergency hospital on the world's fair grounds. Mulhall, Okla., was named for the colonel.

Roosevelt at Valley Forge.

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—President Roosevelt, who, with Mrs. Roosevelt, spent Sunday with Attorney General Knox on his farm at Valley Forge, visited the historic camp ground of Washington. Later they took a long drive over the territory, visits being made to Washington's headquarters and other places. The president attended the patriotic service held in Washington Memorial chapel on the camp ground and addressed the meeting.

Mellen Got Threatening Letter.

NEW YORK, June 20.—It has been learned that President Mellen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad has received an anonymous letter recently. The letter, it was said, either threatened to do him violence or warned him that an attack might be made on the train which carried him and his party to Chicago, where he is going as a delegate to the Republican national convention. The letter bore the postmark of Wilkesbarre, Pa.

Four Boys Killed by Lightning.

CHESTER, Pa., June 20.—Four boys standing under a cherry tree on a farm near Felton, three miles from here, were killed by a stroke of lightning. About a dozen boys went from Felton to pick cherries on the Smith farm. As a storm was coming up the boys went under one of the trees. They had been there only a few minutes when lightning struck the tree, and they were killed instantly.

Shot Himself on Father's Grave.

BENNINGTON, Vt., June 20.—Gideon H. Burden, a native of this town and proprietor of a job printing office in Brooklyn, has committed suicide by shooting at the grave of his father here. Burden was sixty-seven years of age and came here from Brooklyn with the expressed determination, it is said, of killing himself. No motive for the act is assigned.

Every Building Destroyed.

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., June 20.—A large portion of the business section of Mars Hill, a small town, has been destroyed by fire. Twenty buildings were burned, entailing a loss estimated at $45,000. Among the buildings destroyed were several stores, a small hotel and the Bangor and Aroostook freight and passenger depots.

Fatal Gas Well Explosion.

KITTANNING, Pa., June 20. — By the explosion of gas from a new well on the Henry Farster farm, in Wayne township, near Goheenville, two men were killed and a third will die, while a fourth is seriously injured.

New York Girl Dead In London.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

THE WONDERS OF THERMIT.

Melts Both Iron and Steel in Short Order—Burns at Temperature of 5,400 Degrees.

Humanity, which swelters in a heat of 90 degrees, and withers and dies if the mercury runs up 10 or 15 degrees higher, finds it hard to realize a heat of 5,400 degrees. Yet, says the Brooklyn Eagle, that is the heat developed in the combustion of thermit, a heat which welds togetner pieces of the most ponderous machinery, which makes it possible to mend iron castings weighing tons, which heretofore had to be replaced at great expense of labor and time; which can unite iron rails so perfectly that the jolting can scarcely be seen or felt, and a rail can be made miles long, instead of 50 or a hundred feet at the outside.

This thermit is a compound discovered by Dr. Hans Goldschmidt, of Essen, Germany, who has been lecturing in this country before chemical and engineering associations on this chemical discovery of his that is so full of engineering possibilities; a discovery that, unlike so many scientific discoveries, is not merely interesting to the scientist, but commercially valuable in the industrial world. The thermit is a mixture of finely granulated or powdered aluminum with some metallic oxide, most frequently oxide of iron. This mixture looks not unlike gunpowder, or to a housewife would suggest mixed tea, the light granules being aluminum and the dark ones oxide of iron. In burning this mixture creates a temperature, as Dr. Goldschmidt expressed it in a paper read at the annual meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, "about equal to that of the electric arc light."

THE VORACIOUS DOGFISH.

Will Annihilate Maine Fisheries If Government Doesn't Help Kill It.

Fish Warden N. J. Hanna, of Rockland, has the following to say, according to the Portland Press, relative to a government bounty on dogfish:

"There is no doubt but that for five years these scavengers of the sea have wrought more damage to our fishing industry than in a quarter of a century. They swarm every bay and even penetrate our rivers. They came into Cape Cod by the million five years ago and now Maine's fishing industry is at their mercy. Years ago they came only about a month or six weeks each year from August to September and at the first northerly wind they disappeared, but now they are with us about all the year.

"What are known as the whip lash dogfish are our scourge—a small, voracious fish that feeds on every other fish that is not its master. A species of the shark, the large one, will attack a man. I remember 22 years ago a boy fell overboard off Monhegan and before he was rescued he was literally torn to pieces, the water surrounding being covered with blood.

"They are not a menace to the lobster, as claimed. A dogfish has to turn upon its back to bite, and the lobster being a bottom of the sea shell fish has ample protection in his location. There should by all means be a government bounty of five cents apiece or over for these dogfish. If something is not done there will be in time annihilation of one of Maine's greatest industries—her fisheries."

PATIENT'S LUCKY ESCAPE.

Victim of Blood-Poisoning Saved His Limb by Dodging the Surgeons ---Strange But True.

"We certainly have some strange cases to deal with," said the hospital attendant, "and an odd one came to us recently. An awfully bright but eccentric chap was brought here for the treatment. He had contracted blood poisoning from some colored wearing apparel, and it was decided that amputation above the knee was the only thing that would save his life. Of course, we told him about it, and made all preparations for it. But the strange part was that when we got ready for the operation the patient was nowhere in sight. He had quietly moved out without saying anything to anyone. We were frightened, because we were afraid it meant the sacrifice of his life. But two days later he appeared again, saying that he had made up his mind that if that was his last chance for a two-legged bat, he was going to have a good one. And I guess he had had it, judging by his looks. But the most remarkable thing about it was that he was so much better that the doctors found that it was not necessary to operate. Yes, it is a strange case—but it is the truth."

Commercial Camphor.

Practically all the camphor of commerce comes from Japan and Formosa, which is a Japanese colony. As Japan needs it for making smokeless gunpowder, the government has forbidden its export, so that Russia may not get any, and also in order that the Japanese powder mills may not run short. Japan's control of the camphor trade gives the mikado a sort of control over war among other nations.

The Family Hat in Corea.

A Philadelphia man who has been in Corea, over which the Russians and Japs are at war, long enough to grow familiar with its customs, says one of the most unique and picturesque of them is the family hat, that descends from father to elder son. This hat, made from the hair of the family ancestors, is a priceless possession, and so carefully handled that it never wears out.—Philadelphia Record.

WILL RAISE SLOCUM

Wrecking Company Ordered to Work at Once.

NEW YORK SADDENED BY 198 BURIALS

One Hundred Bodies Buried In Cemetery Trench—Main Object of City Is to Recover Bodies Supposed to Be Still In the Vessel.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The wreck of the steamer General Slocum is to be raised by the city for the recovery of any bodies that may still be buried beneath it and for the obtaining of any physical evidence that may throw light upon the cause of the disaster. The work will begin at once, and it is understood it will be completed in ten days.

The cost of raising the wreck will be approximately $12,000, and by Mayor McClellan's action Police Commissioner McAdoo was authorized to contract for the work at that price, to be done by the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking company.

The insurance underwriters did not desire to expend more than $6,000 for the purpose, and for that reason action was had by the municipal authorities. Commissioner McAdoo wrote to Mayor McClellan asking that he be permitted to take action or that action be taken by some department immediately. The result was that Mayor McClellan authorized the police commissioner to undertake the work.

In his letter to the mayor Commissioner McAdoo said:

"There is every evidence to believe that some bodies are still imprisoned in the wreck and that it would be almost impossible to raise them unless the hull itself is raised and moved from where it now is. The district attorney's office also advise me that they feel quite sure that on the hull being raised they will find physical evidences which will throw light on some of the causes of the disaster. I have suggested to the district attorney's office that we might blow up the hull with dynamite, but those concerned in taking out the bodies fear that if this course were adopted the remains might be mangled beyond recognition.

"The street commissioner apprises me that he can make good use of the hull in connection with the improvements at Riker's island. Primarily of course this question of salvage has nothing whatever to do with the attitude of the city. The main object is to raise the hull in order to recover any bodies that may be there and to obtain any physical evidence which may throw light on the cause of the disaster."

New York was saddened by 198 funeral processions yesterday. Most of the bodies were buried in what is known as the public part of the cemeteries. There graves can be had at small cost, and the great majority of the families who were stricken by the Slocum disaster were in moderate circumstances. Superintendent Avenius had calls for 198 graves, and almost a hundred bodies were buried in a trench dug to the rear of the trench provided for the nameless dead from the morgue. There were no fewer than a dozen ministers who during the day officiated at burials in this trench, and the line of hearses which were driven to it and left their burdens there seemed almost endless.

CENTRAL BUYS BIG TRACT

SOME IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE BY RAILROAD AT DUNELLEN.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey has completed plans for some extensive impovements to its system in Dunellen. A considerable tract of land, running from the round-house to the Plainfield line, has been purchased. Tracks will be laid and the place will be used as a siding for the New York trains.

Land has also been purchased on the opposite side of the track which will be used for a siding and for the new tower house. Central Park, which has been the scene of many holiday festivities, will be obliterated and the grove of huge trees will have to be cut down.

HOW TO OBTAIN
Summer Boarders!

There is in New York City one daily newspaper which has made tremendous gains in popular favor during the past five years. Its net cash paid circulation is over 100,000 copies daily throughout every section of New York City (including Brooklyn), larger than that of any other recognized resort medium. This newspaper's readers are among the wealthy, and well-to-do, intelligent people—those who can afford and do take extended vacations in the country during the Summer. It carries more resort advertising than any other morning newspaper, so the public naturally look to it for information as to where to go.

An advertisement in its columns is, therefore, exceedingly valuable and sure to produce results. This paper is

York, first; Flower King, br g, Tonso Sauvage, Newark, second; Archer, br g, G. D. King, Springboro, Pa., third. Seven entries, one scratched, A. C. Blair's unnamed chestnut horse. First prize, $40; second, $10.

The hurdle race completed the programme. It was for one and a half miles, over nine flights of hurdles, at 145 pounds. Yelp, owned by L. Trowbridge Martin, of New York, took the race from the other three entries without straining himself in the least. Meadow Lark, owned by Louis Batjer, Elizabeth, was an easy second. Highlander, owned by S. VanShaick, Garden City, L. I., came in third. The stake amounted to fifty dollars.

Every measure of success hoped for by the management has been attained by the show. Financially as well as otherwise, the event has been completely successful, a good deal more than the expenses having been cleared.

This one show has put Plainfield in the front rank of open-air show towns. Lakewood, where the palm for fine shows outside of the New York and Philadelphia exhibitions, has rested, was discounted by the local show. There were more entries here, and the other features were just as good. The exhibitors were highly pleased with the way in which the show was conducted. Most of them declared that they had been treated better here than anywhere else.

All these things mean that the perpetuation of the show as an annual event is assured. Next year the show will be conducted on even a larger and more thorough scale. All the exhibitors have determined to return here, and the majority of them have promised to bring others into the show. The management will erect its own stables near the track.

Credit for the success of the show belongs to the executive committee of the general committee, and particularly to one or two of its individual members. Lewis E. Waring, notably, worked hard to make the affair go, and he was ably seconded by Lewis G. Timpson. The full executive committee is as follows:

J. Herbert Case, George A. Beaton, William J. Buttfield, Robert A. Fairbairn, Charles J. Fisk, Daniel F. Ginna, Francis DeL. Hyde, J. Wesley Johnson, Dr. M. O'Malley Knott, Edward H. Ladd, Jr., George P. Mellick, Henry A. Talmadge, 2d., Orville T. Waring, Lewis S. Waring.

The general committee, which included the most prominent men on both sides of the brook, comprised Marion S. Ackerman, George A. Benton, Harry A. Bourne, Paul T. Brown, William J. Buttfield, William A. Coddington, S. A. Cruikshank, Martin I. Cooley, H. B. Condit, T. S. Davis, M. D., Robert A. Fairbairn, Edward L. Finch, Charles J. Fisk, Charles D. Freeman, John H. VanWyck, Edward M. VanBuren, Anthony C. Vail, Orville T. Waring, William F. Williams, J. V. N. Willis, Theodore D. Wilson.

L. E. Waring was chairman of the committee; Dr. M. O'M. Knott, secretary; J. Herbert Case, treasurer; and W. S. Blitz, a professional horse show man, assistant secretary. T. R. VanBoskerck, Evarts Tracy, L. G. Timpson and G. T. VanBoskerck were the grounds committee. Mase Edwards had charge of the ticket-taking and the gate attendants.

FIERCE ELECTRIC STORM CAUSES DAMAGE HERE

House on Grant Avenue is Struck and Trolley Service is Disabled for a Time.

BALL HITS FLAG POLE

LIGHTNING LANDS ON BARN IN WESTERVELT AVENUE, BUT HORSE ESCAPES.

Residence on Lee Place Also Struck—Thunder Like Heavy Cannonading Frightens Children—Fire at Warrenville.

Among the pranks of the lightning last night was a spectacular display of the "ball of fire" that almost invariably crops up somewhere during a severe electrical storm. The fiery ball chose the flagpole of the Washington School for its playground.

While the storm was at is height the ball shot from the sky and landed full on the top of the pole. It ran down the big stick, skipped across the playground, shot through fence into the road, and disappeared on a lawn on the opposite side of the street.

There was a loud crash of thunder a second after the ball appeared. The air all around the corner seemed surcharged with electricity, and a faint, strange smell was noticed by the people who came out of the houses to see what had happened. The glare of the ball lit up the entire street. No damage was done by the ball, but the grass looked seared where it disappeared into the earth. The pole gives no evidence of having acted as a lightning conductor.

Lightning struck the house of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ellis on Lee place, tearing off half the roof and cracking walls in nearly every room. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis were at home at the time, but aside from a slight shock they were uninjured.

As a result of the stupidity of a motorman and conductor on a Somerset street trolley car, all of the cars were held up in the city during the storm. The car in question was struck by lightning and burned out just as it struck the Somerset street bridge, near French's mill. Instead of the crew removing the trolley pole from the wire, it was allowed to remain in position, thus short circuiting the line. Trolleys were held up at various points for a half hour or more, until an employe of the company discovered the cause of the trouble.

He went to where the car was stalled and found the motorman and conductor inside. Balls of fire would occasionally shoot forth from beneath the car, but they could not explain why. As soon as the pole was removed from the wire, the others cars were allowed to proceed.

Among the places struck by lightning last night was the barn of B. D. Newell on Westervelt avenue. A bolt struck a corner of the structure, ripping out one side. The horse within was not injured.

Fire kindled by lightning destroyed the corn crib on the place owned by Henery Herlich, of Warrenville, last night.

The building was hit by a big bolt, and barrels of kerosene and paint oil exploded. The structure was completely wiped out. Two hundred gallons of kerosene and 100 gallons of paint oil were burned up.

The barn narrowly escaped. The grade from the crib to the barn is enough to carry water, and the burning oil floated along the top of the rain streams on the ground directly toward the larger structure. Neighbors saved the barn by hard work.

An electric light pole in front of B. R. Waldron's home, on Codington avenue, was struck by lightning.

Many telephones were put out of business. The street lights were somewhat affected.

Manager Charles W. Runyon, of the telphone company, is superintending the overhauling of the telegraph desk at police headquarters, the lightning having snarled things up slightly during last night's storm, which blew out the fuses at the back of the switchboard.

Baby Camp Opening.

It was decided at the meeting of the committee in charge of the baby camp on Johnston's drive, to open the camp Thursday, June 23. Stages will be run from every alternate trolley car to the camp for the benefit of the public.

MURRAY HILL TEAM PLAYS ALIS SATURDAY

Westfield Trying Hard to Patch Things Up With the Plainfield Management.

LINE-UP IS ANNOUNCED

HOBOKEN WANTS TO APPEAR HERE ON INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Driving Park People Anxious Not to Have Baseball Contests in the City on Fourth of July—Talk on the Diamond.

Manager Johnston, of Alis, has closed with Nat. Strong for a game with the Murray Hills on Crescent Oval for Saturday, no arrangements having been made with Manager Denman for the appearance of the Westfield team here. The Murray Hills are rated as one of the best teams in the State and they will draw a big crowd of fans. Nat. Strong will bring his regular team here and he will have Taylor, the crack Columbia College pitcher in the box. Jack O'Neil, the famous backstop, will catch, while Hickman, who has been playing shortstop for Westfield, will play that position for the visitors.

The Alis lineup will be announced in a few days. There may be a few changes. It is expected that Captain Launder will be back at third base, while Quinby is likely to play second. Walton will be at short and Gauven at first. The outfield will remain the same, while Davis and Farmer will be the battery. It is probable that Bradley will not play, if Lauder can go in the game.

Manager Denman has been trying very hard to get a game with Alis for Saturday, even offering to come here and play an exhibition contest. This Manager Johnston will not agree, unless the last Alis-Westfield contest is thrown out.

Manager Daab, of the Hoboken team, wants to play Alis on Crescent Oval on Fourth of July afternoon. The Murray Hills will be here in the morning, and Manager Johnston will probably close with Hoboken, although it was originally intended to play at Westfield in the afternoon. The fact that there was a chance of Alis playing out of town in the afternoon has raised a storm of indignation on the part of the baseball fans, who want to see a game here. There will be races at the Plainfield Driving Park and those in charge of them are anxious to have the ball team play out of town. The game if played here should not interfere with the races no more than the game on Saturday interfered with the horse show. There are hundreds of people who would not go to the races providing there was no ball game, each sport has its following. There are those who want to see a game here, while the races would have its usual support from lovers of such sport. Manager Johnston would please the ball cranks if he plays Hoboken here, while if he goes away it will not give them an opportunity to see a ball game here or in the vicinity, as Alis will not play Westfield, as intended.

This will be the lineup for Murray Hill on Saturday: Courtney, 3b; Cusick, 2b; Bastford, cf; Dietrick, lf; Hickman, ss; Smith, 1b; O'Neil, c; Hoffman, rf; Tyler, p.

Operation on Boy's Nose.

Edson Gardner, twelve years old, of Orange place, who was operated on by Dr. F. C. Ard, at the hospital, for the correction of a distorted nose, yesterday afternoon, is improving nicely, the operation having been perfectly successful. The organ was fractured by a fall three years ago and had been giving trouble for the past six months.

Off for Europe.

Mrs. George H. Babcock, her son, George L. Babcock and Miss Myra Clark, of West Eighth street, will sail tomorrow on the Hellig Olaf, of the Scandinavian-American Line, for a trip to Denmark, Norway, Scotland and England. They will be away several weeks.

Gone to the Bow-Wows.

A dog belonging to Alex. Teeters was foolish enough to have several fits in full view of the public on Duer street yesterday. Chief Marshal Weiss and his little gun fitted the usual climax to the perfomance.

P. S. C. APPROVES THE METUCHEN ROUTE

Col. Hine and Other Officials Confer With H. C. VanEmburgh Regarding Line.

FOUR MILES IN LENGTH

NOW TO OBTAIN CONSENT OF PROPERTY OWNERS.

To Extend From Terminus of Arlington Avenue Line at Hillside to Port Reading Railroad—Engineer to Make Maps.

Col. Hine, accompanied by Mr. Carver and Mr. Stanley, of the Public Service Corporation, came to this city yesterday afternoon and held a conference with H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer, regarding the proposed new trolley line to Metuchen. As soon as the consents of the property-owners and municipalities effected are secured the work of building the line will be commenced.

The officials of the Public Service Corporation are enthusiastic about the new line and want to see it built as early as possible. While here they approved and authorized the making of final maps to be presented to the municipalities for adoption and as soon as the consents are filed everything will be in readiness.

The line will be four miles long, extending from the end of the Arlington avenue line at Hillside Cemetery to the terminus of the Metuchen line at Port Reading Railroad. Mr. VanEmburgh has been making the preliminary surveys and general detail work and will now go ahead and make the final maps.

PARSON JACKSON A D. D.

DEGREE CONFERRED AT HIS ANNIVERSARY SERVICE IN MT. OLIVE CHURCH.

Amid the congratulatory applause of the large congregation gathered to do honor to the sixth anniversary of his installation as pastor, Rev. E. E. Jackson, of Mt. Olive Baptist church, received last night, the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the Virginia Theological Seminary, colored, at Lynchburg, Va. President J. W. Hayes, of the Seminary, presented the sheepskin to Parson Jackson in a speech which was enthusiastically received.

Professor Hayes also made the presentation to Miss Anna Brodnax, valedictorian of the High School, of a copy of Shakespeare's works, a gift from the pastor. She also received a silver napkin ring from Opportunity Circle, King's Daughters.

Seated with Rev. Mr. Jackson, on the platform, were Rev. Thomas T. Tucker, of Saint Paul's Baptist church at Montclair, Rev. Scott Wallace, of the Calvary Baptist church, Rev. J. H. Ashley, of Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, beside Professor Hayes and Rev. Mr. Tucker.

A treat of the evening was the opportunity of listening to Mrs. Florence Randolph, of Newark, an ordained minister of the Methodist church, the most widely-known woman preacher of her race.

In addition to singing by the regular choir, vocal solos were rendered by Beatrice Chapman, Mrs. P. Lander, Mrs. Clara Laing and Master Eddie Blair. Readings were given also by May Randolph, Effie Brown, Mrs. Lizzie Carter and Kate Mitchell and a recitation by Cora Pearson.

The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Lula Dempsey, chairman; Mrs. Oscar Green, Mrs. Sarah Carter, Mrs. Ida Hedgeman, Mrs. Ella Spencer, Mrs. Rhoda Hancock, Mrs. William Kline, Mrs. P. Lander, Mrs. Laing and Mrs. Wyckoff.

Junior Tennis Tournament.

The junior tennis tournament at the Y. M. C. A. is completed except the final game which will be between Caldwell and Freeman, Caldwell having defeated Morris, 6-1, 6-1, and Freeman having vanquished Findlesen, 6 0, 6-1.

Judgment for $195.25 and costs has been entered in Justice Huff's court for the plaintiff in the case of A. L. Holstein against Michael Armstrong.

STOCKING DYE POISONED HIM

RALPH SCHOONMAKER LAID UP BY SINGULAR ACCIDENT.

Ralph Schoonmaker, of Central avenue, a student at Columbia, met with a peculiar accident several days ago, at the university. While engaged in sprinting on the track he sustained a slight injury to his big toe.

At first he thought little of it, but in a few days there was signs of blood-poisoning, brought on, it is thought by the dye in the stockings he wore. Prompt treatment was secured and no serious results are now anticipated. Mr. Schoonmaker was brought to his home last night.

MRS. E. D. EMMONS DEAD

MOTHER OF JOHN P. AND PETER A. EMMONS PASSES AWAY IN 80TH YEAR.

Mrs Elizabeth D. Emmons, mother of Peter A. and John P. Emmons, of the borough, was found dead in her bed at her home in South River, near New Brunswick, yesterday morning. She had been ill two weeks, heart failure being the cause of death.

Mrs. Emmons was born in South River and she had lived there all her life. She was in her eightieth year. She is survived by a husband, who is 91 years old, three daughters and two sons, two of whom are Peter A., and John P. Emmons. The funeral services will be held at her late home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FEVER OVERTAKES MISSIONARY

AUDIENCE SURPRISED BY ANNOUNCEMENT THAT MR. NASH IS IN HOSPITAL.

Instead of listening, as they had expected, to the story of a missionary returned from successful work in West Africa, the gathering attending the Young People's meeting of Trinity church last night were shocked to hear of the serious illness of J. C. Nash, who was to have addressed them.

Mr. Nash was taken suddenly ill with a return of the African fever, Sunday evening, and was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday.

The meeting was addressed by Mrs. E. R. Taylor, the city missionary, who told one or two of the stories she had heard from Mr. Nash and went on with a brief description of mission work as she has found it in this city.

Her description were decidedly vivid and brought home to many the deplorable conditions existing, unsuspected, for the most part, within three or four minutes' walk of the heart of the city. In three years Mr. Nash has had this fever thirty times.

BRIDAL PARTY AFFAIR

Miss Sophie Barlow and Miss Belle Milne Gave a Luncheon at Park Club.

Miss Sophie Barlow and Miss Belle Milne, members of the Berry-Faber bridal party, gave a luncheon yesterday afternoon at the Park Club for Miss Berry and other members of the party, together with a few friends. Covers were laid for eighteen. The decorations were chiefly roses. The luncheon was served by Mrs. Johnson, of the club, the menu being a pleasing one. This evening, Miss Berry and William R. Faber will give a dinner at the Park Club for the bridal party, preceding the rehearsal at the Holy Cross church.

BLAZE AT DUNELLEN.

Gasolene Stove Oil Tank Aflame at Alvah Gray's Home on Front Street.

Fire was discovered in the kitchen of Alvah Gray's home on Front street, Dunellen, this morning about 6 o'clock. Mrs. Gray arose at an early hour and started a gasolene stove in preparation for breakfast. Afterward she left the kitchen to go upstairs and in the meantime the stove got overheated and it is supposed that the oil tank exploded. A small garden hose was used to good effect until the arrival of the borough fire department. The flames were quickly extinguished and the damage was slight.

Operatic Singer Sails.

Miss Josephine Schaeffer, the former Plainfield girl who has come into prominence as an opera singer, sailed for Paris last Friday. It is said that she is to sing in an opera company there.

'Squire Huff's Auto.

First among the justices of the peace in this city to purchase an automobile, is Fred J. Huff. He has a Mobile Stanhope machine.

DENMAN'S COLTS DEFEAT TRENTON BUNCH

O'Brien, Slab Artist for Westfield, Bewilders Capital City's Batters.

TO THE TUNE OF 5 TO 0

WESTFIELD SLAMS KLINE'S CURVES TEN GOOD TIMES.

Only One Error Marked Up Against Union County's Aggregation—Duffy Behind the Bat for Westfield.

Stung by the second shut-out at the hands of the Aeolians Saturday afternoon, Westfield turned on the fast Trenton Y. M. C. A team yesterday and gave them the same thing. Just to show that they could do the shut-out act themselves, the Westfields pulled the Trentons from their perch by five runs over and above the full deck of nay-nay drawn by the capital city athletes. The game took place in Trenton.

O'Brien, of Manhattan College, was the slabster person for Westfield. His pitching was the real thing, and practically won the game for the Union County Pirates. Trenton only landed three hits, and were within hailing distance of a run just once. In the second inning they landed two men on bases when only one man was out, and the rooters got up on their toes and waited for the tally. O'Brien told the umpire to have a look. What he saw was bad for the next two batters. The Trenton rooters sat down. After that, nothing doing but wailing and gnashing.

Westfield batted Kline freely. They slammed him ten times. Westfield played a fast game in the field. Hickman was back at short, and whipped them to first in his old style.

Score by innings:

Westfield...	0	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	2—5	10	1

FIRE DESTROYS TWO HOUSES

LOSS OF $5,000 BY FLAMES IN NORTH PLAINFIELD TOWNSHIP.

Two houses were destroyed by fire in North Plainfield township, at the foot of Washington Rock, yesterday afternoon. The loss is $5,000. The flames started in the Kenyon house, and spread to the old Stites homestead, occupied by Joshua Seaman.

Mr. Seaman discovered the fire late in the day. Nobody was home in the Kenyon house. At that time the fire was burning briskly, and fanned by a high wind, it soon spread to the Seaman place, which is not far off. Mr. Seaman's cries for help attracted a number of neighbors, but there was no water and nothing could be done. Both houses were speedily consumed, and only a few pieces of furniture were saved. While the fire was at its worst, Mr. Seaman, who is aged, became excited and refused to leave his house. Glowing cinders and flaming bands were dropping all about him, but he desperately resisted every attempt to get him away. The neighbors removed him by force.

There was one slight casualty. Orin Stites ran a big splinter into his hand, and was compelled to stop fire fighting for treatment.

The damage is partly covered by insurance. The Seaman place is owned by a man in Long Branch. The owner of the Kenyon home could not be learned. The borough firemen were not brought out on account of the lack of water. There is no hydrant within half a mile of the place.

Trolley to Dunellen P. O.

The P. S. C. local trolley cars from Plainfield now run to the Dunellen postoffice without change. Ever since the trolleys have run from Plainfield, Dunellenites have been obliged to walk to the Plainfield line to catch the car. At postoffice connections is now made with the Bound Brook cars.

OSCAR A. DOUGLASS, OF DUNELLEN, IS DEAD

Aged Newspaper Man Succumbs to Heart Disease After Five Years Illness.

A MASONIC BURIAL

CELEBRATION OF WEDDING ANNIVERSARY ON FRIDAY.

Born in Newark Seventy-Five Years Ago and a Newspaper Man All His Life—Connected With Various Fraternal Orders.

Oscar A. Douglass died at his home in Front street, Dunellen, yesterday afternoon, heart disease being the cause. He was a well known newspaper man and a prominent citizen of the borough. Mr. Douglass had been ill for the past five years but had borne up well until Thursday when he suffered a serious attack.

Friday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. Douglass' marriage. He lived to greet a large company of his friends who came from Staten Island to celebrate the occasion with him. He lingered on until yesterday afternoon when he quietly passed away.

Mr. Douglass was born nearly seventy-five years ago in Newark. He comes from an old New York family. He had been interested in newspaper work all his life and for some time was editor of the Staten Island Star, of which paper he was the founder. He finally sold his rights to a syndicate but did not abandon newspaper work. For the last six years he had been associated with the Dunellen Call.

Mr. Douglass was much interested in politics as well as in literary work. He was at various times clerk of the State Legislature, secretary of the Dunellen Board of Health and clerk of the Dunellen Board of Education. He was a member of Richmond Lodge, No. 66, F. and A. M., of Port Richmond and was also a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Beacon Light Chapter No. 75, which organization was founded by his wife fifteen years ago. He was also a valued member of the Dunellen Literary Society. Mr. Douglass was an earnest member of the Dunellen Presbyterian church and was loved and respected by every one who knew him.

The dead man is survived by his wife, Mrs. M. A. B. Douglass, a brother, Rev. Charles Douglass, of New York, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Bell, and Miss Mandy Douglass, both of Newark.

The funeral arrangements have not been fully completed yet. There will be a Masonic burial. Interment will be in the Moravian Cemetery, on Staten Island.

Tennis Doubles Schedule.

In the Y. M. C. A. doubles tournament, at tennis, the following schedule has been arranged by Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood: Case and Hinchcliffe against Heywood and Robbie, Thursday, June 23, at 6 in the afternoon; Denton and Neal against the Rogers brothers, Friday, June 24, at the same hour; Mundy and Aalholm against Miner and Koons, 5:30 Tuesday afternoon, June 28, and Long and Collier against Gavett and Strong, 5:30 Wednesday afternoon, June 29. The prizes in this tournament will be silver fobs for the two winners, and silver clasp pins for the team making the next best record.

Call Men Want Office.

Considerable rivalry for the captaincy of Hose Company No. 2, of the borough fire department, left vacant by the dismissal of William Barry, convicted last week of ringing in a false alarm, has developed among the call men. The appointment rests with the Mayor, subject to confirmation by the Council. Jerry Foss is apparently the leader among the candidates, and he is generally regarded as the appointee.

Fireman's Hard Luck.

S. L. Frazee, driver of the chemical engine, has struck hard luck in his vacation. He went off on June 11, and three days later he was taken very ill. He is still sick, and his vacation will end tomorrow. Last year Frazee's vacation swam through eleven straight days of rain.

Circled the Globe.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. McGee, of North Plainfield, are home from a trip around the world. Accompanying them home were Mrs. Corlies, of Stelle avenue, and her father, Mr. Wright, of New York.

SCOTCH PLAINS NINE TALKS OF COMING HERE

Manager Hand Considering Proposition to Play in This City in the Future.

TO INCREASE REVENUE

IF GROUNDS CAN BE OBTAINED SCHEME LIKELY TO GO THROUGH.

'Plains Boys Want a Game With Alis—The Make-Up of the Nine—No Effect on Alis' Attendance.

Notwithstanding the fact that in past seasons the baseball team at Scotch Plains has been a paying venture, it is said to be a money-making scheme this year. The local fans at the 'Plains have never supported the team as they should and if it was not for the cusiders who patronize the games, there would be no semi-professional baseball there. Realizing this condition of affairs at last, Manager Hand and a few others interested in the sport, are now talking of bringing the team to this city, provided suitable grounds can be had.

The question of grounds is now the most important matter under consideration, and as soon as it is settled, the other plans can be perfected. The members of the 'Plains team are well-known here, in fact nearly all of them have played in this city at various times. Montross, who is pitching for the nine, is back in his old-time form and doing good work. He is ably caught by Allen, who made such a record in the City Amateur League. The other players are also putting up a good game.

It is believed that if the team is brought here for Saturday games it will draw sufficiently to make the change an advantageous one from a financial standpoint as well as from one of general sport. For some time Manager Hand has been trying to get a game on with Alis, believing that it would revive local interest and at the same time give the fans an opportunity to judge the relative strength and merits of the two teams.

If the rivalry continues, it may become necessary for the Alis Club to take Scotch Plains on for a game. Davis would no doubt enjoy facing his old town team. No matter what others may say to the contrary, "Lefty" is just as reliable as ever and of all the crack pitchers that have been opposed to him this season, no one has been able to claim superiority over him. The longer he pitches the better he gets and he never gets rattled or "goes up in the air" no matter how much coaching or how many errors are made by his team-mates.

In many respects the bringing of the team to this city would be a benefit and would have a tendency to cause even more interest in the National game. It would not affect the Alis games for those who now want to see Scotch Plains play can easily jump on a trolley car and for five cents be carried to the grounds in a short time. Alis has its followers and the club has been given fine support this season.

In case the team comes here no doubt the fans from the 'Plains would follow and give their support just the same and this would bring additional shekels into the treasury of the club. Of course, it will not be an easy matter finding convenient grounds from the present outlook, but there may be an unexpected offer to make the plan feasible.

HON. WM. RUSSELL HERE.

Former Secretary of Legation at Venezuela, is the Guest of Henry E. Bowen.

Hon. William W. Russell, who has recently been appointed United States Minister to Colombia, is the guest of Henry E. Bowen, of Watchung avenue. He has been in Washington during the last few days and stopped here to visit Mr. Bowen on his way to New York. Minister Russell was formerly secretary of the legation at Caracaas, Mr. Bowen's brother, Herbert W. Bowen, being the United States Minister in Venezuela. In September, the new minister will sail for Bogato.

Flower Thieves at Work.

Councilman Arnold, of the borough, has been troubled by thieves with a penchant for flowers. The marauders have made a practice of cutting the blooms from potted plants on his porch. Mr. Arnold and his wife are amateur horticulturists of more than a little enthusiasm, and the thief will be prosecuted vigorously if captured.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

No long and soul-trying waits at the Hotel Kensington; after ordering your dinner, the service is equal to that of the metropolitan hotels, if not better.

No bicycle dealer in the city can approach Sigmund Frucht, Front street, in variety of stock and cheapness. He is the leader—others trail in his path.

All the latest things in men's wear at J. R. Blair's store, Park avenue. The best haberdashery in Central New Jersey. Hawes' hats and Keiser Barathea ties.

Excellence that cannot be disputed is the constant characteristic of Smalley Bros.' meats and poultry. Prompt service. Telephone orders painstakingly filled.

Not for nothing do the best people of North Plainfield go to W. W. Dunn's, at Lincoln place and Duer street, for groceries. It is the finest place hereabouts.

Sometimes you will find a baker who can make only one thing well, the result being disappointment for the people dealing with him. Wirth makes everything well.

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, is showing an attractive line of silverware and novelties in gold and silver, from which it is easy to select a wedding present.

There is no better way of saving your money than by putting it in the Plainfield Dime Savings Bank. This institution is conducted on the best business principles and good interest is paid.

Dudley Miller, the Park avenue druggist, will be pleased at all times to serve you with the best medicines and drugs and if you have a prescription to be compounded be guarantees accuracy and prompt service.

While waiting for the month with an R in it, to come round, so that you can enjoy the festive oyster once more, keep up your connection with Fred Ivamy, by having fish for dinner once in a while Dealing with a conscientious seafood man is a good habit and will save you lots of worry.

S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street, undoubtedly carry one of the largest stocks of groceries in the State and for this reason the firm can sell you the best goods at the lowest market prices. There is only one grade—the best. A well conducted meat market is also a feature at this store, while fresh vegetables can be had at all times.

Porch screens are the things to fit your verandas with. The mosquito is busy and training to get busier. Screens help to keep them out, as well as to afford privacy to the porch loungers. Mattings for coolness in floor covering. These summer necessities are at their best and cheapest—as to price—in Shirley & Johnson's, West Front street.

You would like to get a summer outfit, but haven't the money to spare? Don't let a little thing like that keep you from the satisfaction of being well dressed and cool! The People's Credit Clothing Company is in business on East Front street just to accommodate you and many in the same predicament. Up-to-date clothing for both sexes, on an amazingly easy payment plan.

Great care is necessary in buying butter, unless you buy at the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's store, where your only difficulty will be to stop purchasing when you have all you need, so great is the temptation offered by the quality of goods carried by this store. Butter, while very important, can hardly be said to be the only thing in which the A. and P. Tea Co. excels. Their flavoring extracts, coffees, teas, cheese, baking powder and even laundry soap are decidedly the best to be had and this does not mean that they cost fifty per cent. more than they are worth either. Give them a trial order.

—Charles McGinley has applied for a permit to build a two and a half story dwelling on Richmond near East Sixth street.

—Through the kindness of The Oracle, the Plainfield High School publication, a picture of the institution's graduating class is published in these columns today. The commencement number of The Oracle is on sale at Estil's.

—A party of Y. M. C. A. juniors went with Secretary Robbie to Bound Brook Saturday for a fishing jaunt. The fish failed to bite to any extent, but after gaining permission of the owner, the boys transferred their attention to a cherry tree with very satisfactory results.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Huff, of this city, have returned from a visit with relatives at Centerville.

City Treasurer W. F. Arnold and family will soon go to Lebanon, Hunterdon County, for the summer.

Rev. Dr. J. R. Bryant, of Albert street, is able to be out again, having recovered from a recent severe illness.

H. C. Munger, who with his mother and sister sailed for Europe on Thursday, will be abroad six weeks. Mrs. Munger and daughter will be away much longer.

AMUSEMENTS.

Oscar Hammerstein has a dozen cats on his bill this week. They have come over from Europe in the care of their trainer, Techow, especially to appear at the Paradise Roof Gardens this summer. This "Mysterious Face" is still making grimaces every night at 9:15, and "Parsifalia," the burlesque by Mr. Hammerstein himself, is yet in the ring. Other features are Spadoni, Young and DeVoie, the Gasch Sisters, Charles T. Aldrich, Rice and Prevost, Collins and Hart, Kartelli, and Willy Zimmerman. A goat has been added to the live stock exhibit.

The New York Roof Show has been re-arranged. Harrigan, the tramp juggler, is the chief addition. "Ned Wayburn's Girls," the headline act, is now in the middle of the performance. The Giannini has shortened its programme. Various eliminations, suggested by the defects of the opening performance, have been made. Datas, the man of phenomenal memory, will appear tomorrow night.

The State Schools Close a Successful Term.

The New Jersey State Normal and Model Schools at Trenton have had one of the most successful years of their history. The enrollment of the Normal School was 508. About seventy-five per cent. of these were graduates of high schools of four years' courses before entering the Normal. Twenty-five per cent. represented those coming from the rural county and town districts and taking the longer course at the Normal. The Normal School has been unable to meet the demands for its graduates as teachers. The class graduated in February were practically all engaged before the middle of that month, and more than half the class graduated in June were engaged before they received their diplomas. The salaries received were in advance of those of previous years, ranging from $15 to $75 per month. The Normal School has felt an increased demand for male teachers. It has already filled with its graduates many of the prominent principalships and superintendencies of the State at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $2,500. It feels that the demand is such as to encourage young men to take up the work of teaching, the work offering even a financial advantage to many young men, especially those from the more rural sections, and a professional advantage to still many more. The enrollment in the Model was 580. This school has graduated one of the largest classes in its history, a class numbering nearly forty. A great majority of these students enter upon the college courses, being represented in nearly all of the leading Eastern colleges, both for men and women. The strength these students have shown in their college entrance examinations, where examinations have been required, was very complimentary. The certificate of the school is received for admission in all of the colleges that accept certificates from any school. The prospects of the schools for the coming year are very flattering. A large, new dormitory is under process of construction. The buildings during the summer are to be put in first-class repair, and every arrangement made that the schools shall offer not only a high class of professional education for teachers, but also—in the Model—an academic training for those desiring to enter the higher professional schools, that is second to none.

CONVENTION OPENS.

Elihu Root Reviews Republican Party.

CRY IS "ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS!"

Opening Day of Convention One of Quietest Ever Known—Little For Delegates to Do Save to Ratify Prearranged Plans.

CHICAGO, June 21.—The Republican national convention of 1904 began its three days' session here when Henry C. Payne, chairman of the national committee, at 12 o'clock noon called on the Rev. Timothy P. Frost to open the assembly with prayer. Secretary Elmer Dover then read the call of the convention, after which the chairman of the national committee introduced to the assembly Temporary Chairman of the Convention Elihu Root of New York, late secretary of war.

Mr. Root began his address with a review of the achievements of the Republican party in the fifty years of its existence, declaring that now as in the past on that party rested the responsibility of government. Continuing he dwelt at length on the administrations of Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, discussing exhaustively the great questions which had come before the public in the past seven years and the manner in which they had been dealt with. In speaking of the Philippines he gave to the Filipinos this promise of ultimate self government:

"No one can forteil the future, but there seems no reasonable cause to doubt that under the policy already effectively inaugurated, the institutions already implanted and the processes already begun in the Philippine Islands, if these be not repressed and interrupted, the Philippine people will follow in the footsteps of the people of Cuba; that more slowly indeed, because they are not as advanced, yet as surely, they will grow in capacity for self government and, receiving power as they grow in capacity, will come to bear substantially such relations to the people of the United States as do now the people of Cuba, differing in details as conditions and needs differ, but the same in principle and the same in beneficent results."

Summarizing the administration of President Roosevelt he said:

"The present administration has reduced taxation, reduced the public debt, reduced the annual interest charge, made effective progress in the regulation of trusts, fostered business, promoted agriculture, built up the navy, reorganized the army, resurrected the militia system, inaugurated a new policy for the preservation and reclamation of public lands, given civil government to the Philippines, established the republic of Cuba, bound it to us by ties of gratitude, of commercial interest and of common defense, swung open the closed gateway of the isthmus, strengthened the Monroe doctrine, ended the Alaskan boundary dispute, protected the integrity of China, opened wider its doors of trade, advanced the principle of arbitration and promoted peace among the nations.

"We challenge judgment upon this record of effective performance in legislation, in execution and in administration."

Whether the policies thus outlined shall be reversed or committed to unfriendly guardians, whether the revision of the tariff, which may soon be necessary, shall be made by the friends of or enemies of the protective system, whether the honor of our country should be intrusted to unknown and perchance feeble hands, the American people, Mr. Root declared, have now to say.

Mr. Root closed with an eloquent eulogy of the late President McKinley and a glowing tribute to Theodore Roosevelt, of whom he said:

"Honor, truth, courage, purity of life, domestic virtue, love of country, loyalty to high ideals—all these combined with active intelligence, with learning, with experience in affairs, with the conclusive proof of competency afforded by wise and conservative administration, by great things already done and great results already achieved—all these we bring to the people with another candidate. Shall not these have honor in our land? Truth, sincerity, courage! These underlie the fabric of our institutions

"No people can maintain free government who do not in their hearts value the qualities which have made the present president of the United States conspicuous among the men of his time as a type of noble manhood. Come what may here—come what may in November, God grant that those qualities of brave, true manhood shall have honor throughout America, shall be held for an example in every home and that the youth of generations to come may grow up to feel that it is better than wealth or office or power to have the honesty, the purity and the courage of Theodore Roosevelt!"

With the time occupied in caucuses of state delegations, which, with a few exceptions, were mere ratification meetings held to approve state convention programmes, the opening of the Republican national convention has been one of the quietest ever known. Senators and representatives in congress were as thick on the streets and in the hotel lobbies as they are in the national capital when a particularly uneventful or dry debate is in progress in congress. Figures prominent in the political strife of former national conventions were everywhere. They mingled with delegates and others not on the inside, talking of anything which promised even momentary interest.

When the leaders reached Chicago a few days ago they found nothing for them to do. The programme for the convention was mapped out weeks ago, and there was a full realization that it was unalterable.

What has been popularly termed the "Indiana puzzle" was one of the features. The members of the delegation from the Hoosier State met to determine their course in regard to the boom for Senator Fairbanks for the vice presidency. Senator Fairbanks attended the meeting and addressed the delegates. He talked for fifteen minutes, the meeting adjourned, and the delegation was no wiser concerning his wishes beyond a reiteration of his statement that he did not desire his state to present his name for the vice presidency.

The Wyoming state delegation has perfected its organization. The stand pat policy was indorsed, and, while no expression was made as to the vice presidential nomination, there is a sentiment in favor of Senator Fairbanks.

The New York state delegates in caucus instructed Senator Thomas C. Platt by motion of Governor Odell to cast its seventy-eight votes for Theodore Roosevelt of New York for president and Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana for vice president. The meeting of the delegation was very harmonious. Governor Odell personally named Senator Platt as chairman of the delegation and moved that he be allowed to cast New York's vote as a unit on all propositions. When the governor moved that New York instruct for Fairbanks for vice president there was a cheer, and former State Senator J. Sloat Fassett said: "I want to say that I think Governor Odell's proposition a very sensible one. We all know Senator Fairbanks, and we know that he is a capable and patriotic man. He will lend strength to the ticket."

The resolution was unanimously adopted. Prior to this Delegate Coman had asked that Theodore Roosevelt be selected as the choice for president, and the chairman, putting the motion, said: "All in favor say aye. There are no negatives."

Senator Depew was chosen chairman, Senator Platt to cast the vote of the delegation and William L. Ward to be national committeeman.

Representative Richard Bartholdt of St. Louis, who was selected by the international arbitration group in congress, of which he is president, to represent it at the national convention, will endeavor to insert in the Republican platform a plank favoring international arbitration.

After a protracted caucus, during which much feeling was engendered, Senator Levi Ankeny was elected national committeeman from Washington by the delegates from that state over James M. Ashton and John S. McMillan.

Charles M. Sweeny was named for member of the committee on resolutions, and the delegation declared itself a unit for Fairbanks.

The Kentucky delegation held a brief meeting and decided to postpone action with regard to the choice of the delegation for the vice presidency. The statement, however, was made by several of the delegates that, with one exception, they are favorable to Mr. Fairbanks.

The Maine delegation has voted unanimously to cast their vote for Fairbanks for vice president.

The nomination of Senator Charles W. Fairbanks for vice president is regarded as settled now that New York has decided to cast her seventy-eight votes for him. While it has seemed a foregone conclusion for some time that the Indiana senator would be Mr. Roosevelt's running mate, there have been efforts made to bring out other candidates and start a stampede of delegates for some other man. These attempts failed almost in their inception, and it early became apparent that Fairbanks was the choice of most of the delegates.

Meringola Killed His Brother.

NEW YORK, June 21.—After quarreling over money matters, Samuel Meringola, forty-nine years old, of Fair Ground, N. Y., killed his brother Thomas, aged fifty-two, with an ax, shot his niece, Mrs. Carman Pietra, in the thigh and arm and attempted suicide by cutting his throat. The murder occurred at Long Swamp, near Fair Ground. After nearly decapitating his brother Meringola went to the home of Mrs. Pietra and shot her twice. Meanwhile the news of the murder had reached Huntington, and a posse started in search of the murderer. When he was discovered leaving the Pietra house he opened fire on his pursuers. The shots failed to take effect, and he surrendered when the posse fired on him.

Food Demanded at Pistol Point.

MISSOULA, Mont., June 21.—Four men suspected of being the robbers who held up the Northern Pacific train at Bear Mouth have appeared at a mining camp on Harvey creek twelve miles south of Bear Mouth, where they demanded food. They were mounted and carried canvas bags. One man held up the miners while the others ransacked the camp for food for themselves and their horses. After remaining two hours for rest the quartet rode off in a southerly direction.

Veteran Lieutenant Dead.

BATH, N. Y., June 21. — Otis H. Smith is dead of cirrhosis of the liver after a long illness. He was born in Bath in 1840 and served in the One Hundred and Sixty-first regiment, New York volunteers, from 1862 to the close of the war. Mr. Smith was mustered out with the rank of first lieutenant.

Costa Rican Still Ashore.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 21.—The Leyland line steamer Costa Rican, which went ashore at Plum point, is still on the reef. She will be surveyed preparatory to an attempt by the wrecking steamer Premier to save her.

A Suggestion from

STEINWAY & SONS

About Piano Tuning

are continually doing a great deal of mischief to good pianos. It will therefore doubtless be of interest to owners of Steinway and other pianos, residing at not too great a distance from New York, to learn that we are now prepared to take orders for the tuning and regulating of pianos during the summer months at special rates. Not only the members of our large regular tuning force but also those of our staff of experts who, during the winter season, have been traveling with eminent pianists on their concert tours, and who have now returned to New York, are available for this work. The greater the number of orders from any one place or vicinity the lower our charge will be for each piano attended to. Consequently we would suggest to prospective customers in any locality that they "club together" in sending us their orders, whenever feasible and agreeable, as the most economical and satisfactory plan. Your patronage is respectfully solicited.

How much we owe to the sympathetic side of womankind. When others suffer they cheerfully lend a helping hand. They tell you the means which brought relief to them that you may profit by their experience. Read the testimony given here by a Plainfield woman:

Mrs. E. Wortman, living with her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Cook, of 204 Somerset street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results for severe pains across my back and hips, which no doubt was caused by the kidneys being out of order. It was painful for me to stoop or bend forward and I could not sit ten minutes in one position but had to be continually changing about. I used many different kinds of medicine recommended for kidney trouble but I could not see that any of them benefitted me. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured for me at L. W. Randolph's drug store and it is the only remedy I ever used that gave me any benefit."

Sheriff Bell at Sheepshead Bay.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Sheriff Bell and Dainty ran a dead heat in the Grass Selling stakes, one mile and a sixteenth, at Sheepshead Bay. They were both under a terrific drive in the last sixteenth and finished so close that the judges were unable to separate them. Both owners agreed to run off. Sheriff Bell went to the front at the start and was never headed, winning in a driving finish by one length. The Rosebuds' stakes for fillies two years old was won by the 8 to 1 shot Belle Sauvage. Hermis, winner of the Suburban, has left for St. Louis, where he is carded as a starter in the World's Fair handicap.

Princeton Won Track Meet.

CHICAGO, June 21.—Princeton university defeated the University of Chicago in the first outdoor track and field dual meet ever held between representatives of the two universities. Out of a total of 14 points, only first place figuring in the count, Princeton secured 7½ points, while Chicago finished with 6½. The result of the meet hung in the balance until the finish of the half mile run, the last track event, when Williams (Princeton) and his team mate, Adsit, crossed the tape fully thirty yards ahead of Cahill (Chicago).

Wright Is Tennis Champion.

BOSTON, June 21.—Beals C. Wright of this city followed up his victory in the New England tennis championship at Hartford last week by winning the Massachusetts state championship for the fourth consecutive year through his defeat of E. E. Leonard on the courts of the Longwood Cricket club here.

Philadelphia Won Polo Cup.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21. — The Philadelphia Country club's first polo team has defeated the Rockaway four of New York in the second game for the Goughacre cup. The game was played on the field of the Philadelphia Country club at Bala, near here.

Harmakis Won the Feature.

ST. LOUIS, June 21. — Harmakis, third choice, won the feature of a good card at the fair grounds. Getting off in front, the result was never in doubt. Limerick Girl, Zinda and Foxy Kane were the winning favorites.

Satolli Taft's Guest of Honor.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Cardinal Satolli was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Secretary of War Taft at the Arlington hotel. Covers were laid for twenty persons. Those present included representative government officials and well known dignitaries of the Catholic church. The table decorations were of American Beauty and cardinal roses. The cardinal attended the dinner arrayed in the Roman cardinal robes of his office.

American Gold the Standard.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The following official statement has been given out at the war department: "An agreement has been reached between Secretary Taft and the Panama commissioners by which the gold currency of the United States shall be the legal tender in the republic of Panama, and the money of Panama shall be legal tender in the canal zone."

New Steamship Line to Panama.

MOBILE, Ala., June 21.—The American Panama company, with a capital of $750,000, will operate a line of steamers between Mobile and Panama. In addition to growing, exporting and importing fruits the company will construct and operate a railroad for the improvement of the port of Panama.

Suicide of Former Mayor.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., June 21.—Former Mayor James L. Compton shot himself here and died shortly after. For the past three years he had been a victim of melancholia. Mr. Compton, who was fifty-seven years old, had served the city twice as mayor and was for fifteen years collector of internal revenue.

RUSSIAN FLEET SAFE

Skrydloff Reports Return of Vladivostok Squadron.

JAPS CLAIM D TO BE FALLING BACK

Said to Have Not Only Ceased Their Advance, but to Have Evacuated Several Points to the North of Fengwangcheng.

LONDON, June 21.—Advices from St. Petersburg say that Vice Admiral Skrydloff sent the following message to the emperor:

"The cruiser division has returned to Vladivostok without losing any men or sustaining any damage."

The emperor has received the following dispatch from General Kuropatkin:

"The enemy in the direction of Saimatsze and Fengwangcheng have not only stopped, but have made a retrograde movement. They have evacuated several points toward the north of Fengwangcheng which until recently they occupied.

"The movement of Japanese troops toward the Dalime defile has been stopped, but a rather important movement of the Japanese forces has been discovered in the direction of Siuyen and Haichen or Siuyen and Tashichiao."

The Russian war office is expecting news of a fight with General Kuroki. It is believed that General Oku is pursuing General Stakelberg. It is thought that the Japanese tactics which have so puzzled the Russians are intended to isolate Port Arthur, but do not contemplate an attack on the place by General Oku's army.

There is a rumor in St. Petersburg that a battle at Haicheng is actually proceeding and that there have been heavy losses on both sides.

It has developed that the Japanese at Vafangow had an accurate topographical map of the whole battlefield and that their batteries were connected by telephone.

A Mukden report says that it has been officially announced there that the Russian losses at the battle of Vafangow were about 17 officers and 518 men killed, 97 officers and 1,988 men wounded and 12 officers and 793 men missing.

A Liaoyang report says that a general engagement is proceeding near Kaichow. The first train bearing wounded men has passed through there, going northward.

Kaichow is on the west coast of the Liautong peninsula, about twenty-five miles south of Newchwang.

A St. Petersburg dispatch says that Lieutenant General Zilinsky, chief of staff to Viceroy Alexeieff, has sent the following telegram to the minister of war under date of June 19:

"According to information received from Port Arthur, on June 14 three Japanese battalions pushed forward across the Siaobindar mountains toward Lounnatan. Two detachments of Captain Loubinsky's rifles and a company of frontier guards stopped their advance.

"The enemy's torpedo boats bombarded the semaphore station, but they retired precipitately on the approach of the cruiser Novik and our torpedo boats, which opened fire on them.

"On June 13 our rifles drove the Japanese from two positions east of the Siaobindar mountains. Lieutenant Bitzeieff and a rifleman were killed, and Lieutenant Zrobinsky and four riflemen were wounded. Lieutenant Zrobinsky has since died."

The Russian general staff believes it probable that Generals Kuroki and Oku are meditating a combined attack on General Kuropatkin before he is further re-enforced. In order to do so they must act before the rainy season, which is imminent.

The war office points out that since it was General Oku and not General Nodzu who fought Lieutenant General Baron Stakelberg at Vafangow and that since General Oku has recently been directing the siege operations against Port Arthur the siege seems to have taken second place in the plans of the Japanese.

Metcalf to Succeed Cortelyou.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—It can be stated with definiteness that Representative Victor H. Metcalf of the Third California district will succeed Secretary George B. Cortelyou as the head of the department of commerce and labor. It has been assumed for ten days that Mr. Metcalf probably would be invited to accept the portfolio. The president holds him in high esteem, and for a long time he has been in closer touch with Mr. Roosevelt than almost any other member of the house of representatives.

Edward Complimented Bernhardt.

LONDON, June 21.—Sarah Bernhardt appeared at His Majesty's theater last night in Sardou's "La Sorciere" before a large and fashionable audience. King Edward and Queen Alexandra were present, and at the end of the fourth act King Edward sent for Mme. Bernhardt and congratulated her on her return to London and spoke in the highest terms of the play.

If the Bryan element win at St. Louis, Democracy may be pictured as a mule instead of a donkey.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Republican National Convention is being held at the Windy City, no breezy time is anticipated. Trainer Roosevelt has quieted the elephant's roars.

Notwithstanding the fact that it was the initial effort, the Plainfield Horse Show last week was a financial as well as a social success. It is now proposed to make the exhibition an annual attraction and with the public spirit which the local people invariably show, it is not to be doubted that within a few years the magnitude of the affair will compare favorably with any in the country outside of those held in the great cities.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The contract case of S. M. Hetfield against Maggie Carpenter will be tried by Justice Huff this afternoon.

—William L. Holbert, formerly of this city, is now in New Brunswick, Mr. Holbert spent Sunday in town with friends.

—Dr. Wunderlich, a well-known colored physician of Newark, made an automobile trip to town yesterday, calling on some friends.

—Under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. a parlor meeting will be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cairns, 444 West Fifth street.

—Mrs. Spencer Conway, of West Fourth street, who has been detained to her bed for three years, shows no sign of improvement. Her condition causes much anxiety.

—Deacon Spencer Conway has returned from New England, where he attended the convention of the Baptists as a representative from the Calvary Baptist church. He says he had a fine trip.

—City Missionary E. R. Taylor has either lost or loaned his Bible to some one and forgets who the person is or where he left it. In today's Daily Press he advertises for the return of the book.

—Frank Storr, of West Front street, who is in the employ of the New Jersey Central at Jersey City, had charge of the work of sending the out-of-town horses to the Plainfield Horse Show for exhibit. He handled the horses and wagons expeditiously and with general satisfaction.

—Although not attended as largely as it deserved, the illustrated lecture given by Major W. H. Coughlin at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Saturday night, proved decidedly interesting and instructive. Many seasons spent there camping, fishing and tramping the shores have given Major Coughlin a knowledge of Lake George which enabled him to hold his hearers fully interested while he showed them over 100 views made from photographs taken by himself.

THE FORUM.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I saw an article in your Saturday's issue relative to F. C. Cook, stating I was his agent. I never acted as an agent for him in any way further than any real estate agent acts as selling property for other people. I introduced him to Clifton & Campbell as a gentleman from Philadelphia who was looking to buy some unimproved property to build on, and I thought it would be a good chance to get their property started. After a week's delay they entered into contract with him, upon what basis I know nothing further than hereasy. I never saw the contractor. I. P. Runyon was the attorney for Mr. Cook. Clifton & Campbell paid me $25 for selling the property, saying that was all they could afford to pay. Mr. Williams and Mr. Hanson, the builders, told me they understood that there was a party here from Philadelphia who had purchased some property to build on, and they wanted to know if they couldn't get the contracts. I told them if they would come up to my office I would introduce them to him. They came up and I introduced them to Mr. Cook. After several days I learned they had entered into contract for the building of the houses upon what conditions or agreements I never knew, as I never saw any of their contracts. All the agency I ever had with him or for him was that after they were completed I was to take charge of them to sell or rent and nothing further. His sudden departure was as great a surprise to me as to any one and perhaps more so financially. F. M. Bacon.

HOW TO OBTAIN Summer Boarders!

There is in New York City one daily newspaper which has made tremendous gains in popular favor during the past five years. Its net cash paid circulation is over 100,000 copies daily throughout every section of New York City (including Brooklyn), larger than that of any other recognized resort medium. This newspaper's readers are among the wealthy, and well-to-do, intelligent people—those who can afford and do take extended vacations in the country during the Summer. It carries more resort advertising than any other morning newspaper, so the public naturally look to it for information as to where to go.

An advertisement in its columns is, therefore, exceedingly valuable and sure to produce results. This paper is

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The class of 1904, of the Dunellen High School, gave a very pleasant reception to its many friends last evening. The affair was held in the auditorium of Whittier School. The rooms were prettily decorated with bunting and the class colors. The floor was cleared and the evening was spent in dancing, which was greatly enjoyed. Owing to the non-arrival of the orchestra, the music was supplied by local talent which did good work. The guests were received by Superintendent and Mrs. Lester Meseroll and the four young women who comprise the class, Misses Alice Apgar, Mary Baldwin, Ethel Clum and Leola Dunham. During the evening refreshments were served. The gathering broke up about 12 o'clock.

Saturday's ball game between the Dunellen A. C. and the Reform Club team was a very interesting one, although it was rather loosely played. This was the first extra winning game the locals have played this year and it was red hot from start to finish, being won by a rally in the tenth inning. Dunellen's new battery, Smith and Davis, did good work, although Smith allowing fourteen hits. The feature of the game was a home run by "Billy" Giles, with three men on bases. Scott, of the Reform Club, also secured a four-bagger. The final score was 10 to 9.

Orin Stites is suffering from an injury, which he sustained at the fire which destroyed two houses on the mountainside yesterday afternoon. He was endeavoring, with some others, to extinguish the flames and in doing so ran a large splinter in his hand. The wood was removed by Dr. Brakeley but the hand is still very sore and he will be unable to use it for some time.

At the fire in Alvah Gray's residence this morning, Walter Runyon and Samuel VanArtsdale, both members of the fire company, received a severe dousing from the hose. The nozzle of the hose slipped and caught Mr. Runyon full and knocked him down. Mr. VanArtsdale was laughing at Runyon's predicament when he got his dose.

Clement Dixon, at Muhlenberg Hospital, who had his left leg broken while working at the Levering & Garrigues' shop, is making satisfactory progress, he sits up in bed during the day.

The Dunellen A. C. will cross bats with the Clinton Avenue team on the home grounds next Saturday.

Wilson Fredrick is now able to move about quite freely and is rapidly recovering his strength.

Arrangements are being made for the annual excursion of the Presbyterian Sunday-school.

It is rumored that the trolleys from Plainfield will shortly run all the way to the borough line.

Fred Vail has been elected manager and "Billy" Giles captain of the Dunellen A. C.

The Dunellen Field Club will play the Levering & Garrigues' team next Saturday.

Work has been started on the erection of a new house on Washington avenue.

Mrs. Tinsman is recovering from a mild attack of diphtheria.

Firman Gise spent this morning in Plainfield on business.

Walter Burden spent yesterday in New York.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

George Allen, catcher for the local ball team, sprained his ankle in the game with Newark A. C. on Saturday afternoon, while sliding to second base. George continued in the game until the end. On Sunday the ankle was swollen so badly that he had to consult a physician. It may possibly be that George will be out of the game for at least two weeks.

The voters of the borough and township, at the school meeting held last night, decided once more to give the residents at the lower end of the township better school facilities. The resolution as passed was submitted to the State Attorney General McCarter and was approved.

The old historic Baptist cemetery is once again cleaned up and the improvement is a good one. The trustees are trying to interest the plot owners in a plan by which it is intended to keep the grounds in a presentable condition the year round.

Manager Hand's colts meet the New Providence F. C. on the local diamond Saturday. This team is composed of a number of college players who spend the summer at New Providence and Summit.

MISS MAY WHITNEY'S CLASSES PRESENT ENJOYABLE PROGRAMME.

In the presence of a large and appreciative audience, the pupils of Miss May Vincent Whitney gave their second June musicale in Miss Whitney's studio in the Babcock building, last night. The various numbers rendered on the piano called forth hearty applause from the audience, displaying careful training on the part of Miss Whitney. The pupils were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. J. Edmund Skiff.

These persons took part in the programme:

The Misses Ethel Neuman, Martine Weeks, Clara Neuman, Margaret Robley, Helen Adams, Florence Dickerson, Helen George, Edith Hamilton, Muriel Collins, Sadie Winckler, Helen Phillips, Mary Robley, Frances Rittenhouse, Myra Emmons, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edmund Skiff and Miss Whitney.

BOYNTON BEACH'S SEASON.

More Attractions Than Ever at This Amusement Resort.

As an amusement resort, Boynton Beach is bigger and better this season. There will be a grand opening of the place on June 23, and after that the pleasure seeker will find many things to delight him and his family.

The old attractions have been increased, and new ones are in place. The chief addition is the "helter-skelter" for children, a Luna Park attraction. June 23 will be children's day. The little ones will have free Punch and Judy shows.

Cavallo's Orchestra will play at the resort. Concerts will be held every Wednesday, Friday and Sunday. Dancing Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

which someone is sure to win. If you are not already familiar with the conditions of this contest, read the following:
Anyone saving their "sale slips" of 25c or over may enter this contest by presenting same between 8 o'clock and noon July 1st. The largest number of slips wins. This does not give the largest purchaser the preference, but gives everyone an equal chance, for a check of $10 counts just the same as a check of 25c. It is the number of checks, not the amount, which counts here.
The prize is a RETURN TRIP TICKET TO ASBURY PARK AND $5 CASH FOR EXPENSES.

BOBRIKOFF ACCUSED

Assassin of Finnish Governor Left Letter to Czar.

THE WRONGS OF FINLAND PRESENTED

Schaumann Did Deed, He Says, Because by False Representations Bobrikoff Had Created Lawlessness In the State.

STOCKHOLM, June 21.—A letter to the emperor of Russia, purporting to have been written by Eugene Schaumann, the assassin of General Bobrikoff, governor general of Finland, has been published here, the original of which Schaumann said would be found upon his body after his deed had been committed. The letter follows:

"Through the senate, which is obedient to Bobrikoff, the latter has succeeded in creating lawlessness in Finland. Through lies and false representations Bobrikoff and Plehve, minister of the interior, have induced your majesty to issue ordinances incompatible with Finnish laws which you promised at your succession to guard firm and unshaken.

"The best officials of the state have been removed without trial in favor of fortune hunters and others ineligible to state offices under Finnish laws, and your most intelligent and truest subjects have been banished.

"Plehve, whose duty it is to report to your majesty all matters concerning the grand duchy of Finland, is not a Finlander, has no knowledge of Finland's laws and customs and has common interests with Bobrikoff. Therefore your majesty does not get true knowledge of the real situation.

"As it is not probable that the real situation will be known to you in the near future unless Bobrikoff be removed, there is only one way to take in self defense, and that is to render him innocuous. The remedy is violent, but it is the only one.

"Your majesty, I have done my deed alone after mature deliberation, and in the moment of death I swear there was no conspiracy.

"Knowing your good heart and good intentions, I implore solely that you seek information regarding the whole empire, including Finland, Poland and the Baltic provinces."

The copy was mailed to a person who was not in Finland, Schaumann writing him that he was sure the original would not reach the emperor.

All Quiet at Helsingfors.

HELSINGFORS, June 21.—There is not the slightest foundation for the current reports of serious rioting here. The city is perfectly tranquil. The remains of the late Governor General Bobrikoff, who was assassinated June 16, were conveyed to the cathedral and thence were placed on board a special train bound for St. Petersburg.

APPEAL WAS DISMISSED.

Verdict Went Against the Writer of "The Robbery of the Grail."

MUNICH, June 21.—The provincial court has dismissed the appeal of Herr Conrad, a Munich writer, from the decision rendered against him in a libel suit brought by Heinrich Conreid, director of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, because of an attack made by the writer on the director as a result of his production of "Parsifal."

Herr Conrad's article, in which he libeled Herr Conreid, was entitled "The Robbery of the Grail." The writer, in the course of his examination before the court at the first trial, justified his violent language as being the result of the "moral indignation" which seized him as a German and a Wagnerian when he heard of the New York production of "Parsifal." The decision against the writer was rendered Feb. 4, and under it he was compelled to pay a fine of $40 or spend twenty days in jail and also to pay all court costs and lawyers' fees and for the extensive publication of the court's findings for a period of twenty days.

Filipino Commissioners at Boston.

BOSTON, June 21.—The visiting delegation comprising the members of the honorary board of Filipino commissioners to the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis have arrived here. The party was met by a delegation of city officials and members of the Boston chamber of commerce and escorted to the Hotel Vendome, which will be their headquarters. The commissioners will remain in this city until Thursday, when they will leave for Buffalo. Elaborate entertainments have been planned in their honor.

Captives Not Yet Free.

TANGIER, June 21.—There is another hitch in the negotiations for the surrender of the captives. It appears that Raisuli suggested to Mohammed el Torres, the representative of the sultan of Morocco, that the exchange of prisoners be made through Zelal, governor of the Beni-M'Sara tribe. Zelal refused Raisuli's proposition to take the exchange away from the Beni-Aros tribe, which seemed to indicate fear of his own followers. Eight of Raisuli's men who were imprisoned at Tetuan have arrived here.

Two Killed at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 21.—Two persons were killed and seven others injured, one fatally, here by the partial collapse of a four story building occupied by the Block Preserving company. The collapse was caused by overloading. It was at first supposed that a carboy of ammonia had exploded, but this proved to be untrue.

Weather Probabilities.

Showers; northwest winds.

TURKISH DISCRIMINATION.

Minister Leishmann Will Insist on Fair Treatment For Americans.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Minister Leishmann has encountered a singular and disagreeable reluctance on the part of the porte to enter on negotiations looking to the removal of discrimination against American citizens, professional and business men, in Turkey. The citizens of European powers are permitted all sorts of privileges that are denied to American citizens, and for three or four years past our state department, through its minister, has striven vainly to remove this discrimination.

A characteristic Turkish method of blocking attempts at negotiation is a declination to accede to the request of the state department that the Turkish mission in Washington be elevated to the rank of an embassy so that Minister Leishmann at Constantinople might attain a similar rank and thus be able personally to approach the sultan. Being kept in his grade as a minister he is prevented from reaching that personage and finds it almost impossible to do business through the porte.

The state department is determined that this discrimination shall cease, although it hopes that it will not be necessary for the battleship squadron, combined with the European squadron, to repair to Turkish waters.

SLOCUM INQUIRY.

Charged That Life Preserver Bills Were Altered.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Altered bills for life preservers, on which the name "Grand Republic" had been changed to "General Slocum," formed the first sensation at the opening of the Slocum inquest. Coroner Joseph I. Berry presided at the inquiry into the cause of the disaster to the excursion on last Wednesday which nearly wiped out St. Mark's Evangelical Lutheran congregation in Sixth street.

President Frank A. Barnaby was on the stand when Assistant District Attorney Garvan produced the bills and charged that acid had been used to alter the bills so as to make it appear that the life preservers had been purchased for the General Slocum. Mr. Barnaby said the bills must have been changed by the bookkeeper, whose name he did not know.

Secretary Atkinson of the company denied knowledge of the alteration of the bills and furnished the name of the bookkeeper, Miss Hall, for whom the coroner issued a subpoena.

German Cruiser Homeward Bound.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 21.—With the homing pennant flying from her masthead and her band playing the "Star Spangled Banner" the German cruiser Gazelle sailed for her native land after an absence of several years. As she passed the training ship Chesapeake in the harbor she was cheered by the men on the American ship, and the cheers were returned by the Gazelle's crew.

FASHION NOTES.

The Curtain Veil Is on the Wane. Embroidery For Lingerie.

The curtain veil is on the wane, but when it is well arranged on the hat it is a becoming fashion and not one to be lightly given up. Besides, for motoring it is decidedly useful.

Embroidery is a distinct feature of all Paris lingerie. Of course this embroidery is handmade and not the coarse stuff bought by the yard.

Separate flower motifs outlined by insertions of valenciennes lace are the smart thing. Embroideries worked on pure linen or on fine lawn, though so delicate in appearance, have great wearing properties.

For evening wear a great deal of chiffon voile is being used, and this is trimmed handsomely with hand embroidered laces or chiffon applique.

There is a revival in favor of the cambric petticoat fitting tightly around the hips and very full and ample at the feet. These petticoats are generally cut with one deep flounce, with a wide insertion heading it through, which ribbon can be run and tied in a wide bow on the left side. Under this flounce there are a couple of underflounces to give the necessary fullness.

With the skirt cut walking length there are some very pretty and useful petticoats made of pongee trimmed with linen colored lace.

The cut shows a silk suit. The bolero jacket is shirred, and the elaborate skirt is cut exceptionally full.

COLORS AND TRIMMINGS.

Coral Shades In Vogue—The Wide Girdle Is Fashionable.

Not only has coral returned to favor as jewelry, but tiny buttons for dresses and buckles for hats are made of it. All the coral shades are also to the fore in ribbons and dress materials. A belt of gray suede seen recently was fastened with coral buttons and was worn with a shirt waist costume of coral and white foulard.

Long tassels, both of linen and of silk fringe, are about the smartest trimming for veiling or linen frocks. They are used at intervals. The space intervening is filled with curved appliques harmonizing in tint.

The wide girdle and the shirred bands are here to stay and form the most prominent features of summer dressmaking. In fact, no gown is fashionable with a narow girdle and a plain gored effect.

The straight brim still continues to be the favorite for the everyday sailor hat. This is trimmed with a stiff band of tiny flowers having a bunch of foliage on one side or a row of ribbon.

Ecru linen gowns have replaced to a large extent those of pongee. They are made in an equally elaborate manner.

Shirrings and cordings are introduced wherever the figure can stand them. The general effect is full and elaborate even to the point of exaggeration.

The picture shows a pink veiling dress having a wide lace collar. The skirt is trimmed with ruchings of chiffon, and the hat is an especially chic Paris importation.

AIRSHIP RACES FOR PRIZES.

Programme of Aerial Contests for the World's Fair Season at St. Louis.

With the issuance of an announcement to prospective airship contestants of changes in the rules, the arrangements for the aeronautic tournament, which is expected to be the most spectacular feature of the world's fair, were virtually completed, says the New York Telegraph.

The changes announced are as follows:

The minimum speed required in the race for the grand price of $100,000 is 18¾ miles an hour, instead of 20 miles.

Formal entries will be received until June 1, instead of closing May 1.

The prize for the highest altitude attained is withdrawn, because of the great danger in such contests without adequate motive.

There will be only eight races for spherical balloons, instead of ten, and they will begin the first Monday in June. There will be no races in May.

Prizes of cups, medals and other trophies are offered for amateur balloon races to be held the second and fourth Mondays in September.

Up to date 34 entries in the contests have been filed. Under agreement with the contestants their names are withheld by the transportation exhibits department having the races in charge. Of the number one is a St. Louisan and 27 others are residents of the United States. Only six foreign contestants have thus far entered. M. Santos-Dumont and M. Lebaudy are among prospective contestants who have visited the city.

The competitive flights will take place between June 6 and September 30. Alternate weeks have been chosen for the trials, and each competitor must make at least one flight during each week on a day or days to be chosen by himself and announced the day previous. He must choose days on which the exposition is open, and may make as many trials as he chooses within the prescribed dates.

The start of any trial must always be between ten o'clock and sunset.

This arrangement does away with the necessity of the ships racing side by side like horses. The contest will be like a game of golf, in which a person may play his game without a competitor in the ground, the decision being made after a comparison of records at the end of the series.

For minor prizes for airships, balloons, airship motors and kites $50,000 is set aside by the exposition, and the remaining $50,000 is for expenses. In addition to the grand prize there will be four minor prizes, amounting to $3,500, $3,000, $2,000 and $1,500, to be awarded according to speed.

THE MARINE "MINISTER."

Comforts of the "Interior" Are Provided For by the Steamer's Chief Steward.

The comfort of the passengers depends, perhaps, more to the vigilance and executive ability of the chief steward than anyone else, writes Winthrop Packard, in "Stewards of an Ocean Liner," in Booklovers' Magazine. He it is who orders the supplies for the voyage, has a minute knowledge of what the storerooms and refrigerators contain, and sees that the menu for each meal is ample, well cooked and daintily served. He makes arrangements in port for the entire trip, plans each day's meals at sea and, with the assistance of the chief cook, gets up the menu card. You will find him mornings in his office, just off the grand staircase, making up his books and records; but during the rest of the day he is all over the ship, now taking a look at the storerooms far below to see that groceries and provisions are rightly served out to the cooks, now inspecting the refrigerators to note the temperature, and again watching the butchers with precise knowledge of how meats shall be cut, and seeing that they are delivered to the cooks on time and in the right quantities.

All these things he is responsible for; but that is by no means all. He must also keep a minute record of all transactions of this sort, and must have a watchful eye upon the passengers to note that his lieutenants among the men are giving them prompt and cheerful service. He has a record of every passenger traveling with him, and all the details connected with his journey. If you sailed with him last year or 20 years ago, he can refer to his books and tell you the date of the voyage, its duration, your room and seat at table, and just what the stewards served you.

Crusoe's Island.

In writing "Robinson Crusoe," Defoe, with a story-teller's license, took many liberties with the original narrative. One of these changes has been to tell us that Crusoe's island was situated on the east coast of South America, near the mouth of the Orinoco river. There can be no doubt, however, that the island of Juan Fernandez, with its cave and its lookout, was the island which Defoe has described; nor that the adventures of Alexander Selkirk have been faithfully reproduced, with an added charm, in the story of "Robinson Crusoe."—From Francis Arnold Collins' "Robinson Crusoe's Island," in St. Nicholas.

Didn't Like the Day.

On walking to the scaffold in solemn procession a criminal once called to the governor of the prison: "Just oblige me, guv'nor, by telling me the day o' the week." "Monday," answered the surprised governor. "Monday," exclaimed the prisoner, in disgusted tones; "well, this 'ere's a fine way of beginning a week, ain't it?" And he marched on with dissatisfaction imprinted on every line of his face.—New Zealand Medical Journal.

THE UNEXPECTED HAPPENED

Too Careful Wife "Did Nicely," But There Was Some of It to Be Undone.

"Everything is ready. My trunk is packed, sent to the station and is checked through. Didn't I do nicely?"

"That's good management, that is."

This was the conversation between a certain west end man and his wife one afternoon recently, relates the Albany Journal. The wife was about to go on a western trip and expected to leave on the 11:40 train that night for Buffalo. Her husband had secured a pass for her, and she was happy. At the dinner table the question of readiness for the trip again became the topic of discussion.

"Have you your money and pass all right?" inquired the husband.

"Oh, yes," answered the wife, fumbling in her pocketbook. "I placed it in this compartment. Why, what has become of it? My goodness, it isn't here!" And she turned pale with apprehension. "Whatever did I do with it?"

"Look in your bureau drawers," suggested the husband.

This was done, and every possible hiding place was searched, but without success.

"I believe I placed it in my trunk," said the excited wife, almost in tears. "I am almost sure I did. Whatever will I do?"

"Have you your trunk check?"

"Yes. But the trunk has gone to Buffalo."

"Maybe it hasn't gone yet. Give me the check and trunk key and I'll see if I can find it." Saying which the disgusted husband hurried to the baggage-room at the Union station, where luck favored him. The trunk was still there. After some little difficulty he opened the trunk and found the missing pass stowed carefully away in one of the numerous boxes in the upper part of the trunk. From that time on until the train left for Buffalo the husband kept watch of the pass. A too careful wife is apt to need assistance.

THE SACRED CACTUS HERE.

Grows Only in Caverns and Is Found in the Gaudalupe Mountains.

The chief Sabbath attraction in an uptown church recently was a pyramid cactus. It held the most conspicuous place on the altar, and scores of strangers visited the church to see it, says the New York Times.

"It was given to our home missionary," said one of the members, "by an Indian convert in New Mexico. The cactus grows only in caverns, and is found in the Gaudalupe mountains. The beautiful vase-shaped maroon blooms develop to over two inches in diameter, and there are as many as 120 on a mature plant. In early times the faithful Indians used the caverns as churches, and beautiful places of worship they must have made with majestic walls of variegated limestone wreathed in flowering juniper and mountain laurel. They marched over the mountain trails in spring chanting seasonal songs to their gods. When they reached the mouth of the cavern the chiefs were decorated with the pyramid cacti, and a dance was performed.

"Then chanting, dancing, and the sacrifice of animals took place in the cave. Often the redskins, worn out with their exertions, fell asleep and stayed through the day and night of devotion within the mysterious walls. To sleep near the sacred cactus plants was the same to the aborigines as a visit to Mecca is to the Mohammedan. The touching of its leaves was a purification in itself. From some mysterious part of the plant a liquid was extracted to serve for medicine, and the flower petals were placed upon a babe's forhead at christenings."

THE MAN WHO MADE JAPAN

Marquis Ito Is to Be Accredited with Advancement of the Island Empire.

It is to Marquis Ito that Japan owes in a very great measure the position she now holds in the world. But for him she might be to-day a second China; but for him she would assuredly not be the rival of Russia, the chosen ally of England, says the London World.

He belongs by birth to what we should call the lower middle class, and has therefore had neither wealth nor influential connections to give him a helping hand. None the less, at an age when in England he would have been counted a boy he was already a minister plenipotentiary arranging terms of peace with the great powers of Europe. For he had the good luck in very early years—it was a pure piece of luck—to attract the attention of the old emperor, Komei Yenno, who was so struck by his extraordinary ability and all-round cleverness that he took his education into his own hands and set to work to train him for a political career.

In 1867 the old emperor died, but his successor, Moutsouhito, had just as high an opinion of Ito as his father had had, and as soon as he had power in his hands he made him governor of Hiogo. A year later he made him finance minister, and from that day to this Ito has practically ruled Japan.

Lesson in Rice Eating.

Rice growers believe that there are hundreds of thousands of people in this country who do not eat rice, because they know so little about the various ways of preparing it as a food. So they are going to have a $16,000 kitchen at the St. Louis exposition, in which the cereal will be served in scores of forms, just as potatoes are now commonly served, for which they claim rice is an excellent substitute.—N. Y. Times.

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

HUNTING OCEAN VAMPIRES.

Largest of All Monsters of the Deep Sometimes Reverses the Role and Becomes Hunter.

With the possible exception of the basking shark, the "Sea Devil" or "Ocean Vampire" is the largest of all the monsters of the deep. An unborn ocean vampire, taken from the mother, preserved at the British museum, is five feet broad, and before mounting weighed 20 pounds. The mother measured some 15 feet in length and quite as much in breadth.

It is at all times a dangerous undertaking to attempt to capture one of these monsters, says the Sunday Magazine, but particularly so in the case of a mother accompanied by her offspring. She is quite capable of reversing the role of hunter and hunted, attacking and capsizing the boat containing her would-be captors, and of seeing that none of them escapes alive.

"Imagine," writes Hon. William Elliot, in describing the exciting sport he had in hunting ocean vampires, "a monster from 16 to 20 feet across the back, full three feet in depth, possessed of powerful yet flexible flaps or wings with which he drives himself furiously in the water or vaults high in the air, through which he skims like some enormous bird; his feelers (commonly called horns) projecting several feet beyond his mouth, and paddling all the small fry that constitute his food into that capacious receptacle—and you will have an idea, though an imperfect one, of this extraordinary fish."

The so-called "horns" to which allusion is made are a singular feature in this animal. The pectoral or breast fins, much elongated, pointed, arched in front, concave behind, stop short at the head, to reappear as frontal appendages projected on each side of the head. These appendages take the form and character of limbs, being flexible and capable of grasping prey and carrying it to the mouth. The "feelers," as they are called, are sometimes three feet or more in length, and are curiously articulated at the ends so as to resemble the fingers of the human hand when clenched.

In this way fishing boats and vessels of a much larger size have been dragged from their moorings, and in some cases capsized by the ocean vampires having laid hold of the anchor. An instance of this kind occurred in the harbor of Charleston. A schooner lying at anchor, suddenly and seemingly of its own volition, to the amazement and alarm of those on board, started at a furious rate across the harbor. Upon nearing the opposite shore its course changed so abruptly as almost to capsize the vessel, and it recrossed the harbor to its former moorings.

These mysterious flights across the harbor were repeated a number of times in the presence of hundreds of astonished spectators, who were utterly at a loss to account for the phenomenon. The migrations ceased as suddenly as they began. Not till then did the back and undulating flukes of an immense ocean vampire, appearing above the water of the harbor, disclose the motive power that caused it all.

One of the curious habits of the fish is to throw somersaults, sometimes at a considerable distance beneath the surface, sometimes at the surface, and sometimes in the air above the surface. The reason for this peculiar practice, which is kept up for hours, has, so far as the writer knows, never been conjectured. At times the great fish will throw himself bodily perhaps as much as ten or twelve feet into the air. A young man student of Columbia university, writing from Port of Spain, describes the flight of one of these enormous sea monsters, which passed completely over him and the light boat he was rowing.

Powerful New Poisonous Drug.

Lascelius Scott, of England, has recently published some startling facts about cyanide of cacodyl. It is a white powder, melting at 33 degrees and boiling at 140 degrees, which, when exposed to air, gives off a slight vapor, to inhale which is death. Its effect is so powerful that Mr. Scott states he has seen the one-millionth part of a grain of the drug instantly kill four dogs when they were introduced into an air-tight cage with it. While but little known, it was made many years ago by a noted French chemist, Cadet. He combined potassium acetate with white arsenic, producing a fuming liquid, oxide of cacodyl. This, when combined with cyanogen, a radical of prussic acid, produces cyanid of cacodyl, thousands of times more poisonous than the pure prussic acid.—Albany Medical Annals.

The Perfect Waiter.

The complete waiter, like the angler and the poet, is born, not made. Fortunately, however, for the comfort of the world a great waiter is born a good deal more frequently than a great poet. Both must have a remarkable combination of faculties; the perfect waiter must handle the knife like a skilled surgeon, plates, dishes, forks and spoons like a conjurer, know as much of the dishes he serves as any epicure, be as quick on his feet as a ballet girl and as sweet in his temper as an angel. It is a tribute to the possibilities of human nature to say that such admirable Crichtons can be found.—London Telegraph.

No Fond Recollections.

"What! You will not marry me?"

"Impossible!"

"But you seemed to love me once. Your eyes brightened at my approach; and often when I sat silently gazing at you I am sure you were greatly agitated."

"Yes, I know; but since you have cut off your side-whiskers you don't look so much like poor, dear, dead Fido."—Stray Stories.

SPIES EMPLOYED BY JAPS.

A System That Takes in Persons of All Nationalities to Effect Its Ends.

I am rather inclined to believe that Japan gets her best information through corrupt or careless Russians and through Chinamen in Russia employ, writes a correspondent of the New York Herald. The big burly, roaring Russian, who likes his horse and, his dog and, most of all, his champagne, has probably no idea of the net which the smiling, sedentary, keen-witted leaders of the two great divisions of the yellow race are silently weaving around him.

But, leaving the Japanese out of the question, there is a sufficient number of mysterious and sometimes weird Europeans here to supply the novelist with an illimitable amount of material for character studies. Here is a Swedish gentleman, formerly an officer in the army, who is exceedingly anxious to know what is happening, and whose presence is, I take it, a proof of the great interest Scandinavia takes in the coming contest, a contest which may show her how she, too, may yet be absorbed by the northern colossus or how greatly the strength of that colossus has been overestimated.

Then there is a gentleman who represents himself as a British colonel, and who goes to the theater in his khaki uniform, gets photographed with all his medals on and does other things that one would scarcely expect a real British colonel to do in a foreign fortress.

Sometimes these strange characters disappear with strange abruptness. Some time ago our little community included a teacher of the English language, who led a blameless life until he was discovered early one morning gazing with mild astonishment at the big guns in a battery. He is now gone from among us.

The writer, who is now in Russian employ, once received a visit from a high military official of a foreign power who had come to the place in disguise, and who, after some preliminary conversation, calmly asked him to procure some military lists and other important documents.

I mention this matter under the heading "Strange Disappearances," because my disappearance would have seemed strange enough to my friends if I had agreed to the proposition made to me, but, of course, it was not the fear of discovery and punishment that made me reject the offer. I like the Russians in spite of all their drawbacks, and even if I did not like them I should certainly decline to sink from newspaper correspondent to spy.

EARTHQUAKES COME OFTEN

Japan Is Shocked Almost Every Day and May Some Time Be Submerged.

From 20 to 50 earthquakes occur daily in the world, and the average gives Japan about 300 a year. It would be a pretty thing if some morning we were to wake up and find our little friends blotted out of the map. Greater cataclysms have occurred; oceans flow where once dry land was and continents to-day give homes to millions of human beings where formerly the leviathan swam. A small fissure, leading to a greater one, conducting the waters of the sea or river to the heated rocks below, the flashing of the water into steam, a mighty explosion—and then we need a revision of maps.

Nature is a master builder. Chili rides 300 feet higher to-day than she did 150 years ago. She was upheaved all along her sea front in a single hour in 1750. The Runn of Clutch and the coast of Chittagong became correspondingly lower a dozen years ago. An earthquake may form a volcano; it may reduce a mountain to a valley. How deep these disturbances are it is not easy to say, but they have been traced to a depth of 24 miles. From the center of the disturbance shocks which have affected the whole earth have radiated.

The harmful inevitable earthquake is credited with some of the biggest juggling feats on record. One curiosity occurred at the fort of San Carlos, where the flagstaff, sunk 30 feet in the ground and secured with iron rods, was suddenly shot high into the air, leaving a clean round hole where it had been. The Riobamba convulsion sent the bodies of the inhabitants whirling across the river and deposited them on the top of La Culia, a hill 300 feet in height. During the Calabrian and New Madrid (Mo.) earthquakes trees were observed to rock and swing till their branches touched the ground and in the end righted themselves. Perhaps the strangest story is that which a Jamaican gravestone tells: "Here lieth the body of Lewis Galdy, Esq., who died on the 22d of September, 1737, aged 80. He was born at Montpelier, in France, which place he left for his religion, and settled on this island, where, in the great earthquake, 1672, he was swallowed up and by the wonderful providence of God by a second shock was thrown out into the sea, where he continued swimming until he was taken up by a boat and thus miraculously preserved."

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Rothfuss, who played one game for Alis, this season, caught for Irvington on Saturday against the Orange A. C. His team lost 3 to 2.

Captain Lauder expects to be back in the game with Alis on Saturday. His ankle is greatly improved. "Billy" will put plenty of ginger in the team.

Stallings, who played one game at first for Westfield against Alis, is through with the team. He says that he is not use to taking part in such contests.

Badgley, the Lehigh University pitcher, who occupied the box two innings for Alis on Saturday, was the guest of John G. McLaughlin, while in town.

The large crowd of fans attending the Alis-Hoboken game on Saturday is conclusive evidence that the town is with Alis in its action regarding the Westfield series.

Rutherford Dalley and David Smith, who have been two of the strongest players on the Dunellen team, have given up playing on the team. As they are both good fielders and batters they should have no trouble in making good with a first-class team.

James Monahan, who formerly coached the pitchers for St. Mary's baseball team, was struck in the right eye Friday by a ball into which Patrick Hanrahan had put a little extra twist. His optic now resembles a memento of a Donnybrook scrimmage.

A remarkable game of baseball was played at Doylestown, recently, between a team from that place and one from Abington. Nineteen innings were played and neither side scored after the third inning. The game was brought to a close by darkness with the score 4 to 4.

REORGANIZATION OF O. F. C.

MEETING FRIDAY NIGHT TO PLAN FOR FOOTBALL SEASON.

Plans for re-organizing the Orange Field Club football team for the coming year and the election of a manager will be the principal business at a meeting of the club to be held at the home of Manager H. C. Smith, at Scotch Plains, Friday night.

All young men wishing to try for the crack eleven are asked to be present. The club did well last season, losing only one game, that being with the Norwood A. C., by a score of 6 to 0, but the aggregation made up for this defeat by winning from the same team twice later on by scores of 19 to 0 and 18 to 0. The club has the strength to put even a better team in the field this season and the boys are much heavier. The reason for holding the meeting now is that within a short time most of the members will be out of town on their vacations, and by organizing now it will give the management plenty of time to arrange for games.

GRADE-CROSSING A MENACE

CENTRAL TRACKS CROSS ROCK AVENUE ON THE LEVEL ENDANGERING LIFE.

Agitation for the improvement of conditions surrounding the one grade crossing in Plainfield has been started in earnest by residents and business men of the neighborhood. The crossing is at Rock avenue.

There is a demand for some safeguarding of the traffic, foot and otherwise, that has begun to find Rock avenue at the railroad point its natural channel. There is absolutely no system of guarding those who cross the tracks from approaching trains.

The neighborhood on the south side of the track has begun to fill up with houses, and the number of people that use the crossing all through the day has come to be considerable.

Sentiment on the subject was brought to a head several weeks ago by J. D. Louiseaux, whose lumber yard is on Rock avenue, near the track. Feeling that some action was necessary without delay, he wrote an urgent letter to the railroad company pointing out the gravity of the situation.

In response to that letter the company sent an agent to note the conditions at the crossing. Unfortunately for those interested, the agent took up his station at the crossing on a day when traffic was light to a remarkably unusual extent. At any rate, nothing has been heard from the company since. The matter is to be brought before the attention of the Council and the Board of Trade.

PERSONAL.

Corporal Richard Overland, of the cavalry detail at West Point, is visiting his relatives here.

N. K. W. Heicher, of the North Plainfield High School staff, is at Silver Bay, Lake George.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyman, of Washington avenue, is quite ill at his home.

Mrs. C. D. Holman, of Pittsfield, Mass., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Yates, of West Seventh street.

Miss Daisy Elsberg, of Prospect place, who has been detained at home by illness, is convalescing and able to be out again.

The Westfield Fresh Air Camp will be opened on Friday, July, 1, under the supervision of Matron Deihl, of New York. Miss Deihl addressed a meeting at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday afternoon in the interest of the camp.

Rev. James A. Francis, who occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church on Sunday, is a talented divine and an able preacher. He was formerly pastor of the Clarendon Street Baptist church, Boston. He will preach again at the church next Sunday morning.

There will be public services at the First Baptist church next Sunday, both morning and evening. In the morning at 10:45 o'clock, Rev. James A. Francis will preach. In the evening Rev. Dr. W. B. Boggs, of the Theological Seminary, Ramapatam, India, will give some missionary reminiscences of the Telugu work in connection with the Yerkes' chapel. This is a mission station at Tettoo, where the Temple Builders of the First Baptist church support a native preacher.

Didn't Pay for Dogs' Release.

A. L. Carney, of Lincoln place, declares he did not pay the dog catcher to release his canines. He acknowledges that he gave the dog catcher a dollar, but says it was on his own initiative and not because the borough asked it. He says the borough hurriedly returned his dogs when he made it plain that suit would be started the next day.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Twelve men were taken on at the foundry of the Pond Machine Tool Company's works yesterday.

William Gray, of the Manganese Steel Safe Company's plant, is in Johnstown, N. Y., on business for the firm.

George Linzer, of West Second street, has taken a position in the foundry of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

Neal Scott, Sr., of Muhlenberg place, has taken a position at the foundry of the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

Patrick Harrington, of the Scott Press Company's works, is convalescing at his home on West Fourth street, after a serious attack of rheumatism.

Corporal Richard Overland, of a detachment of cavalry, located at West Point, is home on a furlough for one week. Mr. Overland was formerly employed at the foundry of the Potter Press Company's plant.

Fred Zimmer, of J. B. Loughead's automobile station, narrowly escaped losing his right hand while at work at the plant yesterday afternoon. Zimmer was filing a shaft in a lathe, the file struck the chuck and drove the pointed end nearly through his hand. The injured lad was taken to the office of Dr. Laury in an "auto," where the wound was dressed.

Rev. O. G. Norseen Here.

Rev. O. G. Norseen, former pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church, but now assistant pastor of a large and flourishing Swedish church at Worcester, Mass., will preach at his former church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

—Elmer Squires, of Aster place, has secured a position as substitute letter-carrier.

CHARLES BOONE ORDAINED

RAISED TO THE PRIESTHOOD BY CARDINAL GIBBONS AT BALTIMORE.

Charles Boone, son of Dr. W. C. Boone, of West Seventh street, was this morning ordained to the priesthood in the Baltimore Cathedral, together with others of his class. The ordination was witnessed by a large congregation. Cardinal Gibbons was in charge of the elaborate ceremonies, assisted by prominent priests of the arch-diocese.

Tomorrow morning at the same place, Father Boone will celebrate his first low mass, and on Sunday in St. Mary's church, he will celebrate his first high mass. At this time Father E. R. Dyer, his cousin, will be deacon of the mass. Father Dyer is president of St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore and the head of the Suplician Order in this country.

Sunday-School Class Outing.

Dr. Norman H. Probasco, of East Front street, took the members of his Sunday-school class of boys from the First Baptist church, to Midland Beach, yesterday. The party of ten made the trip by trolley, reaching the beach at 11 o'clock, and on the return Plainfield was reached about 10:30 o'clock last night. The boys had a good time swimming playing baseball and in other ways the day was a pleasant one.

Jr. O. U. A. M. Gathering.

All of the State officers of the Jr. O. U. A. M. have promised to attend a union meeting of Juniors to be held at Bound Brook on Friday night. There will be representatives from all of the Councils in this vicinity and a big time is promised. The Juniors in this city have arranged to go to Bound Brook by special trolley cars, leaving Watchung avenue at 7:30 o'clock Friday night.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887 — PLAINFIELD, N. J., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 22, 1904 — TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

PLAINFIELD LIBRARY'S COLLECTION NOW 29,052

Additions During Year Just Closed Far Greater in All Departments Than a Year Ago.

MISS ADAMS' REPORT

DIVISIONS AS ARRANGED IN ORDER OF THEIR POPULARITY.

Public School Deposit Stations—Number of Visitors During Last Year 55,723—Many Periodicals Available.

According to the report of the librarian, Miss Adams, the Plainfield Library contains 29,052 volumes, and it is the third largest public collection in the State. The total additions was 2,843 for the year. During the last year, 428 more books were given to the institution than during the preceding year. In fact for the year just closed, 1,247 more books were added to the collection than a year ago.

In the circulating use, the large increase of 3,548 over last year is noted, the total number of books loaned for home use being 49,181. This represents an average of three and one-fifth books for every inhabitant, it also shows that of the 22,604 circulating volumes, each volume circulated two and seventeen-hundreds times.

The fourteen main divisions arranged in order of popularity are: Fiction, juvenile, general literature, travel, biography, history, natural science, general works, fine arts, sociology, useful arts, religion, philosophy, philology. Adult fiction forms but forty-six per cent. of the whole circulation.

Perhaps the chief matters of interest brought out in the circulation statistics are: The decided preference shown for English over American literature; the effect of the Russo-Japanese war on library statistics, making Japan by far the most read about of any country this past year, with Russia next; the extensive use of Nature books; the wide use of the library by teachers, the appreciation of the library's collection on engineering, and the popular preference for the practical side of religion and philosophy as evidence by the large circulation of their subdivision of Christian life and ethics. Growing use is noted of the standard writers of fiction, when these are supplied in good editions.

Of the school deposit station, the largest circulation was at the Lincoln, where 718 Public Library books were distributed among the pupils. Bryant followed with 544, and the Irving school with 469. Of this work Miss Petrie, of the Irving school, says: "Through the circulation of the books a desire to read has been cultivated, and as the books are classified to the work of each grade, we find them a great help in adding information to the study of geography and language," and Miss Griffin, principal of the Lincoln and Bryant schools, says: "Pupils who have shown little desire for reading—pupils who have very little reading matter in their homes, have become interested in good reading." Through the Potter Press deposit station, there were circulated 205 books. Books which have been in quarantined families are either destroyed or disinfected by the health inspector before being received back at the Library.

Of the reference and reading room use, statistics are not available, readers and students having access to shelves, but observation here shows their use to be very large. The approximate number of persons visiting the building was 55,723, 1,620 of whom came on Sundays.

The number of periodicals supplied for readers now reaches 170, of which thirty-nine are presented.

Among other recommendations made by the librarian are the building up of a department of French and German, the demand for which is in excess of the supply; the formation of a small apprentice class; the appointment of a special assistant for delivery work; and the extension of work with the schools.

Col. Mason W. Tyler recently gave to the institute 264 volumes of the Reports of the New York Supreme Court, and of the New York Court of Appeals.

—Wm. Mills, of the borough, has gone into the hog raising business. He received two fancy western hogs the other day and will start his breeding from that stock.

W. C. T. U. PARLOR MEETING

ENTERTAINMENT AT THE HOME OF MISS CAIRNS IN WEST FIFTH STREET.

Under the auspices of the social department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, a parlor meeting and musical was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cairns, 444 West Fifth street. Mrs. Frank Rowley, as chairman of this work, was in charge of the programme. There was a large attendance of members and friends and the affair brought two new members to the local Union.

The programme included vocal selections by Miss Bertha Willis, instrumental selections by Miss Edith Cairns, Miss Elsie Knowlton and Miss Lena Bohan and a reading by Mrs. Clarence Hofman, of Pittsfield, Mass., a former member of the Union. Each number was well received, after which there was a social time and refreshments were served. A silver offering was received at the door, and through this method a satisfactory amount was contributed to the Union.

SERVICES OVER C. B. SCOTT

OBSEQUIES AT HOUSE ATTENDED BY IMMEDIATE RELATIVES AND FRIENDS.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity church, yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock over the body of Charles B. Scott. The services were held at his home, 736 Grant avenue and were attended only by the immediate relatives and friends. Numerous floral pieces were sent to the house in token of the respect and affection in which Mr. Scott was held.

The pall bearers included Principal I. W. Travell, of the Stillman High School; J. D. Macnab, commandant of the High School battalion and a Mr. Palmer, of New York. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery to await interment at Shawangunk, Ulster County, N. Y.

MISS MABEL GANO'S PARTY

LARGE GATHERING OF FRIENDS MEET TWO GUESTS FROM ANNANDALE.

Honoring her guests, Miss Stella Emmons and Miss May Hockenbury, of Annandale, Miss Mabel Gano entertained a large gathering of friends at her home on Grove street last night. Card games were the principal feature of the affair. The house was prettily decorated.

Progressive pit was played, and flinch and euchre were also enjoyed. The winners were Miss Mabel Hand, Miss Bessie Bennett, Miss Edith White, Albert Yaeger, Harry Matthews, Frank Erbeck.

Piano selections were played by Miss Gano, Miss Coddington and Miss Hand. At midnight supper was served. After supper the guests enjoyed an hour of dancing.

Among the many guests were the following: The Misses Stella Emmons, May Hockenbury, Anna Bodine, Edith Squier, Irene Hope, Jessie Matthews, Kate Bodine, Tilly Coddington, Nora Schenck, Nettie Thompson, Florence Conroy, Anna Matthews, Grace Fenner, May Fenner, Grace McAfee, Sadie Hyler, Bertha Manning, Mabel Gano, Cora Gano, Edith Caleen, Edith White, Mabel Hand, Bessie Bennett, Monroe Squier, Howard Boss, Frank Erbeck, Ray Gwinn, Robert Crane, Linden West, Lloyd VanMiddlesworth, Arthur Caleen, Harry Matthews, Albert Yaeger, Elijah Matthews, Fred Burrop, Harry Soper, Bert Gray, William Huff, Fred Koechlien.

Several guests were present from Annandale, Bound Brook, Somerville, Westfield and Elizabeth.

A New Creamery.

John I. Brokaw, for some years a resident of Plainfield, will open a creamery, equipped with the latest improved machinery, about July 15, at the MacDonald store on East Front street. A feature of the place will be the carrying on of the operations of separation and churning, as well as cheese-making, right in the store, in plain view of the public. A concrete floor is being laid to accommodate the machinery.

Ivamy Gets Judgement.

After being strongly contested, the contract case of Fred Ivamy against A. B. Rosell, has resulted in judgment being entered for $44.42 in favor of the plaintiff.

MISS GRISWOLD BRIDE OF DR. GUY H. HILLMAN

Ceremony at Home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Macintyre is Performed Before Many Friends

MANY HANDSOME GIFTS

REV. CHARLES FISK, OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, SOMERVILLE, OFFICIATES.

Miss Mary Buckle as Bridemaid and Dr. R. S. Scovil, of New York, Best Man—The Bride's Gown—Couple to Reside Here.

Beneath a bell of daisies and ferns, Miss Mary Griswold and Dr. Guy H Hillman, both of this city, were made man and wife last night at 7 o'clock, by the Rev. Charles Fiske, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Somerville. The ceremony took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Macintyre, 969 West Seventh street. William J. McBride, of New York, an uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage.

Miss Mary Buckle, of this city, was the bridesmaid. Dr. R. S. Scovil, of Johnstown, N. Y., was best man. Dr. Scovil is a classmate of Dr. Hillman's, having graduated with him from the University of Buffalo in 1901. The bride was, for several years, a teacher in the city schools.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine over white taffeta, trimmed with tucked chiffon and applique and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and asparagus fern. The bride's maid wore pink figured white net, and carried a similar bouquet of pink sweet peas and asparagus fern.

The house was a mass of flowers, on the lower floors, great care and good taste having been lavished on this feature. Roses, honeysuckle, daisies, ferns, palms and oak-leaves were all used with exquisite taste in decking the house for the joyous occasion.

Guests were present from Cleveland, O., Yonkers, Johnstown, Genesee, New York city and Somerville. A large quantity of gifts was received, consisting of china, cut glass, silver, linen, furniture and rugs, some of the latter being particularly fine specimens of the product of Oriental looms.

After the wedding supper, Dr. and Mrs. Hillman left for a short trip. The bride wore a travelling dress of blue voille and a hat of Tuscan straw, champagne color, trimmed with black velvet and chrysanthemums.

On their return, Dr. and Mrs. Hillman will make their home at 951 West Seventh street, corner of Hobart avenue.

Two Weddings Tonight.

Miss Ruth Allen Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Berry, of Grove street, and William Rowley Faber, son of A. E. Faber, of Rockview avenue, will be married in Holy Cross church, this evening at 7:30. The marriage of Miss Eleanor Thurston VanDeventer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer, of Myrtle avenue, and G. H. Whittingham, also of the borough, will be celebrated at the same place at 5 o'clock this afternoon. No reception will follow this wedding.

Father Miller at Maloney Wedding.

Among the priests in the sanctuary at the wedding of Miss Margaret Maloney, the daughter of the well-known Catholic philanthropist, at Spring Lake this morning was the Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield. The ceremony was performed by Cardinal Satolli, who came from Rome for that sole purpose. Cardinal Gibbons, two archbishops, five bishops and a dozen or more priests were present.

Condemn Court House Figures.

The figures of Justice and Liberty, under the entablature on the facade of the new court house at Elizabeth, are not satisfactory, either to the officials or Albert R. Ross, the designer of the figures. They will be cut out and removed. The figures were not cut to model, as reported and they are out of proportion. New ones will be carved by sculptors and mortised into place.

Opening Date for Camp.

It was decided at the meeting of the committee in charge of the baby camp on Johnston's drive, to open the camp Thursday, June 30. Stages will be run from every alternate trolley car to the camp for the benefit of the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Randolph have returned from their honeymoon. They are living in the Lincoln flats.

HOPE Y. M. A. SOCIAL

AFTER SHORT BUSINESS SESSION ORGANIZATION HAS A MERRY TIME.

Owing to the absence of President William N. Runyon, the chief business of last night's meeting of the Hope Y. M. A., the rehabilitation of the bowling alley and probable construction of an additional alley, did not come before the association. A committee of members of the Y. M. A. have made certain recommendations regarding the alleys, which the Board of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church has had under consideration for some time past. This business was laid over for a week.

A programme, chiefly of songs by a quartette consisting of Messrs. John Cose, James Penny, B. C. Firstbrook and Edward Texier, was enjoyed, and was followed by refreshments. In charge of the affair were John Cose, B. C. Firstbrook and Fred Wharton.

BRIDAL PARTY ENTERTAINED

FRANK ROWLEY FABER AND MISS RUTH BERRY GIVE A DINNER.

The last social function prior to the marriage of Miss Ruth Allen Berry and Frank Rowley Faber, which will take place this evening, at 7:30 in the Holy Cross church, was the dinner given last night at the Park Club, previous to the rehearsal at the church. The dinner was given by the bride and groom to the other members of the bridal party and it was a pleasing termination to the series of social activities that have marked the approaching wedding of this popular couple.

These persons were present at the dinner: Miss Ruth Allen Berry, William Rowley Faber, Miss Alice Hadden, Miss Isabelle Milne, Miss Marion McCutcheon, Miss Mildred Berry, Miss Sophie Barlow, Henry C. Wells, Lewis Williams, Jr., Frank Thompson, Allen B. Laing and Charles Faber.

ARCANUM 27 YEARS OLD

FRATERNAL ORDER TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF ITS ORGANIZATION.

The twenty-seventh anniversary of the Royal Arcanum will be celebrated throughout the country tomorrow.

The grand regent, of the supreme lodge, issued orders to the above effect to every council.

The following notice has been sent out by one of the regents:

"Royal Arcanum Brothers, Attention:

"Thursday, June 23, will be the twenty-seventh anniversary of the birthday of the Royal Arcanum. The grand regent, James M. Washburn, requests the writer to notify all members to this effect, and further asks us to make this day, June 23, a day long to be remembered, and that it shall be known as Flag day.

"In observing Thursday as Flag day he asks us to display in our homes the grand old Stars and Stripes, no matter what the weather may be.

"To this call we should all respond, and while 'tis a little thing to do perhaps, yet it will help to remind us of the birth of one of the grandest and noblest organizations in the world."

MEEKER ROADS.

State Supervisor Returns to St. Louis to Inspect Model Highways.

State Supervisor of Public Roads Robert A. Meeker, of this city, will today start on a trip to St. Louis to visit the New Jersey State roads exhibit building at the fair. While there on a previous occasion he supervised the construction of a section of road built at the fair showing the advancement New Jersey has made in this direction. The work has been highly praised and it is said that there is nothing like the road in that section. It is 100 feet long and 16 feet in width.

As the result of Mr. Meeker's supervision of this specimen road, he has been made engineer of the National Good Roads commission. He will go today to inspect the roads of that section and to superintend an addition to the State road building which contains maps, roads materials, photographs of New Jersey roads and other exhibits.

Thomas Buckley, of the Potter Press Company's plant, has returned home from setting up several web presses in the government printing office at Washington, D. C.

SECOND BAND CONCERT IS TOMORROW NIGHT

Bandmaster Ben LaVere Announces Programme for the Open Air Production.

IN NEED OF FUNDS

FREE MUSICAL FEASTS PROVE TO BE POPULAR WITH MASSES.

John J. Nestor to Sing "My Lonely Little Lonesome Maid," by Request—The Concert Begins at 8 o'Clock.

The second in the series of band concerts by Benj. LaVere's band will be given on Chatham street, tomorrow night, and the same high-class programme as presented at the first concert will be given. There is no doubt but what the public appreciates these musical treats, their popularity being attested a week ago. Mr. LaVere has gotten together a band of musical experts second to none. Every man is a soloist and the rendition of the various numbers is all that is to be desired.

If the public want the concerts continued a substantial way of proving it is by contributing liberally to the enterprise. Mr. LaVere has a limited fund on hand and when that is gone he says he will discontinue the concerts, unless more money is forthcoming.

In making up his programmes Mr. LaVere takes great care in selecting the numbers. He gives a few classical selections, interspersing the other numbers with those of a lighter vein including the popular compositions of the day. The grandstand was liberally patronized last week, the improvement being a great convenience to those wishing to sit down through the concert. There were also many present in automobiles, carriages and on wheels and the general opinion was praiseworthy of Mr. LaVere's efforts.

The concert will begin at 8 o'clock and this excellent programme will be given:

March, "The Competitor," Heed; overture, "Post and Peasant," Suppe; concert waltz, "Charmeuse," Eugene; cornet solo, "Sea Flower Polka," Bisch, Mr. L. R. Anderson; selection, "Babes in Toyland," Herbert; (a) intermezzo, "Salambo," Morse, (b) characteristic, "The Sun Dance," Friedman; vocal solo, (a) "I Wish the Band Would Play," (b) "My Lonely Little Lonesome Maid," by request, Mr. John J. Nestor; descriptive, "A Hunting Scene," Bucalossi; medley, "A Gleam of Heaven," Harris; finale, "Sergeant Kitty," Sloane.

Station Robbery Trial Off.

The trial of the three young men indicted for robbing the Jersey Central Station at Westfield on the night of April 30 of $1,000 and in which crime the night ticket agent and operator at the station is implicated, was to take place at Elizabeth yesterday, but owing to the absence of an important witness it was postponed until Friday of this week. It is rumored that one of the defendants, who is a prisoner in the county jail, he being unable to get bail, intends to turn State's evidence.

Working on Sewer Extension.

Stone & Grossart, the successful bidders for the construction of the 1,200 feet of sanitary sewer in the East End of the city, began work yesterday afternoon. Mr. Grossart, who is here superintending the work, expects to complete the same within seven weeks. He has placed a gang of about twenty-five men on the job. The materials are now arriving so that there will be no delay on this account.

Miss Callahan's Wedding.

Invitations have been issued by Thomas Callahan, of Richmond street, to the marriage of his daughter, Miss Minnie A. Callahan, and John P. Owens, Esq., to be celebrated on Wednesday morning, June 29, at St. Mary's church. Father Glennon, a classmate of the groom, will officiate, assisted by Father Egan, rector of the church.

Parochial Pupils in Operatta.

MISS JENNIE FOWLER WEDS

CEREMONY IN WESTFIELD WITNESSED BY PLAINFIELD FRIENDS OF COUPLE.

Miss Jennie Fowler, of Westfield, and Walter Darby, of Alton, were married in the Westfield Presbyterian church, last night, by the pastor of the church. Among the large number of guests present were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. Will F. Williams and William A. Woodruff, of this city.

Mrs. Arthur Pierson, a sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor, and Arthur Pierson was best man. Another sister of the bride was one of the bridesmaids. Alfred Kilmer and W. J. Alpers were ushers. Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride, and after a wedding trip, the couple will live at Westfield in a new house recently built by the groom. The groom is well-known here and he is engaged in the electrical business in New York.

RENAME IT FAITH CHAPEL

EAST THIRD STREET MISSION TAKES A NEW TITLE.

Having grown far ahead of the "mission" stage, the people of the Baptist chapel that has been known as the East Third Street mission have begun a determined effort to displace the old name for one more befitting its size and stability. They have hung a new sign reading "Faith Chapel," over the chapel entrance, and want their place of worship to be called by that name. The name was given to the chapel several years ago, but it has never been used generally.

Now the chapel has a regular pastor, however, and the membership and average attendance have come up to the figures of regularly established churches here, and it is felt that the old name gives a wrongful impression of the work that it is doing and the place to which it has attained.

MR. ALBERTI, AGED 93, DEAD

FORMER PLAINFIELD JEWELER DIES AT HIS HOME IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

Thomas Shipley Alberi, who was a resident of this city for many years, being at one time engaged in the jewelry business here, died yesterday afternoon at his home in New Brunswick, at the age of ninety-three years. He was unusually active for one of his years, only recently visiting this city, unattended and showing a lively interest in affairs. He was the owner of valuable property here. He was for years a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

The funeral services will be held at the home of his son-in-law, A. A. Titsworth, 590 George street, New Brunswick, Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Wanted to Sleep on R. R. Track.

Laboring under a heavy load of rum, Patrick Sexton, a homeless laborer, tried to go to sleep on the railroad track, near the Richmond street bridge last night about 8 o'clock. He was arrested by Patrolman Myers and put in a cell, where he would at least be safe from freight trains. Sentence was suspended on him this morning by Judge Runyon.

Leal's Boys Danced.

As usual after commencement, John Leal tendered a dance to the graduate of his school at the Casino last night. The affair was largely attended, and passed off delightfully. The hall was decorated with flags. Mrs. Leal, Mrs. C. E. Abbott and Mrs. Frances Martin received.

October Convention.

The New Jersey State Convention of the Boys' Department of the Y. M. C. A. will meet at the local Y. M. C. A. building, October 28 and 30. The delegates will number about 300. Arrangements are under way for their accommodation while here.

Thieves Break Into Butcher Shop.

Thieves broke into the butcher shop of John Storm, on Liberty street, last night, and stole a small sum of money. Entrance was gained through a rear window. There was only a few dollars in the till.

To Sue P. S. C. for Damages.

Mrs. Anna Hill, of Paterson, who was hurt by a trolley car at the North avenue depot several weeks ago, has retained F. J. Blatz, Esq., to secure damages.

Stephen Caboone and family, of Watchung avenue, left this week for their summer home in Jamestown, R. I.

FAITH'S CONGREGATION WELCOMES NEW PASTOR

Reception in Honor of Rev. John W. Musson Attended By a Delightful Programme.

SOME HAPPY REMARKS

L. W. RANDOLPH ENTENDS GREETINGS ON BEHALF OF THE FLOCK.

Letter From Rev. Dr. Yerkes is Read—Clifford Braider Renders a Piano Solo—The Decorations Handsome.

Warm welcome was extended by the people of Faith chapel, on East Third street, to their first permanent pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, last night. The affair was a delightful one, full of cordial spirit that gave a most auspicious tone to the start of Mr. Musson's ministry. Mrs. Musson was present, and the hearty greeting tendered to the pastor included her. The attendance was very large, every available chair being occupied.

Elaborate decorations transformed the chapel. Palms and flowers were used with attractive effect, and a big bunting sign, "Welcome Pastor," hung above the platform. Over the sign a big star, studded with electric bulbs, glowed brightly, symbolic of the spirit that moves the chapel membership.

There was a delightful programme of entertainment. The exercises opened with a piano solo by Clifford Braider, organist of the First Presbyterian church, which was followed by a selection by the chapel orchestra. Rev. Mr. Musson read the 103d Psalm, and offered a prayer. The congregation, rising, sang "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds."

Greeting and regrets from Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor emeritus of the First Baptist church, the parent church, were read. L. W. Randolph, who has been at the head of the chapel work from its start, delivered a happily phrased address of welcome. His remarks were so worded as to obviate the necessity of a response from the pastor. Two handsome bouquets were presented to Mrs. Musson.

The programme was rounded out by a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Lockwood, solo by Elmer Cutting, violin solo by Frank Malin, and recitations by Miss Hazel Grant and Miss Lizzie Frank.

After the programme a period of informal sociability was enjoyed, during which the chapel folk and their friends greeted Mr. and Mrs. Musson personally. Cordial expressions of support in his work were numerous.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by a number of the younger people.

The committee in charge of the affair was made up of L. W. Randolph, chairman; Mrs. John Mackey, Miss Ella Mackey, Mrs. Edward Baker, Miss Charlotte Myers, Miss Florence Randolph, Mrs. W. C. LaRue, Mrs. Dora Oblinger.

Wedding at Somerville.

Miss Laura Mabel Doriand, daughter of the late Dr. W. D. Doriand, and Walter Percival VanCamp, both of Somerville, were married at that place last night. Ralph Willis, of this city, was the best man. The affair was one of the leading social events of the season at the Somerset County seat. A number of guests were present from here. Rev. Dr. Woods, of the First Baptist church, Somerville, tied the knot.

W. C. T. U. Meeting Tomorrow.

Several prominent State workers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will attend the meeting of the local Union to be held in the rooms on Madison avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. Among those expected are Miss Barker, State organizer, and the organizer of the local Union, and Mrs. E. B. Surier, chairman of the State flower mission. The members and friends are urged to attend.

Trolley Men's Baseball Game.

The Staten Island trolley men have challenged the P. S. C. employes to a baseball game. The pick of the Plainfield Giants and the Junction Giants, who fought a mighty battle on the Westfield diamond recently, will be sent to Staten Island next Wednesday to trim the aspiring Islanders. Plainfield players will be prominent in the lineup.

Mrs. I. V. Smalley and daughter, Miss Florence Smalley, of Jackson avenue, have gone to Philadelphia to spend a few weeks with relatives.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

There is no better place to lounge away an idle hour this warm weather than in the summer garden at the rear of the Hotel Waldorf.

A. B. Laing, of North avenue, is prepared to take any contract for electrical work, big or little. The quality of the work will be unsurpassable.

I. N. Wyckoff, the West Front street painter and decorator, would like to give you estimates on painting and paper-hanging. His work stands the most severe tests.

Warm weather toilet hint for dainty women: Use Powers' witch hazel soap and scented talcum powder. Finest of their kinds. Sold by J. P. Powers, of Somerset street.

If you are having trouble with your feet, as the result of perspiration or from other causes, don't fail to give Thorp's foot relief a fair trial. You will be surprised at the result.

Joy and comfort and peace are in the Nickel Yara cigar for the smoker. M. C. Dobbins, Park avenue, sells it. Even finer is the Pinar del Rio. Always something new in smoking tobaccos.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, contract to do all kinds of moving at the lowest prices, and if you have any furniture you want stored in a safe and convenient place, the firm will promptly attend to your wants.

The man who takes your baggage to the depot when you go on your vacation, is generally the one whom you would least like to have again on the same errand. Try Hoagland for a change; he knows how, and if his men can't learn, he fires them.

A. M. Griffen, the East Front street hardware merchant, is headquarters for all kinds of hardware. There is nothing in this line that you cannot get at this store. He also keeps a full line of kitchen utensils, and as for farm and garden implements he has the largest stock in the city.

With a large display of fancy articles, and more expensive jewelry, L. Moraller & Son present as good an opportunity to the buyer as any store within reach of Plainfielders. All the latest designs in the white metal, including attractive shirtwaist sets and hat pins. All sorts of jewelry and watch repairing.

By addressing your order to P. O. box 743 Plainfield, you can get from the Plainfield Spring Water Company, a five gallon bottle of Washington Rock spring water, bottled and sealed at the well, packed in a swinging crate and delivered at your door. This may be a luxury, but it is a very healthful one.

Come to Peck's for the finest white goods, linen, laces, sewing materials and summer fabrics to be found anywhere. The latest and best models in high grade corsets are to be seen at Peck's, the finest linen handkerchiefs—by the way you might drop in and select a few of these last, they are going remarkably low.

Five dollars will start an account in the savings of the Plainfield's Trust Co., the interest will keep it going, you can add to it at will, in small amounts and before you appreciate it, you will have a snug sum at your command to make an investment with perhaps, when without our savings department you would have spent it even more easily than it was saved. Thousands praise this plan.

The annual sale of trunks at Woodhull & Martin's store is well worth attending. These trunks, made by the well-known firm of T. B. Peddie & Co., have for years had the reputation of being the best made. The firm is carrying all sizes and styles at low prices. Summer floor coverings are now in great demand. By covering your fine carpets you will be surprised at the saving in wear and tear. The firm is now carrying a full line of new fibre carpets which are rapidly growing in favor. The free cooking school is still an attraction and your attention is invited.

Think of it! Think of it! Boys' wash suits, worth twice what they ask for them at the Plainfield Surprise Store, made of the best materials and in the latest styles. Outing suits special also. These outing suits are the kind you wanted last year but couldn't afford to buy. Often you have heard of bargains, but never one like this. 150 men's and young men's suits, in all wool blue serges, black diagonals, fancy cheviots and mixed worsteds, made both single and double breasted and offered at half price. Summer coats and pants, straw hats and furnishings. Everything desirable.

CONVENTION'S WORK

Permanent Chairman Joseph G. Cannon's Tariff Speech.

REPUBLICANS EVER PROTECTIONISTS

Manufactures of the United States Greater Than Britain, France and Germany—Francis Invites All to St. Louis Fair.

CHICAGO, June 22.—The Republican national convention's second session was opened today, when the permanent organization under its temporary chairman, Elihu Root, late secretary of war, took place. The assembly was opened by prayer, Rev. Thomas E. Cox officiating.

The reports of the committee on credentials and permanent organization were then received.

Mr. Root then introduced to the convention Permanent Chairman Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois, who addressed the assembly at some length.

Mr. Cannon's address was devoted to the tariff question. On this subject he said in part:

"The policy of protection has ever been the shiboleth of the Republican party. Under this policy, from an insignificant manufacturing country in 1860, by leaps and bounds, while we still remained first in agriculture among the nations of the earth, we have become more than first in manufactures. More than one-third of all the manufactured products of the whole earth is produced by American capital, by American labor, which works shorter hours than any people on earth and has more steady employment than any people on earth and on the average receives, conservatively stated, $1.75 compensation where similar labor elsewhere receives but $1.

"Our manufactured product yearly is greater than the manufactured product of the people of Great Britain, Germany and France combined, and this product is substantially consumed by our own people, finding a market within the borders of the republic. Although our exports of manufactured products are rapidly growing, last year they were over $400,000,000, 29 per cent of our total exports.

"It is not a few men of great wealth that make good markets, but it is the multiplied millions that work today and consume tomorrow, with interchange of their respective products among one another, and the prosperity of the farmer on the one hand and of the operative upon the other depends on the prosperity of each as producers of their respective products and as consumers of the products of others.

"For more than sixty years the Democratic party has denounced protection as robbery, and their cry has been sometimes 'a tariff for revenue only,' sometimes for 'progressive free trade throughout the world,' but whatever the expression may be they have always been ready when clothed with power to run the dagger into the protective policy. And such is still the position of that party.

"In other words, if they are given power the American manufacturer and laborer will be gradually starved to death instead of being destroyed at one stroke. It reminds me of one of Aesop's fables, where the wolves proposed to the sheep that they should discharge the dogs, their natural protectors, and place themselves under the protection of the wolves. Does capital on the one hand and labor on the other desire such protection?"

On the trust question Speaker Cannon said:

"The Republican party, ever ready to keep pace with the industrial development of the country, has enacted legislation within the constitution, prohibiting harmful combinations of capital, and President Roosevelt, our president and our president to be, has kept his oath to see to it that the laws are executed. And by the decisions of the highest courts the Republican legislation has been sustained and the laws are being enforced. All are equal before the law—the high and the mighty, the meek and the lowly, the capitalist and the laborer, whose capital is his muscle intelligently directed; the rich and the poor—all, all have equality of opportunity before the law, and all, all must abide and obey the law. Our civilization is built upon obedience to the law. 'By this sign we must conquer.'

"We enter the coming campaign with the record of the Republican party, under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt, feeling that we have made progress, and marked progress, along the line of law and order contemporary with the development of our material interests."

After briefly reviewing the acts of the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations Mr. Cannon closed with these words:

"Let us make our nominations in order and appeal to the people of the country for a renewal of power to the Republican party, standing by our policies, ready to legislate where legislation would be productive of more good than evil from the economic standpoint, but refusing to legislate and lose the substance of success in a vain effort to secure the shadow that abideth not and satisfieth not either the intellectual or material existence."

The committee on resolutions met in the green room of the Auditorium Annex hotel immediately after the convention adjourned yesterday and organized by electing Senator Lodge of Massachusetts as chairman, Senator Clark of Wyoming as secretary and R. G. Proctor of Massachusetts as clerk. The chair was then authorized to appoint a subcommittee of thirteen to prepare the platform.

Senator Lodge announced the following subcommittee to formulate the platform: Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire, Edward Lauterbach of New York, Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania, Senator Foraker of Ohio, Senator Hopkins of Illinois, Senator Clark of Wyoming, Senator Nelson of Minnesota, Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, Senator Heyburn of Idaho, John W. Blythe of Iowa, Senator Beveridge of Indiana and Frank H. Short of California.

Before confiding the work of constructing the platform to the subcommittee the full committee on resolutions of the Republican convention listened to a delegation of woman suffragists and also to Representative Bartholdt of Missouri, who presented an international arbitration plank.

Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Chicago spoke for the delegation. In a word she said all that was wanted was a plank in the platform favoring a constitutional amendment preventing the disfranchisement of citizens of the United States because of sex. She then introduced Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio. As Mrs. Upton swept the room with a gaze she spied Senator Foraker in a far corner.

"I think I will address my remarks to Senator Foraker," she began, and the committee laughed. "I am not afraid of the senator, and besides I have had to listen to him speak."

The laugh at the senator's expense grew.

Mrs. Upton admitted that she was in politics and liked it. She is an elected member of an Ohio school board and chairman of a committee. "We are not asking anything very hard," she went on, "and if this committee was composed of real citizens you would jump right out of that window to do our bidding."

Mrs. Clara Parker Wolley and Rev. Olympia Brown of Wisconsin made a plea for the plank. Both speakers quoted President Roosevelt in favor of the movement.

Representative Bartholdt's plank reads as follows:

"We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration and advocate the negotiation of arbitration treaties between the government of the United States and the governments of other nations."

Ralph Loveland, a member of the committee, presented a plank pledging the party to the further improvement of waterways.

The La Follette people appeared before the committee on credentials and declined to present their case. They made a statement that the national committee had declined to hear the evidence which they were willing to submit and that it was their understanding that the committee on credentials had been "approached." For that reason they would make no presentation of their case, but would appeal to the people of Wisconsin in November.

Senator Depew was recognized by the chairman to deliver to the convention an invitation from President Francis and the directors of the Louisiana Purchase exposition to delegates and members of the press to visit the fair at St. Louis before returning to their homes. Senator Depew started to read the invitation from his seat, but at the demand of delegates and spectators he mounted the platform. There he passed the invitation over to a clerk to read. When it was concluded Chairman Root suggested that the senator might want to make a few remarks. The suggestion was accepted, and in recommending that the invitation be accepted Senator Depew said the Democrats are claiming the credit of gaining an empire peaceably on the ground that the party through Jefferson had bought the land. The Republicans, he said, had tilled it and were going to share the harvest. The speech was received with favor and the invitation accepted.

The Indiana delegation has made a tour of the different state delegations and created considerable interest, although no direct attempt was made to boom the nomination of Senator Fairbanks for vice president.

There is a practically unanimous belief that the Indiana senator will be chosen. There has been some communication with Representative Hitt, and he has been informed of the situation. It is expected that he will authorize the withdrawal of his name, in which event the other candidates also will be withdrawn and the nomination of Senator Fairbanks be made unanimous.

SKRYDLOFF'S REPORT

Flying Raid of His Squadron Out of Vladivostok.

DETAILS OF SINKING OF JAP SHIPS

Transports Full of Troops Were Torpedoed and Sunk by Russian Shells, the Soldiers Accepting Death Rather Than Yield.

LONDON, June 22.—Advices from St. Petersburg say that Emperor Nicholas has received the following dispatch from Vice Admiral Skrydloff:

"Our squadron, consisting of the cruiser Rossia, flying the flag of Vice Admiral Bezobrazoff, and the cruisers Gromoboi and Rurik, left to assume the offensive against the maritime communications of the Japanese army. The squadron has returned to Vladivostok, and its commander reports that the squadron advanced from the north toward the strait of Shimonoseki. When within twenty miles of the strait our ships perceived on the horizon two steamers, which they chased, but could not overhaul owing to the great distance. At the same time a third ship was seen by the cruisers, which the Gromoboi was ordered to capture. The ship proved to be the transport Izumi. In spite of repeated orders to stop she refused to do so until she had been struck by several shells. She then stopped, and men began to jump overboard. The Gromoboi then signaled for those on board to quite the ship, which was done, the crew leaving in two boats. These, together with those who had jumped overboard and who were picked up by boats from the cruisers, were received on board the Gromoboi.

"The Izumi, which was of 3,000 tons, was then sunk by our guns.

"Among the 105 taken on board the Gromoboi were seventeen officers.

"After the sinking of the transport two more steamers were sighted by the Gromoboi, and they were chased. They proved to be the transports Sado and Hitachi, each of 6,000 tons. On the former, in addition to military stores, were men of the telegraph corps and twelve officers and also pontoons. On the Hitachi were 1,000 troops besides military stores.

"The Rossia was ordered to capture the Sado and the Gromoboi the Hitachi, which tried to escape.

"After several shots had been fired warning the Hitachi to stop, without effect, our guns opened fire, and she stopped. Those on board, however, paid no attention to the signal to abandon the ship, and after more shots had been fired they commenced to lower boats. The transport settled down very slowly, and consequently the Gromoboi was ordered to expedite the sinking of her, which was soon accomplished.

"The Sado stopped after several shots had been fired across her bows, and in accordance with our signals her boats, which were fairly numerous, were lowered. Some of the boats were precipitately lowered, and several capsized. The other boats, crowded with men, headed toward Tsu and Iki islands, which were visible in the distance. The weather was calm and the sea perfectly quiet.

"The Rurik was ordered to pick up the officers, soldiers and crew, but it was only possible to capture four foreigners engaged on the transports and twenty-five officers. The other troops did not leave the transport, and the Rurik was then ordered to torpedo and sink her. The transport not sinking at the first torpedo, another was fired, which sank her.

"Our squadron then, considering the matter ended and in view also of the growing darkness, proceeded on its cruise, a Japanese cruiser watching all the time.

"On the following day in the Tsugaru strait our squadron stopped the British steamer Allanton. Her captain declared to the officer sent to examine her that he was proceeding from Muroran to Singapore with 6,500 tons of coal. An examination of the crew, an inspection of the ship's papers and certain irregularities in the log, coupled with the fact that the steamer had previously conveyed contraband to Japan, led us to doubt the neutrality of her cargo, and she was sent to Vladivostok under guard. There her case will be examined by a prize court.

"No other ships were seen during the cruise.

"On board the Allanton was found a Japanese subject of the educated class. He was apparently one of the crew."

A Chefu report says:

"Officers of the United States collier Brutus, while passing eighty miles north of Shanghai, state that they saw four Japanese torpedo boats and one cruiser in action. In the morning the Japanese vessels were still visible, but there was no sign of the enemy."

A report from the Japanese general headquarters in the field via Seoul says that there has been much dissatisfaction among newspaper correspondents over their status with the Japanese army, resulting in several protests to the staff. Finally a written statement of their grievances was presented by the entire body of correspondents there.

The statement complains of the censorship of telegrams at Seoul and at Nagasaki which the headquarters censor had already approved.

Lieutenant Albert S. Fuger, an American artillery officer who was traveling on leave, attempted to visit headquarters of the Japanese army for the purpose of observation. Not having his credentials he was escorted back to Antung from a halfway station.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Fourth of July has not come yet but some small boys started an early celebration yesterday afternoon that ended rather startling. A number of the boys were playing in a small tent in W. J. Hamilton's back yard and some of them had a large firecracker in their possession. Some one conceived the idea of lighting the cracker and placing it beneath a small box. The proposal was received jubilantly and was at once carried out. Everything went all right until the fire cracker went off. Then the small box flew up and lit with surprising force on a corner of Willie Dunham's eye. Great excitement at once prevailed as it was feared the youngster was seriously injured. Dr. Brakeley was called and found that he was not injured severely and will soon recover. An amusing feature of the incident was that, for a few moments, the report circulated that Kenneth Dealaman was dead. The youngster at once put this rumor to flight by declaring vigorously, "No, I ain't! I ain't dead at all." None of the other boys in the tent were injured at all.

Funeral services over the remains of O. A. Douglass will be held this evening at 8 o'clock from the late residence on Front street. The services will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Casselberry and Rev. S. K. Doolittle and all friends of the deceased will be welcome. The body will be taken to Staten Island tomorrow and a Masonic funeral will be held in the Masonic temple at Port Richmond. The body will be interred in the Morarian cemetery in Staten Island.

A very pleasant meeting of the Afternoon Card Club was held yesterday at the home of Miss Nellie Tabb, of New Market. A number of young women were present and spent a pleasant afternoon. The prize for the highest score was won by Miss Janie Churchill. Yesterday was the last meeting until October.

Two young women from Dunellen met with an unpleasant experience yesterday afternoon. They were boating on the lake and got caught in a shower. Both were thoroughly soaked before they reached shelter.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

On Saturday afternoon, Manager Hand will have the New Providence F. C. as opponents for the local team. The followers of the game should be out in force as to give the team the support financially that it deserves. The local team are putting up as fast an article of ball as the most ardent admirer of the game could desire, but the game is not appreciated and unless the attendance is larger than it has been the team will either arrange a schedule of games to be played away from home or else take the team to Plainfield where it would no doubt be a paying investment, as the personel of the team includes the fastest members of the city league, which really was the revival of baseball in Plainfield.

William's high throw in the game Saturday, which allowed the visitors to score their one run, was forgiven as "Billy's" stick more than made up for the error as he received three out of the seven hits made by the locals, one was a two bagger.

Mrs. J. H. Parks' class had charge of the monthly Sunday-school social held last night in the parlors of the Baptist church. A pleasing programme was rendered which was enjoyed by the school and its friends.

Now that the question of a new school house for district No. 2 is settled, the Board of Education will shortly give out the contract for the building. The estimated cost has been placed at $4,500.

A meeting of the Township Committee was held in the town rooms last night. A number of bills were ordered paid and other business of a routine nature was transacted.

During the heavy shower on Monday night a large tree on Westfield avenue was shattered by lightning. The effect of the bolt was felt throughout the town.

Tomorrow will be Royal Arcanum flag day. "Old glory" will float from the homes of many of the local members of the order.

The Suburban Club will tender a shirt waist dance to their friends on Thursday night, June 30, in the hall of the clubhouse.

The weekly Bible study meeting was held as usual last night. The meetings will shortly be discontinued for the summer.

Don't Forget the Fourth of July Seashore Trip
which someone is sure to win. If you are not already familiar with the conditions of this contest, read the following:
Anyone saving their "sale slips" of 25c or over may enter this contest by presenting same between 8 o'clock and noon July 1st. The largest number of slips wins. This does not give the largest purchaser the preference, but gives everyone an equal chance, for a check of $10 counts just the same as a check of 25c. It is the number of checks, not the amount, which counts here.
The prize is a RETURN TRIP TICKET TO ASBURY PARK AND $5 CASH FOR EXPENSES.

PEACEFUL RIVALRY

Emperor of Germany at Cuxhaven For Regatta.

BANQUET ON BOARD DEUTSCHLAND

Kaiser Spoke of Advance Made In Solidarity by Various Means, by Congresses, Political Discussion and Competitive Sports.

CUXHAVEN, Germany, June 22.—At a banquet on board the Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland last night on the occasion of the distribution of the regatta prizes, which was attended by Emperor William, Prince Henry of Prussia, Count von Bulow, the imperial chancellor; Adjutant General von Plessen and many other distinguished personages, the emperor responded to the toast to his health delivered by the burgomaster of Hamburg. He thanked those present for the welcome accorded him and for the opportunity of spending a few hours among them as a comrade and fellow yachtsman.

Alluding to the advance made in the sport and to the advance in other institutions in the empire, the emperor said that one idea must have forced itself upon the minds of every independent observer of world events—namely, that solidarity was making gradual and undeniable headway among the peoples of civilized countries. Continuing, his majesty said:

"This solidarity may be nourished by various means—by congresses, by serious political discussion or by competition in sports. In this latter connection it may well be said that there is deep wisdom in childish play.

"We have assembled here to test our strength in brains, crews and boats in the sport of the waves. In a few days there shall be assembled here nearly all the flags of the civilized world. Alongside our colors will wave the star spangled banner, the British flag and the tricolor united in peaceful rivalry.

"I certainly believe that there is none among you who does not share the opinion that during Kiel week solidarity will be fostered, cultivated and more firmly welded."

The emperor concluded by proposing the health of the German Regatta union, all the yacht clubs and the city of Hamburg.

LANDING PARTIES READY.

Conference Held at Tangier by British and American Officials.

LONDON, June 22.—A Tangier cablegram says:

"Two conferences have been held between the American and British ministers, which were attended by the American admiral and the captain of the British battleship Prince of Wales.

"All the ships in the harbor have landing parties ready day and night.

"Quiet now prevails in the town, but reports from all parts of the country are to the effect that the tribes are growing more restless."

A dispatch from Tangier says that Raisuli has agreed to accept $20,000 of the ransom for Perdicaris and Varley in cash and the remainder in bills of exchange.

Satolli Visits Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Cardinal Satolli has been received by the president at the White House. Cardinal Satolli presented to the president a felicitous address in which he referred in a most kindly way to the United States and its people. In responding to the address the president said: "It is a pleasure to me to welcome so distinguished a visitor. I thank you most heartily for your kind words about the United States, and in return I greet you in my capacity as chief executive of a government which has as its root principle the doctrine of treating with impartial justice all men without regard to creed or birthplace. It gives me pleasure to welcome you."

Army Command Changes.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Secretary Taft is authority for the statement that Major General Wade, now commanding the Philippine division, probably will relieve Major General Corbin of command of the Atlantic division when General Corbin goes to the Philippines, provided Major General MacArthur, commanding the Pacific division at San Francisco, and Major General Bates, commanding the northern division at St. Louis, desire to retain their present commands in preference to assuming command of the Atlantic division.

Lightning's Fatal Work.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 22.—During a heavy rain and electrical storm here Mrs. Ora Bradley, wife of W. B. Bradley, a street car conductor, was killed by lightning, and in another part of the city lightning struck the home of T. O. Jones, an instructor in the Georgia School of Technology, and both Mr. and Mrs. Jones were rendered unconscious for some time, but recovered. The street car system was rendered ineffectual during the storm.

Medina (N. Y.) Bank Failed.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The comptroller of the currency has received word of the failure of the Medina National bank. Robert Lyon has been placed in charge of the bank, which is insolvent.

Big Batch of New B. A's.

WELLESLEY, Mass., June 22.—One hundred and sixty-eight students have received the degree of bachelor of arts at Wellesley college. Ten candidates received the degree of master of arts.

Fair; northwest winds.

TRACK MAY BE ABANDONED.

Mayor Harrison's Edict Against Betting to Close Washington Park.

CHICAGO, June 22.—There will be no more horse racing at Washington park this year, and a report is in circulation that the track where so many American Derbies have been decided will be abandoned.

The stand taken by the city authorities preventing betting in any form at the track is responsible for the closing of the present meeting.

With the elimination of the bookmaker racegoers refused to patronize the track. During the last two days not enough money was taken in at the gates to pay the employees of the track, to say nothing of the purses, which amounted to an average of $4,000 a day.

The directors of the club have held a meeting to consider the advisability of continuing the meeting for the full twenty-five days and decided to close the gates for the present meeting at least. The announcement was made by Secretary Howard that all stakes left to be decided had been declared off.

A proposition was made to Secretary Howard to run some of these stakes at the other tracks, but this was refused.

Stalwart Won Swift Stakes.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Stalwart, at 10 to 1 in the betting, won the Swift stakes for three-year-olds, seven furlongs, on the Futurity course at Sheepshead Bay. He won by a short head from Bryn Mawr, who gave the winner nineteen pounds. Two lengths back came the favorite, Broomstick. Witchcraft made the running to the bend and into the stretch, where Stalwart moved out and won. Sparkling Star, the even money favorite, easily won the Surf stakes. Ben MacDhui in the last race broke the track record for one mile and a furlong on the turf by covering the distance in 1 minute 53 1-5 seconds.

Tennis at Bay Ridge.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Two exciting matches and one unfinished four set affair provided good sport in the continuation of the round robin doubles tournament on the courts of the Crescent Athletic club at Bay Ridge. The team composed of the Harvard veterans, H. Ward and B. C. Wright, defeated C. Hobart and S. C. Millett in straight sets by the score of 6—2, 6—3, 6—3. The Harvard men won at every point with comparative ease.

Polo at New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 22.—The Rumford Polo club of Providence has defeated the Taconic club of Hartford in the first match of the tournament under the auspices of the New Haven Polo club here.

Shot Three Men, Pike Now Barred.

ST. LOUIS, June 22.—As a result of his shooting three men on "the Pike" at the world's fair grounds Zach Mulhall, live stock agent of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, has been, by order of the world's fair officials, excluded from further appearance in the show where the trouble took place. This action was taken, it was explained by the officials, to prevent a possible repetition of the indiscriminate firing that endangered the lives of visitors to "the Pike."

Jury In Mooney Case Disagreed.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 22.—The jury in the case of the people against Dr. E. L. Mooney of Syracuse, indicted for bribery, the charge being that while a member of the board of education he entered into an agreement by which a teacher was to get a place in the high school on the payment of $300, has been discharged, having been unable to reach an agreement. The jury was out a little over twenty-four hours.

Soldier's Slayer Sentenced.

BOSTON, June 22.—A term of from nineteen to twenty years in state prison was imposed on William Morray, who had pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter. Morray shot and killed Sergeant Wilson, a United States soldier stationed at the Watertown arsenal, during a quarrel in a barroom in this city.

UP TO DATE GOWNS.

White Costumes of Supple Materials. Fashionable Nile Green.

Many of the most beautiful gowns of today are of supple white silk or crepe de chine. Some of the new white taffetas are as supple as any silks, and they have a delicate luster which is most becoming.

There is a perfect furore for old rose and many odd shades of rather vivid blue. These are trimmed with embroideries dyed to match.

Nile green is an ultra fashionable shade, and it is very beautiful for an evening gown in a combination of satin, chiffon and velvet mingled with old lace.

Parisians just now are very fond of different shades of orange mingled in one frock. If these are softened with deep yellowish lace the effect is particularly good. Shirrings of taffeta intermingled with yellow valenciennes are a very smart and pretty trimming. It is these dainty finishing touches which make a gown a success.

Manufacturers are earning the gratitude of women with small dress allowances by sending out really artistic and at the same time cheap materials in blue, ecru and white.

The cut shows a shirt waist suit shirred on the shoulders. It has a lace yoke and cuffs and is trimmed with a piping of narrow satin of a deeper shade. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE LATEST MODES.

Spots In All Materials Are Smart. Wash Dresses Are Elaborate.

Spots are excessively popular, and spotted fabrics are shown in every color.

All washable materials are made up very elaborately this season. The short round length of skirt is now universal. This is only short in the sense that it has no train, for it is cut so as to barely escape the ground all around. Fullness is seen at the waist line, both back and front of the blouse and of the skirt.

BLACK CHANTILLY HAT.

The general effect is ample and puffed out to give a plump effect to the figure.

Besides shirrings, broad flat tucks are equally popular as a trimming. These are folded and stitched on separately, and they are used both to trim waists and skirts.

Deep cape collars with stole fronts are sold to wear with cotton gowns, and the economical girl can make one of these go with several dresses. Pongee comes in a heavier weave suitable for blouse suits. It also comes dyed in a variety of new tones, among which are bright red and a beautiful shade of pink.

It is hardly possible to make sleeves too wide or to fill them in with too many frills of lace or lingerie plaiting. Sleeve puffs are gradually creeping upward, so that fashion designers are predicting the full sleeve puffs of several seasons ago.

For young children the long waisted, short skirted effect still prevails, and the lower edges of the full skirts are tucked and elaborated after the fashion of those of older people.

The illustration shows a hat of [illegible] chantilly trimmed with roses, and a fancy stole of black chiffon, also trimmed with roses. JUDIC [illegible]

IN BRITISH BORNEO

Something About This Interesting Neighbor of the Philippines.

An Odd Little Colony of England in the Far East—A Durbar the Scene of Pleasures for the Dusky Natives.

Since the day Dewey's guns pronounced the doom of Spain in the orient and gave to the United States a vast territory in the far east we have developed a new interest in not only the people and conditions over which fly the Stars and Stripes, but in all the neighbors of those islands as well. Far off Java, Indo-China, Sumatra, New Guinea and the Borneos are now our near neighbors, and worthy of our attention.

British North Borneo is now just next door to us, so close, in fact, that we have had a little diplomatic quarrel with England over who owns the islands that lie just off its coast, and this caused us to look up our long-forgotten school geographies and assume a new interest in Boreno, of which many of us had forgotten, save, perhaps, as the home of a certain wild man. Let us see, then, what this odd little colony of England is.

The territory now known as British North Borneo, and formerly called Sabah, is situated at the northern end of the island of Borneo, and has a coastline of about 500 miles. The population is estimated at 120,000, which includes about 10,000 Chinese.

Sandakan, on the east side of British North Borneo, has a magnificent harbor and is the chief center of trade in this part of the island. The imports include rice, hardware goods of all kinds, opium, Chinese tobacco, Chinese coarse crockery, matches, biscuits, oil, sugar, etc.; while the chief exports are tobacco, timber, cutch and rattans, gutta-percha, indiarubber, birds' nests, seed pearls, trepang, sharks' fins, camphor, tortoiseshell, dried cuttlefish, beeswax, and other natural products, which are brought into Sandakan from the interior and also from neighboring islands.

Latterly, coffee planting has been taken up, and cotton, gambier, hemp and sugar are receiving attention from European settlers.

On the west coast, a short line of railway has been constructed, running inland from Brunai bay to open up the interior of the country.

A great event to the natives is a Durbar—which usually occurs only on the arrival of some high official. Then there flock into the little town of Sandakan chiefs in gold-embroidered garments, and others who have but little in the way of garments to boast of. One of our illustrations shows a group of Sundyaks, natives who had never before been to the coast, and knew nothing of the sea and of ships. They were very much astonished at what they saw, and were inclined to think that they were being deceived in some way.

A Durbar is always made the occasion of festivities of all kinds, and as Englishmen carry their sporting instincts with them everywhere, a series of races was instituted by the English residents. One race for boys was very picturesque. The boys were clad in various fashions—or perhaps we ought to say that the variety consisted chiefly in the various methods adopted of wearing very little.

The type of native is Malay, and the name given to them is Dyak. It will be remembered that at Queen Victoria's diamond jubilee a number of Dyak troops were present in England and excited considerable comment on the part of the jubilee visitors from all countries.

Not at All Egotistical.

Jillson—Sometimes I almost believe you think yourself the only person in the world.

Bender—That's where you do me an injustice. Of course, I'm the only person worth talking about; but then to say that there are no other persons would be absurd.—Boston Transcript.

FRENCH NOT EMIGRANTS.

There Are No Organizations for the Encouragement of Emigration to America.

The number of French citizens who desire to expatriate themselves is so small that neither the government nor private parties have created organizations for aiding and stimulating emigration.

The medical examination of all emigrants is made by the French emigration doctor (an official appointed by the French government), by the chief medical officer of the French line, by the doctor of the steamer upon which the emigrants are to be embarked, and by two other medical officers belonging to the steamers of the French line then in port; so that each emigrant is generally examined by at least five physicians. Special attention is paid to diseases of the eye, skin, and scalp, and immediately an emigrant is found whose entry into the United States is considered doubtful he is placed at one side and kept there until all the emigrants have passed. Then the physicians gathered together, examine him again, and consult over his case. He is then refused or accepted. All the emigrants are vaccinated, and, after being examined by the last physician before whom they pass, are given a card stating that they have been vaccinated and have passed the sanitary examination. They then, to gain access to the ship, are obliged to go through a narrow exit through which only one person can pass at a time, and are again inspected by the government emigrant physician and one of the French line's medical officers, to whom the emigrant must show his card. At the gangway of the steamer the card must again be exhibited to an employe of the company before the emigrant can embark. The medical examinations are conducted in the presence of myself or the vice consul.

The most undesirable emigrants who embark at Havre for the United States are those who come from the Levant via Marseilles. The percentage of Syrians Turks, and Greeks refused at New York and sent back during 1902 was much larger than that of the emigrants from other countries.

The ability of our country to assimilate the class of emigrants which is now pouring into the United States, the bulk of which coming, as it does, from races socially and politically different from our own, is a question which is rightfully giving great concern to those who are interested in the future welfare of our country. In addition to the proposed legislation to decrease undesirable emigration to the United States, educational requirement to test the mental capacity of the alien, age limit of 60 years, refusal of all aliens who are physically deformed, etc., I would most earnestly recommend that a certificate of admission, issued by our consular officers at the consulates nearest to the places from which the emigrants commence their journey, duly visaed and stamped by the consular officers at the ports of embarkment, be required of each emigrant before being allowed to enter the United States. As an additional safeguard a heavy fine should be imposed on all steamship companies who would bring emigrants not provided with consular certificates of admission. The certificate of admission should contain a full description of the person to whom it is given, by which he or she could be easily identified, and should only be issued after careful and searching examinations of the would-be emigrant to ascertain if he or she would fulfill all the requirements of our emigration laws. To the centers of emigration from which the dangerous and undesirable class comes trained immigrant inspectors should be sent to assist the consular officers by making tours through the villages, towns, etc., where the emigrants live, investigating any frauds which might be attempted, or, in other words, to gather information which would enable the consular officer to weed out the bad emigrants from the good. The consular officer, before issuing the certificate, should require emigrants to present a "casier judiciare," which would state the moral record of the bearer in the eyes of the law, or, in countries where such papers are not obtainable, to bring a "certificate of god morals," duly legalized by a competent official of the village, town, or city whence the emigrant comes. It may be said that in some countries the authorities are in league with the unscrupulous emigration agencies and would issue any paper that might be needed, but it would not take long for our immigrant inspectors to discover such frauds. In almost all European countries public records of paupers, prostitutes, and criminals are kept, to which the consular officer could have access.

The economic conditions prevailing in Europe and the prosperity which has been reigning in our country have stimulated to a great extent the current of natural emigration to the United States; but in my opinion if the inspection of emigrants commenced at the fountain head, the flow of the unnatural and dangerous class would be greatly decreased instead of increasing annually.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will HAVE AN EQUAL VALUE to those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SLOCUM DISASTER.

Startling Facts Brought Out at Coroner's Inquest on Victims.

NEW YORK, June 22.—Coroner Berry's inquest into the Slocum disaster brought out some startling facts regarding fire drills (or lack of them), failure of members of the crew to aid the passengers and of the attempt in the office of the company to show by changed bills that life preservers purchased and delivered to the Grand Republic had been placed aboard the Slocum.

Assistant Engineer Brandow gave some surprising testimony regarding the multiplicity of signals showered into the engine room after the fire was discovered. Miss Hall, bookkeeper of the Knickerbocker Steamboat company, admitted having made erasures on life preserver bills and became tangled when questioned as to her reasons for so doing.

Henry Lumberg, the United States steamboat inspector who examined the Slocum and passed her, absolutely refused to answer all questions regarding her fire fighting facilities, life preservers, etc., on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him. Mr. Garvan bluntly asked him if he received any money for passing the Slocum.

"I did not," he replied.

Edwin N. Weaver, second pilot of the General Slocum, created a sensation when called upon to testify. Weaver said it was only between two and a half and three minutes after Mate Flannagan had called up through the tube that the boat was afire that she was beached off North Brother island.

Weaver testified that he bought a new fire hose this spring and that it cost 16 cents a foot. Mr. Garvan announced that proper fire hose could not be purchased less than $1.50 a foot. Weaver said he bought the hose on Captain Van Schaick's orders.

Weaver contradicted the statement of Second Engineer Brandow that more than two signals had been sent to the engine room after the fire was discovered. Weaver said the boat ran through Hell Gate at full steam, and this speed was maintained until just before she beached, when one bell was sounded to reduce her speed one-half, and a second bell was sounded to stop her.

Will Probe Slocum Wreck.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A commission consisting of Lawrence O. Murray, assistant secretary of commerce and labor; Major General John M. Wilson, U. S. A., retired; Commander Cameron McR. Winslow, U. S. N.; Herbert Knox Smith, deputy commissioner of corporations in the department of commerce and labor, and Mr. George Uhler, supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, has been appointed to investigate the disaster to the General Slocum near Hell Gate in the East river, wherein more than 800 lives were lost. The commission will report at once to Secretary Cortelyou. The assignment of General Wilson and Commander Winslow to duty on the commission was made by the president at the request of Secretary Cortelyou.

BIRDS IN THE WINTER

The Cold Weather Traits of Our Feathered Friends.

Hunger Forces Them to Forget Much of Their Summer Shyness—Interesting Habits of the Ruffed Grouse in the Snow.

Those of us who had established bird restaurants on our premises, were well patronized during the cold weather of last week. The deep snow had covered not only the ground, but the low-growing weeds, shutting off the food supply of many species, while zero weather made all appetites more keen than usual. Most of us served free meals to juncos, chickadees and house sparrows, and some of us had more distinguished guests. Some had tree sparrows and nuthatches, and a number were visited by downy and a few by hairy woodpeckers. Even the blue jays controlled their suspicions long enough to allow them to get a share of the suet, and they got a large share.

My own favorite guest has been a little chickadee with one leg—at least he uses only one leg; he keeps the other so well tucked up under his feathers that it is seldom seen. Probably the frail member has been injured in some way, and its wise little owner is giving it every chance to get well. But the bird seems to suffer no inconvenience; he flies well, stands up and pecks vigorously at the suet tied to a branch or nailed to a tray, or takes it in tiny bits on the wing as a hummingbird takes nectar from a flower. He can also cling to a twig upside down, as neatly as his brethren. He was our first customer, and perhaps it is this fact which leads him to believe that he has certain rights to maintain. At any rate, he seems to consider it his privilege to feed precisely when he chooses, and alone. If he is pecking at a certain lump of suet, no other chickadee is allowed on the same branch until he has finished, but if he arrives at the restaurant when another bird happens to be feeding, the first comer is made to retire and wait, until the one-legged chickadee has dined. In attending to the wants of to-day, these birds do not lose sight of to-morrow. After eating a few bits of suet, they nearly always chip off a larger piece, which they fly away with and store in the cracks of some apple trees which grow nearby.

But the birds which occupied most of my attention last week were the ruffed grouse. These hardy game birds do not seem to mind the severity of the weather, their snug, tight-fitting plumage protects them from the cold, and the horny fringes which grow on their toes at this season, enable them to walk with reasonable comfort in the snow when it is not too deep. It is interesting to follow the grouse trails, leading in and out of the undergrowth. If the snow is shallow, the footprints remind one of those made by a bantam hen, but if it is deeper the bird sinks in and its body makes a furrow as it walks along, while only a general idea of the shape and position of the individual footprints is to be obtained from the trail. But it may always be distinguished from the trail of any quadruped by its termination, if in no other way. No matter how far a grouse may walk, it will take wing at last, and usually the observer may see on the snow the imprints of the wing feathers, made at the first downward stroke of the wings. Moreover, at

DIAMOND DUST.

Scotch Plains will play the New Providence team at the Plains on Saturday.

Creagen failed to put his usual amount of ginger in the game with Hoboken. He is capable of much better work, both in the field and at the bat.

Tommy Keefe, the old St. Mary's pitcher, is back in town after a year's residence in Jersey City. Tommy may go back into the game with Reform Club.

Farmer, Alis' catcher, very seldom loses a man trying to steal second. In the Hoboken game he nipped three men at the second bag, with Quinby's assistance.

"Warry" MacLaughlin, who is pitching for New London, this year, and is reported to have signed with Charleston, of the South Atlantic League, says that he knows nothing about the announcement of his going south.

The first game on Crescent Oval this season between Alis and Westfield was noted for many objectionable kicks on the part of the Westfield team and the members were very careful to make every decision count in their favor. In the second game they had the umpire to help them and they were not worried.

Manager Johnston, during the past week, has had opportunities to book games with the best sem-professional teams in this section of the country, showing that there will be no trouble to fill the Westfield dates. The Philadelphia Giants were anxious to play here Saturday, but Nat. Strong's Murray Hill nine was given the preference this time.

In a baseball game recently between Springfield and Holyoke, the crowd was so incensed at the yellow decisions of the umpire that at the close of the game the handler of the indicator received a severe pummeling and had to be escorted from the grounds by several police. The decision that caused the trouble was similar to the one at the Westfield-Alis game by Umpire Kenzie.

Every true lover of baseball in town will be glad to see "Billy" Lauder back in the game on Saturday. Since coming here he has made a host of friends. The team has felt his absence in more ways than one.

Murray Hills defeated Westfield 7 to 1 a few weeks ago. The result of Saturday's game between them and Alis will be of interest.

Tyler, of Columbia, probably one of the best college pitchers in the country, will twirl for Murray Hills on Saturday.

With nearly two thousand fans at Crescent Oval on Saturday with a big horse show on at the same time, at which over fifteen hundred persons were present, speaks well for the National game here, as well as the horse show.

The Camden baseball team has disbanded and immediately there was a re-organization. Many of the players will remain in Camden.

Manager Denman, of Westfield, would like to play an exhibition game here on Saturday, which proposition Manager Johnston refused. Wonder what Charley called the last Alis-Westfield game.

O'Brien and Duff, the Manhattan battery, officiating for Westfield on Monday against Trenton Y. M. C. A., were signed to play with Alis this season. The excuse given for not doing so was that the college faulty would not permit them to play professional ball.

With Murray Hills here in the morning of Fourth of July and Hoboken in the afternoon, the local fans will have a feast of good baseball.

There is a certain baseball element here which is inclined to "knock" individual players. This is a bad practice and should be discouraged. Support you home team and give them encouragement.

The Philadelphia Giants who wanted to play here on Saturday, shut Hoboken out Sunday by a score of 7 to 0.

"Red" Waller, Westfield's former twirler, is pitching for the Baysides at Bayonne on Sunday. He is showing his old-time form.

GOLF.

There will be a team match at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Saturday between representatives of the home club and the Hackensack Golf Club.

There will be the formal opening of the new addition to the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday night. The event will be marked by a dance. The event on the course that day will be the June handicap.

TENNIS.

The first club tennis tournament under the auspices of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, continuing on July 4 women's handicap singles.

ON THE TRACK.

The annual meeting of the Fair Acres Driving Club for election of officers will be held on Friday night at the Westfield Club.

SPEAKEASY CASES.

Three Plainfield Defendants Plead Non Vult, Following Example of Two Others.

Two of the defendants on trial at Elizabeth, charged with keeping speakeasies in this city, Thomas Barbarioci and Anthonio Chiarello, having entered pleas of non vult, were released today, under suspended sentence.

Three others, James Brown, Charles A. Rosso and John Benner, also made pleas of non vult. Their cases will come up for trial next Wednesday.

Thompson for Congress.

The name of ex-Senator and Clerk in Chancery Thompson is being prominently mentioned as the Republican nominee for Congress in this district. It is far from a cock-sure thing that our next Representative will be of the Republican faith, but if we are to continue to be thus "afflicted" we know of no one we would rather see in the seat than L. A. Thompson. The enemy can scour the district with a fine-tooth comb and not find a more worthy candidate.—Somerville Messenger.

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, will hold its annual strawberry festival tomorrow night. A programme of entertainment will be a feature.

Persons contemplating uniting with the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church can meet the Session at the close of the preparatory service Friday night.

The Clinton Avenue baseball team will play the Y. M. C. A. team on the Clinton avenue grounds Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. VanArsdale and Magee will be the battery for Clinton Avenue.

The Plainfield East End Athletic Club will hold a fair on its grounds on Filmore avenue on Friday night. The captain and manager will make addresses and there will also be music and refreshments.

TWIXT LIZARD AND BIRD.

The Hoatzin a Curious Animal and an Important Link in Evolution of the Fowl.

One of the most interesting birds known to science is the hoatzin, say Jerrard Grant Allen and Leonard Buttress, in an article on "Bird Babies," in Pearson's. Indigenous to South America, this precocious youngster has made itself famous by the arboreal feats which it performs while yet at a very tender age. On the "thumb" and "forefinger" of the young hoatzin's wing appear tiny claws, and, armed with these, the tiny creature crawls out of its nest and clambers about the boughs of trees, using them as hands, by means of which it hooks itself along. The progress, indeed, exactly corresponds to the early pedestrian efforts of the human baby, whose first perambulations are made with the assistance of friendly chairs and other furniture. These little claws of the hoatzin are used only in infancy, dropping off as soon as the power of flight has been attained. The chief interest of the species, however, attaches to the fact that it is one of the most primitive forms of bird now in existence, and affords an important link with the ancestry of the fowl of to-day. Originally, as is generally known, birds were evolved from the lizard family, and the hoatzin forms a comparatively early step in the progression from reptile to bird. Even when its wings are full grown, so imperfect are they that no upward soaring can be negotiated, and their only use is in making short flights from a higher to a lower branch, while the ease with which the hoatzin climbs affords another indication of its proximity to the lizard tribe.

SPREAD PLEASANT ODORS.

Perfumed Lamps and Rings May Be Used for Disinfection of Rooms and Cars.

The use of perfume as a disinfectant is well known, and the "scented dandy" has perhaps more hygienic wisdom than his detractors give him credit for, says the London Express. It is he who is trying to revive the use of the perfumed fountain ring, an article de luxe which may either be used as an ornament or as a means of a pleasant disinfectant in stuffy underground trains or in insalubrious districts.

The ring is an ordinary gold one fitted with a ball at the back. It is filled by pressing the ball nearly flat, and dipping the ring into a cup of scent, when the elasticity of the ball draws the perfume into the interior till quite full. By the least pressure the wearer of the ring can cause a jet of scent to shed its refreshing aroma any moment he pleases, and he may thus act as a benefactor or a nuisance to those in his vicinity.

The perfume lamp may also be used as another pleasant method of disinfecting a room. A ball of spongy platinum is placed over the center of the wick, and is fixed in its position by a thin glass rod, which is inserted into the wick. The lamp is then filled with any scented spirit, and when lighted is allowed to burn until the platinum gets red hot. The flame is then blown out, and a pleasant odor fills the atmosphere.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—There will be an informal dance at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Saturday.

—Chief T. O. Doane goes to Elizabeth this afternoon to attend the meeting of Building Inspectors of the State.

—H. B. Case, of Madison avenue, returned last night from a business trip to the Philadelphia and Baltimore agencies of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company.

—Box 156 has been shifted by the borough fire department from the corner of Harrison avenue and Cedar street to Harrison avenue and Walnut street. At noon tomorrow the box will be tested.

—There is one advantage about the local trolleys that is appreciated by the steam roads. The trolley carries the bulk of the local traffic heretofore handled by the railroad, necessitating stops at flag stations. This, to a large extent, has been done away with.

Arrangements are being made for a big shoot under the auspices of the Whitehouse Gun Club on Saturday.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

George Seymour has taken a position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's works.

Five new hands were taken on at the Crescent Embossing Company's plant this week.

Samuel Reed has taken a position in the erecting department at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

William Mundy, of the Pond plant, has been transferred from the tool room to the erecting department.

John Dorgan, of Arlington avenue, has been appointed captain of the Central Railroad shop baseball team.

William Reiman has returned to his position at the Potter Press Company's works after a week's sickness.

James Keating, of the Pond Machine Tool Company's works, has resumed his position after a week's sickness.

John McClelland, of Watchung avenue, has returned home after three months' work at the government printing office in the interest of the Potter people.

John Fritts, who had two of his fingers amputated a week ago, has returned to his position in the pattern shop of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant.

Patrick Connelly, of East Fifth street, has been appointed manager of the baseball team composed of machinists at the Central Railrod shops at Elizabethport.

Raymond King has resigned his position at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant. Mr. King has taken a position at the Central Railroad shops at Elizabethport.

Isaac Squiers, one of Campbell's "road men," was in town yesterday on business. Mr. Squiers has been acting as inspector at the Campbell plant in Taunton, Mass.

Wallace Morton, of West Front street, is suffering from a badly bruised foot which he received while at work in the pattern shop at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant yesterday. The injury was dressed at the plant.

PAY OF THE ILLUSTRATORS.

Wide Difference of Rates Between the Famous Artists and the Unknown.

Illustrators for books and periodicals receive payment for their work at rates that vary from less than $1 to more than $1,000 a picture, says the New York Sun.

The late Hamilton Gibson, who, without being recognized as a great illustrator, was almost alone as master of botanical illustration, obtained about $250 for even small book illustrations. For some of his earlier work, to be found in a sort of guide book issued many years ago by the Pennsylvania Railroad, he probably received less than one-twentieth of that rate.

Only a few illustrators can command so much as $1,000 for a full page magazine illustration, but several have been receiving such rates for some years past, and they often demand the return of the original picture after the plate for the illustration has been made. Such men probably never accept less than three or four hundred dollars for any of their smallest illustrations.

These are men of worldwide reputation, though it is generally believed that two magazine readers out of three are unable to recognize the style of the ablest illustrators, whose pictures they see a dozen times a year.

Below the few illustrators of the first rank are many extremely able men who command rates that vary from a fourth to a half of the highest. The best-paid men can probably be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The men who command from $100 to $500 for a full-page illustration are numbered certainly by dozens, possibly by scores. Many of them, however, cannot always maintain prices. If caught when they are hard-up they will undertake to execute work at little more than half the usual rate.

The men and women who draw for the fashion papers often get very fair prices for their work. Some able illustrators are employed by the fashion papers to make ideal heads that more or less effectively illustrate bonnets and coiffures. For such pictures the price may easily be as much as $50.

Book illustration, below that of the ablest illustrators, is not so well paid as magazine illustration, but it is a certain and profitable kind of work for a large number of comparatively young illustrators. The demand for such work has enormously increased in the last twenty years, since the rage for popular fiction developed.

A few publishers have occasionally attempted to get rid of the illustrator's pay by having illustrations made from photographs taken directly from posed models. Figure work of this kind is usually nothing less than ghastly, and the illustrators take the highest delight in the failure of such attempts to crowd them out.

Some highly successful landscape illustrations, however, have been made directly from nature, and some of the publishers profess to hope that they may yet succeed with figure illustrations of the same kind.

MISS VANDEVENTER NOW MRS. G. H. WHITTINGHAM

A Baltimore Man Claims a Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. VanDeventer for His Bride.

EPISCOPAL CEREMONY

GROOM'S FATHER, REV. RICHARD WHITTINGHAM, TIES THE KNOT.

At the Church of the Holy Cross—Bride's Sister, Miss Mabel VanDeventer, as Maid-of-Honor—Groom's Brother Best Man.

Miss Eleanor Thurston VanDeventer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus VanDeventer, of Myrtle avenue, North Plainfield, and George Herbert Whittingham, of Baltimore, were wedded in the Church of the Holy Cross, yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The edifice was thronged with relatives and friends of the couple. The decorations were simple, yet effective, consisting chiefly of palms, ferns, smilax and potted plants. These were arranged with beautiful effect about the chancel.

Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Mabel VanDeventer, as maid of honor, and Miss Haliah VanDeventer, a sister; Miss Frances VanDeventer, a cousin; Miss Marguerite Burnet and Miss Grace Overton, were bridesmaids. The best man was Richard Whittingham, of Baltimore, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Thomas U. Dudley, Theodore Morris, of North Plainfield; Ernest Marshall, of New York, and Robert Barton, of Baltimore.

As the bridal party entered the church, the Lohengrin wedding march was rendered on the organ by William Whittingham, of Baltimore, a brother of the groom. First appeared the ushers, followed by the bridesmaids and maid of honor, who were gowned in white organdie and wearing white hats trimmed with pink. They carried pink sweet peas. The bride, gowned in white plaited silk mull, trimmed with old rose point lace and carrying an ivory-covered prayer book, was accompanied up the aisle by her father, who gave her away in marriage.

At the chancel the party met the groom and his best man, Richard Whittingham, of Baltimore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Richard Whittingham, of Aiken, Maryland, father of the groom, assisted by Rev. William Montgomery Downey, rector of the church. As the bridal party left the church, the Mendelssohn wedding march was played.

There was no reception after the wedding, a dinner being served for the members of the bridal party only at the home of the bride's parents. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Whittingham left the city for a honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will make their home in New York, where the groom is engaged in business.

Red Med to Play Ball.

Wetumpkah and Miantonomo Tribes are still after one another's baseball scalp. Another game is being arranged, and Wetumpkah has sworn a mighty oath to take it by a long, wavy score. Wetumpkah has a bunch of old St. Mary's players on its list, and if Captain Scott, who used to do stunts for the West End athletes himself, gets them all out there is no reason why Miantonomo shouldn't be trimmed — except one. Mianonomo may play better ball.

Witnessed Ordination Ceremony.

Dr. W. C. Boone and family, of West Seventh street, attended the ordination to the priesthood of his son, Charles Boone, at Baltimore on Tuesday. They returned home yesterday. Father Boone was one of a class of twenty-two ordained by Cardinal Gibbons. He will return home Saturday and on Sunday will celebrate his first high mass at St. Mary's church. After that he will probably take a vacation for a time.

Harry Davis Hurt.

A. M. Compton Dead.

Austin M. Compton, of Pumptown, died on Tuesday. He was in his thirty-third year. Funeral services will be held at his late residence Friday, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Interment will take place at Hillside.

MISS ESTELLA APGAR MARRIED

BOROUGH GIRL BECOMES THE WIFE OF ELBRIDGE H. NEAL, OF NEW YORK.

Miss Estella Apgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Apgar, of East Front street, was married at 7:30 o'clock last night, to Elbridge H. Neal, of New York, at the home of the bride's parents.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass before a bank of daisies, ferns and crimson rambler roses. The rooms were also decorated with a profusion of palms and foliage plants.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was accompanied by her younger sister, Miss Helen Apgar, as maid of honor. The best man was George L. Apgar, a brother of the bride. Gowned in champagne silk poplin, trimmed with chiffon, and carrying a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and fern, the bride presented a charming appearance. The maid of honor wore pink voille and carried pink sweet peas.

The guests numbered about fifty, mostly relatives and intimate friends. A collation was served to the company after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal left late in the evening for a tour which will last about a month. They will probably visit Niagara Falls while away, and after the first of August will be at home at 9 West 133 street, New York city. The groom is employed as foreman of a racing-shell shop on the Harlem River.

MISS EMMA BURRILL A BRIDE

SHE IS NOW THE WIFE OF FRANK ANDREW STIGLITZ.

Given in marriage by her father, Amos Burrill, of Anthony, Hunterdon county, Miss Emma Burrill, of North Plainfield, became the wife of Frank Andrew Stiglitz, of this city, at 8 o'clock last night. The marriage took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Overland, 815 West Fourth street, Rev. Lawrence R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, officiating. The ceremony was rendered particularly attractive by the decorations consisting of daisies and roses

The maid of honor was Miss Pauline Wall, of this city, and the best man, Samuel Vail. The bride wore white china silk and carried white roses.

Over fifty guets were present to enjoy the good things provided for the marriage supper. Newark, New York, Dunellen and Somerville were represented among them. The groom served several years in Cuba and the Philippines as well as in Maine, New Meixco and others parts of the Union, in the regular army. He is at present a member of Company K, Second Regiment, N. G. N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Stiglitz will make their home at 110 East Fifth street, this city. Mr. Stiglitz is in the insurance business here.

THEO. PRUDEN WEDS.

He Marries Mrs. Louisa B. Wooden, of East Front Street, Rev. Mr. Bond, Officiating.

Theodore Pruden, of East Second street, and Mrs. Louisa B. Wooden, of 251 East Front street, were married very quietly at the latter's home last night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Bond, a Michigan missionary. Mrs. Wooden was the widow of William Wooden. The groom was a widower.

Only the necessary witnesses were present at the ceremony. The couple has gone on a short trip. They will make their residence at the groom's home.

Firemen's Mascot.

Still hot after metropolitan finish, the borough fire department has acquired a mascot. It is a cross bred white bull terrier, of playful tendencies and shining ability as a scrapper. Because it hasn't got a mark, the name is Spot. Spot has a bum eye and a fondness for eating other dogs. But he loves the firemen and they love him, which is a condition of affairs that makes for perfect mascotery. Lieutenant Campbell is Spot's legal owner.

Mrs. S. C. Ryder Dead.

Mrs. Ryder, wife of Stephen C. Ryder, a former resident of this city, died yesterday morning in the Cumberland Street Hospital, Brooklyn, as the result of being overcome with illuminating gas at her home about a month ago. A gas jet was left turned on accidentally and at the time Mrs Ryder was almost suffocated to death. Careful treatment, however, prolonged her life until yesterday.

MISS MANTZ ANNOUNCES HERSELF MRS. STINER

A Boroughite, Who Teaches School at Warrenville, Married Quietly on June 5.

KEPT WEDDING SECRET

HER HUSBAND IS A PROSPEROUS YOUNG FARMER.

Ceremony at Mt. Bethel M. E. Church—A Daughter of Martin Mantz, of Pearl Street, North Plainfield.

Very much to the surprise of her friends, Miss Sadie Mantz, daughter of Martin Mantz, of Pearl street, announced a day or two ago that she had become Mrs. Augustus Stiner. The wedding took place on Sunday, June 5.

Mrs. Stiner has been teaching school in Warrenville. Three months ago Mr. Stiner, who is a prosperous young farmer near Warrenville, met Miss Mantz, and they became very much interested in one another.

On June 5 they went to the parsonage of the Methodist church at Mt. Bethel, and with only the necessary witnesses present, were married. Neither one said anything of the marriage, and Mrs. Stiner returned to her duties at the little school just as though a most momentous event had not taken place in her life.

Last Sunday, however, Mrs. Stiner quietly allowed the secret to escape, by announcing her marriage to her father. Her school will close this week, and then she will go to take her place on her husband's farm. The little school house will know her no more.

RAISING FUNDS FOR SCHOOL

TRUSTEES AT WASHINGTONVILLE TO HOLD A STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

For the benefit of the school at Washingtonville, a strawberry festival is to be held in the hamlet on Wednesday night, June 29. The affair will be conducted under the direct auspices of the school trustees, just as the ladies' aid society manages the usual church festival.

The festival will be held in the old Texier factory. The place will be brightly lighted, and several entertainment features will add to the enjoyment of the affair. Interest in it is high among the valleyites, and a great success is anticipated.

D. of L. ELECTION.

Mrs. Carrie White is Chosen Councilor of Lucetta Council, No. 28.

Lucetta Council, No. 28, Daughters of Liberty, held its annual election of officers at last night's meeting. These are the officers: Councilor, Mrs. Carrie White; associate councilor, Mrs. Johnson; vice councillor, Mrs. William Stratton, of Elizabeth; associate vice councillor, Mrs. Sarah C. Haun, of Westfield; guide, Miss Try Mattox; financial secretary, Mrs. Mattox; recording secretary, William B. Ayres, of Dunellen; inside protector, Mrs. F. J. Schaefer, of Westfield; outside protector, W. E. Koeyer; treasurer, William Stratton, of Elizabeth, and trustee, Mrs. F. J. Schaefer, of Westfield, succeeding Miss Try Mattox.

With the exceptions of Mrs. Haun, who succeeds Mrs. W. E. Keeyer, W. B. Ayres, who succeeds Miss Launa Johnson and Mrs. Schaefer, who succeeds Mrs. Huntington, these officers are all re-elected.

Dance at at Mt. Bethel.

A stage load of young people will go to Mt. Bethel for a dance Friday night. The stage will leave the corner of Somerset and Front streets. Prof. Eugene O'Reilly will furnish the music for the affair.

"SMILING JIMMIE" IN FORM

MONTROSS DELIVERS THE GOODS OVER THE PLATE IN GREAT STYLE.

Smiling Jimmy Montross is pitching in great style. His star sank a little last year, and a lot of people thought Smiling James was sliding back fast to the has-been class. This year, however, Montross has blazed up brighter than ever he shone in the city league, or in the meteoric series between Westfield and All-Plainfield. There was a reason for Jimmy's trouble with the bulb last year. He had muscular rheumatism in bad shape, and it was a simple impossibility for him to handle the ball properly. He realized what was wrong with his arm, and as soon as the season ended he set to work systematically to drive the disease from his blood.

He doctored conscientiously, and all through the winter he worked his arm out like the veriest novice with a single curve. Night after night he pitched the ball in the Hope chapel gymnasium, his old teammate, Claude Roseberry, catching and coaching until his arm swung into shape not only as good, but better than it had been at its best before. There was not much improvement at first, but Jimmy, his smile unextinguished, plugged away, and slowly but surely, and then with increasing speed, his muscles and ligaments got back their old suppleness.

By the time the season opened, Montross' arm had found all its old cunning, and when Manager Hand, of the Scotch Plains team, came looking for a twirler Jimmy slapped himself on the chest like a good little boy and said, "Me for the goods." He had them all on hand, and started right in to deliver them. He has been pitching steadily for the Plains team, and pitching with a broad gilt-edge all around his style. For the past few weeks Jimmy has insisted on shutouts, and if he holds his form the shut-out trick will be very apt to become a habit.

Montross is probably the most popular and best-liked Plainfield player in business around here, and any number of people are glad to see him get back all his laurels and a few extra bays. Some of his friends have suggested that Manager Johnston might look very far and not find a better substitute pitcher for Alis than Montross, and this sentiment may get him a trial on the Plainfield club's staff. If he should make good there, he will do more to hold the interest and sympathy of the local public to the Alis team than any other man or feature of the combination.

YALE CLUB DINNER.

Sons of Eli to Have a Jolly Good Time at Pedefious Tomorrow Night.

The annual dinner of the Plainfield Yale Club will be tomorrow night at Pedefious. A stage will leave the Casino at 7 o'clock. All Yale men, whatever their residence, and whether members of the Plainfield Yale Club or not, are invited to attend. The Yale graduates of Plainfield outnumber those of any other college, and the Plainfield Yale Club has over seventy members. Judge William N. Runyon will act as toastmaster at the dinner, which, it is expected, will have a large and enthusiastic attendance.

Dr. VanAlstyne Weds.

Miss Lillian T. DuCharme and Dr. William B. VanAlstyne were quietly married last night at 312 East Seventh street. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich officiated. The bride's half sister, Miss M. E. Benedict, was maid of honor, and George A. Shiffert was best man. The bride was attired in an artistic gown of lace and chiffon; wore the conventional veil and carried bride roses and lilies of the valley. Dr. and Mrs. VanAlstyne will make their home in Westfield.

Death of William E. Dixon.

William E. Dixon, colored, aged about thirty-five years, died at 612 East Third srteet, on Tuesday from a complication of disease. He was a resident of Jersey City, coming to Plainfield about a month ago. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon from the house at 2:30 and interment will be in Hillside.

Baseball Junior Championship.

The Mono A. C. will play the Park A. C., this afternoon on the Myrtle avenue grounds for the championship of the city.

Boroughites Going Abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schwed, of the borough, will sail July 5 for Europe. They will be absent several weeks.

JERSEYMEN ACTIVE AT CHICAGO CONVENTION

Delegates From This State "Stand Pat" for Fairbanks for the Vice Presidency.

ON SOME COMMITTEES

JERSEY TRAIN PULLS OUT FOR ST. LOUIS TONIGHT.

James T. MacMurray on Hand—Ham Kean Dines His Friends—The Senior Senator Predicts Victory.

The members of the New Jersey delegation were all on hand and full of enthusiasm when the Republican National Convention reconvened yesterday for the second session. James T. MacMurray, of Plainfield, is taking great interest in the proceedings.

In discussing the speech of Elihu Root, former secretary of war and temporary chairman, Governor Murphy said:

"It was a splendid effort; Roosevelt and Republicanism was its keynote. The record of the Republican party stands for itself, and Mr. Root made a splendid presentation of the subject."

Professor Harry A. Garfield, of Princeton University, said: "Mr. Root did not speak for effect alone, and his address would command the respect of men of both parties."

New Jersey is losing nothing in the way of prominence. William M. Johnson, of Hackensack, former first assistant postmaster-general, was elected chairman of the committee on permanent organization, and made the report recommending Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the House, as permanent chairman.

New Jersey came to the rescue when the sub-committee on resolutions had no place in which to hold its meeting last night, and allowed the committee to have its parlors.

Senator Dryden was consulted by the members of the sub-committee, and he said last night that he had no doubt the tariff plank would be acceptable to the convention.

Representative Gardner was a member of the committee on credentials, which prepared the report of that committee.

New Jersey will "stand pat" for Fairbanks for Vice President, as a canvass of the delegation shows.

The New Jersey party will leave Chicago at 9 o'clock tonight, arrive at St. Louis at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. They will leave St. Louis at 11 o'clock Saturday night, and reach New Jersey early Monday morning.

Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, and Thomas H. McCarter, president of the Public Service Corporation, will go with the party.

In discussing the ticket Senator Kean said: "It ought to win. Senator Fairbanks combs his hair like the late Garret A. Hobart did, and as the McKinley and Hobart ticket was successful, so should that of Roosevelt and Fairbanks win."

Senators Kean and Dryden, Governor Murphy and Thomas H. McCarter were guests at the dinner Tuesday night which Thos. F. Walsh, the multi-millionaire, gave to a lot of distinguished men. Other guests were Franklin Murphy, Jr., Wm. B. Kinney and Ira A. Kep, Jr.

Col. Franklin Murphy, Jr., is acting as one of the assistant secretaries of the convention.

Hamilton F. Kean had a party of South Jerseymen as his guests at a dinner last night, and among those who shared his hospitality were: Representative Loudenslager, Comptroller Morgan, former Sheriff Baird and others.

Lucetta Council's Plans.

An entertainment is being arranged by Lucetta Council, No. 28, Daughters of Liberty, to take place July 16. The committee consists of Mrs. Carrie White, chairman; Mrs. W. E. Koeyer and William B. Ayres. The affair will include a programme of music, recitations, dialogues, games and probably some fancy dancing by out-of-town talent.

AGED NEWSPAPER MAN BURIED

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER REMAINS OF OSCAR A. DOUGLASS AT DUNELLEN.

Many friends gathered to pay a last tribute to the late Oscar A. Douglass, the veteran newspaper man, at the funeral service over his remains, in Dunellen last night. Simple in itself, the service was still impressive by reason of the number who congregated to express affection and respect for the dead man, and the memory of what his life in the community had been.

Rev. Mr. Casselberry, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, was in charge of the service, assisted by Rev. S. K. Doolittle, of the Methodist church, who was a close friend of Mr. Douglas. Mr. Doolittle offered prayer, and Mr. Casselberry preached the sermon. In the latter an eloquent eulogy of the dead man was pronounced, the clergyman speaking with deep feeling of the purity and nobility of the aged newspaper man.

The choir of the Presbyterian church sang "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," Mr. Douglas' favorite hymns. There were many floral tributes, among them being handsome pieces from the various organizations to which Mr. Douglas had belonged.

The body was taken to Mr. Douglas' old home on Staten Island this morning. Masonic services are to be held over the body this afternoon. The interment will take place in the old Moravian Cemetery.

THOS. S. ALBERTI'S CAREER

SKETCH OF FORMER PLAINFIELDER, WHO IS DEAD AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

Thomas Shipley Alberti died Tuesday evening at the home of his son-in-law, Prof. Alfred A. Titsworth, 590 George street, New Brunswick, at the age of ninety-three years. As told in this paper yesterday he had been ill about five weeks, having caught a heavy cold, which settled on his kidneys. Mr. Alberi was a nephew and namesake of Thomas Shipley, a Philadelphian noted for his connection with the "underground railway," by which fugitive slaves were taken from the South to Canada in the antebellum days. John Greenleaf Whittier dedicated one of his poems to Mr. Shipley.

Mr. Alberti came to this city when about twenty years of age and started in business here. He was by occupation a clock and watchmaker. In 1867 he moved to New Market and lived there until fifteen years ago, when he moved to New Brunswick, and has since lived with Prof. Titsworth's family. While there he has been very active in mission work of various kinds. He lately tried to reorganize the old city mission and believed that this could be accomplished.

Mr. Alberti is survived by the following children: William M. Alberti, of New York city; Mrs. Howell, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Whiting, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Titsworth, of New Brunswick.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 10:30 from Professor Titsworth's residence. The service will be led by Rev. George Shaw, pastor of the deceased, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, of this city. The interment will be made at Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe Honored.

A portrait of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe by her son-in-law, John Elliot, which attracted extensive notice when shown in a collection of the artist's works in New York in April, has been purchased by the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The portrait is a bust done in red chalk, and is an admirable likeness of the gifted artist at the age of eighty-five years. Mrs. Howe is the mother of Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of Madison avenue. This purchase by the Art Museum is a recognition of the fact that a woman with Mrs. Howe's broad sympathies and intellectual abilities belongs to the nation.

Invited to Rahway Celebration.

The Plainfield Exempt Firemen's Association has been invited to attend the centennial of Rahway at that place on July 4. A special meeting will be held at firemen's hall on Monday night to take action regarding the invitation and make preparations for the trip, if accepted.

MISS RUTH A BERRY WEDS WM. R. FABER

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Berry the Bride at Nuptial Ceremony in Holy Cross.

THE RECTOR OFFICIATES

MISS MILDRED BERRY, BRIDE'S SISTER, AS MAID-OF-HONOR.

Handsome Gowns and Beautiful Decorations—Reception at Home Following Marriage Service—Groom a Son of A. E. Faber.

Miss Ruth Allen Berry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Berry, of Grove street, and William Rowley Faber, son of A. E. Faber, of Rockview avenue, were married in the Church of the Holy Cross at 7:30 o'clock, last evening, in the presence of a large number of society folks from New York, Pittsburg, Boston, Cleveland, the Oranges and Plainfield which thronged the edifice.

It was a daisy wedding, the flower being used in profusion in the decorations at the church and the house, where a reception was held after the ceremony. The decorations at the church consisted of palms, smilax and daisies, they being banked in and around the chancel.

In the bridal party were Miss Mildred Berry, sister of the bride, who was the maid of honor, and Miss Alice Hadden, of Cleveland, Ohio; Miss Isabelle Milne, Miss Marion McCutcheon and Miss Sophie Barlow, of this city, who were bridesmaids. The best man was Charles W. Faber, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Lewis Williams, Jr., Frank Thompson, Allen B. Laing and Henry C. Wells, of North Plainfield.

The bride's gown was of white messaline satin, with yoke and sleeves of real lace. She wore a veil of tulle and spray of orange blossoms fastened in the coiffure with a pin of pearls and diamonds, the gift of the groom. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas. The maid of honor's gown was of white point d' esprit over white taffeta and she carried a basket of daisies.

The bridesmaids were gowned in white silk novelty over white taffeta, trimmed with lace and they carried sprayed bouquets of daisies. They also wore wide yellow girdles. The bride's mother wore a gown of creame eclienne.

As the wedding march from Lohengrin was being played by J. Edmund Skiff, the church organist, the bridal party entered the church. The ushers led the way for the bridesmaids, maid of honor and the bride, who was accompanied by her father. The groom and best man, entered the edifice from the vestry door and met the other members of the party at the chancel, where the ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. William Montgomery Downey. During the ceremony, Mr. Skiff rendered softly on the organ "O, Promise Me."

Following the wedding, a reception was given for the couple by Mr. and Mrs. Berry at their home on Grove street, where over one hundred and fifty guests were present. The decorations were quite elaborate. In the hall and library there was an arrangement of roses and oak boughs, while in the reception and dining rooms, there were daisies, smilax and oak boughs. A unique feature was to be seen in the dining room. A large daisy ball suspended over the table was reflected in a mirror placed in the center of the table.

While Mr. and Mrs. Faber were receiving the congratulations of their relatives and younger friends who comprised the guests, a delightful programme of music was rendered by Suhr's orchestra seated on the porch. During the reception an elaborate supper was served by a caterer. Later in the evening the bride and groom were given a rousing sendoff by the guests as they departed on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will reside at the home of the groom's father, 38 Rockview avenue, for the summer.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Faber are numbered among those most popular in Plainfield and North Plainfield society. They are prominent in affairs at the Park Club and the Park Golf Club and have taken part in a number of social events held in North Plainfield. The bride received numerous gifts of great value and use. The orange blossoms worn by the bride were from the conservatory of the groom's father.

WOMEN'S SYMPATHY

Is Proverbial—Plainfield Women No Exception.

How much we owe to the sympathetic side of womankind. When others suffer they cheerfully lend a helping hand. They tell you the means which brought relief to them that you may profit by their experience. Read the testimony given here by a Plainfield woman:

Mrs. R. Wortman, living with her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Cook, of 204 Somerset street, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results for severe pains across my back and hips, which no doubt was caused by the kidneys being out of order. It was painful for me to stoop or bend forward and I could not sit ten minutes in one position but had to be continually changing about. I used many different kinds of medicine recommended for kidney trouble but I could not see that any of them benefitted me. Doan's Kidney Pills were procured for me at L. W. Randolph's drug store and it is the only remedy I ever used that gave me any benefit."

SLOCUM DISASTER.

Government Commissioners Hold Their First Meeting.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—An informal meeting of the commission appointed by Secretary Cortelyou to investigate the General Slocum disaster has been held at the department of commerce and labor. The members of the commission, Assistant Secretary Lawrence O. Murray, Major General John M. Wilson, Commander Cameron McR. Winslow and Herbert Knox Smith, deputy commissioner of corporations, were present, the only absentee being George Uhler, the supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service. Mr. Murray will preside over the deliberations of the commission.

At the meeting there was a general discussion of the subject in hand and of the commission's duties, which, under the terms of the appointment of the commission, seem to be purely judicial and not in any sense executive.

It is the intention of the commission to ascertain all facts bearing in any way upon the disaster. In this connection transcripts of all evidence taken by the coroner in his inquest and by the local board of inspectors in their inquiry will be at the disposal of the commission. In addition the commission, on its own account, will broaden and extend the inquiry in its own way, following out any line of inquiry that may be suggested.

Commander Winslow will go to New York personally to observe the condition of the wreck of the General Slocum. When the vessel is raised he will be at hand, as an expert in such matters, to ascertain the condition of the wreck and to glean any other facts about it which may be of value to the commission. He will have a photographer with him who will take pictures of the various stages of the raising of the vessel, so that the exact condition of the hulk may be depicted to the commission.

Beldame Got Mermaid Stakes.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Beldame, at 11 to 20, won the Mermaid stakes, for three-year-old fillies, one mile and a furlong, at Shepshead Bay. Carrying 126 pounds she went to the front in the first few strides and gradually increased her lead to the finish, winning easily by eight lengths in 1:54 2-5. Another track record was broken here by Lady Amelia in the second race. She ran the six and a half furlongs in 1:19 flat, which is one-fifth of a second faster than the previous record made by Glennellie in 1901.

Tennis Tourney at New York.

NEW YORK, June 23.—Both of the Harvard teams and the Princetonians scored victories here in the round robin doubles tournament on the courts of the Crescent Athletic club at Bay Ridge. H. Ward and B. C. Wright defeated the combination made up of the national ex-champion, W. A. Larned, and George L. Wrenn, Jr.

Racing at Fair Grounds.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—Pretension and Frank Collins were the winning favorites of a fair card at the fair grounds. Old Stone, Judge Himes and Flying Torpedo, World's Fair handicap candidates, met in the feature event. Old Stone won easily, Judge Himes and Flying Torpedo finishing in the ruck.

Naval Awards For Gunnery.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The navy department has awarded to the battleship Oregon the trophy for excellence in gunnery in the last annual target practice for which the ships of the navy have been in competition. For the gunboat class it was determined that the Dolphin is entitled to the trophy, while the trophy for the destroyer class goes to the John Paul Jones of the Pacific squadron.

J. H. O'Connor Jumped Overboard.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 23.—A passenger who registered as "J. H. O'Connor" jumped overboard from the Rhode Island of the Norwich line during the trip of the boat from New York to this city. It is believed he was despondent through illness, as he told another passenger that he had been in a hospital in New York. He was about seventy years old.

KAISER AT KIEL.

Opening of the International Regatta—American Boats to Race.

KIEL, Prussia, June 23.—The weather was cheerless and a steady, cold rain fell when the regatta opened here, but notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions the harbor presented an animated appearance. The German war vessels of the home fleet were moored in lines extending from the entrance to the canal to the shipbuilding yards in the center of the town. There was a large number of American and English yachts in the harbor, including Cornelius Vanderbilt's North Star, Allison V. Armour's Utowana, Frederick W. Vanderbilt's Warrior and Mrs. Robert Goelet's Nahma. The stars and stripes and the union jack were much in evidence, and almost every class of boat except the submarine was represented.

Emperor William on arrival, accompanied by Prince Henry of Prussia, was welcomed by a royal salute of thirty-three guns from every ship in the fleet. As the royal yacht passed the triple lines of warships the crews manned the sides of the vessels and cheered his majesty. Almost immediately after the yacht came to anchor the emperor landed.

Accompanied by Prince Henry of Prussia and Count von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, the emperor unveiled a memorial statue to Herr Krupp in the gardens of the yacht club and listened to an address by Captain von Arnim, who spoke with his hand at salute for a quarter of an hour. His majesty then returned to the Hohenzollern.

Mrs. Krupp and her daughters were invited to dinner with the emperor on board the royal yacht.

RAISULI'S CAPTIVES.

Moorish Government's Good Faith Called In Question.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—A cablegram has been received by Secretary Hay from Consul General Gummere, at Tangier, relative to the Perdicaris negotiations, which indicates that satisfactory progress is not being made, and it is intimated that the good faith of the Moorish government is being called into question by our negotiators.

Secretary Hay has ordered that they must demand from the Moorish government either Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead.

Mulai Hamet, shereef of Wazztu, left Tangier this morning with the ransom for Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley. He expects to return tonight. He refuses to allow newspaper correspondents to accompany him because of the danger that the arrangements for the release of the captives might thereby be upset.

First Train on Cape to Cairo Road.

TO WRECK TRAINS

Railroad President Causes Arrest of Miscreant.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN CONFESSED

Michael J. Sullivan, Arrested at Tunkhannock, Has Long Criminal Record and Said to Have Forged His Own Pardon Papers,

NEW YORK, June 23.—Michael J. Sullivan, one of the cleverest and most remarkable crooks in the country, was held in $5,000 bail here because of his latest exploit, that of sending a letter to President Mellen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad promising for $10,000 to reveal an alleged plot for wrecking a special train bearing Connecticut delegates to the Republican convention at Chicago.

Sullivan is said to have made admissions concerning an actual attempt to wreck an express train of the New Haven road on the night of May 28 at North Haven, Conn., news of which the railroad company suppressed. It is on this admission that the police had the man held by a magistrate to await extradition papers from Connecticut.

Sullivan was taken into custody at Tunkhannock, Pa., by detectives of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The man was brought to New York and taken to the offices of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, where, it is said, he made statements about train wrecking plots. Detectives Valiely and Collins were present when Sullivan told his story.

At this conference Sullivan is said to have given out the details of an attempt to wreck the express. This story, if is said, never was made public before, being a secret that was guarded by the railroad officials in the hope they might locate the guilty persons.

According to the statement attributed to Sullivan, he saw three men tie up a bundle of ties with chains and place them on the track near North Haven. Shortly before the express was due a "light" engine was run over the road, probably as a safeguard. The crew discovered the obstruction, and the express was flagged.

Sullivan is said to have stated he fled when he saw the three men intended to wreck a train, but that he met them the following day. The names of the three men as given to Inspector McClusky were found to be fictitious in two instances and probably so in the third.

The man is said also to be an expert penman and while confined at Nashville is said to have forged the governor's name to pardon papers that resulted in his release. At the same time, it is said, he forged the name of his attorney and obtained a considerable sum.

"Sullivan," said Chief Inspector McClusky, "has a long criminal record."

Vermont Did Not Instruct For Parker

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 23.—The Democrats of Vermont have held a convention here and nominated E. L. Porter for governor, selected candidates for the other state offices and named delegates to the national convention at St. Louis. After a heated debate the state convention declined to instruct the delegates to vote for Judge Parker for president, but just before adjournment a motion was adopted giving expression to the opinion that Judge Parker was the most available candidate. The delegates were instructed to act as a unit on all questions, but were not bound outright to vote for the New York man.

Tortoise Hunters Captured.

GUANTANAMO, Cuba, June 23.—The customs authorities of Guantanamo have captured a schooner which was fishing for tortoise shells at Puerto Escondido, seven miles east of here. The schooner was flying the British flag, is supposed to hail from Jamaica and has a crew of nine men. She was equipped for doing business on a large scale and had tortoises on board.

Experiments With Service Rifle.

NORFOLK, Va., June 23.—Major Lewis Cass, U. S. M. C., has completed the experiments with the service rifle on Lynn Haven inlet for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not bullets when shot over water ricochet or bite into the surface and will report later. Efforts also were made at Lynn Haven to make more accurate measurements of the distance over the water.

Explosion Injured Twelve.

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—An explosion, presumably of gasoline, in the grocery store of the W. E. Reid company caused the collapse of the two story brick building and injured twelve persons, none seriously. The wreckage caught fire, and only for the prompt arrival of the fire department some of the victims would doubtless have been burned to death.

New Naval Hospital.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Secretary Moody has decided to locate the Naval Academy hospital at Annapolis, on the government farm southeast of the county road, fronting the Severn river. The site selected is between Cemetery point and Camp Wainwright and involves no disturbance whatever of the existing condition of the old naval academy.

Life Preserver Drill at Greenwich.

GREENWICH, Conn., June 23.—A novel feature of a meeting of the East Portchester school district was the introduction of a resolution by William L. Wessels, formerly a member of the school board, providing for the purchase of life preservers for the purpose of instructing the pupils of the schools in their use.

THE NOMINATIONS.

Chicago Convention's Great Work Accomplished.

ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS CHOSEN

Chairman Joseph G. Cannon Credited With at Last Arousing by His Eloquence All the Dormant Enthusiasm of Great Assembly.

CHICAGO, June 23.—At the great assembly of the Republicans in the Coliseum here today came the climax, the great purpose of the convention as outlined almost from the very start, the nomination of President Theodore Roosevelt and Senator Charles W. Fairbanks of Indiana for first and second places on the Republican national ticket.

The convention opened on a call to order by Chairman Joseph G. Cannon, who was yesterday the central figure in the proceedings and who had awakened by his eloquence the dormant enthusiasm which burst forth time and time again. During his long oration the audience cheered whether he spoke jocularly or in serious vein. He was the entertainer—in fact, he was the convention.

Rev. Thaddeus E. Snively offered a brief but impressive prayer for divine guidence in the deliberations of the important day.

Ex-Governor Black of New York in a fervent and impressive speech nominated Theodore Roosevelt as the Republican candidate for president of the United States.

Mr. Black opened with a witty resume of the political situation, pointing with pride to the harmony in the Republican camp and likening the Democratic party to an army without weapons, with discord in its ranks, giving the only evidence of approaching battle in the tone and number of its bulletins. The zeal of the Democrats, he declared, consisted chiefly in discussions of what Thomas Jefferson would do if he were living. They had no living principles, he said, and their most expressive motto was the cheerless word "Forget."

The name of the Republican party, the speaker said, stood over every door where a righteous cause was born. It needs no new name or platform to designate its purposes. Reviewing the great questions now confronting the American nation, he presented Theodore Roosevelt as the one man to whom the solution of these questions could be safely intrusted. He told of President Roosevelt's career in peace and war and concluded as follows:

"The nation basking today in the quiet of contentment and repose may still be on the deadly circuit and tomorrow writhing in the toils of war. This is the time when great figures must be kept in front. If the pressure is great, the material to resist it must be granite and iron. Whether we wish it or not America is abroad in this world. Her interests are in every street; her name is on every tongue. Those interests so sacred and stupendous should be trusted only to the care of those whose power, skill and courage have been tested and approved. And in the man whom you will choose, the highest sense of every nation in the world beholds a man who typifies as no other living American does the spirit and the purposes of the twentieth century. He does not claim to be the Solomon of his time. There are many things he may not know, but this is sure, that above all things else he stands for progress, courage and fair play, which are the synonyms of the American name.

"There are times when great fitness is hardly less than destiny, when the elements so come together that they select the agent they will use. Events sometimes select the strongest man, as lightning goes down the highest rod. And so it is with those events which for many months with unerring sight have led you to a single name which I am chosen only to pronounce: Gentlemen, I nominate for president of the United States the highest living type of the youth, the vigor and the promise of a great country and a great age, Theodore Roosevelt of New York."

Seconding speeches were made by Senator A. J. Beveridge of Indiana, George A. Knight of California, Harry Stillwell Edwards of Georgia, Joseph B. Cotton of Minnesota and Harry S. Cummings of Maryland.

Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, in seconding the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt, said in part:

"Theodore Roosevelt, like William McKinley, is the nominee of the American fireside. So were Washington and Jefferson in the early time; so was Andrew Jackson when he said, 'The Union—it must be preserved;' so was Abraham Lincoln when, the republic saved, he bade us 'Bind up the nation's wounds,' and Grant when, from victory's very summit his lofty words, 'Let us have peace,' voiced the spirit of the hour and the people's prayer. When nominated by parties each of these great presidents was at the periods named already chosen by the public judgment. And so today the Republican party, whose strength is in its obedience to the will of the American people, merely executes again the decree which comes to it from the American home in naming Theodore Roosevelt as our candidate.

"The people's thought is his thought; American ideals his ideals. This is his only chart of statesmanship—and no other is safe. For the truest guide an American president can have is the collective intelligence and massed morality of the American people. And this ancient rule of the fathers is the rule of our leaders now.

"Theodore Roosevelt is a leader who leads because he carries out the settled purposes of the people. Our president's plans, when achieved, are always found to be merely the nation's will accomplished. And that is why the people will elect him."

On the conclusion of the seconding speches the roll of the assembly was called by the secretary. Chairman Cannon announced the names of a large committee of delegates appointed to notify President Roosevelt of his nomination.

Because Speaker Joseph G. Cannon was chairman and the central figure the proceedings of the convention have taken on a picturesqueness and demonstrativeness which before had been looked for in vain. From the moment he was escorted to the platform to wield the gavel as the permanent chairman the entire atmosphere of the convention changed. Enthusiasm which had lain dormant broke forth and bursts of applause rang through the assembly.

From the standpoint of political importance the adoption of the party platform was a great event. It contained declarations of party policy that are to form the basis of much of the oratory in the coming campaign. But the permanent chairman's personality almost overshadowed the platform.

When Chairman Cannon advanced to the far end of the platform and read a dispatch from Washington giving the ultimatum of Secretary Hay to the Moroccan government that the United States wanted either Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead it was received with wild enthusiasm. The delegates with one accord jumped to their feet and voiced their approval noisily.

Amid the cheers of the assembly and wild enthusiasm on the part of the delegation from Indiana Senator Charles W. Fairbanks was nominated for vice president.

Entries in the vice presidential race were scratched with great rapidity after the withdrawal of Representative Hitt was announced. Colorado, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Missouri all decided not to place their favorite sons in nomination. The course pursued when the roll of the states was being called for nominations governed throughout. The Missouri delegation abandoned their intention to place Mr. Walbridge in nomination at a meeting of the delegation called for the purpose. The Wisconsin delegation came to the same conclusion without a meeting regarding presenting the name of Governor Schofield.

Cortelyou Is Chairman.

CHICAGO, June 23.—Secretary Cortelyou is in Chicago and has conferred with Republican leaders to whom he jocularly announced that he had come to Chicago upon important public business. The new national committee met immediately after the convention adjourned, and Mr. Cortelyou was elected chairman. He desired to be present to meet with the committee and to confer about the election of the executive committee which will have charge of the campaign, also to discuss the establishment of headquarters in New York and Chicago.

Charges Against Justice Hooker.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., June 23.—Frank S. Stevens, president of the Jamestown Bar association, which made the charges against Hon. Warren B. Hooker, justice of the supreme court, has given out the following statement: "The legal effect of the charges against Justice Hooker is that he has been guilty of the offense of conspiring to defraud the United States if the evidence sustains the charges."

CHEAP EAST AFRICAN LAND.

Free Grants Offered by Government to Bona-Fide Settlers in Some Parts.

I am in receipt of letters of inquiry from the United States, asking in regard to the agricultural and grazing prospects of land in British East Africa, its price, etc.

In reply I am able to state, on the authority of a local publication, that settlers may acquire land in three ways—by gift, by lease and by purchase. The government offers free grants of land to bona fide settlers. It is easy to believe that the plots to be given do not comprise the best agricultural land in the country, and it is doubtful whether a settler would be well advised in contenting himself with a free grant. Neither, it seems, since the terms of purchase are so easy and the prospects of the land appreciating in value so good, is it worth while to bother about leased old ground. A settler's policy, it seems clear, is to buy his land outright by a cash payment or on the installment principle. Each settler may acquire 640 acres of agricultural land in the Nairobi district, or he may acquire 5,000 acres of grazing land farther up country in the Naivasha district. This grazing land, it should be understood, is capable of producing wheat, vegetables and other products. The price of average agricultural land—land near Nairobi, that is—is about 67 cents per acre, and payment can be spread over a period of 16 years. The price of grazing land varies from 28 to 48 cents per acre and can also be obtained under easy terms.

Of course those who go into the country at the present ground-floor prices are going as pioneers. The grazing regions, at any rate, comprise a wild country. The natives are peaceful, but the district is so full of game that it is impossible for the settler at present to do much in the way of fencing. Lions, leopards, hyenas, jackals, zebra, ostriches, etc., abound and the first settlers in this part of the country, it must be remembered, will be a good deal isolated. The proposition, however, has so many attractions that the peopling of the country is likely to proceed rapidly.

MASON MITCHELL.

THE TRADE OF ICELAND.

Four Fifths of It Is with Denmark, the Mother Country, and Great Britain.

It appears that isolated Iceland, cut off from the rest of the world save for slow mails, is to be linked to other countries by means of wireless telegraphic connection with the Shetland islands or the mainland of the United Kingdom, as may seem best. This is to follow the action of the Icelandic parliament, at its last session, in voting a yearly subsidy of $9,380 for 20 years for that purpose, and also for similar means of communication between Reykjavik and the principal towns of Iceland.

Some interesting facts regarding the trade and industries of the island are contained in a recent report from the British consul in Iceland. It appears therefrom that four-fifths of the foreign trade of the island is with Denmark—the mother country—and Great Britain. In 1900—the last year for which returns were given—the imports totaled $2,507,902, of which the Danish share was $1,568,006, and the British, $684,152. Of the total exports ($2,571,921) Denmark took $737,260 and the United Kingdom $913,856. The old barter system is rapidly vanishing, owing to the fact that British merchants are buying salt fish for cash on a large scale. A single merchant at Reykjavik last year bought salt fish for $300,000 cash and exported it mostly to Spain. The last census was taken in 1901, when the population was 78,800. Emigration has not been so great in recent years as might have been expected, considering the hard times. Farming is said to have made great progress, owing to the agricultural schools, many of which have been in operation for 25 years. A butter export on the Danish system has been commenced, and the stock of cows is consequently increasing. The native fishermen have partly abandoned the open-boat fishing, and a great number of them employ smacks. A concluding item in the report is that no earthquakes of any significance have occurred in Iceland during the last few years.

FRANK W. MAHIN.

Radium as Pain Killer.

Dr. Darier, of Paris, describes a case of cancer of the face which, through application of radium, had been rendered painless. Similar results have been obtained by other noted experts. He has also found quick and pain-killing effects of radium in certain diseases of the eye. The influence of radium upon the motor-nerve centers he considers of still greater importance. In two cases of nervous spasms—which occurred three to four times a week—weak radium preparations were applied to the temples for two or three days, when the spasms ceased. In a case also of presumptive inability of motion, caused by nervous debility, radium effected a complete cure within three days—probably, however, through suggestion. In acute facial paralysis of entirely new origin, radium effected a cure in one day. Samples of weak ratio-activity are now rather inexpensive, so that other physicians are enabled to verify these results.

Concessions in Korea.

The Korean government is not now granting mining or other concessions; hence, "applications for such," says the minister, "are useless." In regard to positions Mr. Allen says:

"The Korean government is not now in need of foreign assistants, as mining or other engineers, physicians, advisers, teachers, army officers, etc."

Big Battle Reported to Have Been Fought Northeast of Kaichau. Foreign Attache Killed by Russian Rifle Fire.

LONDON, June 23.—Advices from Tokyo say that a division of the Japanese army under General Oku has occupied Hsiunggyao without opposition.

It is presumed that General Oku is now advancing to the north by the way of Fuchau and the coast road, thus enabling him to obtain provisions from the sea.

The Japanese army base at Siuyen is evidently strongly established along a line from Kaichau to Yentai.

It is said that a big battle has been fought northeast of Kaichau.

Spectators at the battle of Vafangtien claim to have seen on one occasion three horsemen appear on a hill, one of whom, according to a Russian officer, resembling either an American or British attache, fell from his horse when the Russians fired and was evidently killed.

The battle of Vafangtien almost exactly resembled the battle of Stone River, near Murfreesboro, Tenn., in 1862-3, during the American civil war. The Russians abandoned their guns, and the Japanese pursued them for twelve hours, bivouacking at nightfall in the position held by the Russians on the preceding day.

After placing outposts the main body of the Japanese then retired toward the sea, it is supposed, for the purpose of obtaining a fresh supply of munitions, which had been exhausted during the battle.

From a reliable source it is reported that the Japanese in the vicinity of Port Arthur are now entirely inactive and that the Russians are not concerned regarding the situation there, that in the north being now the most important factor.

General Kuropatkin seems omnipresent. It is believed that he has visited the entire front.

The Japanese fleet is probably cooperating with General Oku's advance along the coast.

The two Japanese armies threaten momentarily to attempt a juncture, assisted by a force on the north shore of the gulf of Liautong.

Heavy rains have been falling, and they have hampered operations. They indicate the commencement of the rainy season.

A Chefu report says that while the Japanese are keeping a close watch on Port Arthur both on land and sea their advance toward the fortress is not being pushed so vigorously as during the early days of June. Chinese arriving from points on the Liautong peninsula say that firing is not heard as frequently. They report, however, that skirmishes, the result of which they do not know, occurred on the 14th, 18th and 20th of June.

Junk men who have arrived from the Yalu river report that a large force of Manchurian bandits is crossing northern Korea toward Gensan.

Edward and General Booth.

LONDON, June 23.—General Booth was received by King Edward here. He was accompanied by Staff Commissioner Pollard, who submitted to his majesty information regarding the work of the Salvation Army. King Edward displayed special interest in everything relating to the work of the Army in behalf of the poor and on parting with General Booth expressed his sympathy with his work and the most cordial good wishes for its prosperity and success.

Plainfield, N. J., June 23, 1904.

"Pericaris alive or Raisuli dead!"—that sounds like the vigorous utterance of a truly American administration. And it comes from a Secretary of State who is no demagogue.

Poor Paterson! It is surely a hoodoo city. Fire and water are the two agencies which have wrought disaster there. So accustomed have the public become to the great misfortunes there that the Metropolitan papers devote but passing notice to a half-million dollar blaze to that hustling Jersey city on the Passaic.

Plainfield's Building Inspector desires notice given to all citizens and particularly to the merchants to clear their yards of all inflammable material before the Fourth of July. Many fires have been caused by allowing rubbish on premises and the Building Inspector gives a word of warning at this time to prevent a repetition of these blazes.

Funds are needed by the City Union of King's Daughters to carry on the work at the baby camp. The institution opens next Thursday. All summer long, babies of the poor are cared for at the camp on the mountain by a nurse and her assistants. The mothers as well, in many instances, are allowed the benefit of the fresh-air camp. It is a laudable undertaking and should receive strong support.

Bryan's speech in New York Monday night did not even cause a ripple of excitement. Nobody in the East seems to consider seriously his charges against all who happen to disagree with him. He's noisy, but as there is no law prohibiting him from ranting it might as well be taken as granted that he will continue shouting his twice repudiated doctrines as long as he can draw a curious audience.

Oh, Chief Deane, wont you stop making blunders with that flag. On June 14, Flag Day was observed throughout the country and the emblem of liberty did not wave from the city's flag-staff. Today happens to be the anniversary of a fraternal order and you have the flag out. We would like to see the star spangled banner on the city pole every day, but as we can't, please only show it on holidays.

Borough Streets in Fine Condition.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The sporting element in town was greatly entertained yesterday morning by a fistic encounter between a ragman and a Plainfield motorman. The ragman drove over the motorman's foot, as he was standing by his car. The knight of the brake and motor resented the indignity and "soaked" the gentleman of the tinkling bells. Matters looked serious for a time but finally the two got to talking and the trouble blew over.

Elsie Stites, who has but recently recovered from an attack of diphtheria, cut herself quite badly yesterday afternoon while cutting down some grass in the yard of her home. Several of her fingers were quite badly mangled. Her injuries were dressed by Dr. Brakely.

The fire department certainly distinguished itself by the able manner in which it put out the blaze in Alvah Gray's house Tuesday. If the department had not been prompt the whole building would have gone.

It is rumored that another and new "speak easy" has started business in the borough. From the number of drunks in evidence lately, it would seem so.

A scheme is being pushed forward by out of town parties to start a summer cottage building boom near Washington Rock. Such things have been tried before.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wynkoop were guests at graduation exercises of the nurses in Muhlenberg Hospital on Monday evening.

The street department had the scraper out yesterday and the gutters look much cleaner as a result.

Joseph Thomas, who has been visiting at the home of George Churchill, has returned home.

The lineup of the Dunellen A. C. for next Saturday's game is still somewhat unsettled.

Swimming is fine in the lake and crowds of boys enjoy themselves that way daily.

Mrs. Bernard Sirisky, has been entertaining out-of-town friends.

Clarence Whitehall, of Plainfield, was a visitor in town yesterday.

Miss Emma Craig is confined to her home by illness.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The corner of Park avenue and Front street is one of the most dangerous corners in this section of the State since automobiles have become the fad. The hotel and sheds shut out the view for chauffeurs and drivers and hardly a day passes but what some reckless automobilist, going far beyond the speed limit allowed by law, drives some horse and driver down in the gutter and even up on the sidewalk. On Monday a serious accident was narrowly averted and only a week previous a horseman was obliged to take to the sidewalk near the postoffice to save being run down by a flying "red devil." Something should be done to put a stop to the recklessness of some of the auto drivers before a serious accident occurs.

Vanderbilt Raymond, who was committed to the county jail by Judge Clark on Monday, is to be released in charge of the county probation officer, Mrs. Williamson. The charge against Raymond was macilious mischief and truancy. The court thought that bringing the case to the attention of the county officers would do more towards correcting the boy than a severe reprimand would do.

The chances are that George Allen, catcher of the local ball team, will be unable to be in the game on Saturday on account of his having sprained his ankle in the game Saturday with the Newark A. C. Manager Hand has several catchers in the lineup, but George will undoubtedly be missed.

Manager Schultz, of the New Providence Field Club, claims he will bring a team against the locals on Saturday that will put an end to their winning streak. If he does Manager Hand's colts will make them play great baseball.

The Royal Arcanum, which prides itself upon its record of quick settlements of all death claims, have settled the claim of the late Norman Dunn, Mrs. Dunn receiving her check several days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stiliger and children, who have been spending several days with Mr. Stiliger's parents, have returned to their hom in Brooklyn.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., closes nominations for Council officers at the weekly meeting of the Council to be held in the town rooms tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Perry, of Mc Kinley avenue, have been visiting Mrs. Perry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schriner, of Mountain avenue.

The Chautauqua Boys' Club held its regular weekly meeting last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

Mrs. George L. Dunn and Miss Cora Miller have returned from a visit with relatives at Trenton, N. J.

The second of the series of band concerts will be given tonight in Plainfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. E. K. Gutshall has returned home after spending a few days with her parents at Lehighton, Pa.

Mrs. B. F. Mundy has gone to Allentown, Pa., for a few days' visit with friends.

Heber Cubberley visited Harvey Striker, in Piscataway, yesterday.

Hollis Cubberley is visiting at Hamilton Square and Trenton.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E., No. 885, met last night and initiated three candidates.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold a meeting tonight when arrangements will be made for going to Bound Brook tomorrow night to visit the State officers of the order at a union meeting.

Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., will hold a meeting of interest this evening. Two candidates will be initiated after which the committee on the good of the order will take charge of affairs. Refreshments will be served and an old fashioned smoker will wind up the evening's entertainment.

—Charles Fuchs, of Berkeley Heights, who works at John Storm's butcher shop on Liberty street, nearly cut his finger off in slicing up a round of beef Tuesday. The blade went to the bone, and four stitches were required to close the wound.

Mrs. John Stevens and two sons, of West Front street, have returned home from "River Lawn," on the Raritan, where they have been spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. McCollum, a sister of Mr. Stevens.

Exempt Firemen Take Notice.

A special meeting will be held at Fireman's Hall on Monday evening next at 8 o'clock, to take action upon an invitation to attend Firemen's Centennial parade at Rahway on July 4th.

THE PASSING GYPSY

Our Nomads of the Van Are Fast Disappearing.

Modern Conditions Are Against Them — A Picturesque People Who Served a Purpose—How They Live Without Work.

From the gypsies themselves we learn that their ranks are gradually growing thinner. This, they say, is caused by the watchfulness of the immigration officials who send back many an immigrant, who, if permitted to land, would find a place in the tented wagon or van that travels north and south with the changing seasons, and also by the desertion of many men who are drifting into what we would term legitimate callings, though the gypsy will resent any intimation that his is not also legitimate. Few of them join the class of criminals who end their days in prisons.

While the latter is true the owner of chicken yards will not lament the passing of the gypsy, though he remove a picturesque feature from our national cosmopolitanism, and, in his way, has brought a pleasure to many a small boy of both city and country.

But modern conditions are against them. It is as though a policeman were continually saying "Move on." Long since the farmer decided that he would no longer let them camp even in the most useless corner of his fields. They used, whenever possible, to pitch their camps on commons, but the local authorities are averse even to that, and they are obliged to pursue their calling, as it were, on sufference. Not only so, but other things are highly unfavorable to them. In quiet country villages the itinerant vendor used to be a necessity, and from morning till night there was a procession of them went from house to house. Our good friend Autolycus, with his pack well stuffed with "fine nacks for ladies," went singing and jesting, while he palmed off a bunch of blue ribbons for Mary to go to the fair with, and sold a cap or a necktie for her laddie. He supplied her mother with caps and linen and spectacles and snuff boxes, while the father bought from him stuff for a Sunday waistcoat. Then came the clockmaker, selling huge watches that would not go, and spectacles you could not see through, and many other trifles of light description. The tinker came shouting "Old pots to mend," and soon drew a concourse of children to watch him at his little fire soldering the cottage kettle and mending broken ware. And when at night they foregather at Poosie Nancie's store, or its equivalent, we doubt if the beggar's opera they performed was ever quite so brilliant as the one drawn by the imagination of Burns, for the wandering people are a jealous people, and they give point to the adage "Set a thief to catch a thief." Yet they pick up many songs that, though scarcely adapted for the modern drawing room, are not without a wit and character of their own. They address each other in language not blunted and spoiled by modern politeness and convention, but direct, plain, and yet embellished with many choice epithets and fancy phrases. They are, indeed, the outcast of the population, and in a world which is, perhaps, growing over-burdened with industry, they set an example of idleness. The only means of getting bread to which they consciously object is that of working for it. To beg, borrow or steal come as naturally to them as lying; and probably the stern moralist will without the quiver of an eyelid recognize that their race is dead or dying.

On their pilgrimage they leave the law and the commandments to the street-bred people, and though there are rural constables to be dodged, it is an easier game to play than dodging those minions of the law whose business it is to keep order in the town.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning June 26.

Topic.—Signs that India is becoming Christ's.—Ps. xxii, 22-31.

India has been for many reasons one of our most difficult mission fields. It was the birthplace of Brahmanism and Buddhism and has been a chief center for Mohammedanism, there being today 62,000,000 Mohammedans in the empire. In fact, King Edward VII. of England rules today over more Mohammedans than does the sultan of Turkey or the shah of Persia. The Brahman caste system has also been a great stumbling block to Christianity. In addition to these things, the character of the people, their national customs and methods of living have formed barriers to the progress of the Christian religion. Yet there are not wanting signs that India is becoming Christ's and that some day this beautiful and fascinating land will be a diadem in the crown of the Saviour.

Some of the signs that India is becoming Christ's are as follows:

1. The great work among the outcasts of India. The outcasts are the millions of India who are beneath all castes. They are scarcely looked upon as human beings. For centuries they have lived hopeless, despairing lives, but now they see hope in Christianity and for the past thirty years have been turning to Christ in large numbers. The work among them was begun by the Methodist church in northern India thirty years ago, but has since spread over the empire, for the outcasts are everywhere.

2. The reformed movements from within Hindooism itself. Important reform movements have been introduced among the Hindoos themselves. These are not distinctively Christian, but they were brought about under the pressure of Christianity and are therefore a sign of Christianity's increasing influence.

3. The movement among the educated of India. Under the influence of eastern teaching and customs the educated men of India are becoming dissatisfied with their native religions. This will not immediately make them Christians. It may even for a time tend to drive them to infidelity and atheism, but it gives Christianity an opportunity to reach them since it is more apt to bring them under its influence. That this is the case is illustrated in the vast audiences that have listened to the lectures of Dr. John Henry Barrows and Cuthbert Hall delivered in the great cities of India under the Haskill foundation, which provides for such lectures every two years.

4. The passing away of prejudice against Christianity. From one India mission field it is reported: "A marked change is noticeable in the treatment of the Christians by the people. They are no longer held in such contempt as they used to be. Their very touch was considered polluting. But now many * * * enter into friendly conversation with them, and some even go so far as to shake hands with them. We mention this simply to show how the light of the gospel has begun to dispel the thick darkness of prejudice that has enveloped their minds for centuries."

5. The results of famine relief. In the recent famines in India Christians have been of great assistance in relieving the great distress. From 50,000 to 100,000 children in the famine districts have been placed in Christian orphanages, where they will be under the influence of Christianity. And, more than this, such Christian philanthropy cannot but break down prejudice and win the hearts of the people.

6. The gradual weakening of the caste system of India. This has been a great barrier, but it is breaking down. There is as yet nothing like intermarriage, and yet the line of demarcation is gradually becoming less distinct. Only recently at a college reunion 200 students, composed of Hindoos, Mohammedans and Christians, ate at the same table. Such fellowship a few years ago would have been absolutely undreamed of.

7. The constant extension of Christ's kingdom. New converts are being made every year. The Bible is being more widely circulated and more faithfully studied. The workers are being increased, though many more could be used. "The field is ripe to the harvest," and some day "India's coral strands" shall have responded to the claims of Jesus Christ, their Saviour.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. lxxii, 8-11; cvii, 1-3; Isa. xliii, 1-7; lii, 7; Zech. vii, 7, 8; Matt. ii, 1-12; xxviii, 19, 20; Rom. i, 16-25; x, 12-15; Rev. xxii, 17.

Some Things Needed.

Most of you need to give more attention to the associate members and provide more attractive privileges for this class of membership. Practically all need to strengthen the link between the Junior and the older society and be more tender and thoughtful for Junior graduates and other young members. For the few weak: Closer touch with your pastor; study of our literature and action on it. For the strong: Complacency is danger; at the top of the wave redouble the energy; many untasted blessings are beyond.—Von Ogden Vogt, General Secretary United Society.

Missouri State Convention.

The Missouri state gathering is to be held in St. Louis June 23 to 27. So many visiting Endeavorers will be at the world's fair at this time that the convention is expected to assume the proportions of an international one.

The Ohio State Union.

The Ohio state union now numbers 3,300 societies, with a membership of over 150,000. It is a bond of fellowship among nearly thirty denominations in the state. Last year Ohio organized 335 new societies.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

June 26: "Problems In Africa's Civilization and Redemption." Isa. xix, 19-21.

The need of Africa now, as in the times of Isaiah, is Jehovah. It is not more of forms of worship, but a purer God to worship; not more devotion, but a better idea of Him whom they should serve.

It has been repeatedly pointed out, since the work of David Livingstone opened the land to our fuller knowledge, that the three curses of Africa are slavery, polygamy and witchcraft. No form of government, no commercial intercommunication, no industrial training and no merely secular education can remedy this condition of affairs. Slavery lives because of greed and lust. The Christian nations have almost stamped out the trade overseas. No colors can paint the horrors of this traffic in the years past. But the raiding of peaceful villages, the slaughter of many, the chain gangs on their long marches, with frequent deaths and barbarous cruelties for the surviving, still go on in the interior and will only cease when the whole land is under the strong domination of civilized Christian states. The tales of unutterable oppression and horrors recently perpetrated in the Kongo states by the agents of European governments cannot long go unnoticed. However men may regard it in general, the clear eyed Christian can scarcely doubt that the wiping out of the Boer republics of South Africa was due in the providence of God to their disregard of the rights of the natives and their failure to recognize in the black a brother needing in his weakness and heathen superstition the strong helping hand of a fellow man.

Polygamy can only be cured by a pure Christianity. Mohammedanism and even Mormonism only foster the debasing and corrupting institution. Woman in many parts of Africa is but a higher grade of beast, and her worth and price are fixed in cattle. She is bought and sold. She has rights and power, but so have the cattle for whom she is exchanged. Love and purity can never exist in such circumstances. To become a man the African must raise woman to her true level. Rather, he must, with her, ascend to the higher plane of life.

No one dies a natural death in Africa, at least in the opinion of the natives. Death is always the result of bewitchment. Then the witch doctor must by his arts find out the guilty party. Then the evil one must with tortures be put to death. Demons dominate all the affairs of life, and devil worship becomes the prevailing form of religion, for one cannot exist unless the malignant spirits are appeased.

Railroads and trade will do somewhat to carry the arts of civilized lands into the savagery of Africa, but unless the missionary with the gospel be there to Christianize the black man he will be only more hopelessly debased and cursed. Give him the vices of civilization to add to his vices as a savage, and how can the earth endure such a race! Jehovah is the only hope of Africa.

How Christ Answers Our Call.

Jesus "came unto His own." To men forgetful of their godlike nature He came to tell them that they were the sons of God, and to men who could not do without Him He came because they needed Him. Oh, my dear friends, by what high warrants does the Saviour claim us for His own! Because we are His Father's children, and because we are so needy, therefore our Divine Brother comes. He comes to you and says, "You called Me." And you look up out of your worldliness and say: "Oh, no! I did not call. I do not know you." But He says calmly: "You did, although you did not know it. That power of being godlike which is in you, crushed and unsatisfied—that summoned Me, and that need of being forgiven and renewed which you will not own—that summoned Me. And here I am! Now wilt thou be made whole? If thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth." — Phillips Brooks.

Faithfulness In Little Things.

Whether we do little or great things is comparatively a minor matter. But whether all that we do is done as in God's sight and at God's appointment and command is ever a mighty matter. Few of us are set at mighty undertakings, but all have the opportunity of giving a cup of cold water to a little one in God's kingdom in the spirit which will be recognized as a gift to the King of kings. As St. Augustine expressed it, "Little things are little things, but faithfulness in little things is something great."—Sunday School Times.

The Best Law.

The best law for Bible study is the law of perseverance. Application to the word will tend to its growth within thee and its multiplication without thee. Methods are good, but motives are best. In studying the book be not like the cold blooded vivisectionist. Seek thou the warm vivifying power of the witnessing Spirit.—Episcopal Recorder.

Trust.

The clouds hang heavy round my way.
I cannot see.
But through the darkness, I believe,
God leadeth me.

'Tis sweet to keep my hand in His
While all is dim,
To close my weary, aching eyes
And follow him.

Through many a thorny path He leads
My tired feet.
Through many a path of tears I go,
But it is sweet

To know that He is close to me,
My Guard, my Guide.
He leadeth me, and so I walk
Quite satisfied.
—Christian Work and Evangelist.

The New Woman

There Are Men Who Conceal Their Age

A FINE old gentleman whom I sometimes see is at the head of a business enterprise which requires attention night and day. The fine old gentleman founded it over fifty years ago, when he was a raw, redheaded youth. He gave it the closest attention from the start and continues to do so to this day. He is obliged to or it would not prosper, although now he is wealthy. His hair is snow white, but his bearing is erect and graceful as a soldier's, and he is on duty as many hours as any employee he has. There is about him no trace of failing either physically or mentally, and he manages his affairs even better than he did fifty years ago because of the long experience. He is now seventy-five years old, "but he is sensitive about his age," his acquaintances say. When I heard that, I respected this fine old man more than ever. He feels himself strong, well and capable as ever, but he fears if the foolish, spiteful world knew how old he is it might take for granted he is growing weak. I once knew, too, a man who dreaded so to be thought old that he sometimes told strangers his own daughters were his stepchildren. Nobody ever really did find out how old he was, but for forty years he presented the appearance of a man forty to fifty years of age. In general, where you find an old man or even an old woman who is sensitive on the subject of age you will find a person who is twenty years younger than the family Bible records. I don't know whether the fine old gentleman of seventy-five is a widower or not, but in any case this spirit of persistent youthfulness is a credit to him. To feel ever young and keep up the appearance of being young is a fine trait in aging men. If more men possessed this spirit, there would not be nearly so many decrepit old hunkses among them.

Senator Depew says a young man can make no greater mistake than to seek a clerkship in public office and that no greater misfortune can befall him than to get such a place. Very well, Mr. Depew, give the clerical offices to the women. They will take them and hold them down satisfactorily and rest content with the places. Thus all your gifted, soaring young men will be released to hustle and develop their talents. Yes, let the women have the offices. They are not so ambitious.

Don't tell all you know, not even half.

A poor woman, but a respectable, refined one, let out her parlors regularly to some ladies who met for social bridge whist and euchre parties. There was no gambling and all the people concerned were of respectable standing, yet some of the woman's neighbors and acquaintances were scandalized. They formed committee after committee to wait on her and tell her she must cut off the bridge whist and progressive euchre. Here is what she says in answer: "I have told these people that I will discontinue my card parties if they will agree to support me and my husband for two years, but I have not had a reply to my proposition."

At the last part of the meeting at St. Louis of the General Federation of Women's Clubs the members reached the point where they actually took their hats off and sat with their pretty heads uncovered. One may have hopes of women now. It is not surprising either to find that this last convention was the most alive, progressive and up to date one the federation ever held.

When a woman participates in a free food exhibition scramble it is a sign that she does not get enough to eat at home.

It is said by men that women are too emotional to be trusted in high office or to sit on juries. Note: There is a man who has held high office more than a generation. Lately he was on trial charged with serious official offenses. Well, he wept like a street sprinkler all through his trial. He shed tears copiously when he gave his testimony, and spectators shed tears with him out of sympathy. Finally, at the close, when he was pronounced not guilty, there was a general tear letting time. The man himself cried and sobbed, the jury shed tears abundantly, likewise the court officials and lookers on, and the whole pile of them enjoyed the jolliest weeping time of their lives, and not a woman among them!

From the pages and columns of print just now padded out with alleged health and beauty culture recipes it looks as if the writers of this delectable stuff were paid for it by the yard and are afraid of losing their jobs.

Conundrum: What is it that woman has, needs most and uses least? Answer—Her own judgment.

Do all you can to help women and girls to become financially independent.

It is the lightweight brains that froth and sputter. Many women waste rivers of precious nerve force shooting off violent opinions concerning matters that are none of their business.

ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER.

RUBBER TREES IN INDIA.

Information of Interest Concerning This Most Valuable of Minor Products.

I find the Ficus elastica, the indigenous rubber tree, generally cultivated, is perhaps the only rubber plant in India which can be said to give indications of a future extended commercial value. It is found in the damp parts of the Sikkim Himalaya and eastward to Assam and Burmah. In the rubber tracts of Upper Burmah it is scattered singly and in small groups in dense evergreen forests, the average number of trees being 9 per 100 acres.

The seed of the Ficus elastica, when the tree grows naturally in the forest, germinates almost invariably in the forks of trees 30 to 40 feet and more above the surface of the ground, and the young trees grow in consequence for some six ten years as epiphytes, after which the aerial roots reach the ground and increase in size, until some of them reach a girth of from four to six feet. These roots are very numerous, and it is not uncommon at a later age that they are thrown out also from the upper branches 60 to 80 feet from the ground, being first as thin as whipcords, but very soon increasing in size after they reach the ground. It has frequently happened that the tree on which the rubber seedling first germinates is killed by the more vigorous growing Ficus elastica, which in this respect resembles the well-known banyan tree, and it is one of the largest trees in the mixed forest of Assam. It requires an exceedingly damp atmosphere to do well, and, therefore, thrives best at the foot of the mountains or on the mountains themselves, up to an elevation of 2,000 feet. It is also met at a higher elevation, but there it is not so vigorous, and at 5,000 feet it is liable to be injured or killed by frost.

At the present time india rubber is the most valuable minor forest product of Assam. In 1873 the commencement of the Chardnar rubber plantation, which has been regularly extended, was made with a view to provide for the future supply of rubber, and from that plantation many trees have been transplanted.

The trade in india rubber in Upper Burmah was first brought to the notice of the government in 1870, and its export to the lower provinces commenced in 1873, when the monopoly was leased by the Burman king to Chinese firms. After the occupation of Upper Burmah by the British, the monopoly system continued up to October, 1888, the license being sold for about $40,000 per annum. The trade was then thrown open to anybody who took out a license on payment of about 20 cents a viss (three and one-half pounds) duty at Bhamo.

In Burmah there are several indigenous trees capable of yielding rubber of commercial value, but the Ficus elastica has so far been the most cultivated and productive.

The reports sent me from Madras say there is every indication that rubber cultivation is now beginning to receive the earnest attention of planters in that presidency, which its great and constantly increasing importance entitles it to. In southwestern India the climatic conditions in the ghats up to 3,000 feet elevation, and in the low country lying close to them, having a minimum rainfall of 80 inches a year, are especially favorable to the successful growth of rubber trees.

Experiments are being made at the government experiment farm at Burliyer, in that presidency, to determine what is the best rubber producing tree, but I have been unable to find a comparative report, and would suggest that those who may be interested in the cultivation of rubber trees in the Philippines write the curator of this farm for the result of his experiments; also that they write Mr. Ridley, director of the botanic and forest department, Straits Settlements, Singapore, who has recently written and issued instructive articles on rubber trees, and on the "Para" rubber tree in particular.

As the Para rubber tree requires a very humid atmosphere, with long breaks in the rainfall, and does not thrive where the temperature sinks below 60 degrees Fahrenheit, it does not do well in Assam, and the localities suited to it in Burmah are confined to the coast from Moulmein southward. The Para rubber tree was first introduced into India in 1873, and Ceylon, from its climatic conditions, seemed to be the best place for its cultivation, but I have no report from there showing what has been the result.

Dangers of White Lead.

German papers state that the French government is at present considering the question of the use of white lead and other lead mixtures for painting houses. A committee of the chamber of deputies has been appointed to investigate the matter, and Mr. Breton, one of the experts, has been authorized to publish the results of his investigation in pamphlet form. He condemns the addition of white lead to paints and all colors containing it, declaring them to be poisonous in a large degree, both for the workmen and for the inhabitants of a house painted with lead colors. He recommends the use of zinc white instead, which, for surfaces exposed to the sea air, is also much more practical. He expresses the opinion that the absolute disuse of white lead has become an imperative necessity.

ABOUT MARRIAGE IN INDIA.

American Missionary Gives Some Interesting Information Concerning Wedding of Natives.

A missionary who has spent some years in India, and whose work at present is particularly concerned with an orphanage conducted under American auspices in Calcutta, interested a company of young people in this city recently with an account of the way marriages are arranged in India. She referred only to the marriages between the girls in the orphanages and the young Christian men of the neighborhood, says the Brooklyn Eagle, and said that scarcely a week passes by that the managers of the institution are not petitioned by some young man for assistance in obtaining a wife.

"Of course we never induce a girl to get married if she does not feel inclined that way," said the missionary, "but the majority of them are perfectly willing, and oftentimes we are petitioned by some of the girls to let them have the next chance. The choice between the girls rests with us, not with the young men, for if the suitors were permitted to meet the girls at the orphanage, and make their own choice, the fairest girl would inevitably be selected. The Hindu is not different from other folks in his appreciation of beauty, but the prettiest girl might not be the wife best suited to the young man in whose behalf we are working; so we make the choice, and if the girl is willing, the young man is informed of the fact. He usually comes to the orphanage accompanied by his nearest feminine relatives, and, as a general thing, the preliminaries are soon arranged. The period of engagement does not last long, and the couple rarely express any desire to see much of each other. There is no hindrance to a reasonable amount of intercourse, but they do not care for it, and it is not the custom of the country. Of course, we never let a girl marry from our home unless the man is a Christian. And we make all the necessary inquiries as to his character and to his ability to maintain a wife. Then, too, we have to be careful to select one suited to his station in life—that is whether he is a hill man, or resides in the city, and is in civil service. So far as we have been able to ascertain, the average of happy marriages that have been contracted in this way equals that of the average in other lands.

"It is customary for the bridegroom in such marriages to provide his bride with her wedding gown and accessories. We provide the rest of the outfit, and a marriage in the orphanage generally means a gala time for the girls. All those old enough to understand the meaning of the ceremony are interested, and the chapel is prettily decorated with flowers and vines in honor of the occasion. Sometimes the newly wedded couple make their home with the groom's people, but generally they take possession of a home of their own, and this we consider the more satisfactory arrangement. Girls marry very young in India, the law permitting a girl to become a bride at 12 years of age. We consider 16 a more preferable age, but in India that is considered quite old. As a matter of fact, a girl who is not wedded at 18 is unlikely to be so unless she should be fancied by some widower, who, if he has children, generally prefers a wife a little older than the average."

ORANGES BRING RICHES.

Tree, as a Rule, Are Vigorous and in Some Instances Remarkably Prolific.

The orange tree is noted for its longevity. In Cordova, Spain, there is a grove said to be not less than seven centuries old; and these ancient trees, although hollow and knotted, are still covered with blossoms and fruitage. The orange tree, says Allan Sutherland, in Booklovers Magazine, is very vigorous, and is remarkably prolific. It is stated that as many as 20,000 oranges have been picked from a single tree in the Azores in one season; while at least half that number have been gathered from one in Florida. It is recorded that two magnificent old trees in Seville, Spain, have yielded about 30,000 each in a single season; and at Nice is a tree 50 feet in height and three feet in diameter, which produces 6,000 oranges. As a rule, however, trees bear from 500 to 2,000 oranges annually.

The tree is very uniform in its bearing, there being no off years. The blossom and fruit are rarely hurt save as the result of unexpected frost, the orange-grower's most dreaded enemy.

Beautifying Paris.

The Paris municipal authorities have offered prizes and medals for the best floral decorations for city balconies. Every Parisian apartment has its balcony, always more or less adorned with plants and vases, and much art is displayed in the newer houses, where special provision is made for flowers. The few houses decorated last year by a society having for its object the beautifying of the city were so effective that the present prizes are offered. The jury that will pass upon the balconies includes the eminent painter, Besnard, and a number of other artists and architects.—N. Y. Post.

Passing of a Relative.

They were out walking one evening, and he lifted his hat to an elderly man as they passed.

"What a distinguished looking old gentleman!" she exclaimed. "Is he a relative of yours?"

"Yes," he replied, and there was a tremor in his voice as he felt in the pocket where his watch had formerly reposed, "he's my 'uncle.'"

And the dear girl never knew the truth.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

MRS FORCE.

ONE WOMAN'S CURIOSITY.

How It Led to the Discovery of the Only Turquoise Mine Known to Exist in Mexico.

Perhaps the first mine in all the world that has been discovered because of a woman's insatiable curiosity has been developed in the state of Zacetecas in the Santa Rosa district, near Bonanza. From time immemorial, says the Mexican Herald, it has been an adage among miners that the best mines have been located by accident. Prospectors have been known to discover a lode through the kicking of a piece of metal from an unknown ledge by their mules' hoofs. Cripple Creek was discovered through the merest accident by Stratton; but it remained for a woman, Mrs. V. M. Clement, to discover a rich deposit of turquoise, reputed to be the only one in Mexico, in the Santa Rosa mine, while searching for pretty stones on the dump of the Prospect.

The mine was then being worked by V. D. Williamson and some associates as a lead-silver prospect. They had never even suspected the existence of turquoise. Telling the story, Manager Williamson said:

"Mrs. Celement was a large stockholder in the company. She lived at Bonanza, and it had been the joke of the other members that she was always prowling around the dump picking up pieces of ore and claiming they were all sorts of things, other than what they were. One day about 13 months ago she went out to the dump and picked up a pretty light blue stone which was very hard and shiny. She thought it would do for her collection, so she took it home.

"Upon her arrival she compared it with a piece of turquoise she had bought in the United States, and came to the conclusion that it was turquoise. The other members of the company laughed, thinking it was another joke on Mrs. Clement. We had been mining the property for lead and silver. Mrs. Clement was so persistent that we sent the specimen to Mexico City and had it analyzed. The report came back that it was pure phrosphate of aluminium, or turquoise.

"After this report was made, other samples were taken, and the company became satisfied that the stone was turquoise. Now the mine is being worked solely for the gem."

NEWSPAPERS FOR KINGS.

Monarchs of Europe and Great Britain Pay Particular Attention to Press Matters.

The first royal newspaper was published for the emperor of Austria. About thirty years ago he gave orders that a private newspaper should be supplied to him every morning. Each important article is condensed by a competent writer, and the results written out on small, square sheets, which are slipped into a binding cover and laid by on his majesty's breakfast table. Nothing which concerns him personally, whether disagreeable or otherwise, is omitted, and it is said that occasionally he orders a bundle of fresh papers to be brought to make sure that his orders are obeyed, says the New York Herald.

The German kaiser, who is one of the busiest men alive, has a court officer, with a staff under him, whose sole duty is to cut out all the items of information which may be of interest to his majesty and submit them each morning neatly pasted in a scrap book. These books are kept on file, and should eventually prove an interesting record of the history of a stirring time. Official circles in Russia were filled with something like consternation last June when the tsar called together 200 of the best educated men in his kingdom. This was the result of his majesty's thirst for news. Till quite recently the Russian rulers were content to receive their news from the outside world through official channels.

Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, is without doubt the most literary monarch in all Europe. He knows French, English and German quite as well as his own tongue, and has a reading acquaintance with Russian. He spends at least three hours each day in his study, busy with current literature of every kind.

King Oscar, of Sweden, is another ruler who may be classed among the best read of royalties. He always finds time to read the important dailies of his kingdom without the help of others, but for those of other countries he relies on clippings. Not only does he read the papers, but he is a contributor to three Stockholm journals.

King Edward VII. is said to be a patron of two of the many clipping bureaus which are now in existence, and receives from them several hundred clippings weekly.

The Turkish Idea.

In Turkey it is considered no honor to be photographed by the side of a heap of small game that has been killed, as the huntsman do in this country. A Turk would consider that frivolous. "In the officers' quarters of a Turkish garrison the walls are covered with grewsome photographs. After a battle with Albanians or Macedonian insurgents, the bodies of the dead are decapitated and the heads are set out in rows. The officers pose behind them and the groups are then photographed. A young Turkish officer who has no photograph of himself in such a group to hang up on the walls of his quarters feels that he has still to prove his manhood.—Detroit Free Press.

Accommodating.

"Madam," said the most courageous of the boarders to the sour-visaged landlady, "the only vegetables you have been giving us of late for dinner are asparagus and potatoes. Can't you vary the monotony of the menu?"

"With pleasure. I'll omit the asparagus."—Detroit Free Press.

MODESTY OF CROWN PRINCE

Heir to Germany's Throne Was Too Retiring to Take Kindly to Military Life.

"Go now," said the kaiser, "and be a student."

The art of being a student in Germany is, as everyone who has tried it knows, rather complicated, writes Vance Thompson, in Success. The getting of book lore is supplemented by much clashing of schlaeger, by some bloodletting, by a great deal of loud singing, and by deep drinking of beer. Whether it be Jena or Bonn or Heidelberg, it is all the same. The young philosopher must show his prowess both in the beer-duel and in the less dangerous duel with swords. The young prince was not only permitted to attend the classic bier-kneipe; he was also ordered to attend and drink as became the heir to the German throne. It was an imperial and paternal command.

Can you imagine the scene?

The crown prince was not only modest, but was also timid as a child, in spite of his military rank. He had been brought up in the rigor of Prussian discipline, and under the caprice of home tyranny; the slightest fault had been punished with military severity; he was a repressed and bashful lad, but no more. The youth, sentimental, poetical and pure-minded, was thrown into the broad-girthed, brawling, guzzling proletariat of a German university, and commanded to compete with such fellows in their coarse pleasures. In huge, smoky, lamp-lit cellars, it was his to drink down mugs of beer at a word of command from some gross "president" or beer-lord; to sing when he was told or howl in chorus, and to play for scars in the foolish game of swords. Germany is a land of castes, but its student-world is utter democracy. It is well enough for a coarse-grained youth, who has been roughened in a "gymnasium," to take a dip into such a world; he will come out of it a grave doctor, lawyer or theologian; but for a timid lad, bred in the quasi-monastery of a court, it is not so well. The crown prince found it anything but well. He begged to be allowed to leave—or, at least, if he must stay, to attend only the lectures and spend his time in study. The kaiser told him his choice was between the bier-kneipe and a military prison, so the young man finished his semester. Came the vacation. The docile youth, though he had shown no great beer-prowess, was rewarded with a trip to his royal kin in England. There he was to receive another education; that of high life, l'education mondaine. His professor was to be the "first gentleman in Europe"—as the fond English call him—his

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Baltimore Club, of the Eastern League, has signed for trial, Pitcher Hall, of Dickinson College.

Supple, the crack short-stop of the Aeolian team, has signed with the Brooklyn National League team.

The work of Umpire Merity in Saturday's ball game was of the highest order. He gave entire satisfaction, favoring neither side.

Badgley, the Lehigh twirler, was considered out of his class on Saturday. He may be strong enough for Lehigh, but Alis is playing much faster ball.

Owing to the fact that Armstrong and Herman, of the Y. M. C. A. nine, are on the sick list, the game with Clinton Avenue Saturday afternoon has been cancelled. Clinton Avenue will play Dunellen.

On Saturday, July 2, Alis is scheduled to play Aeolian on Crescent Oval. As the organ grinders have been defeated twice by Alis it is safe to say that they will make a determined effort to win the third contest.

Jack Rothfuss, who played first base for Alis in one game this season, has returned to his old home in Kansas, where he will play ball. He remained away on account of a fine imposed and now that it has been remitted, he has consented to take his old position.

Matty McIntyre, who at one time was a member of the Westfield team, is developing into one of the most valuable players in the American League. He can bunt as well as hit out. He can run bases like a house flare and is second to none as an outfielder in the American League in the matter of covering ground.

There are prospects of Nat. Strong's Long Branch team disbanding soon. This team has been playing at the seashore this summer, but the patronage has not been sufficient. It is likely that Manager Johnston will be able to secure some of the players from this team. The Murray-Hills will not disband, according to good authority.

ROD AND GUN.

J. A. Staats and Fred Sandford have returned from a successful fishing trip.

An all-day shoot will be held under the auspices of the North Branch Gun Club at North Branch on July 4.

TENNIS.

There is unusual interest in tennis at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, this season, many of the players taking part in the scheduled events at home and abroad. A similar interest is manifested at the Park Club.

Odd Fellows Busy.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., met last night and worked the second degree on two candidates. Eight new members have been secured for next month. On Wednesday night, June 29, the lodge will nominate and elect officers. Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., will nominate and elect officers Monday night, June 27, and next month there will be a double installation in the Babcock building.

Graduates' Outing.

The graduates of the borough High School are enjoying a picnic over the mountains today. The young people made the start from the High School in a stage at 11 o'clock. Leslie Backer and Leonard Mantz are the committee in charge.

To Celebrate Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. William Long, of West Third street, will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Tuesday night. A large number of friends have been invited to the affair.

Open Air Concert.

The second band concert will take place tonight at Concert Park, near Tier's Lake, in the borough.

William Addis, of East Second street, has recovered from the effects of a recent automobile accident.

REPUBLICANS NAME ROOSEVELT!

Theodore Roosevelt, of New York.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

CHICAGO, June 23—Amid the deafening cheers of a multitude of enthusiastic Republicans, Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, was nominated for the Presidency at the Republican National Convention today. Former Governor Black, of New York, made the speech placing Roosevelt's name before the convention. The nomination was unanimous.

(A detailed account of the proceedings will be found on page 3.)

BUILDING INSPECTORS MEET

T. O. DOANE AT SESSION CALLED BY TENEMENT HOUSE COMMISSION.

The State Board of Tenement house Supervision met yesterday at Newark and discussed the merits of the various innovations in the inspection and supervision of this class of dwellings. Building Inspector T. O. Doane, of this city, was present.

He spoke, this morning, in high praise of the improved conditions bound to result from a strict enforcement of the new law. Some of the tenement-houses in this city will come in for a thorough overhauling, as the requirements are of considerable scope and will improve social, as well as hygienic conditions.

BARN AFIRE, BUT SMALL LOSS

BRUSH HEAP BLAZE DOES ABOUT $200 DAMAGE.

Burning brush on the Wadsworth School property, at Central avenue and Sixth streets, set fire to the shingle roof of the barn in the rear of the school building and did about $200 damage. The barn was insured for $1,500. No difficulty was experienced by the firemen in confining the flames to the roof and speedily extinguishing them.

It has been the custom to burn the accumulate brush in this same spot for ten years or more and no serious results have occurred before.

Y. M. C. A. TROPHIES.

Physical Director Heywood Receives Shields to Place in Hall.

Physical Director C. E. A. Heywood this morning received the large shield won by the local association in the State Championship Athletic contest on February 8, and will hang it, with the shield won at Orange last year, in the hall at the end of the head of the main stairway of the building.

The trophy bears the names of the record-breakers: Walter C. McNaughton, in the running high dive; O. H. Munger, in the shot-put; and Raymond M. Smith, in the potato-race.

Lodge Election.

The regular election of officers was made at Star of Plainfield Lodge, No. 25, Shepherds of Bethlehem, last night A sofa-pillow was chanced off also, the winner being William Paine, of North avenue, who held ticket number sixty-three. These officers were chosen: Commander, Mrs. Kate Howard; aide to commander, Mrs. Ida Moore; vice commander, Mrs. Jennie Bowden, chaplain, Mrs. Andrew Cox; scribe, Mrs. Charles Westphal; treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Drake; guard, Mrs. Martin. These newly-elected officers will be installed at the next meeting of the lodge.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, is visiting his son at Memphis, Tenn.

There will be a business meeting of the Young People's Association of the First Baptist church, tomorrow night.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Musson are now settled in their new home on West Front street, over L. W. Randolph's pharmacy.

Rev. O. G. Norseen, former pastor of the Swedish Pilgrim church, but now of Worcester, Mass., has been spending a few days in town.

Rev. W. W. Casselberry, of Dunellen, will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The music will be a special feature.

Rev. John W. Musson, pastor of Faith chapel, will take charge of the prayer meeting at the chapel tonight. Last night he was in charge of the prayer meeting at the First Baptist church.

Rev. James A. Francis, who preached at the First Baptist church last Sunday, is a brother of Rev. George A. Francis, formerly of Westfield. He was obliged to give up his Boston pastorate on account of ill-health.

Gift to Rutgers.

Robert F. Ballantine, of Newark, has given $1,000 toward furnishing the library at Rutgers College. A son of Dr. Carl Myer has presented a large painting of Prof. Myer to be hung in the chapel. The class of '83 presented its memorial gate. The thanks of the board were tendered Dr. Elliot Griffis for a valuable collection of ceramics.

Missionary Recovers.

J. C. Nash, a missionary from West Africa, has been discharged from Muhlenberg Hospital, where he has been confined since Monday last, with an attack of African fever. This makes the thirty-third time in three years that Mr. Nash has been taken with this most persistent of fevers.

School Exhibits.

Sr. Gabriel's Academy, the parochial school of St. Joseph's R. C. church, North Plainfield, will make a display of the children's work on June 26 and 27 The exhibition will include paintings, artistic needlework, pen sketches, and drawings, together with specimens of their regular work.

Sunday-School Class Picnic.

Miss Lock, of East Fifth street, accompanied by her Sunday-school class of fifteen young women from the "Little Church Around the Corner" in West Second street, is spending the day at Duke's farm in Raritan. The party made the trip by trolley from Watchung avenue.

Poor Little Doggie Killed.

"Skip," a thoroughbred bull pup owned by Miss Nettie Maynard, of East Second street, was run over and killed by a truck yesterday. The pup was the son of Champion Conqueror, one of the prize winners of the Westchester Kennel Club.

LITERARY.

Among the authors announced as contributors of fiction to the next few numbers of The Red Book, are Stewart Edward White, Maarten Maartens, W. A. Fraser, Eden Phillpotts, George Horton, Rex E. Beach, Hayden Carruth, William Hamilton Osborne, Harry Irving Greene and Adeline Knapp—a pretty good showing for any magazine.

Pearson's for July contains five special articles—Running The Campaign, by Day Allen Willey; Th. Nast—A Picture of the Times When History Was Warm in the Making; Reconstruction, by Mr. Albert Bigelow Paine; Modern Methods of "Finance," Example V.—The United States Steel Corporation, by Mr. Henry George, Jr.; The Battle of the Washita (Indian Fights and Fighters,) by Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady; and the Mysterious whites."

The Burr McIntosh Monthly is today one of the foremost publications in America, covering a field exclusively by itself. It contains handsome reproduction of the photographic art, of which Mr. McIntosh is a recognized master. Beautiful portraits of the world's handsomest women, needless to say almost without exception the subjects being Americans; the famous men of the times, and scenes of great importance in the line of current events, are found within the ornate covers of this unique publication, which becomes of increased interest from month to month All the picures are worthy of a fame. Ask your newsdealer for it.

The first session of the Fifty-eighth Congress lasted 139 days; the shortest first session for many years. It talked 6,155 pages of the Congressional Record. Its word-output stands third. The Fifty-seventh Congress was proudly first, with 8,414 pages; the Fifty-sixth second, with 7,765. At the first session of the Fifty-eighth 294 public bills and 1,896 private ones were passed. In the number of bills introduced it "beats" all other "records." More than 16,000 bills were brought in. Nearly 8,000 reports were made. Congress earns its money. It talks enough; and this is a great and necessary part of its functions. Let off the steam!—With the Procession, Everybody's Magazine for July.

J. Adam Bede, the humorist of the House of Representatives, has written a genial comparison of Speaker Cannon and John Sharp Williams the Democratic leader, for the July number of Leslie's Monthly Magazine. It is not only the wisdom and keenness of what Mr. Bede says, but the delightful way in which he says it that makes this sketch valuable. There is also an interesting article on The Men Who Will Control the Next National Political Conventions, and a study of Senator Fairbanks, and one of Mons Mennsen, the hero of the Missouri. The last installment of the personal story of the immigrants is in this number, as well as a thrilling article on icebergs, and the true history of Radisson, the real discoverer of the great Northwest.

In consonance with the beauty of the season the July number of the Metropolitan Magazine appears in new and exquisitely beautiful habiliments—an entire new dress of type, a new make-up, new headpiece and tailpiece decorations and initials, a deeper and broader text-page, a more readable and attractive arrangement of the letter-press and a lager scheme of illustration throughout. Sixteen pages are printed in two colors, a number of the illustrations being color facsimiles of drawings and pastels by the late Robert Blum. The July number contains the first part of a new serial story, entitled "The Princess Passes," by C. N. and A. M. Williamson, the authors of that very successful novel, "The Lightning Conductor."

Scribner's Magazine for July contains an article on the negro problem by Thomas Nelson Page, which summarizes in very vigorous fasion the conclusions to which his investigations have brought him. The title of this article is "The Disfranchisement of the Negro"—the result of the so-called "grandfather clauses" which so many of the Southern States have adopted. Mr. Page gives it as his deliberate belief that "the disfranchisement of the main body of the negro race in the Southern States was a measure of high necessity." He further believes that "this disfranchisement is for the premanent welfare of both races." The author concludes this vital discussion by saying "the direct injury the negro's worst enemy can do him is to perpetuate hostility between him and the Southern Renegade and the Indians' Side of the Fight at Beecher's Island, by Mr. Herbert Myrick.

THREE JAP ARMIES CLOSE IN ON ENEMY

St. Petersburg, June 23—That the most important battle that has been fought since the beginning of the war is imminent is admitted by the War Department here today. The correspondents at Liaoyang, Kaiping and other points along the Port Arthur railroad agree on this point.

Gen. Kuroki's army, and Gen. Oku's army and Gen. Nodzu's army are fast drawing together and are closing in for a determined and possibly a decisive battle with Kuropatkin.

Kuropatkin is doing his best to prevent a juncture of these armies.

The week of skirmishing around Sinyen retarded Gen. Kuroki's operations, permitting Gen. Stakelberg to reach Kaichow, and rear guard slowly falling back on Senuchen before the Japanese advance.

Kaichow is about fifty miles northeast of Vafangow, where Stakelberg's army was defeated.

Meanwhile large forces are hurrying south from Liaoyang to check both Gen. Oku and Gen. Kuroki.

The aim of the Japanese is apparently to drive the Russians out of the Liaotung Peninsula, preparatory to a march on Liaoyang.

Nothing is known officially of the reported occupation of Halung Yaocheng by the Japanese plan of advance as it is understood, but it shows that the Japanese outposts are further forward than Russian advices indicate.

Field Marshal Marquis Uyama has left Shimonoseki and will land at Takushan in a few days.

Until his arrival at the scene of fighting Gens. Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu will make no serious forward movement.

In view of Gen. Kuropatkin's concentration at Liaoyang Gen. Kuroki has been ordered to reinforce the armies of Nodzu and Oku.—Evening World.

MEDICINE MEN MUST CURE.

Indian Doctors Who Fail in the Treatment of a Third Patient Are Put to Death.

With the finding of the body of Neophrata, the Weitspekan medicine woman, in a lonely canyon 50 miles north of this city, and more than 300 miles from her native village, ends a most interesting story, the first chapter of which had its beginning two years ago, says the San Francisco Call.

A practice in vogue with several California tribes is the slaying of the medicine man when he shall have lost a third patient. It has been the case, heretofore, that when such a culmination of affairs has come about the condemned person has delivered himself to the proper authorities in the tribe and his death has been sure and speedy.

When Neophrata lost her third patient, two years ago, she determined to cling to life, and disappeared from the village. The finding of the body disclosed the fact that though absent she was not forgotten, and also that she had been forced to undergo terrible punishment because of her attempt to evade the penalty of one of the sacred laws of the tribe.

Death administered to the medicine man is usually swift and painless. In her case it was only after terrible torture that death came. Her executioners first bound her hand and foot, so that she was as helpless as an infant. Then they wound about her neck several coils of wet buckskin, tying it just tight enough to set close to the throat without choking her. She was then laid on the ground where the sunshine would fall upon her all day. It is probable—though this is not known—that her executioners remained to keep watch till the end came, that no rescue should be attempted. As the sun dried the wet thongs of buckskin they shrank, slowly tightening about the throat, finally producing, after a long and agonizing process, death by strangulation.

The Hero's Plea.

"Brave youth!" exclaimed the father of the girl who had been rescued from a watery grave, "how can I repay you? How can I show my gratitude?"

"Oh, if you only will please let me off," replied the young man.

"Let you off? How do you mean?"

"Don't insist upon the usual consequences; I'm engaged to another girl."—Philadelphia Press.

PUBLIC ENJOYED OPEN AIR CONCERT

Large Crowd Listened to Ben LaVere's Band Discourse Popular Airs.

OFFERMAN AS SOLOIST

GRANDSTAND WAS BETTER PATRONIZED THAN AT FIRST.

Perfect Weather Brought Out a Large Number of People—John J. Nestor Did Not Sing—Solos Pleased the Audience.

Another big crowd assembled at Concert Park, near Tier's lake, last night, to hear the second concert in Bandmaster LaVere's series. The weather conditions, cool and mosquitoless, were perfect and there was nothing to interfere with the enjoyment of a most delightful programme.

An unusually tuneful collection of numbers made up the bill, and the musicians did full justice to them. Under the practiced leadership of Director LaVere, the band played with splendid spirit and nerve.

There was one important change from the printed programme. John J. Nestor was to have sung two tenor solos, one the hit of the first night, "My Lonely Little Lonesome Maid," but he could not be present. His place was taken by Charles Offerman, who sang "Down In My Heart I Have a Feeling for You" and "Blue Bells." The selections were well sung, and pleased the audience.

The grandstand continued in popularity. More people were on it than at the opening concert, and if the rate of increase keeps up seats on it will be scarce after the first numbers at the coming concerts.

This was the programme in full:

March—"The Competitor," Heed; overture—"Poet and Peasant," Suppe; concert waltz—"Charmense," Eugene; cornet solo—"Sea Flower Polka," Bluch, Mr. L. R. Anderson; selection—"Babes in Toyland," Herbert; (a) intermezzo—"Salambo," Morse. (b) characteristic—"The Sun Dance," Friedman; vocal solo—(a) "Down in My Heart I Have a Feeling For You," (b) "Blue Bells," Charles Offerman; descriptive, "A Hunting Scene," Bucalossi; medley, "A Gleam of Heaven," Harris; finale, "Sergeant Kitty," Sloane.

CLAIMS DAMAGES FROM P. S. C.

CONSTABLE PANGBORN'S HAND INJURED ON THE TROLLEY.

Charging that the company is responsible, William Pangborn has demanded damages from the P. S. C. for a severe injury to his hand on one of the cars at the Dunellen terminal two weeks ago. Francis J. Blatz, Esq., has been retained to press the claim, and will bring suit if damages are not forthcoming.

Mr. Pangborn's hand was resting on a seat, when, without warning, it is claimed, the conductor suddenly swung the seat-back over. The heavy contrivance landed full on the back of his hand, cracking several of the small bones. His hand was rendered useless, and danger of permanent stiffness of the members has developed.

ST. AGNES' GUILD PICNIC

PLEASANT OUTING CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON OF CHURCH SOCIETY.

The members of St. Agnes Guild of Grace Episcopal church, held their last meeting for the summer on Wednesday, the affair taking the form of a picnic. The merry party boarded a trolley car on Watchung avenue, going to the foot of the mountains, where a delightful spot was found on Johnston's Drive. Here a fine lunch was enjoyed, after which the afternoon was spent in playing games. Before starting for home the baby camp was visited.

The party consisted of twenty-six members and four teachers. The return trip was made about 5 o'clock. In the fall the guild hopes to renew the classes for girls. The past year has been a successful one and the directoress wishes to thank the members and her able assistants for their hearty support and co-operation in carrying on the work of the society.

AIDING FRESH AIR CAMP

SUCCESSFUL OPEN AIR SALE FOR THE BENEFIT OF CHARITY.

The lawn in the rear of 306 Central avenue, was gay yesterday afternoon, with a crowd of children eagerly buying candy, cake and fruits, as well as fancy articles. The sale was conducted for the benefit of the Mary Morgan Fresh Air Camp. A large majority of the merchants of the city donated the good things sold there.

About 200 tickets were sold for the sale, and, taking it all together, the profits will probably amount to $30.

Miss Mary Moffett arranged the affair, with the assistance of Miss Lena Moffett, who acted as cashier, Mrs. Nelson VanWinkle, Mrs. E. B. Ryder, Mrs. Henry Mosher, Miss Jennie Tompkin, Miss Ethel Morris, Mrs. Fred Moffett, Miss Olive Hedden, Henry Zoops and Lawrence Satterlee.

The waitresses were Edna Mosher, Lulu Heideloff, Helen Ryder, Dorothy Parvin, Ruth Moore, Muriel Courser, Florence Ryder, Ted Ryder, Elizabeth Winn and Marion Wean.

At the close of the sale everyting remaining was auctioned off to the guests at figures that soon disposed of the articles.

COURT ORDERS BOYS SPANKED

PUNISHMENT METED OUT FOR QUARTETTE OF YOUNG OFFENDERS.

Stern justice was meted out to four bad boys in the borough court last night. For blocking Somerset street with overturned vegetable boxes, and annoying Groceryman Charles Thalmann, Mickey Burns, Willie Conger, Harry Hedden and George VanHousen were handed over to their mothers by Recorder Doud, sentenced to one fine, old-fashioned spanking apiece. There was a small matter of a dollar fine against each unfortunate boy, but that was nothing to them to the awful decree to be enforced in the parental woodshed.

The parents of the naughty quartette were all present. Recorder Doud told them that the punishment of the culprits rested with them, and they agreed with him so readily that the boys trembled with a premonition of what was to come. I'll fine them each a dollar," said the Recorder to the parents, "and turn them over to you for the rest of the punishment. Will you spank 'em good?" The parents said they would very promptly and very emphatically.

The boys sniffled dolefully in chorus. This morning they all refused to ride bicycles.

A MISSING TRUNK CLOUDS HONEYMOON

William Pike and His Bride Sail Away, Leaving Her Gowns in New York.

RECOVER TROUSSEAU AND PLAN ANOTHER TRIP.

Mrs. Pike Was Formerly Miss Drusilla Smith — Marriage a Surprise to Their Many Friends.

Miss Drusilla Smith, formerly of this city, and William Pike, of East Front street, were quietly married a fortnight ago and have since been on their honeymoon. The New York Evening Sun last night contained this story relating to their trip:

The wedding and honeymoon of Mrs. Drusilla Smith-Pike, of 68 West Sixty-ninth street, and her husband, William Pike, a young banker of this city, who returned yesterday from their wedding trip to New Orleans, has been a chapter of surprises, both to the young married pair and their friends. Mrs. Pike is the daughter of William B. Smith, an inventor and manufacturer, and the young pair have gone to live with Mrs. Pike's parents, at 68 West Sixty-ninth street. In spite of the little comedy of errors which followed in the train of the wedding ceremony at the Little Church Around the Corner, two weeks ago, the newly wedded young folks are now planning an extended trip to Saratoga, where Mrs. Smith-Pike expects to wear the gowns which she did not have in New Orleans.

The wedding date of the Smith-Pike nuptials had been set and a large function prepared for the many wedding guests invited to witness the church ceremony. Then Mrs. Smith, mother of the bride, fell suddenly ill and all preparations were off. A note was sent out on the trail of each wedding invitation, saying that the happy event had been postponed, and all hands would be duly notified when a new date for the ceremony had been determined upon.

While the friends of the young pair were expectantly awaiting the second notice on their invitations, the prospective bride and bridegroom hastily decided on a new move.

"What's the use of waiting?" said young Mr. Pike.

"It isn't absolutely necessary, dear," answered Miss Smith. And forthwith the knot was tied by the Rev. Dr. Houghton, pastor of the Church of the Transfiguration, on the very day printed on the wedding invitations. Miss Mary Smith became an ally of the anxious ones and witnessed the hastily planned festivities.

Directly after the ceremony the bridegroom despatched four dress suit cases and a large trunk to the Morgan line pier, and the young pair boarded the Proteus for New Orleans. The trunk contained an elaborate trousseau for the bride. The Proteus was several hours out of port when Miss Drusilla Smith-Pike made up her mind to change her gown.

"Where's our trunk?" the bride asked her husband.

"I have the key, but I haven't the trunk about me. I'll look for it," he volunteered.

Mr. Pike went down among the baggage, but no Pike trunk could be found aboard. That is why Mrs. Drusilla Smith-Pike was in New Orleans for nearly two weeks with one gown, and it is also the reason a trip to Saratoga has been planned.

Mrs. Pike's trunk has been at the Fall River line pier for the past two weeks.

Admitted to the Bar.

Fred J. Huff, one of Plainfield's leading Justices of the Peace, received word yesterday from Trenton that he had successfully passed the examination admitting him to the New Jersey Bar as a lawyer, with power of attorney. His many friends will join in congratulating him upon his success. Mr. Huff studied law with Former Assemblyman William Newcorn and he has applied himself faithfully in preparation for his chosen profession. He expects to have his offices with Mr. Newcorn on West Front street.

Hillier's Laundry Removal.

Miss Mary Brown, manager of Hillier's laundry, has leased the Linke store, on West Second street and will take possession July 1. The new place will be just as accessible as the old with the added advantage of increased space.

INJURED BY A COLLISION

MAN AND BOY THROWN FROM WAGON, WHICH TROLLEY CAR STRUCK.

James H. Searing, employed by H. A. Weber, the grocer, and a boy named William Matell, were thrown out of the grocery wagon on West Front street, this morning, sustaining injuries more or less severe. Mr Searing was on his way to deliver groceries, when a trolley car, also going west, struck the rear of the wagon, before Mr. Searing could get off the tracks.

The accident happened directly in front of George Geibelhouse's residence. Mr. Searing's injuries were chiefly about the right hand and arm and he received a few cuts in the face. The lad with him sustained injuries about the right elbow and legs, but was able to walk home. The rear axle of the wagon was twisted and the top partly torn. The horse escaped injury.

SWACKHAMER ON THE ROBIN

SOMERSET'S ASSEMBLYMAN TO TELL WHY BIRD SHOULD NOT BE KILLED.

The irrespressible robin so ably defended in the New Jersey Legislature last winter, is again to be the subject of debate under the auspices of the Somerset County Agriculture Society. Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, whose strong voice was heard in support of the bird, will be called on once more to defend it.

William H. Skillman, of Belle Mead, president of the State Horticultural Society, and State Entomologist John B. Smith, of New Brunswick, will argue in favor of extermination. A. P. Sutphen, secretary of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture, is arranging the debate which will be held at Somerville within a short time.

CHAMPION DRUNKARD.

Charlie Williams, Carrying a Heavy Load, in Trouble As Usual.

Loaded beyond the wildest dreams of dipsomania, Charles Williams, the generalissimo of the drunk brigade and holder of the world's record for jail junkets, was picked up on Somerset street yesterday by Chief Marshal Weiss.

Williams was beating to windward under the impression, expressed without shame, that he was headed for New Brunswick. Chief Weiss was scandalized, and put Charles under cover very swiftly. He was released this morning. "I don't want to go to New Brunswick any more," said Mr. Williams earnestly. "I was drunk yesterday."

Juniors Charter Trolley.

A special trolley car has been chartered by Franklin Council, No. 44, Somerset Council, No. 104, and Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., and the members will leave the North avenue trolley stand, on board the gayly trimmed conveyance, promptly at 7:30 tonight for Bound Brook, to attend the union meeting of the councils in this vicinity. A number of State officers will be there and the largest hall in the place has been taken for the affair.

Wife Beater Released.

Judge Vail withdrew the six-months' sentence he had imposed on Robert Moore, of Scotch Plains, for wife-beating and let him off under a suspension of sentence, with a warning that a second appearance in court would land him in States prison. This action was taken after the man's wife had interceded with the court.

P. O. Salaries Increased.

According to the list of adjustments of the salaries of clerks in the first and second-class postoffices of the country, which takes effect July 1, Plainfield receives these increases: One from $700 to $800; one from $800 to $900; one from $900 to $1,000, and one from $1,000 to $1,100.

Alis-St. Mary's Series.

Manager John Carty, of the proposed St. Mary's baseball team, met Manager Johnston, of Alis, last night and arranged for a series of five games between the two teams, the first of which will be played on Crescent Oval on Saturday, July 30.

Fisks Give $1,000.

Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York bankers, of which former Mayor Charles Fisk is a member, have contributed $1,000 to the Slocum disaster relief fund.

First Wedding Anniversary.

Edward Feiring, of Orchard place, will observe the first anniversary of his marriage with a reception to his friends tonight.

BASEBALL AND GOLF ATTRACTIONS TOMORROW

Lineups of the Two Teams for the Alis-Murray Hill Game on Crescent Oval.

ON HILLSIDE COURSE

HACKENSACK GOLF CLUB TEAM TO PLAY HERE.

Competitions at Park's Course—Dunellen Baseball Team to Cross Bats With Clinton Avenue A. C.—Other Contests.

There will be many sporting events tomorrow to engage the attention of all. The general public will be interested probably more in the various baseball games, the most important of which will be the one on Crescent Oval between Alis and Murray Hill. The visiting team is considered as strong as Hoboken and should give the local team a fine game. Alis expects to be wide-awake, however, and will make a strong effort to win. The game will be called at 3:45 sharp.

This will be the lineup of Alis:

Walton, ss; Creegan, lf; Farmer, c; Lauder, 2b; McGoey, cf; Gray, 3b; Lynch, rf; Gauven, 1b; Davis, p.

Murray Hill will lineup this way: Courtney, 3b; Dietrich, rf; Cusick, 2b; Hickman, ss; Bassford, cf; Conroy, rf; O'Neil, c; Tyler or Deegan, p; Smith, 1b.

Manager Johnston has decided to play Lauder on second in this game, and afterward Quinby is expected to play that position for the rest of the season. Gray, who will cover third, comes from the Aeolians. He will be remembered as being fast in the field and good with the stick. When Quinby comes, Lauder will return to his old position at third. There is no truth in the report that the Murray Hills have disbanded. They will come here very strong, and Alis will have to play fast ball to win.

There is such a demand among the fans for a game here with Hobokens on Fourth of July afternoon, that Manager Johnston has practically decided to close this date with Manager Daab. With the return of Captain Lauder there should be new life in Alis and plenty of good coaching.

The newly-organized Dunellen team will meet Clinton Avenue on the grounds of the latter and this should be full of interest to the followers of these teams.

Next in point of interest will be the many golf events on the local links. At Hillside there will be the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup and a team match between representatives of the home club and the Hackensack Golf Club. In the evening there will be an informal dance.

There will be the weekly competitions for the President's and Park Golf Club cups at the Park Golf Club, and a representative team will play a match with Cranford at the latter place. At Westfield there will be the June handicap, an event which always brings out a large field.

In addition to the golf, there will be the first club tennis tournament at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club courts. This is sure to bring out a large number of players. Several of the club members will take part in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament being held at the Jersey City Club.

WILL TOUR EUROPE IN AUTO.

Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, of Elizabeth, to Go Abroad July 5.

That noted club-woman, Mrs. Emily E. Williamson, of Elizabeth, who is president of the State Charities Aid Association, general secretary of the State Board of Children's Guardians, and Union County's probation officer, has planned an extensive trip abroad and will sail for Europe on the Cunard line from Boston July 5 with a party of friends living in that city.

Mrs. Williamson will make a tour of the continent in an automobile and anticipate much enjoyment in this mode of traveling. She will leave her home in Elizabeth for Boston July 2 and will not return until the latter part of September.

While she is away the probationary work in Union County will be attended to by her assistant, Captain Charles W. Irwin, of Elizabeth.

Cleaning Out Warren's House.

Workmen have begun to clean out the old engine house on Somerset street, preparatory to the remodelling of the interior into a jail and court house. The first thing that is to be done to the structure is the replacing of the roof.

A. O. U. W. HONORS MR. THORN

HANDSOME GOLD EMBLEM IS PRESENTED BY CENTRAL LODGE, NO. 48.

Following three years of faithful service as recorder of Central Lodge, No. 48, Ancient Order United Workmen, Harvey R. Thorn was presented with a handsome gold emblem last night by Grand Overseer F. P. Fowle, of Irvington. There were several Grand Lodge officers present and the address of the evening was made by Mr. Fowle. Other remarks were made by Past Grand Master Workman V. W. Nash and Grand Trustee Edward Mosher.

Mr. Fowle made a happy speech in presenting the jewel to Mr. Thorn and the recipient responded with a few well chosen words of appreciation. During the evening two candidates were initiated, after which there was a social time and refreshments. The lodge has taken on a new lease of life and several new members are promised in the near future.

STRICT RULES FOR R. F. D.

CARRIERS CANNOT SOLICIT OR RECEIVE COMPENSATION.

As the rural free delivery is now a part of the local mail system, a new order which goes in effect July 1, and which effects this part of the mail system, will be of interest. The law leaves much to the discretion of the Postmaster-General. According to the new ruling the rural carriers are not to solicit business or receive orders for any person, firm or corporation. All mailable matter must be prepaid, except county newspapers to actual subscribers. Carriers are not permitted to receive compensation from the seller of merchandise carried, and the carrier must not leave the route officially laid out in delivering such merchandise.

Carriers while on duty are not to carry, either for themselves, for sale or for the accommodation of their patrons, spirituous liquors. They are not to engage in any business during their prescribed hours of service or after hours which offer the temptation to solicit patronage on their routes, or giving them special advantage over competitors, such as book canvassing, insurance, selling sewing machines, nor compile or assist in compiling directories, nor furnish names for pay or favor to business men or establishments.

TALKED ON MOTHERS' DUTIES

MRS. FULLER DELIVERED AN INTERESTING ADDRESS BEFORE THE W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Fuller, of Bedford, Mass., National Superintendent of Mother's meetings of the W. C. T. U., made an interesting address at the meeting of the local Union yesterday afternoon. She talked in a helpful way o the "Responsibility of Mothers."

Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county superintendent, was also present and she gave a brief talk of what is being done in Washington in the way of temperance legislation. She said that she had received information from Mrs. Ellis, who is stationed in Washington, that the Government had appropriated $100,000 to be used in fitting up the army posts with gymnasiums, reading rooms and other appliances which will, to a large extent, take the place of the army canteen.

Mrs. Ellis declared that there is no desire on the part of Congress to return the canteen to the soldiers, believing that their present condition is far better than heretofore when the canteen was a part of the various posts.

Westfield Girl Drank Too Much.

Patrolman Saffron gathered in a fair young prisoner at 2 o'clock this morning in the person of Dorothy Buckingham, a dreamy-eyed young woman from Westfield. She had attended the band concert last night and meeting some jolly friends had enjoyed liquid refreshments with them. She lost herself on Seventh street where the officer found her. She promised so earnestly to do better that the Judge released her under suspended sentence.

The Same Old Story.

On Wednesday night, Thomas U. Dudley, of North Plainfield, lost a valuable yellow spaniel. Yesterday he advertized his loss in The Daily Press and soon after the paper was issued the dog was returned. A family on West Front street, readers of The Daily Press, saw the advertisement and at once took the dog to his owner.

RAMAZOTTI TO SUE FOR $5,000 DAMAGES

Plainfield Store Keeper, Acquitted on Charge of Keeping a Speakeasy, Wants Redress.

ACTION AGAINST CITY

AGGRIEVED MAN RETAINS COUNSEL TO TO BRING PROCEEDINGS.

Humiliated by Being Handcuffed and Taken to Elizabeth—His Lawyer, William G. DeMeza, Talks on the Case.

David J. Ramazotti, the Park avenue fruit dealer, through his counsel, William G. DeMeza, is about to bring suit against the city for $5,000 damages for false imprisonment in connection with his recent arrest on a charge of illegal liquor selling.

It will be remembered that Mr. Ramazotti, together with a number of others, was arrested for the alleged keeping of "speak-easies." In most cases the persons arrested were not confined in the county jail. It is claimed that bail was refused in the case of Mr. Ramazotti, although his counsel offered the bond a well-known freeholder, who was well qualified in the matter. The accused was taken to Elizabeth handcuffed to another prisoner and detained over night. The next day, when he entered a plea of not guilty the court was obliged to accept bail and Mr. Ramazotti was subsequently released.

He takes the position that inasmuch as he was acquitted of the charge preferred and that the city refused him bail, he is entitled to damages for false imprisonment and unless he is reimbursed he will bring action against the city.

Mr. DeMeza in speaking of the latter says that the city had no moral or legal right to refuse his client bail, especially as he is a citizen and a business man in this city. He claims that the city authorities have acted very unjust and that in view of this they should be compelled to make a satisfactory settlement. He also claims that his client was disgraced in being handcuffed to a prisoner accused of another crime and led to the county jail, there to be incarcerated for a length of time.

P. S. C. EXPRESS NEW SCHEDULE

SIX THROUGH CARS IN EACH DIRECTION UNDER TWO HOURS HEADWAY.

Six trolley cars are now being operated each way between Jersey City and Trenton, under two hours' headway. The new arrangements went into effect today. There has been such a demand for the through service and the cars have been so crowded that the Public Service Corporation was obliged to put additional cars in service.

Going west, through cars now leave the Watchung avenue stand in the morning at 9:44, 11:44 and in the afternoon at 1:44, 3:44, 5:44 and 7:44, and arrive at Trenton at 12:30, 2:30, 4:30, 6:30, 8:30 and 10:30.

On the eastbound trip the cars leave the Watchung avenue stand at 10:16 in the morning, and in the afternoon at 12:16, 2:16, 4:16, 6:16 and 8:16, arriving in New York at 12:55, 2:55, 4:55, 6:55, 8:55 and 10:55. At Trenton connection is made by boat for Philadelphia.

PICNIC AT PARK.

Primary and Junior Sunday-School Teachers' Union Enjoy Day's Outing.

The annual picnic of the Primary and Junior Sunday-school Teachers' Union, at Riverside Park, yesterday, was a success and one of the best yet held. In all forty-five members and friends of the Union went by trolley to the popular picnic grounds and spent a delightful day.

At the same time there was a large Sunday-school present from New Brunswick and the exchange of greetings proved a pleasant feature of the occasion. The Plainfielders took their own lunch and at noon the repast was enjoyed.

Drunk on Roadside.

William Ranwell was taken in a drunken condition from the roadside on South avenue to the police station yesterday morning, at 11:30, in the patrol wagon. Patrolman Higgins made the arrest. Sentence was suspended on him this morning by Judge Runyon.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

The strawberry festival that furnishes ice cream, made by Mehrten, is as sure to succeed, as if the profits were already in the treasurer's hands.

For rigs that look just like private ones go to J. D. Frazer's Park stables on Somerset street. The best managed livery stable in the city and borough.

A. H. Enander, the sanitary plumber, guarantees his work every time and he is an expert in his business. All work left in his care will receive prompt attention.

Where is there a better carpenter and builder than W. H. Kirch? Not within the ken of anybody hereabouts. He is the safest man in whose charge to entrust a contract.

When you have a prescription put up you want to go to a place where the drugs are sure to be pure and the chemist expert. Go to Schreiner's pharmacy for that assurance.

Boice, Runyon & Co., the Park avenue coal dealers, are now prepared to receive orders for large supplies of anthracite, lumber or building materials. You will find the prices right.

For pure milk and cream, fresh eggs and butter go to Marchant Brothers, of North avenue. The firm takes particular care to sell only first-class goods and will be pleased to serve you.

Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, those afflicted with eye, ear, throat or nose trouble, can call on Dr. James E. Wright, at his office in the Woodhull & Martin building, and get treatment by an expert in these diseases.

An opportunity not often 'vouchsafed the Plainfield public, is offered by Powlison & Jones, in their clearing sale of summer furniture. They want to sell all the porch rockers, swings, cane couches and stools before July first. You can get a better selection in this way than by going to the metropolitan department stores.

The toughest proposition the baggage smasher ever went up against, is the theatrical trunk, handled by David Dreier, the proprietor of the new trunk and leather goods store on West Front street near Somerset. These trunks can endure a greater amount of indiscriminate slamming around, than anything that ever held clothes.

Hill & Shupp's dry goods store is headquarters for seasonable goods. This week the firm will close out the balance of the fine goods secured from Sweetser Pembrook & Co., and persons looking for bargains should take advantage of this sale. The semi-annual clearing sale of carpets is also well worth looking after, while the sale of trunks and suit cases is meeting with great success.

Now is the accepted time and likewise the very best time for canning strawberries. They are at the fulness of their ripeness, at the top notch of their glory, and delay may mean a slackening of flavor and of quality. Of the berries in the market the very best to be had are at Neuman Bros. They have always been noted for their strawberries, and this year their stock is the finest in their history.

AMUSEMENTS.

Wm. Collier, who is now under Charles Frohman's management, appears at the Criterion in a new farce by Richard Harding Davis, entitled "The Dictator." The author has fitted Mr. Collier ideally and given him a play that is all laughter, resultant from a skillfully handled farce with numerous amusing situations. The scenes are laid among the feverish fire-eaters of the southern republics, and this not only gives plenty of chance for fun, but gives romantic coloring to it also.

Luna Park—The attractions of this seaside park grow more alluring as the summer days come on. A score of Cingalese girls have been added to the five hundred persons who take part in the Delhi Durbar. Sharing attention with the Durbar is the spectacle "Fire and Flames." Some of the other attractions are the elephants who shoot the chutes, and the trip to the moon.

Dreamland—A throng of visitors pour through the gates every hour and thoroughly enjoy the wonders of the place. The free vaudeville performance on the plaza stage, now one of the most popular feats, includes Flora, who does daring things on the slack wire; the Yaeger troupe of balancers and the Texarkanas' dancers. "The Temption of St. Anthony," the fall of Pompeii, the canals of Venice and the sewers of Paris are some of the newer attractions in Dreamland.

Bostock's—The giant orang outang is a centre of interest among the great number of animals in the show. Bonavita and his lions are as entertaining as ever and "the missing link" hold a reception afternoon and evening. Mr. Bostock came from Europe Monday, bringing a score or more of Polar bears, tigers, and hyenas for his animal arena.

SEA GIRT CAMP NOT A PICNIC

ORDERS ISSUED BY GENERAL GILLMORE LIKELY TO HAVE BENEFICIAL RESULTS.

The week's encampment of the National Guard at Sea Girt is not to be a picnic this year. This is indicated by a preliminary order just issued by General Gillmore, through Assistant Adjutant General Gilkyson, which has been recieved by Captain Martin, of Co. K. The order deals with the regulating of guard duty during the encampment.

General Gillmore orders that the guard each day shall consist of one first lieutenant, who will be commandant of the guard; two second lieutenants, two sergeants, four corporals, two musicians and sixty privates.

The guard to serve Saturday, July 9, and Saturday, July 16, will be detailed previous to the departure of the organization from their home stations. This guard will be employed on the trains to preserve order and prevent the soldiers from riding on the car platforms.

On the arrival of the regiments at Sea Girt the guard will be formed in their rear and as the regiments march past the guard tents the guard, when arriving opposite its position, will fall out from the column.

This last arrangement will do away with the long delays that have heretofore occurred in mounting the guard after the troops reach camp.

First Lieutenant Richard F. Cross, of Elizabeth, who has made a special study of guard mounting, has been detailed as instructor of guard duty for the entire encampment. Each colonel is to detail an officer satisfactory to Lieutenant Cross and his junior in rank as his assistants.

The order providing for the guard to preserve order on the trains is made to prevent a recurrence of the incident of several years ago, when some of the soldiers discharged their guns while the train was passing through Rahway, causing a runaway in which a man was seriously injured.

The summer home of the militia at Sea Girt is making preparations for a long season.

The State camp is an attractive place, and the appreciation which it meets is evidence by the Government officers and men from Governor's Island, who have already pitched their tents on the parade ground and are already at daily rifle practice.

The clubhouse is now open for the officers.

STATE DENTAL SOCIETY MEETING.

Annual Gathering to Take Place in July at Asbury Park.

The New Jersey State Dental Society will hold its thirty-fourth annual session this year in the Beach Auditorium, Asbury Park, on July 20, 21 and 22, and the sessions will be attended by several Plainfielders. The headquarters will be at the Hotel Columbia.

The gathering will be of more than usual interest and will amount practically to a post-graduate course in dentistry. There will be an exhibit of all new appliances, and valuable papers will be read by learned members of the profession. At the opening session, Wednesday morning, President H. S. Sutphen, D. D. S., of Newark, will deliver the annual address. The general public will be excluded except on Thursday evening, when the society will give them an entertainment.

REDUCED RATES TO DETROIT.

Via Pennsylvania Railroad, Account National Convention Baptist Young People's Union of America.

For the benefit of those desiring to attend the National Convention of the Baptist Young People's Union of America, to be held at Detroit, Mich., July 7 to 10, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell round-trip tickets from all stations on its lines to Detroit, July 5 to 7, inclusive, good going on those dates and good to return until July 12, inclusive, at rate of a single fare for the round trip, plus $2. By depositing tickets with special agent at Detroit on or before July 10, and payment of fifty cents, an extension of final return limit may be obtained to leave Detroit not later than August 15. For specific rates and full information concerning stopovers, consult nearest ticket agent.

A Suggestion from

STEINWAY & SONS

About Piano Tuning

are continually doing a great deal of mischief to good pianos. It will therefore doubtless be of interest to owners of Steinway and other pianos, residing at not too great a distance from New York, to learn that we are now prepared to take orders for the tuning and regulating of pianos during the summer months at special rates. Not only the members of our large regular tuning force but also those of our staff of experts who, during the winter season, have been traveling with eminent pianists on their concert tours, and who have now returned to New York, are available for this work. The greater the number of orders from any one place or vicinity the lower our charge will be for each piano attended to. Consequently we would suggest to prospective customers in any locality that they "club together" in sending us their orders, whenever feasible and agreeable, as the most economical and satisfactory plan. Your patronage is respectfully solicited.

DIAMOND DUST.

The Hobokens will play the Trenton Y. M. C. A. at Trenton on Saturday. Thus far Trenton has won two games and lost one with Hoboken.

Wiltse, who is a Somerville boy, is pitching great ball for Baltimore this season. His brother is on the pitching staff of the New York Nationals.

Walton, of Phillipsburg, who is playing short stop for Alis, will be given a trial in the same position for the Stars, of Elisabeth, on Sunday afternoon.

The crack Orange A. C. team was defeated by the Trenton Y. M. C. A. team at Trenton, yesterday, by a score of 6 to 3. Egner, the local's pitcher, struck out 14 men.

Many fans are sorry that Badgley, the Lehigh pitcher, was not given more of a show in the game against Hoboken, and it is possible that he may be given another trial.

"Willie" Keeler, of the New York Americans, has been on the injured list for several days. The Highlanders are playing gilt-edge baseball, although some of their best players are laid up.

Nearly every one of the big college baseball teams will lose their best players this year, through graduation. The condition among the under graduates, however, seems promising, there being plenty of material.

Before the baseball season was started in this city it was openly stated that the manager of the Westfield team was dictating the policy for the Alis Club. Now that Alis has a good manager, one well able to care for the best interests of the team and patrons of the game, it looks out of place for the down-the-line manager to try and tell the local management what it should do regarding the disputed game. Manager Johnson has told Manager Denman the conditions upon which he will continue the series, and if the Westfield manager has the interest of the series at heart he will throw out that questionable game. That is the quickest way to bring about a settlement of the trouble.

CORTELYOU SPEAKS

Chairman of Republican Committee Wants No Dictation.

SO FORMAL STATEMENT OF PLANS

Has Resigned From the Cabinet and Will Have Absolute Power In the Conduct of the Political Campaign.

CHICAGO, June 24.—George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the Republican national committee, in thanking the committee for the honor they had bestowed upon him told the members that while he would be glad to have the benefit of their advice and counsel he intended to be chairman in fact and would accept no dictation from any one, high or low. He told them that the friends of the late chairman, Mr. Hanna, were his friends, and he asked for the same measure of confidence and support that had been given to the last chairman.

In conclusion he sought the advice of both old and new members.

Mr. Cortelyou made no formal statement of his plans. He resigned as secretary of commerce and labor as soon as he was elected chairman, the resignation to take effect as soon as his successor qualifies, which will be about July 1. Secretary Cortelyou will not give any active time to political matters until he retires from the cabinet. Then he will select the executive committee and make his preliminary arrangements for the campaign.

After Mr. Cortelyou had closed his remarks Elmer Dover of Ohio was named for secretary by Senator Scott, Cornelius N. Bliss of New York for treasurer by Governor Murphy and William F. Stone of Maryland for sergeant at arms by Senator McComas. All of these officers were unanimously elected.

A resolution was passed authorizing the chairman to appoint an executive committee of nine, with such other officers as are necessary for the management of the campaign. Under this resolution the chairman is given absolute power in the conduct of the campaign.

Chairman Parker of the Missouri delegation presented to the committee an invitation from David R. Francis, president of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company, asking the committee to dine with him tonight. The thanks of the committee were voted to Mr. Francis for the courtesy, but it was stated that the engagements of the members of the committee would prevent them from accepting.

The vacancy in the committee from Louisiana was left to the chairman to fill. The delegation from that state is deadlocked and could not choose a member.

ROOSEVELT AND FAIRBANKS.

President Received the News of Nominations Quietly at White House.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—President Roosevelt, after receiving the news of his nomination at the White House, accepted the affectionate congratulations of those about him. He was the most unconcerned seemingly of all. He chatted animatedly a few minutes with Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Carow and Mr. Loeb and then accompanied his secretary to the executive office.

Outward indications that Theodore Roosevelt was about to be chosen unanimously as the standard bearer of his party absolutely were lacking at the White House in the morning. The president appeared at his desk at the usual hour and began immediately the transaction of routine executive business with Secretary Loeb. The president was kept in close touch with the situation at Chicago through the press bulletins and private messages from the convention hall, which were received over a special wire at the White House.

On his return to the executive offices, after he had been informed of his nomination, President Roosevelt greeted cordially a number of newspaper men. He expressed his pleasure at receiving the warm congratulations of those who in the performance of their duties are kept constantly in touch with the president and his work.

Sitting tilted back in a big armchair at his desk the president chatted freely and frankly with those about him. All were his personal friends, and the president realized perfectly that the little confidences of the "executive session," as he himself termed it, would be held as inviolable. He talked and acted not as president of the United States, not as the standard bearer of a great political party, but as Theodore Roosevelt, the man and friend.

As soon as the president received news of the nomination of Senator Fairbanks he sent to him the following telegram:

"Permit me to extend to you and the country my hearty congratulations on your nomination. I need hardly add how much pleased I am personally."

In a short time this reply was received from Senator Fairbanks:

"I thank you for your congratulations. To be named by the convention as your associate in the great campaign that is before us is a distinction which I greatly appreciate."

A party of the famous rough riders sent this message to Colonel Roosevelt:

"Your comrades of 1898, delegates to this great convention, congratulate you on this, one of the greatest events in American history. Every soldier of your regiment will be on duty from now until you are elected president. May God bless you."

Plainfield, N. J., June 24 1904.

There are many dead ones trying to do business but classed as deceased for the want of advertising. — White's Sayings.

It's time for some old codger to come along with the statement that he predicted Fairbank's nomination when the Indiana man was a school boy.

The really important question is not whether Bryan will bolt the Democratic convention, but whether the Democratic convention will bolt Bryan.

Serious results are bound to ensue if the recklessness of automobilists in this city is not checked. Many machines dash through the streets at a high rate of speed and no regard is paid to the safety of pedestrians.

The appropriation made by the Common Council for street sprinkling work has proven to be a profitable investment. The work appears to be thoroughly done and according to the street commissioner there are very few complaints on the part of property owners.

That Plainfield people enjoy good clean sport is evident, judging from the attendance at the baseball games on Cresoent Oval. The crack aggregation representing the Alis Club will cross bats with the Murray Hill nine tomorrow afternoon and the size of the crowd expected to witness the contest promises to be a record breaker.

The second double-planer that has ever been built was completed at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant yesterday. This machine is largely improved over the first one that was built some time ago, it is motor-driven and besides the two cross-rails it has four side-heads, eight heads altogether. The machine will be shipped to Canada Monday.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—The John B. Brown house on Park avenue has been repainted and repaired.

—Driver S. L. Frasee, of the chemical engine, is recovering from the effects of his severe illness.

—During the summer the various classes at Princeton University will hold reunions at Asbury Park and Plainfield will be well represented.

—VanArsdale has just received another lot of tan Oxford ties for everybody. Tan low cuts are all the rage, and VanArsdale is up to the minute.

—George Biggs, of Manning avenue, celebrated his sixteenth birthday yesterday. Among the presents the lad received was a handsome silver watch from his employer, T. S. Armstrong.

—Lennox D. Barnes, baritone of New York city, will be the soloist at the Y. M. C. A. meeting on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Barnes is a nephew of B. T. Barnes, formerly of this city, and will be remembered as the popular soloist at the concert that was given at the Congregational church last spring.

Rev. F. E. Whiteside, of New York, has returned home after a visit to friends on Central avenue.

Miss Frances Kelp, of Monticello, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Edna Sebring, of Somerset street.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

A series of games between the Dunellen A. C. and the New Market team would prove a drawing card. The followers of both teams have confidence in their favorites and would like to see some arrangement made.

The management of the Dunellen A. C. cleared money on last Saturday's game. That was the first paying game of the season and shows that the new amateur team is a success.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Dr. M. J. Whitford.

Next Thursday evening, the wedding of Miss Mary Onderdonk Hunt to Clarence J. F. Gunning will take place at the home of F. Percy Vail.

Metallic fire escapes are soon to be put upon the school buildings in Piscataway, which are not already provided with these necessities.

Word received from John Peters, who is travelling in Germany, indicates that his party is having a most enjoyable time.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Building and Loan Association was held last evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Casselberry, of the Presbyterian church, will hold a reception in the parsonage on Monday evening.

"Mayor Bill" Smith has, as yet, shown no inclination to return to his native heath, from his travels in the West.

Mr. Shorton, the new proprietor of the Hotel Nelson, will give a formal opening of that hostelry next week.

Several friends of the late T. S. Alberti attended his funeral at New Brunswick this morning.

A tournament will be held on the courts of the Dunellen Tennis Club, tomorrow afternoon.

The New Market ball team has won nine straight games and is now looking for more scalps.

Mrs. R. W. Meeker, of Plainfield, spent yesterday with Mrs. Frank Wynkoop.

A party of young people from the borough spent last evening boating on the lake.

Mrs. Joseph Kissam spent yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Craig.

Arthur Vail has been secured to play right field on the Dunellen A. C.

Joseph Fisher is spending a few days with relatives at Lebanon.

S. R. Davis has been entertaining his mother from High Bridge.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The trolley service of late has been a great improvement over the service of the past. In those days, no matter what the weather was when open cars were once started, they continued in service until the winter snows began to fall. The present management is more considerate of the travelling public and in stormy weather closed cars are called out and put into service.

The local members of the Royal Arcanum observed "Flag Day" of the order in an appropriate manner, hardly a member but what had the stars and stripes floating to the breeze from their home. In the borough, Mayor Warren granted permission to fly the borough flag in honor of the day.

The ball game scheduled for tomorrow afternoon with the New Providence Field Club has been cancelled by Manager Schultz. Manager Hand is trying to put on a game so as not to disappoint the fans, but owing to the short notice given him it is doubtful if he will succeed.

The Northeastern Telephone and Telegraph Company is endeavoring to secure a franchise for the stringing of wires through the town.

The second of the series of band concerts, given in Plainfield last night, was attended and enjoyed by many from the village.

Mrs. Orbie Price, of Plainfield, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hull, of East Front street.

The members of the Weekly Bible Study Class have decided to discontinue the weeky study meetings until fall.

John Mooney, who has been quite ill for the past two weeks, has recovered and is able to be about again.

Miss Pindegrast, of New York, is spending the summer at "The Homestead," in the borough.

The weekly teachers' and prayer meeting will be held tonight at the Baptist church.

Miss Beula Coles has been entertaining friends from Plainfield for a few days.

Miss Nellie Hollingsworth is sojourning for a time at Cape Cod, Mass.

Miss Jennie Frentz spent Thursday with relatives in Plainfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Mission Circle, of the Baptist church, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Harris. A fair attendance was present.

Delegates to the State convention of the State Camp, P. O. S. of A., to be held in August at Ocean City, have been appointed by Camp 41.

Some young persons from here attended an evening party held at the home of Parker Morris and brothers, last night.

Mrs. Mary Pyatt and Mrs. Elizabeth Sturgis, of Clinton avenue, are visiting friends in New York.

Mrs. Lou Ackerman, of Plainfield, called on Miss Nellie Manning yesterday.

Philip Smith listened to the band concert at North Plainfield last night.

John Higgins is employed in Plainfield.

EXECUTIVE PARDON FOR HIM

PRESIDENT ORDERS RELEASE OF LAD CONVICTED OF POSTAL THEFTS.

Pardoned by the President, Charles Townley, the sixteen-year-old boy who was detected in systematic robbery of the postoffice here while employed as a special delivery letter carrier, will be released from Trenton jail today.

Young Townley was sentenced to one year in prison. Every effort was made to secure a suspended sentence, but the ironclad tradition hedging convictions for postoffice crimes made that form of leniency impossible. The boy had a lot of friends, however, and prominent Plainfielders, headed by City Judge William N. Runyon, who were convinced that he had only made an slip in the face of strong temptation, carried the matter to the highest sources. Through their efforts the case was laid before President Roosevelt, and the Chief Executive, convinced in turn that the sentence was too harsh, readily freed the young Plainfielder from his cell.

The boy is expected to arrive home this afternoon. He has served four months of his sentence.

Mrs. Pettit to Preside.

Mrs. Alonzo Petit, of Elizabeth, who is well-known here from her connection with Sunday-school Union work in this county, will be one of the presiding officers at the summer school at Northfield, Mass., for womens' foreign missionary societies. She will begin her work there on July 12. On the opening day of the conference she will have charge of the primary class instruction.

Miss Day's Party.

Miss Frances Day, of West Fourth street, entertained a number of friends at a pit party last night. James McEntee and Miss Mary Morrison won the prizes. Refreshments were served after the play.

Floyd T. Woodhull, of West Front street, returned last night from Atlantic City, where his wife is stopping for her health. He says that Mrs. Woodhull is very much better.

To Celebrate Marriage Anniversary.

In celebration of their twentieth marriage anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Schmeyer, of Prospect place, will entertain tonight.

RANDOLPH'S
ROACH POWDER
is the best preparation for the extermination of croton bugs, water bugs, cock roaches, etc. It Means Sure Death
to every bug that walks through or passes over the place where this powder is sifted, as they will swallow the smallest portion that adheres to their feet, legs or horns—which will totally destroy them. The use of this powder thoroughly eradicates the roach pest in a short time.

MINISTERS STONED

French and German Envoys Suffer Outrage In Haiti.

PALACE GUARDS THE PERPETRATORS

Washington, Paris and Berlin Heat of the Assault on Representatives and Their Wives—High Feeling Against Foreigners.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—A cablegram from Minister Powell, at Port-au-Prince, says:

"The French and German ministers, with their ladies, while passing the palace in their carriages were stoned by the palace guard. French minister slightly injured. Apology demanded, but not given. Both have cabled their governments."

A Paris report says that the foreign office has received a dispatch from M. Deprez, French minister at Port-au-Prince, Haiti, saying that while he and the German minister were driving past the palace at Port-au-Prince they were attacked and stoned by soldiers forming the palace guard.

M. Deprez was struck by a stone and was slightly injured. The ministers' wives, who were in another carriage following, were also pelted. The wife of the French minister is an American.

Foreign Minister Delcasse has not yet determined what steps shall be taken, but the officials consider it certain that France will make an energetic demand for redress.

One French warship is near the scene, and another is at the French naval headquarters in the West Indies. A cablegram from Berlin says that Germany will make a like demand for redress.

Advices from Port-au-Prince say that the attack on the French and German ministers, who were stoned by the guards on duty at the palace, was the outcome of the feeling among the population and the government against foreigners, the natives holding them responsible for the wretched financial situation of Haiti.

The proceedings against the French and German officials of the National bank, charged with participation in the issue of $200,000 in fraudulent securities early in 1903, have not been ended. Some of the officials are still in prison, and others have sought safety in flight.

Persons prominently connected with the National bank have been protesting against the long detention in prison of the officials who are under charges.

Man Hunt With Bloodhounds.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 24.—Bloodhounds from the Eastern New York reformatory, at Napanoch, are being used to trail two of the bandits who waylaid Orson C. Longyear near Jockey hill and robbed him. Two Italians were seen at Old Hurley, three miles from the scene of the robbery, and resisted attempts of armed farmers to restrain them. Later shots were exchanged between the fugitives and a sheriff's posse. More than 200 deputies are taking part in the man hunt.

Porte Yields to Powers' Demands.

PARIS, June 24.—The foreign office has been advised that the porte has yielded completely to the demands of the powers for redress as a result of the Armenian persecutions. Evicted Armenians will be returned to their old homes, indemnified for losses and protected for the future. The sultan, however, has thus far declined to ratify the porte's decision. The concessions followed a definite intimation that the powers were preparing to make a naval demonstration in Turkish waters.

A Bold Idaho Bandit.

SILVER CITY, Ida., June 24.—A bandit with a shotgun has held up the outgoing stage to Murphy, near the summit, a few miles from this place. Nine passengers were forced to alight and give up their valuables. The robber then demanded the mail sack, which he ransacked. The stage driver was then ordered to drive on. The robber wore a black mask, and his shoes were covered with cloth to prevent leaving a track. Sheriff McDonald and posse are in pursuit.

Persian Chancellor Weds.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Miss Gertrude Heilbrun and Henry C. Finkelstein, the chancellor and interpreter of the Persian legation, were married at noon in the drawing room of the legation. The Rev. A. Simon officiated. Only the near relatives of the couple and Baron Moncheur, the Belgian minister, and two Washington friends were present.

Jap Get Loan In Silver Dollars.

EL PASO, Tex., June 24.—K. Tosawa, special emissary from Japan to Mexico, has arrived here and says that he succeeded in negotiating a loan for war purposes in the republic. Much of the money, consisting of silver dollars, has been shipped already to the orient. Mr. Tosawa would not divulge the amount of the loan.

Miss Herried to Christen Dakota.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The navy department has been notified that Grace Herried, daughter of Governor Charles Herried of South Dakota, has been invited by the Union Iron works, San Francisco, to christen the big armored cruiser South Dakota at that place.

Wife Slayer Found Guilty.

WASHINGTON, June 24. — A. L. Shaffer, a former employee of the government printing office, who shot and killed his divorced wife in this city last August, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the District criminal court.

BETSY ROSS.

Five Pointed Star In the American Flag a Woman's Idea.

It is high time women were beginning to write history for themselves. Recently I wanted to find out something about Betsy Ross, who made and partly designed the first American flag, the one accepted by Washington and afterward by the congress of the colonies. I searched through five encyclopedias, all of them dealing specially with American biography, one with American biography alone and professing to make note of everybody worth while born or figuring on this continent in the last four centuries. In every one of these alleged encyclopedias I found a whole troop of Rosses, "theologians and divines" mostly, that nobody ever heard of, but not one word concerning the skillful and brainy woman who wrought the first flag of our country. In the very history itself of the American flag in those encyclopedias there is not a syllable concerning Elizabeth Ross, scores of whose descendants are yet living.

One of these descendants, Mrs. Rachel Albright, a granddaughter of the original Betsy herself, to this day makes flags for the members of various historical societies who desire them. Mrs. Albright lives in Iowa. She is ninety-one years old. Betsy Ross herself lived till 1836, dying at the age of eighty-four. Mrs. Albright was born and brought up in her grandmother's home, therefore remembers the fashioner of our country's flag well. A grandniece, Mrs. Susan McCord Turner of Philadelphia, also remembers Mrs. Ross, who, she says, was beautiful even in her old age.

Let us recall the story of the maker of the first United States flag. Let us patch together the few facts that are on record concerning this important personage whom men historians omit the mention of, so opposed are they to giving credit to a woman for anything, and so taken up are they with exploiting their own sex.

Betsy Ross' maiden name was Elizabeth Griscom, and when a mere girl she was noted for her exquisite needlework. She was three times married. Her first husband's name was Ross. He conducted an upholstering business in Philadelphia, but died young, and Betsy continued the enterprise on her own account. This fact shows her ability and grit. She was twenty-four years old when she made the first flag.

A committee of men was appointed to design a flag, and Betsy was appointed to make it. The design was shown to her. Washington himself had helped to make the design, patterning it somewhat after the English coat of arms of his own family. He himself drew the sketch for the flag and showed it to Betsy Ross. There were the thirteen red and white stripes, with thirteen six pointed stars ranged in a circle upon the blue union.

Betsy Ross told Washington the six pointed star was a mistake. It was the heraldic star of the British, the enemies of the Americans. She declared that the five pointed star, the heraldic emblem in use among the French and Belgians, who were the friends of the young colonies, was the right one. By employing it on the young nation's flag the patriots would pay a graceful compliment to the only friends they had in their struggle for freedom. Besides that, the five pointed star would arrange itself easily for the circle of stars the first flag contained.

Then Mrs. Ross took a piece of paper, folded it, cut it with a stroke of her scissors, unfolded it and showed to General Washington the perfect five pointed star design which now adorns our flag. Washington was convinced on the spot. Betsy Ross got soon afterward the contract for making all the government flags.

The flag committee of men recommended to congress that a new stripe be added to the original thirteen for each new state. Again Betsy objected strenuously. She told them that would destroy the symmetry of the flag. She said a star should be added for each new state. However, they did not consider that a woman could possibly know anything, so went on and urged the additional stripe provision. Congress adopted it, and the flag continued to grow bulkier and bulkier and uglier and uglier until 1818, when the national authorities were obliged to go back to Mrs. Ross' original plan of thirteen stripes, adding a star for every state. The old pattern had been followed till the flag contained twenty stripes. Mrs. Ross had the happiness of living to see her original suggestion adopted.

Her flag was adopted by congress June 14, 1777, and the next day Betsy Ross was married to her second husband, Captain Ashburn. Her third husband was John Claypool.

Sweet Alice Lowered Record.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Graziallo, at 12 to 1 in the betting, won the Sheepshead Bay handicap, one mile, at Sheepshead Bay, defeating a first class field in the fast time of 1:38 4-5. Savable and Roehampton ran head and head to the stretch, where Martin sent Graziallo to the front and won. Savable was second, a length in front of Ingold. White Crest won the Rockaway cup steeplechase, over the full course, easily. Sweet Alice, carrying ninety-eight pounds, in the last race, a handicap, six and a half furlongs on the turf, lowered the track record 1 3-5 seconds by making the distance in 1:19 1-5.

East and West Won at Tennis.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24. — Miss May Sutton of Pasadena, Cal., and Miss Helen Homans of the West Side Tennis club of New York won their matches in the semifinal round of the women's lawn tennis tournament for the championship of the United States on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket club.

Guphill Got the Trophy.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 24.—In the Grand American tournament Richard L. Guphill of Aitken, Minn., handicapped at nineteen yards, won the Grand American trophy, a silver tea service and $1,000 in cash, in the third shoot-off of a tie with William Randall of Telluride, Colo., at ninety-six breaks.

New Yorkers Very Fast.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 24.—Squadron A of New York has defeated the New Haven polo team, the local men being outclassed in the first three periods, but in the last fifteen minutes improved rapidly and scored all of their points. The playing of the New York men was very fast.

Colonel White at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—Colonel White was the only winning favorite of a fair card at the Fair association track. Elle, third choice in the feature event, ran away from the equal favorites, Thane and Irish Jewel. Forty-two books did a big business.

Edward at Kiel.

KIEL, Germany, June 24.—King Edward has arrived here to attend the regatta, escorted by several ships of war. When the royal yacht Victoria and Albert sailed into the harbor the king was received with the customary royal salute. King Edward was accompanied by Prince Louis of Battenberg, the Earl of Selborne, first lord of the admiralty; Viscount Churchill of Wychwood, lord in waiting to his majesty, and a number of equerries.

Roosevelt as an Autocrat.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 24. — The Democratic state convention has opened at Greensboro. State Chairman F. M. Simmons made a ringing speech in denunciation of Republican policies, declaring that the president had assumed the powers of a czar. He also assailed the Dingley tariff as the father of trusts. Hon. John H. Small was made temporary chairman.

Presidential Candidate Dead.

CINCINNATI, O., June 24.—Seth Ellis, who was at one time the Union Reform candidate for president of the United States and who was once master of the National and Ohio granges, fell from a cherry tree on his farm at Waynesville and was killed.

Robbed Italian Banker.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24.—Salvatore Torsalano, an Italian banker, reported to the police that the safe in his bank had been robbed of $1,245, representing the savings of a score of Italians who are at present harvesting the last of the New Jersey cherry crop.

Deported Miner a Suicide.

DENVER, June 24.—Emil L. Johnson, a miner who was deported from Cripple Creek by the military, has committed suicide here. He was despondent because his wife and two small children were left destitute in Cripple Creek.

IN SANTO DOMINCO.

Captain Dillingham of the Detroit Rendered Good Service.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Advices received by the state department detail the negotiations by which peace has been accomplished in Santo Domingo. Much credit is given Captain Dillingham of the Detroit for the service he rendered while there. The agreement entered into with the revolutionists provides:

That the authority of the government will be recognized, the revolutionists to submit to its orders.

That they deliver up all their arms, excepting only 150 rifles for policing. The government guarantees them their lives and property and will not persecute them for the part they have taken in the revolution. The government also gives them $3,000 to pay off their troops.

Peace for a long time is now assured. Jiminez has entirely lost his prestige in the island.

Jap Poachers Were Wrecked.

HONOLULU, June 24.—The United States revenue cutter Thetis has returned here from a trip to the island of Lisiansky, about 1,300 miles to the northwest of Hawaii, where she went in search of Japanese poachers. The Thetis found that the Japanese schooner Yeiju, with sixty-seven men on board, had arrived at the island on Jan. 8 last, but that ten days later she had been wrecked in a gale and ten of the men on board drowned. The fifty-seven survivors of necessity remained on the island. They were short of provisions, and when the Thetis found them they had only six pounds of rice left. The Thetis brought all the survivors to this place, whence they will be sent back to Japan. Three hundred and thirty-five packages of valuable plumage, gathered by the Japanese from the birds of the island for shipment to Paris, were abandoned on the island.

Shot Miss Dove; Killed Himself.

ST. LOUIS, June 24.—A man supposed to be Nelson P. Benson of Kansas City fatally wounded Miss Mary Dove and then shot himself, dying shortly afterward. Miss Dove is dying. The shooting occurred in the Illinois hotel, where the couple had registered as Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cummings. In Benson's pocket was found a bottle containing a powerful acid. Cards giving the address of Miss Dove in various cities were also found in Benson's pocket. Benson had evidently followed Miss Dove from place to place.

Persian Carpets Barred By Cholera.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Vice Consul John Tyler at Teheran has notified the state department that there are 250 cases of cholera at Sultanabad, which is the principal center of the Persian carpet trade with America. The consul has warned agents not to make shipments for the present.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

It would be interesting to hear "Red" Waller's version of his termination of play with Manager Denman's team.

McGeehan, formerly of the Philadelphia Athletics, who pitched for St. Mary's' team twice last season, is now twirling for the Harrisburg team.

John R. Lewis, a strong pitcher, now playing with a Pennsylvania team, contemplates moving to this city. If he does, the Alis Club may give him a trial. He has not lost a game this season.

There is a possibility that Courtney, of the Murray Hills, may be seen in an Alis uniform before long. It is understood that Manager Johnston has lines out for him. He plays in the infield, and is considered very fast.

"Mike" Lynch, the Brown University twirler, who has signed with Pittsburg, showed up well in his first league game this week against St. Louis. Although he gave six bases on balls, only four hits were made off his delivery.

Burchell, who will be remembered as pitching a game for Alis against Westfield, last year, and who is on the pitching staff of the Baltimore Eastern League team, was touched for nineteen hits by Toronto on Wednesday. He lost his game by a score of 25 to 7.

According to Sporting Life, the Bayonne team has been put on the blacklist because the management is using players who have "jumped" league teams. The same might be said of Westfield in the case of Rochford, who "jumped" the Connecticut State League.

Manager Daab, of the Hobokens, since last Sunday's game with the Philadelphia Giants, has read the riot act to this team. He threatens that unless the team plays the kind of ball expected of them, there will be some wholesale changes from Captain Driscoll down to Pitcher Lindeman.

ROD AND GUN.

Al Emmons, the borough crack shot, will hold a shoot at North Branch on Independence Day. He will go on the programme himself in a match for $50 a side, at fifty birds.

TENNIS.

Owen Fleming, Princeton '04, will take part in the East Jersey Lawn Tennis Association tournaments.

(Additional Sporting News on Page 3.)

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

A special meeting will be held by the Frist Baptist Church Young People's Association tonight.

Rev. Howard L. Jones, who has been pastor of the Epiphany Baptist Church, New York, for seven years, and who recently resigned to accept a call to the Baptist Church at Chattanooga, Tenn., has been presented with a gold watch and a purse of gold by his former congregation. Mr. Jones is a brother to Rev. Carter Helm Jones, who has many warm friends here.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Benevolent Council, Jr. O. U. A M., will elect officers at a regular meeting tonight.

Stone Square Lodge, No. 38, F. and A. M., will give a reception and dance in T. A. B. Hall, July 4.

One candidate will receive the third degree at the meeting of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., tonight.

A meeting of Lucetta Council, announced as being set for Saturday, July 16, will take place Wednesday, July 13.

Dunnellen Tennis Tournament.

Beginning tonight, at 6:45 o'clock, the Dunellen Tennis Club will hold a series of match games on their new courts in the rear of Jacob Fisher's residence. The series is for the championship of the organization. There is a lot of interest in the impending contest, and the series will be played before a large gallery. All tennis enthusiasts are invited to watch the games. Match games with teams from other clubs will be arranged when this series has been completed.

Paper Carriers' Baseball Game.

St. Mary's baseball field was the theater of a hard fought and at times, closely contested battle of the diamond, this morning, between the nines representing the carriers of The Daily Press and those of the Courier-News. The score was 10 to 5 in favor of the Courier-News team. The batteries were William Mullen and Conklin for the Courier-News and Mosher and Tommy Mullen for The Daily Press team.

Colored Odd Fellows' Dance.

VOLUNTEERS TO BE READY.

Garibaldi's War on Austria—Declares 36,000 Men Can Be Armed.

ROME, June 24.—General Ricciotti Garibaldi is continuing what he calls his preparations against Austria. He writes that there are already in existence 900 committees which are capable of providing 36,000 volunteers with arms. Garibaldi's assertion is looked upon as exaggerated.

General Ricciotti Garibaldi, who is a son of the Italian patriot, has issued a proclamation in which he declares that the increased armaments of Austria can be only against Italy, rendering impossible the opposition of that country to an Austrian march through the Balkans to Salonika. The general urged the Italian youth not to provoke a fight with Austria, but to hold themselves in readiness, forming special committees capable in time of need of providing at a few days' notice a body of 50,000 armed and well trained volunteers.

Trying to Find Kent Loomis.

LONDON, June 24.—A dispatch from Plymouth says that the authorities there are investigating the disappearance of Kent J. Loomis, brother of Francis B. Loomis, American assistant secretary of state, who was bearing important dispatches to the American ambassador at Paris. It is surmised that Mr. Loomis, who was a passenger on board the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II., which left New York June 14 and arrived at Plymouth June 20, may have landed at Plymouth. The authorities, the dispatch says, are seeking to identify as Mr. Loomis an American who left Plymouth for London on the night of June 21.

Successful Test of Submarine.

NORFOLK, Va., June 24.—The United States submarine boat Adder returned to Norfolk navy yard after a successful test of two days in Hampton roads. The vessel was given tests in surface running, running partly submerged, sinking and rising to the surface. The boat was sent to the bottom of the deep portion of the roads and remained submerged three hours. The whole experiments have been pronounced satisfactory. The vessel was in command of Lieutenant L. Perry and Gunner Donald. Perry is a submarine expert.

Commissioners Want Their Siesta.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The Filipino commissioners to the St. Louis exposition, who are now touring the country, have been so overwhelmed by the receptions and entertainments accorded them wherever they have visited that they have been obliged to make a request that the citizens' committees of the places yet to be visited materially curtail their entertainment. Being accustomed to enjoy a rest during the middle of the day according to the Spanish custom, the strain is overtaxing them.

"Golden Book of All Nations."

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Dr. E. Carlotta, secretary general of the committee for the "Golden Book of All Nations," the historical volume containing portraits of the rulers of all nations participating in the Louisiana Purchase exposition, has tendered to President Roosevelt the thanks of the committee for having sent them his signed portrait. The book will be presented to the American people through some public institution at the close of the exposition.

Paul Morton May Be Naval Secretary.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Paul Morton of Chicago, who was offered the position of secretary of the navy by President Roosevelt to succeed Secretary Moody, was in conference with the president for a long time on the subject at the White House last night. He remained until nearly 11 o'clock, when he left the White House for the railroad station, saying that he was going to New York. Mr. Morton declined to say whether or not he would accept the office.

Archbishop to Visit America.

LONDON, June 24.—The archbishop of Canterbury, the Most Rev. Dr. Randall Thomas Davidson, has accepted an invitation to attend the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States and Canada, which will be held in Boston next October. The archbishop will leave in August and will visit a number of cities in the United States and Canada before the holding of the convention.

Etzel Killing Unwarranted.

DENVER, June 24.—Miss Annie B. Etzel, sister of Louis Etzel, the war correspondent killed by Chinese soldiers off Newchwang, has been officially notified that an investigation made by United States Minister Conger has brought out the fact that the killing was entirely unwarranted and without provocation.

New Chief Postoffice Inspector.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—W. J. Vickery, now in charge of the Cincinnati division of postoffice inspectors, has been appointed chief postoffice inspector, to succeed William E. Cochran, recently appointed to the newly created office of general purchasing agent of the postal service.

Mrs. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 24.—Mrs. Roosevelt and her sister, Miss Carow, have arrived here. Miss Carow sails for Italy on July 5. Mrs. Roosevelt will not return to Washington until the latter part of September.

Trolley Wreck at Lima.

LIMA, O., June 24.—A number of persons were quite badly hurt in a collision between street cars here last night.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

Cresceus, the king of trotters, has made himself and his owner famous the world over, and the mighty achievements of the famous stallion are indelibly emblazoned on the pages of harness turf history. While much has been said and written about Cresceus and his remarkable career, the general public has never been acquainted with the circumstances which were responsible for his being known to the trotting world. Some years ago George H. Ketcham, a prominent business man of Toledo, O., decided to engage in the breeding and racing of harness horses, hoping thereby to regain the vigor and strength of which impaired health had deprived him. He purchased the pacing gelding Charley Friel, 2:15¾, and drove exhibitions over the Ohio half-mile tracks, reducing many track records. Then he founded what is now known as the Ketcham stock farm, one of the most prominent breeding establishments in Ohio. In 1892 he paid $250 at auction for the mare Mabel, by Mambrino Howard, and the following year mated her with Robert McGregor, 2:17½, whom he had secured to head his stud. The produce was a chestnut colt, who was named Cresceus, after a favorite slave of Caesar. Mr. Ketcham developed the colt and started him twice in his two-year-old form, making an extensive campaign with him in 1897, when he was a three-year-old. The race which first directed the attention of the entire harness turf to the Ketcham colt was the one he trotted that season at Fort Wayne, Ind., when he defeated a large field of aged trotters in one of the hardest fought turf battles on record, winning the sixth, seventh and eighth heats in 2:12¼, 2:11¼ and 2:11¼, the greatest race ever credited to a three-year-old trotter. His wonderful career is too well known to require extensive mention, a brief review of his performances showing that he reduced no less than 20 world's records, most of which are still to his credit, setting new records over 22 tracks, starting in 65 races and exhibitions, of which he won 45, earning in purses $110,000, and traveling 12,000 miles during the season of 1901. Thus Mr. Ketcham's search for health was not only awarded with success, but he also gained the proud distinction of having bred, owned, trained and driven a world's champion, while his venture earned for him a small fortune. The remarkable success of he achieved in training and racing Cresceus proves him a high class conditioner and reinsman.

G. H. Ketcham.

By his recent victory in the British amateur golf championship Walter J. Travis, the champion of America, accomplished what is conceded to be by the conservative critics on the other side of the water the most brilliant achievement ever recorded in the history of amateur golf. For a player of less than ten years' experience to meet and defeat in turn such players as Holden, Robb, Reade, Hilton, Hutchinson and Blackwell—men who may be said to have inherited their golfing instincts—was quite an upset to the theory that correct form is the great essential to golfing success. The quiet little man from the Garden City club went into the camp of the Philistines and came away with the plunder. His success is a source of gratification to players on this side of the water. Travis is a remarkable example of the self-taught golfer, who has taken up the game late in life. Travis began playing the game only nine years ago, and four years ago he won the American amateur championship over men who had played for years. Every one of the Englishmen he defeated in the tournament in England has played since boyhood and it is difficult for them to understand how a comparative novice who has reached middle life can successfully compete with the best players in the world in a game in which it is generally conceded one must be reared from boyhood to become a champion. Travis is famed as a short driver, his strength lying in his short iron and putting shots, but although his drives are usually short, they are wonderfully accurate and well placed, scarcely ever falling in a hazard or bunker.

W. J. Travis.

Jacob Schaefer, the American billiard champion, defeated the French expert, M. Cure, at Paris, in an exciting contest. The former won in a close finish by the score of 3,000 to 2,995. The game was played in six innings of 500 points each. The Frenchman in the second inning ran 255 points, thus beating by more than a "half century" the record of 200 made by George Sutton when playing against Vigneaux in the tournament of 1903. The run lasted 33½ minutes.

William E. Samuelson, of Utah, broke the world's bicycle record for two miles in a competition race at Salt Lake City. Samuelson rode the distance in 3:58 4-5, lowering by one second the previous record by Kramer at Vailsburg.

Thomas Sharkey, the pugilist, has been married to Miss Catherine McIntosh, of Michigan, a professional nurse, who attended him during a recent illness.

WALTER SQUIRES BECOMES A BENEDICT

A Plainfielder Weds Miss Edith Lombard, of Lawrence Park, Bronxville, N. Y.

SON OF H. C. SQUIRES

DR. CHARLES SQUIRES, A BROTHER OF THE GROOM, BEST MAN.

Ceremony in the Congregational Church, Lawrence Park—Groom, Best Man and Ushers Members of the Same College Fraternity.

Miss Edith Lombard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Lombard, of Lawrence Park, Bronxville, New York, and Walter Squires, son of Mr. nd Mrs. Henry C. Squires, of Watchung avenue, were married at 12:30, today, at the Congregational church, Lawrence Park, Bronxville, in the presence of a large and fashionable throng of society folks, including many from this city.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Louise Lombard, who was maid of honor. The best man was Dr. Charles Squires, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Louis Squires and Fred Squires, also brothers of the groom; Richard Northrop, of Evanston, Ill, and William Pryne, of New York.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents from 1 to 2:30, after which the couple left on a honeymoon. They will live in this city upon their return. Mr. Squires is engaged in the sporting goods business with his father in New York.

The groom, his best man and the ushers are all members of the same college fraternity, Phi Delta Theta. The groom was graduated from Williams College this year, Dr. Charles Squires is a graduate of Cornell Medical College, Louis Squires is a graduate from the law department of Columbia College, and Frederick Squires, an architect, is a graduate from the same college, while Richard Northrop and William Pryne are graduates of Williams and Holly Titus of Cornell.

HICKMAN ON WESTFIELD TEAM

MANAGER DENMAN DISPLAYS CONTRACT WITH MURRAY HILL PLAYER.

Hoping to set at rest many rumors concerning Charles Hickman, the Westfield short-stop, Manager Charles H. Denman declares that there has been some attempts to entice this player away. It is expected that he will play in Plainfield today. For the purpose of showing Hickman's relations with the Westfield Baseball Association, Mr. Denman exhibits this contract:

"I hereby agree to play with the Westfield Baseball Club, of Westfield, New Jersey, for the season of 1904, commencing this day, June 6, ending November 8, for the sum of eight dollars per game, payable after each game. I also agree not to play with any other baseball club without permission of the Westfield Association." This is signed by Charles Hickman, witnessed by William J. Parkenham and George Mallen.

Mr. Denman says that he realizes that legally the contract is not worth the paper it is written on, but he wishes to show the moral end of the agreement. Hickman is advertised to play with Murray Hill today against Alis.

Quinby to Play.

Quinby, the popular baseball player, has given Manager Johnston assurances that after today he will play with Alis for the balance of the season. His place on the Crescent A. C. team will be taken by another college player. In recent years Quinby, without doubt, is the best all around player seen in this city. He is an ideal fielder, an almost sure batter and helps to steady a team.

HOSPITAL VISITORS APPOINTED

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY OF THE INSTITUTION TO RAISE FUNDS.

Visitors to Muhlenberg Hospital were appointed for the coming three months at the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, held yesterday. This was the last meeting until the last Friday in September, hence the necessity of making the appointments now. These appointments were made: July, Mrs. Hyatt, purchaser; Mrs. Edward Love and Mrs. T. W. T. Maxwell, visitors; August, Mrs. Hyatt, purchaser; Mrs. R. A. Meeker and Mrs. Charles M. Slocum, visitors; September, Mrs. W. T. Pelletier, purchaser; Mrs. R. M. Stover and Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, visitors.

For the purpose of increasing the fund for the Nurses' Home from $1,800 to $2,000 a resolution was adopted requesting each member to secure $2 during the summer for the fund.

NO TROLLEY SPUR TO OVAL

HOSPITAL BOARD REFUSES THE REQUEST OF ALIS CLUB.

After having secured a majority of the consents for the running of a spur from the Arlington avenue trolley through Randolph road to Crescent Oval, the Alis Club has received from the house committee of the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital a letter refusing the consent of the Board. No reasons were given, but it is believed to be an objection to having trolley cars stored on this spur.

This action is a disappointment to the club, inasmuch as it gave free of expense the oval for the ministers-physicans' game, thereby assisting the hospital in its worthy enterprise of raising money for the institution. The club was depending largely on the proposed improvement to carry its patrons to and from the oval. As a convenience to the patrons of the game today, the club has arranged with John Keely to have Arlington avenue sprinkled prior to the game.

FESTIVAL AT HOPE CHAPEL

PROGRAMME OF ENTERTAINMENT FEATURE OF AFFAIR GIVEN LAST NIGHT.

Conscientious work met with its just reward last night, when the Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, held its annual strawberry festival and entertainment. The early part of the evening was devoted to a programme of music, both vocal and instrumental, as well as a number of recitations. Taking part in this programme were Miss Hilda Bennett, Miss Mary Radford, Miss Ruttman, Miss Try Mattox, Miss Knowlton and Clarence and Arthur Hoffman. The two Hoffman brothers were particularly fine.

Mrs. Robert Hangliter, president of the society, was in charge of all arrangements, being assisted by Mrs. Henry Hoffman, Mrs. Benjamin Ruckman, Mrs. Margaret Sweeney and Mrs. Walton. In charge of the tickets were Mrs J. B. Higgins and Miss Anna Thain. Those assisted: Strawberry table—Mrs. Joseph Randolph and Mrs. George Rittenhouse; ice cream table—Mrs. W. F. Mowinkel, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. O. F Pearson, Mrs. David Bowden and Mrs. Walter Bradford. Mrs. George Radford had charge of the grab bag, assisted by Mrs. Joseph Brown and Mrs. William Jones. The flower table was presided over by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. William Jones. Mrs. Charles Vincent, Mrs. Charles Delahunt and Mrs. Thomas Hendry sold cake. Serving the candy customers were Mrs. Joseph Brown and Mrs. George Wallace.

ITALIAN RESIDENTS TO HOLD CELEBRATION

To Observe in Elaborate Style the Feast of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel.

ON JULY 18 AND 19

MASSES AND PARADES THE FEATURES OF THE AFFAIR.

May Use Concert Park for Celebration—Salvadore Velerdi in Charge of the Programme—Illuminations.

If elaborate preparations, a metropolitan band, streets draped and arched in bunting and illuminated by hundreds of little lamps, special church services, including the celebration of masses by Italian priests from New York, two parades and fireworks galore mean anything, the Italian colony of this city will have the finest celebration of the feast of Our Lady of Mount Carmel ever seen in this vicinity. The celebration will take place Monday and Tuesday nights, July 18 and 19.

Last year's observances were considered a creditable effort, but the splendor of that occasion will fade completely in comparison with next month's affair. The finest Italian band in New York, Nardiello's Harlem Columbia Band, is to furnish the music both days. This organization always makes a favorable impression on parade, with its Continental uniforms of blue, faced with red.

The procession will include about 100 of the more prominent Italians of this city and also a score or more from Connecticut and New York. On Tuesday, the second day of the festival, probably 1,000 Italians will come into town from the city and enjoy themselves in their own happy Neapolitan style. Salvadore Velerdi, chief executive of the colony, has a permit from Mayor Jenkins for a parade. He will lead the procession through the principal streets.

If arrangements can be concluded for the use of St. Joseph's church, a father from St. Antonio's church, in Baxter street, New York, will celebrate the mass at a special service. In this case, the roadway of Watchung avenue, along which the procession will march to the church, will be decked with Italian and American flags, bunting and hung with lamps for a night illumination. These decorations, which will include ornamental arches over the street, will extend from the corner of Front street to that of Manning avenue, ending at the church.

The intention of the committee on arrangements were to use the same grounds for the fireworks display that were so courteously placed at their service last year by James E. Martine, but it is uncertain, for some reason or other, if the necessary consent can be secured from Mr. Martine at this time, so Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough, has offered the more central location, now known as "Concert Park" on Watchung avenue near Trier's pond.

In addition to Salvadore Velerdi, in charge of the arrangements, there is a committee on which the following are serving: Guiseppe Matteis, Filomeno Galuppo, Gaetano D'arrazo, Domenico Fiore, Leonardo Velerdi, Michele Constantino and Antonio Petrillo.

Overton to Catch.

Teddy Overton, the fast little fielder of the Y. M. C. A. nine, will play in Millstone this afternoon. He will be backstop for George Dupee, who is twirling for Millstone. Dupee thinks that Overton is the best all-round catcher in the business. At any rate, Overton catches Dupee better than any player the latter has pitched 'em to. Last time Overton caught Dupee the Millstones won handily, the battery work being the star feature of the game.

Martine's Prophecy.

Farmer Orator James E. Martine, of Plainfield, has submitted to a newspaper interview, in which he declares that should either Mr. Cleveland or Mr. Parker be nominated at St. Louis, Colonel William Jennings Bryan will not bolt, but will give his support to the party candidate, and Mr. Martine says he will follow suit. Princeton and Esopus papers please copy.—Newark Evening News.

Harold Nomer Won Prize.

Harold Nomer, of this city, and a graduate of the Plainfield High School, took the sophomore rhetoric prize at the commencement of Williams College this week.

FOOTBALL ENTHUSIASTS PLAN FOR SEASON

Orange Field Club to Place a Strong Eleven on the Gridiron in the Fall.

H. C. SMITH MANAGER

NO DEARTH OF MATERIAL FOR A STRONG COMBINATION.

Arlington Avenue Field to be Used—Grounds to be Put in Shape—A Captain to be Chosen at a Meeting Later.

Faithful to their old love, the O. F. C. football enthusiasts got together last night for a business meeting, serenely unmindful of the fact that the rest of the world is at the zenith of its baseball fanaticism. It was a highly successful meeting, and launched the Orange eleven on its preliminary stages very auspiciously.

H. C. Smith, who has been at the head of the combination for several years, was again elected manager. In September, when the team will be picked, the captain is to be chosen.

There is a superabundant supply of material from which the team may be picked. The aspirants for places on the team, all of whom have played the game and played it well, include Charles Hellyer, George McVoy, Walter Hamilton, Frank Emmons, Harry Flannery, Jack Tobin, William Kenyon, H. C. Smith, Harry Hook, Jack McCullough, Will McCullough, Roy Day, Harry Embleton, George Gaddis, Everett Sherwin, Harry Josephs, C. B. Lake, Chauncey Koons, Thayer, Joseph Robinson, Hervey Marsh, H. Douglas, Edward Slingland, C. B. Springer, W. Cumberson, Erving Martin, Howard Guinn, Ray Guinn, George Staats, Morris Brokaw.

The eleven will probably play on the Arlington avenue field. Twenty-five dollars was appropriated to put the gridiron into shape.

Taking a leaf from the baseball book, the club has arranged to issue season tickets to meet the financial problem. At the end of the season a part of the net receipts will be donated to the hospital.

JUNIORS ELECT.

Officers to Serve Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M.

At the regular meeting of Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., held last evening the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing six months:

Councilor, Edward C. Searing; vice councilor, Harry C. Runyon; recording secretary, Horace G. Adams; assistant secretary, John V. Beekman; financial secretary, Theodore A. Kurnhals, Jr.; treasurer, Jacob M. Higgins; conductor, Donald Bechtel; warden, John VanHorn; inside sentinel, Clarence Pope; outside sentinel, Gilbert S. Martin; trustee for eighteen months, Alfred Tranchand.

One candidate was initiated into the mysteries of the order and several propositions were received.

Asbury's Baby Parade.

Peace has been restored between the Carnival Association and the Beach Commissioners, so Asbury Park's baby parade is assured for August. This announcement was made yesterday, after the Beach Commissioners had agreed to accept 33 1-3 per cent of the gross receipts for the use of the Asbury avenue casino for the masquerade fete and coronation ball on August 29 and 30, the use of the band, the arcade and an office on the boardwalk.

Baptist Y. P. A. Meets.

Business of a routine character occupied the attention of the Young People's Association of the First Baptist church, last night, it being the first business session held since the organization changed from a Christian Endeavor Society. The reports showed the association to be in good condition and the attendance more encouraging than this time last year.

Miss Cleggett Sails for England.

Miss Minnie Cleggett, niece of Mrs. Fred Ivamy, of West Second street, sailed this morning for her former home near London, England. Miss Cleggett was bookkeeper at Ivamy's market and has a host of friends in Plainfield.

SONS OF OLD ELI HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

Plainfield Alumni Gather at Pedefious and Have a Rousing Good Time.

RUNYON, TOASTMASTER

JOSEPH H. SHELLABARGER RESPONDS FOR OLD NASSAU.

Other Speakers Include James R. Joy, John Leal and Evarts Tracy—S. St. John McCutchen is the President of Organization.

With much noise and an eloquent flow of oratory, the sons of Eli who abide in the plains at the foot of the mountain of Watchung took possession of the valley of The Pedefious. And the valley flowed with milk and honey, for it was the time of the annual dinner of the tribe of the Plainfield Yale Club.

That was last night. The Yale Club, which has seventy or more members, turned out pretty nearly in force. There was an unusually good sized gathering, and the affair went off with a degree of enthusiasm and jollity that was highly enjoyable by the diners.

Chef Henri excelled himself. The tables received as fine a course of perfect culinary creations as The Pedefious has ever spread before his guests.

As usual at alumni dinners, the songs of alma mater were sung lustily and often. The singing was a notable feature of the feast, Judge Runyon, the toastmaster, leading with his booming voice. At accepted intervals the Yale yell tore through the walls. There was no throat that had lost its vigor, apparently, and once or twice the cap of the mountain shook, and the natives prayed fearfully that a landslide be averted.

Speeches, without seriousness except in that they were all full of the spirit of loyalty to Yale and Yale men, were made by James R. Joy, John Leal, Howard H. Williams, Fred W. Wallace, Story Rowland, Evarts Tracy and Louis Treadwell. Of course Toastmaster Runyon had something sweetly complimentary to say of every speaker. His hammer was as fine and industrious a one as ever an alumni dinner toastmaster wielded.

The outer collegiate world was represented by Joseph M. Shellabarger, who spoke, amiably but not very humbly, for Princeton. He did not appear to realise what a terrible mistake he had made in spending four years in Princeton when he might just as well have gone to New Haven. He was cheered and clapped. The Yale Club is the strongest college alumni organization in this city. Its officers are: President, S. St. J. McCutchen; vice president, F. W. Wallace; secretary, C. W. Abbott; executive committee, C. W. McGee, Evarts Tracy and T. M. Day, Jr.

Fourth of July Tennis.

Tennis enthusiasts will not lack for excitement on the the Fourth of July. Arrangements have been completed by the Cedar Brook Tennis Club for a tournament for doubts. Entries are to be sent to C. B. Koons, No. 40 Sandford avenue. Prizes will be offered, but the exact nature of them has not been determined.

Dog Fight a Draw.

Two scrappy bull pups stirred up up the east end of the North avenue station this morning shortly before 8 o'clock. They got together with their "punishing" jaws going at full clip. There was excitement to spare for a time, but the owners rang down the curtain by pulling the belligerents apart.

Baptist Congregational Meeting.

On Wednesday night the members of the First Baptist cuhrch will vote on the question of holding Sunday night services during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss. It appears that there are a number who favor holding but one service on Sunday

RETURNING ON THE BALTIC

MR. AND MRS. M'CUTCHEN TO SAIL FOR HOME NEXT WEEK.

Charles W. McCutchen and family, of North Plainfield, who have been abroad during the past year, will sail for home on Wednesday, June 29, making the voyage on the maiden trip of the handsome new White Star Line steamship Baltic, the largest steamship in the world. It is considered the greatest steamer ever launched.

The steamer will leave the Mersey on June 29 and is due to arrive in New York on Thursday, July 7. The Baltic registers 24,000 tons gross, exceeding her sisters, the Cedric and Celtic, by 3,000 tons. Her capacity for cargo is about 28,000 tons, and the displacement at her load draft about 40,000 tons. She is 76 feet in length, or twenty-six feet longer than the sister ships. Mulford Estil, of Park avenue, is the local agent for the White Star Line.

ELOCUTIONIST PLEASES A LARGE ASSEMBLAGE AT MONROE AVE. M. E.

In "An Evening With Modern Authors," Mrs. Fennetta Sargent Haskell gave an excellent series of readings at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church last night. The readings were interspersed with selections by the regular quartette of the church.

The elocutionary portion of the programme included things from the works of Charles Kingley, J. Whitcomb Riley, Westcott's "David Harum," Sarah P. McClaine, Ruth McEnery Stuart, and, in a lighter vein, a piece by Bob Bardette. Not the least enjoyed of the elocutionary numbers was "The Party" by Paul Laurence Dunbar. The singing of the quartette was warmly received as usual, the presence of outside talent being insufficient to overshadow these old favorites.

Bishop John H. Vincent offered prayer. John Daub, Sydney Gilbert, Charles Jones and Louis V. Tallamy formed the quartette.

Mrs. Fennetta Sargent Haskell is the wife of a former Plainfielder, William Haskell, now of Cuba, Missouri.

TO INSPECT JERSEY ROADS

NEW YORK COMMISSION TO SEE MODEL MACADAM HIGHWAYS.

Monday, July 11, a special commission of five members appointed by the Legislature of New York will come to this State to investigate the New Jersey method of road building with a view of adopting it for the Empire State. State Supervisor of Roads Robert A. Meeker, of this city, will have charge of the party.

New Jersey was the first to adopt the State aid plan of securing the extension of good roads. Massachusetts and Connecticut followed and then New York fell in line. But the plan as tried in the latter State has not succeeded, and the officials claim that the State is spending too much money for the results being achieved.

The fame of the New Jersey roads and the success of the State aid plan here traveled to Governor Odell's bailiwick and led to the appointment of the commission.

Not only was this State the first in the field with State aid to road building but the road department states that it leads all the other States of the Union in the length and condition of its improved roads. While the other States which have taken up good road building have improved them in detached section, New Jersey has aimed at a continuity of fine highways, and has stretches of the best macadam roadways 40 to 60 miles long, with the system being extended every year.

CHURCH CHOIR ENTERTAINED.

Vocalists of Trinity Reformed Guests of Choirmaster.

Trinity church choir was entertained at the home of Choirmaster Horace J. Martin, on Marion avenue, last night. The lawn was lighted by incandescent lamps, and various games were played on the grass.

Croquet matches were the principal feature. Refreshments were served. Fifty of the church singers and their friends were present. At midnight a special car came down to take them home.

First St. Mary's-Alis Game.

IMPROVEMENTS AT HOPE

NEW KITCHEN AND PRIMARY CLASS ROOM TO BE ADDED TO CHAPEL.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of Hope chapel, held a meeting last night at the close of the strawberry festival, to vote on the arrangement of the new kitchen, and primary class-room.

The committee on plans had considered two schemes for this extension; one a structure of the same size as the present primary room, except that it is to be two stories high with a kitchen and class-room, on the first floor and a room for general committee and society purposes, on the second. The other is to make the class room a committee room also and to reserve the second story for kitchen purposes solely.

The arrangement of stairway, fireplace and range, which had been tentatively decided upon by the committee, were fully discussed by Rev. L. R. Howard, the pastor. What opposition was felt by some to the idea of having the kitchen on the upper floor quickly disappeared when the pastor stated that a large dumb-waiter had been provided for in the plans, thus avoiding the largest part of the stair-climbing, which formed the chief objection to this arrangement.

On being put to vote, the second story kitchen plan was authorized and at the same time it was decided to use a gas range exclusively.

Final plans will be drawn at once and work will begin at an early date. It is expected that the addition will cost about $1,500.

Reform Club vs. New Market.

Reform Club will land against New Market's this afternoon. Scott and O'Loughlin will probably perform the Reform battery. Squier will pitch for New Market. Next Saturday Reform and Y. M. C. A. get together. Both sides are sure of winning.

If you want a first-class hair-cut, a shave or shampoo go to E. B. Maynard's tonsorial parlors on North avenue. Just now his famous shampoo is very popular.

Dr. Fred Heinecke, the chiropodist, whose ad appears in another column, has an amount of experience that entitles him to the confidence of the people who appreciate merit.

J. M. Cahart, the painter and decorator of Park avenue, will be pleased to quote you prices on all kinds of papering and painting. He can show you the finest line of wall-papers in the city.

Many a piece of good meat has gone over the counter at J. W. VanSickle's North avenue market, and the customers of today, will find that the best meat to be had in the city, is right there.

Alex Kane does not make a business of building summer houses, automobile sheds, or things of that sort, but the material which he takes from the houses and other structures he dismantles, is first class for that kind of work.

Dr. E. B. Stowe, graduate chiropodist, is meeting with great success in her profession. In the treatment of corns, bunions and ingrowing nails she has brought relief to hundreds of feet. She treats men and women. Her office is in the Babcock building and her office hours are from 9 to 12 and 1 to 6.

The last resort in purifying some things is to burn them. The milk sold by some dairymen is in need of some just such desperate cure for impurity, but you can keep thoroughly clear of all trouble with milk and cream, by confining your patronage to William Lindsay & Co., of the Netherwood Farm.

C. M. Nagle, the pharmacist, has the confidence and patronage of a larger number of Plainfielders than any other merchant with a business career of the same length. This desirable state of affairs, results from his uniformly courteous and concientious service. He has unrivalled facilities for prompt deliveries.

AMUSEMENTS.

Hundreds of letters on all kinds of subjects and from all kinds of people come to Conductor Duss at Madison Square Garden where his "Beautiful Venice" is the summer attraction. Out of all these letters, mostly from women, is one really worthy of special mention. Here it is:

My Dear Mr. Duss:

How can I ever thank you for the good you and your music have done me personally? I am not exaggerating in the least when I say you have saved my life.

Saturday evening, despondent, heart sick and world weary, I went to the Garden with a woman friend. On the way I stopped in a drug store and bought prussic acid, intending to end my life when I returned home.

Your music soothed me, it lifted me out of the valley of gloom and again I am on the heights. You have relighted the beacon of hope in my soul. All the ministers in Manhattan with prayers and tears could not have caused the change of heart that came to me while under the magic influence of your baton.

The empty acid bottle is at the bottom of your Venetian Canal. God bless you Mr. Duss, God bless you.

Sincerely,
G. V.

YEAR'S MOST ORIGINAL NOVEL

The most competent judges have pronounced "In the Bishop's Carriage" the most original novel of the year.

It is a tale about flesh and blood people; a story for men and women.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, Speaker of the National House of Representatives, is most enthusiastic in his praise of Miss Miriam Michelson's book. That is what he has to say about it:

"I am in receipt of a copy of 'In the Bishop's Carriage,' by Miriam Michelson. I read the same with great pleasure. It seems to me it ought to be a popular publication and one that will exert a good influence. Perhaps I can best describe it by saying that I commenced reading it early in the morning and finished it that night and the coming morning, and when finished I drew a long breath and felt I had forgotten everything else but the book and regretted that there was not more of it. With respect, etc.

"J. G. CANNON."

Could anything be stronger or could praise come from a better source?

The story is something absolutely new in the literary line—a theatrical romance that abounds in thrilling situations interwoven with genuine humor and human heart-burnings. In fact, the tale is so remarkably good that the Sunday North American of Philadelphia has secured the exclusive right to publish it in this territory, and will print the first instalment Sunday, with illustration worthy of the story.

Miss Michelson, the author, has been for several years a successful and much-admired writer of newspaper and magazine articles.

A Wonderful Saving.

The largest Methodist Church in Georgia, calculated to use over one hundred gallons of the usual kind of mixed paint in painting their church.

They used only 32 gallons of the Longman & Martinez Paint mixed with 24 gallons of linseed oil. Actual cost of paint made was less than $1.20 per gallon.

Saved over eighty (80.00) dollars in paint, and got a big donation besides.

EVERY CHURCH will be given a liberal quantity whenever they paint.

Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M. and three gallons of linseed oil mixed therewith.

KAISER AT THE HELM.

International Race at Kiel Won by Ingomar.

KIEL, Prussia, June 25.—There was an early start in the international regatta here. Emperor William raced the Meteor III., having on board the Earl of Lonsdale, the Earl of Mar and Kellie, Francis R. Riggs, Robert Goelet, Cornelius Vanderbilt and others. The empress sailed on the Iduna, with Crown Prince Frederick William at the helm. The Iduna, however, made a bad start, Meteor III. got on the wrong tack and gave up owing to a protest from the schooner yacht Ingomar, owned by Morton F. Plant of New York. The Meteor III. was subsequently towed in, though it is stated that she met with no mishap.

The Ingomar won the first prize in Class A for schooner cruisers and also the Krupp memorial prize. The Hamburg was second and the Iduna third.

Dainty Won Thistle Stakes.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Dainty, with Crimmins up, won the Thistle selling stakes, one mile and a furlong, at Sheepshead Bay. She also lowered the track record for the distance by covering it in 1 minute 52 seconds. The start was poor, and Dainty after lying in third position to the stretch moved out and won easily by six lengths. Buttons, who was last away from the post, ran second, with the favorite, Whorler, third. Gamara, an added starter, won the Zephyr stakes for two-year-olds by half a length from Red Friar. Pasadena was third.

Broke a Rib In Donovan.

BALTIMORE, June 25.—Joe Wolcott, colored, the welterweight champion of America, won the decision over Mike Donovan of Rochester, N. Y., last night in their ten round bout before the Eureka Athletic and Social club. Wolcott had the better of the bout from the start and in the fifth round landed a hard right swing to the body which broke one of Donovan's ribs. The latter thereupon threw up his hands and withdrew.

A DETROIT TRAGEDY

C. A. Swayse Shot Girl, Then Plunged 165 Feet to Street.

EVERY BONE IN HIS BODY BROKEN

Suicide Made Two Attempts to Throw Miss Alvord From Seven Story Window—She Fought Him Off and Saved Herself.

DETROIT, Mich., June 25.—A small private office in a suit on the eleventh floor of the Chamber of Commerce building, at the corner of Griswold and State streets, was the scene of a most thrilling tragedy when Charles A. Swayse, an insurance agent, fought with Miss Effie Alvord for several minutes in an attempt to throw her out of the window, then shot her twice and plunged himself from the window to the brick pavement of State street, being almost instantly killed.

Miss Alvord was shot twice in the neck and badly beaten about the head and face by Swayse, but her physician said that she is not dangerously hurt. Every bone in Swayse's body below his neck was broken by his fall of 165 feet. Despite the terrific fall a faint flicker of life remained when he was picked up, but it went out as his broken body was being carried into the lobby of the building.

Back of the tragedy lies a tale of intimacy between Miss Alvord and Swayse, who was fifty-one years of age, married and the father of two young daughters. Both Miss Alvord and Swayse were for several years prior to November, 1902, employed at the House of Correction here, Swayse as deputy superintendent and the woman as a matron. In a letter found on Swayse's body he charged that the woman tempted him while they were at the House of Correction. Their intimacy resulted, Superintendent McDonnell of the institution says, in neglect of their work, and both were discharged.

She rode up in an automobile to the Chamber of Commerce building with J. D. Terry. She went up to the insurance office on the eleventh floor, where she and Swayse entered a small private office at the front of the building. Swayse locking the door after them. Angry words were heard, then a struggle and screams. Next several shots were fired, and employees of the office broke in the door.

The woman's screams were heard on the street, and her companion, Terry, had hurried up in the elevator and arrived in time to be the first man to rush into the room.

Miss Alvord lay on the floor, her clothing torn, blood running from the bullet wounds in her neck and her hair down and disheveled. The window was open, and through it could be seen Swayse's face above the window ledge, to which he was clinging with his hands. The face was there only a moment. Then the hands slipped across the ledge, and Swayse was hurtling down through the air to his death. It is not clear whether or not Swayse deliberately climbed out on the ledge to commit suicide or had crawled out and dropped his legs and body over in an attempt to work his way down the front of the building and escape into an office on the floor below.

Miss Alberta Burns, who is employed in a building a block below the Chamber of Commerce, saw the desperate struggle between the couple from her office window. Swayse, she says, made two attempts to throw the woman from the window. Once he lifted her by her feet and succeeded in getting part of her body through the window, when she broke away from him. Then he grabbed her about the waist and again tried to throw her to the street. Again she broke away. Then he attacked the woman and pounded her about the head, finally drawing his revolver and shooting her. Swayse then crawled upon the window ledge and, Miss Burns says, let his body down until his feet seemed to rest on something, probably a narrow ledge a few feet below the window. Here he hung for a few seconds. Then his head fell back, his hands lost their grip and he whirled through the air out of Miss Burns' range of vision.

The Chamber of Commerce is situated in the heart of the business portion of the city, and hundreds of people on the street heard Miss Alvord's cries for help as she struggled with the infuriated man. They also saw Swayse's body strike the pavement.

There are still some elements of mystery in the case. At Miss Alvord's boarding house it is stated that she and J. B. Terry are married. It is also stated that Swayse had been threatening her for some time and that she went to his office to tell him that she was married and to finally break with him. It is also stated that Swayse had threatened to write to her sweetheart in the west, supposed to be George Seeney, and tell him of their intimacy and that she went to his office to defy him to do it.

Colored Miscreant Shot.

COLUMBUS, Miss., June 25.—Sterling Dunham, colored, wanted at Eupora, Miss., on the charge of assaulting three little white girls, has been captured by a posse near Vienna, Ala., not far from the Mississippi line, and shot several times. If he does not die, he will be brought to Columbus, where a delegation from Eupora is expected to meet him.

Booker Washington at Capital.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Booker T. Washington, passing through Washington on his way north, had interviews with Secretaries Taft and Moody in regard to certain matters in which they are mutually interested.

CABINET CHANGES.

William H. Moody to Be New Attorney General.

MORTON TO GET MOODY'S PLACE

Victor H. Metcalf to Succeed Cortelyou as Head of Department of Commerce and Labor—Cortelyou and Knox Resign.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—President Roosevelt has made the following announcement regarding changes in the cabinet:

William H. Moody of Massachusetts, secretary of the navy, to be attorney general.

Paul Morton of Illinois to be secretary of the navy.

Victor H. Metcalf of California to be secretary of commerce and labor.

The resignations of Secretary Cortelyou and Attorney General Knox have been received and accepted, to take effect July 1.

The chief surprise in the president's announcement lay in the conferring upon Mr. Morton of the navy portfolio. It had been generally understood that the Chicago railroad man had been asked to succeed Mr. Cortelyou as secretary of commerce and labor, though some weeks ago, when Mr. Morton was first spoken of as a cabinet possibility, it was in connection with the navy department.

Ever since Philander C. Knox was first indicated as Mr. Quay's successor in the United States senate the attorney generalship was regarded as likely to be offered to Secretary Moody. Victor H. Metcalf, the California congressman, had been talked of as a possible occupant of Mr. Cortelyou's chair in the cabinet.

For two weeks or more it had been known that changes were impending. When Secretary Cortelyou was selected by President Roosevelt to be his campaign manager, it was certain that he would retire from the cabinet upon his assumption of duties as chairman of the Republican national committee.

Just before he left for Chicago he placed in the hands of the president his letter of resignation from the department of commerce and labor. It was understood between them that the resignation was to be accepted, to take effect at the end of the present fiscal year, June 30. This would afford him an opportunity to complete some work in the department which he had begun and which it was important he should carry to a conclusion.

The entry of Paul Morton into the circle of President Roosevelt's advisers will bring a personality of distinct force and of practical disposition. Mr. Morton is vice president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company and is forty-seven years old. He lives in Chicago, and in the Republican convention he was Speaker Cannon's alternate.

His father was the late J. Sterling Morton, secretary of agriculture in President Cleveland's second cabinet. Paul Morton voted the Palmer and Buckner Democratic ticket in 1896 and for McKinley in 1900. He has been for some years a warm personal friend of President Roosevelt.

Victor H. Metcalf of Oakland, Cal., is a lawyer and has for several years been a member of congress. He was born in Utica, N. Y.; went to school in New Haven and graduated from the Yale Law school in 1876. In 1878, after practicing law for two years in Utica, he went to California.

It is expected that still further changes will take place in the cabinet. Postmaster General Payne it is said here, probably will retire from the cabinet after the campaign, to be succeeded by National Chairman Cortelyou.

A GOOD WORKS ARMY.

King Edward's Warm Words of Praise For Salvation Forces.

LONDON, June 25.—The third international congress of the Salvation Army opened last night with a meeting at Albert hall, which was attended by over 5,000 delegates representing forty-nine countries in all parts of the globe. General Booth presided and welcomed the delegates in an extended address, concluding by saying:

"I have been granted permission to extend to you the warmest welcome in the name of King Edward, who on Wednesday last empowered me to say that he had with pleasure met your leader, that he had watched the Salvation movement with great interest and that he regarded its success as being of importance to his empire."

The mention of King Edward's name was greeted with great enthusiasm.

General Booth in referring to the Japanese delegation, prayed that peace might come to Japan. He spoke touchingly of the recent death of his daughter, Mrs. Booth-Tucker, wife of the head of the Salvation Army in the United States, who was killed in a railroad accident in Missouri.

Chase Appeal Dismissed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 25.—The supreme court dismissed the appeal taken in the name of Moses Fowler Chase, the young Lafayette millionaire, from the decision appointing his father, F. S. Chase, as his guardian. Chase was found secreted in a private hospital in Paris and brought back to this country by his father.

Receptions Galore at Oyster Bay.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., June 25.—Mrs. Roosevelt has arrived here a week ahead of the president. When he comes he will be tendered at least three receptions, possibly four, by the Republicans, the citizens in general, the high school pupils and the pupils of the Cove public school.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Report of Good Crop Outlook Stimulates Business.

NEW YORK, June 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Aside from the strike of garment workers developments of the past week have tended to strengthen confidence. One political convention has ended and, although its action was almost a foregone conclusion, the industrial atmosphere is slightly clearer. The fiscal year is drawing to a close with national finance in sound condition; the small shrinkage in federal customs receipts being no cause for uneasiness. The most important trade influence just now is the progress of the crops, and the past week has brought no setback. Seasonable weather has stimulated distribution of merchandise, retail business improving very noticeably at many cities, although it is not customary to find sales increasing at this time.

A fair jobbing trade in fall lines of wearing apparel is noted at Baltimore, where collections also improve. While no definite change in the volume of business is reported at Boston the tone is stronger and more confidence is felt. Electrical houses, shipyards and locomotive works are fairly busy at Philadelphia, but there is much idle textile machinery and new building operations are small. Pittsburg reports a little increase in business and more confidence regarding the future, but payments are slow.

Railway earnings thus far for June are surprisingly satisfactory, an increase over last year of 4.7 per cent being reported. Foreign commerce at this city for the last week shows a decrease of $2,514,753 in value of exports as compared with last year and an increase of $1,579,895 in imports. Money continues in greater supply than demand, call loans averaging 1⅛ per cent for the week.

Few changes are noted in the situation at iron furnaces and steel mills.

A further decline early in the week carried cotton to much the lowest point of the season, and a heavy loss appeared in comparison with the same time in 1903, when prices were surpassing all records for that crop year. Some recovery followed when the market became oversold, but the tone is not strong, and there is reason to hope that ordinary conditions may be restored in the near future.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for June aggregated $6,479,723, of which $2,901,200 were in manufacturing, $3,037,181 in trading and $541,252 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 227 in the United States against 223 last year and 32 in Canada compared with 19 a year ago.

Died While Fishing.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 25.—Charles Ball of New York, seventy-five years old, died suddenly of heart disease while fishing on Greenwood lake.

MOROCCAN CAPTIVES FREE.

Perdicaris and Varley Arrived at Tangier This Morning.

TANGIER, June 25.—Ion Perdicaris and Cromwell Varley, who were captured by the bandit Raisuli, have been set free and arrived here this morning at an early hour.

Perdicaris is very much fatigued after his long ride, but says he is glad to get back. He is greatly pleased with the reception accorded him by the townsmen, who met him in great numbers.

Perdicaris suffered many hardships while in the hands of Raisuli, although he says he does not think that these were the fault of the bandit chief and that he had every comfort possible under the circumstances.

Varley appears to be very cheerful and bright, as if he had just returned from a picnic.

Both Perdicaris and Varley are much thinner, especially the former, who has aged considerably.

Perdicaris was received at his town house by the authorities, the admirals of the fleets and numerous personal friends. His Moorish servants made a great demonstration of joy, kissing their master's hands and clothes.

Much credit is due to the two sheereefs of Wazan, Mulai Ali and Mulai Hamet, who have devoted much time in their efforts to secure the success of the negotiations. Mulai Ali remained at Raisuli's camp continuously, thus insuring the safety of the lives of the captives, while Mulai Hamet traveled back and forth between Tangier and Benairos.

Mulai Hamet says that he arrived at the camp of Zelal, governor of the Beni M'Sara tribe, at 3 o'clock on June 23, but that the captives did not arrive until the morning of June 24.

Nothing unusual occurred during the exchange of the prisoners, who started immediately for their respective homes.

The delay in turning over the prisoners was apparently merely a mistake as to the date set for their release.

WORLD'S FAIR FIRE.

Hoohoo House Burned Down, Many Buildings In Danger.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—Fire which threatened for a time to destroy many buildings at the world's fair consumed the house of Hoohoo, rendering the building and contents a total loss.

So quickly did the flames spread that the five occupants of the building, all on the second floor, had difficulty in escaping with their lives, being compelled to climb down a tree. The loss on the building and contents is estimated at $60,000. The fire is supposed to have started from an electric light wire.

All efforts were directed toward saving the Texas, German, Oregon and Mines and Metallurgy buildings, all of which were threatened with destruction on account of the flying sparks.

The house of Hoohoo was one of the first buildings finished for the exposition. It was erected by the Lumbermen of the United States and was built of many rare and costly pieces of wood, but was under the control of the local board of the Order of Hoohoo.

Only ten minutes before the alarm from the house of Hoohoo the world's fair fire department had answered a still alarm from the Mysterious Asia concession on the Pike, where fire had started in the elephant barn.

The loss was insignificant, only a small amount of hay burning.

BODY IN PICKLING VAT.

Mystery Surrounding Disappearance of G. K. Gardiner Cleared Up.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 25.—The body of George K. Gardiner, who was well known in Cincinnati politics and who disappeared from his home in Cincinnati April 1, has been found here in the pickling vat of the Indiana Medical college. The body was not identified by the local authorities at the time of death, and after being held for several days it was turned over to the state anatomical board and then given to the college.

Gardiner came here April 2 and stayed at the Vendome hotel with William Steele, formerly of Cincinnati and with whom he was at one time on the board of equalization in that city. They spent the evening together, and Mr. Steele says Gardiner told him he was going to return to Cincinnati. Four weeks later Mr. Steele received a letter from Mrs. Gardiner asking about her husband and saying he had disappeared April 1. Mr. Steele learned that Gardiner went to the city hospital on April 3 and died there April 4 of apoplexy. He had not given his address to the authorities.

Arrested Fifty-seven In Poolrooms.

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—Two poolrooms, said to be branches of a New York poolroom syndicate, were raided by the police here, and the reputed backers and fifty-seven betting men were arrested. Charles Strowler and George Gladner, alias Gardner, who are accused by the police of running the rooms, are held. The fifty-seven patrons were held in $500 bail each as aiders and abettors.

Glenn For Governor.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 25.—Just before adjournment of a prolonged night session Robert B. Glenn was nominated by the Democratic convention for governor of North Carolina. He was chosen amid cheering, waving of hats, coats and banners. The nomination was made unanimous.

Natives Nudity to Be Covered.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The Igorrotes and the Negritoes, representatives of the wild tribes of the Philippine Islands, on exhibit at the St. Louis exposition, are to be so clothed that their nudity cannot be a subject of criticism.

OKU JOINS KUROKI.

United Armies of Japan Will Give Battle.

KAICHAU HELD BY MIKADO'S ARMY

Russian Captain and Scouts Made Daring Raid Clear Around Japanese Advance—Kaipa Pass Fortified.

LONDON, June 25.—A Berlin dispatch says:

"Colonel Gaedke, the correspondent of the Tageblatt in the far east at the Russian headquarters, cables that the Japanese have occupied Kaichau and that a decisive battle of the united armies of Generals Oku and Kuroki with the Russian main army is expected shortly."

A Liaoyang dispatch says:

"Captain von Lang and twenty-six volunteer scouts have rejoined the command, arriving here on foot after a hot skirmish with the Japanese rear guard.

"Von Lang and his little command started out on horseback to investigate the numbers and movements of the enemy. They rode clear around the Japanese advance and gained important information regarding the Japanese position.

"When in the rear of the Japanese main body they were discovered and surrounded by two squadrons of cavalry, but they cut their way through with sabers and poniards, losing five men. Nearly all their horses were scattered. They escaped to the hills, where the Japanese cavalry was unable to follow them, and they succeeded in rejoining the colors with much valuable information."

Advices from St. Petersburg say that the general staff has received the following telegram from Lieutenant General Sakharoff:

"The Japanese vanguard has occupied a line four miles north of Senuchen which extends from the seashore to the mountains through the villages of Siangpaitse, Tangtsin, Litsiatung, Yongtsanyatung and Wangtsiaoshang. They established a heliograph station on the heights of Litsiatung. A cordon of infantry with quick firers covered their left flank.

"A Japanese patrol endeavored unsuccessfully to penetrate our outposts.

"The Japanese have resumed the advance, their front extending from Tavaja to the Kantak river. Japanese warships were seen offshore there.

"On the Fengwangcheng side the enemy has been strengthened and is building fortifications near the Kaipa pass, twelve miles to the southwest, and is also making roads from Fengwangcheng in the direction of Selutchang.

"The Japanese have retired beyond Aiyangmen, on the Siamatsze-Liassian road."

A Chefu report says another demonstration has taken place off Port Arthur. Firing began from the forts about 10 a. m. and continued till 1 p. m. The destroyers and torpedo boats pursued their former tactics, and an auxiliary cruiser lay off the islands until the firing had ceased, when it proceeded eastward at full speed.

NO TRACE OF LOOMIS.

Mr. Flamm Positive That He Landed at Plymouth.

PARIS, June 25.—No trace has yet been obtained of the missing man, Kent Loomis. The Abyssinian treaty was deposited in a safe on the steamship and later was turned over to Mr. Ellis, who brought it on here. Loomis' baggage, consisting of one trunk and three valises, was also brought on and deposited with Consul General Gowdy. The latter also heard a lengthy statement prepared by Ellis relative to the voyage.

Ellis has a dark skin and is said to be a Cuban. He occupied a stateroom with Loomis, and it is understood that they intended to proceed together to Abyssinia. He left Paris last night for Marseilles, whence, it is understood, he will proceed to Abyssinia, bearing the treaty.

Mr. Flamm's statement to the American embassy brought out the fact that on board the steamer he sat at a table near Loomis and knew him well. Therefore it is considered impossible that Mr. Flamm was mistaken in saying he saw Loomis get off at Plymouth. Mr. Flamm also minutely described the clothes and hat Loomis wore, which further convinced the officials that Loomis strayed off the Kaiser Wilhelm II. at Plymouth.

French Warship For Haiti.

PARIS, June 25.—Following a meeting of the council of ministers here it was officially announced that the government intended to send a warship to Haiti to demand redress for the insult to Minister Deprez, who was stoned by the palace guards at Port-au-Prince. This decision followed Foreign Minister Delcasse's presentation of the circumstances of the assault.

Italian Brigands Captured.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 25.—Two of the four Italian highwaymen who robbed Orson C. Longyear, paymaster of the Hudson River Bluestone company, of $2,700 yesterday, have been captured by Undersheriff Grove Webster, Jr., and a posse at Lamontville after one of them had received a bullet wound in the neck.

Train Killed F. H. Quinn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25.—Frank H. Quinn of 441 Lebanon street, Fitchburg, Mass., was run over on the tracks of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad last night and died an hour after he was found.

Jersey City's aldermen propose to prohibit the small boy in that city from using a pistol, gun or cannon on Fourth of July. There is a law in this State against selling firearms of any kind to a boy under fifteen years of age, but there is nothing to prevent Young America from enjoying the use of weapons. The Jersey City aldermen have the right idea and other cities should copy the ordinance they propose to pass.

Only ten days will elapse before the Democratic party will meet in convention to name a ticket and make a platform to be submitted to the voters on Tuesday, Nov. 8, and yet no one knows what action the minority party will take. From the results of the party conventions held in the majority of States, it may be said that the conservative element—"the safe and sane"—will be in control, but the radical faction is strong enough to cause trouble. Judge Alton Parker, of New York, the silent candidate, has 236 delegates pledged to support him, among whom are the delegates of his own State bound under the unit rule. Pennsylvania and New Jersey are uninstructed, but whether these two delegations are swung into the Parker column or not, they are sure to be favorable to a conservative candidate. It is believed that of the uninstructed delegates at least 127 will vote for the New York jurist, which will place him away in the lead of any other candidate. Hearst has 154 delegates instructed in his favor, fifty-four of these being the Illinois party which he is apt to lose. It is estimated that there are thirty-four other delegates who will support the yellow-journalist. These two men, Parker and Hearst, are the strongest candidates at present, and they are the representatives of the two wings of the party. Parker has easily the better of it, but it will not be surprising at all if his friends should pursuade him to withdraw at the last moment in favor of some other representative of the "safe and sane" element, who would be more acceptable to the Hearst-Bryan faction.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The fans will see several new faces in the line-up of the Dunellen A. C Adam Scott, the crack outfielder of the Plainfield High School, will be given a chance in the outfield. Gavin, formerly of Levering & Garrigues, and Emery, of Clinton Avenue, will probably be tried out also. "Shorty" Alberts will probably be found on second in place of "Dave" Smith and Mathews, of Bond Brook, will play first. This new arrangement and the new material should give the team considerable strength and the game with Clinton Avenue should be theirs by a good margin.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Michael Heyl, whose death occurred on Thursday, were held this morning in St. John's R. C. church. Mr. Heyl was one of the oldest residents of this place and a large number of his old friends attended the obsequies. Interment was in Plainfield.

Mayor Bill Smith is having a good time in Boulder, Col., at the home of his brother. Bill himself is authority for that statement, which appears in a letter to a New Market friend. He says he will stay away from New Market for at least three months.

STUDYING THE ROBIN

IT MAY BE AN INTERESTING AND USEFUL PASTIME.

Some Things to Look For in the Few Hours You Can Give the Subject—Method for the Schools.

There are few of our wild birds more numerous or of wider general distribution than the robin, and for this reason the robin is one of the very best birds for the nature student to begin on; he will be able to compare his notes with those of his fellow students all over the country. Of course everybody can identify the robin, but even the ancient ornithologists know comparatively little about him. Ask one of them the average age to which the robin lives, whether the robins which nested in his town last year are the same which are nesting there this year, or any one of a dozen simple questions, and you will get an idea of what a splendid field for original research is presented in the life of even the best-known of our wild creatures.

The average person can devote but a small portion of his time to the study of birds, and, as the field of bird study is practically limitless, his general knowledge of birds must necessarily be very, very limited. If, however, he chose to devote most of the time he has for this subject, to a single species, by preference a common species, such as he would not have to waste much time in hunting for, his chances of doing original, useful work wold be good.

If this plan of bird study were adopted in the school, it would also have another advantage; it would tend to save the nests of the rarer birds in any particular locality from the visits of enthusiastic but often very thoughtless youngsters, who might get just as much pleasure, and perhaps more instruction, by studying the nest of one of the commoner birds.

For the benefit of those who so far have had no experience in studying birds, I will make the following suggestions for the study of the robin:

Begin your study of the nest as soon as possible after the birds have begun to build. Make a note of the site selected, whether in a tree, on part of a dwelling or other building, on the ground, in a hole in a tree, for robins select very queer sites sometimes. Notice its height from the ground, and if it is in a tree, note what hind of a tree it is in. Find out if both the male and the female assist in the building, and whether they divide the work about evenly, or if one does more than the other. If the latter is the case, which bird works the harder? Notice the kind of material used in the making of the nest, and describe the process as nearly as you can. If you are an early riser, find out exactly at what time the first bit of building material is brought to the nest in the morning, and at what time the last bit is brought at night. See how long it is before the nest is completed, and notice whether the female lays her first egg at once, or whether she waits a day or two, and, if so, how long she waits. Does the bird begin to sit as soon as the first egg is laid, or does it wait until she has laid the whole set? Does she lay one each day until all are laid, or does she lay one every other day? How many eggs are there in the full set? Are they all the same size and color? Does the male or the female sit on the eggs, or do they take turns? Which sits at night? Which in the daytime? How many days does it take for the eggs to hatch? Do they all hatch at once Are there any which do not hatch at all? Do both parents begin to feed the young at once, or does one go away for food while the other remains to protect the little ones? Which one remains? Watch and make notes on the development of the young at least once a day. How many days elapse between the date of hatching and the date on which the young birds leave the nest? Do all those which were hatched live to leave the nest? Did you notice whether any accident happened to any of them after they left the nest? Try to find out how long the young are fed by their parents after leaving the nest. Also make as many notes as possible on the actions of the birds under different circumstances. What do they do when it rains? What do they do when it is very hot? How do they act when an enemy, a cat or a snake or a squirrel, approaches the nest? Be sure to put down all the dates, and notice whether the parents have a second brood; if so, notice if the second nest is as well made as the first.

Of course very few will be able to make all the notes I have suggested, but they should make as many of them as they can, but if they make ever so few, let those few be accurate, accurate, accurate.

A STORY OF ILLINOIS IN PIONEER DAYS

By MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD

THIS is what Mrs. Catherwood often called her favorite story. Mrs. Catherwood loved the simplicity of pioneer days in the west, and around these three historic characters has woven a charming romance. The place of the story is New Salem, Ill., and the time when Lincoln was keeping a store there and studying under Minter Grayham. It is

THE MYSTERY OF SLEEP.

Imperative as the Demand for Food and There Is No Substitute for It.

Sleep, with its strange phenomena, remains, after the passage of thousands of years, as much a mystery as it was in the beginning of the race, says the Boston Post.

Whence it comes? How produced? We as little know the answer to these questions as Adam when the deep slumber fell upon him in the garden.

The craving of the body for sleep is as imperative as its cry for food. This blessed loss of consciousness is the best general medicine known. There is neither substitute nor rival for it.

Sleep is the off-duty period of consciousness. It is during this time, when the entire system is in a quiescent state, that the final processes of assimilation take place and that the body is really nourished.

This assimilation is said to go on much better and more rapidly before midnight than afterward, because of the more thorough circulation of the blood, which carries the new material and removes the waste.

Oxygen, too, is consumed in greater quantities before midnight than after it, according to the scientists, and oxygen is necessary to this nutritive process.

The heart decreases in force from midnight until after sunrise the following day, and nightmare, dreams, convulsions, relapse—even death—occur more frequently after this hour.

Those who burn the midnight oil should make a note of the fact that there are good physiological arguments in favor of the "early to bed" advice.

One excellent reason why early sleep is preferable to late is that the cells of the brain and other nerve centers can recuperate more quickly before reaching a point of strain or exhaustion than they can afterwards do.

It should be remembered that the nutrition of the body goes on very slowly unless plenty of oxygen is consumed at the same time.

As the consumption of oxygen is less during sleep than in working hours, there is the greatest necessity for plenty of pure air in every sleeping room.

The intimate connection of sleep and bodily nourishment is strangely illustrated in the hideous "six-day races" and similar feats.

The men engaged in these eat tremendous quantities of food—five times what the ordinary workman can possibly consume in a like number of hours.

Yet the end of the test finds them frightfully emaciated, with vitality spent.

Physicians explain this as a result of the lack of sleep, which has made it impossible for the digestive system to transform the food into tissue.

Sleep is a life-giver as well as a life-saver.

The coming of natural slumber is gradual. The general repose would seem to be made up of many little sleeps, which are premonitions of nature's approaching control of the body. These little sleeps take each sense separately and obscure it.

They take the physical organs one by one ond shroud them slowly till all are quiescent.

Of the five guardian senses that protect us from danger while awake, the eyes are the most important.

But normal sleep comes with darkness; sight is useless in the dark; therefore, in sleeping the eyes close first of all.

Next after sight, taste is lost; then the sense of smell. When "half asleep" one's sight, taste and smell are gone Hearing is the next to succumb, the sense of touch deserting us last of all.

The same slow approach of sleep is noticed in the muscles and sinews. Drowsiness begins at the feet, and spreads slowly upwards until the brain is reached.

In waking the process is the same, but it is reversed.

The quickest way to arouse a sleeper is to touch him. The next best is to shouting. Taste remains last of all.

Specialists say that never before was there a time when such long and profound sleep was needed as now by the average man and woman.

Our tense and noisy living requires it in generous quantities to repair the daily ravages.

They add with truth that there has never been a time when civilized man was so little able to sleep as he now is, thanks to the very conditions which make repose so necessary.

A man can go 40 days without solid food and survive.

He can exist seven days, sometimes longer, without food and water.

He can drag through seven days, at most, without sleep.

Musical Snails.

A German scientist recently pointed out that snails are able to draw immense weights, and now a French naturalist claims that there are few, if any, animals which have a higher appreciation of music than snails. This naturalist is M. S. Jourdain, and his views on the subject are expressed at length in a paper which he has addressed to the French Biological society. Place some snails on a pane of glass, he says, and you will find that as they move over it they will make musical sounds similar to those which a person can produce by wetting his finger and then rubbing it around a glass tumbler. Complete airs, he points out, have been played on tumblers in this way, and he expresses the opinion that quite as good results can be obtained by using snails instead of fingers.

Turkish Women

Indian Squaws Have More Liberty Than They

TURKEY takes rank among nations as a civilized country. China does not, yet the women of China have more liberty and better education than those of the sultan's realm.

Investigations show that while the red Indian squaw of America does the hard work of the family she has rights and authority that are never contradicted. The Turkish married woman appears to have just one right; the Turkish girl has none at all. Turkish women have their apartments sacred to themselves. When a Turk wishes to go into his wife's rooms he advances cautiously toward the threshold. If a pair of slippers lies upon the threshold, that is a sign that some woman friend is visiting his ladies. No Turk or Mohammedan may look upon the face of any woman except a relative or inmate of his own harem, so if the slipper be at the door the lord and master must withdraw.

It is said that many a time the women of a harem put a pair of slippers upon the threshold of their apartments when they have no company, merely because they do not want to be bothered with their man around. In this respect the Turkish wife has the advantage of her western sister, who has no den or corner sacred from the intrusion of her huband when she does not wish to see him. Western law and custom give him the right to break in upon his wife by force, if he chooses, at any time and place.

The Mohammedan religion and oriental views of the sex question are together responsible for the degradation and subjection of Turkish women. Recently one or two Turkish women have escaped from their country to tell the western world of the life of woman in the Ottoman empire. In Constantinople the Turkish women and girls of the wealthy classes have occasionally opportunity to make the acquaintance of western women. At once the desire to be free and to know something arises in the soul of the woman of Islam. She longs with the longing of the slave to be free. She is restive and rebellious. So true is this that three years ago Sultan Abdul Hamid issued an edict forbidding Turkish families to employ foreign teachers in their families.

One Turkish girl was handed over by her father to be the property of another Turk, old as her father himself and extremely repellent to her, but that was nothing. The girl was not even the first wife of the man to whom her father gave her, but that again was nothing. The girl accepted the situation and bided her time. She associated all that was possible with western women; she learned all she could of their ways and languages. Finally one morning the girl was missing. Her western women friends had aided her to escape from Turkey in disguise, and the so called civilized land that degrades and oppresses women worse than is done among the savage Moros of Sulu saw her no more. She is now in Europe trying to interest free white women in the hapless, hopeless condition of their sex in Turkey.

Another Turkish lady is Princess Hairie Ben Ayad. Her husband, a member of the party of Young Turkey, had incurred the suspicion of the sultan's spies, but managed in time to elude them and get away "to Europe," as Europe outside of Turkey is significantly and fittingly called in the Ottoman empire. After a time Princess Hairie got away with her children and joined her husband. She, too, is lecturing to European audiences on the deplorable condition of Turkish women. She expects to come to the United States, where she will tell her story, in the hope that somehow a way will open for the uplifting of womanhood in her native land.

When a wealthy Turk wishes to make the most acceptable present to a friend or a man high in authority, to this day he gives that individual the most beautiful girl slave he can find. He dresses her gorgeously, adorns her with the richest jewels he can afford and hands her over.

In all Turkey there is scarcely an educated woman. It is the policy of the government to keep women in absolute ignorance and to encourage in all ways the traditional belief that woman has no soul, only a body. Abdul Hamid knows well that educating women will sound the death knell of oriental despotism.

TRAPPING THE EAGLE

HOW THE TRICK IS DONE BY MOQUI INDIANS.

A Peculiar Tribe with Many Points of Interest—Denizens of the Arizona Desert for Centuries.

The Moqui Pueblo Indians of northern Arizona are probably at the present time the most interesting and unique tribe of aborigines inhabiting the American continent. They live in villages located upon the summits of several detached, flat-topped, sandstone mountains that rise up from a broad, wind-swept plain, like great monuments. The sides of these lofty, flat-topped remains of what was once, doubtless, an extensive mountain range, are quite precipitous, and the top in each case can only be reached by means of a tortuous path excavated along the breast of the mountain. Up this path, stones from the plains, and timbers from the forests, many miles away, have been carried for the construction of buildings, year after year, century after century, for an unknown period of the past.

Coronado, the Spanish explorer, in his quest for the city of Cibola, about the middle of the sixteenth century, found these people living on the tops of the mountains they now occupy. Some anthropologists claim that they are a remnant of the once powerful Aztecs, and that their villages on the Arizona "mesas" are at least as old as the conquest of Mexico by Hernando Cortez in the fifteenth century.

The occupation of these mesas for even a brief period seems remarkable, in view of the fact that the surrounding country is a sandy desert, and the water supply barely sufficient for the daily needs of the people. Indeed, bathing of the person and washing of clothes are almost unknown practices, a fact quickly made evident to the American visitor at the villages, or by the chance meeting of a wandering Moqui.

Once, it is said, a couple of these people made their way to the Rio Grande valley, and impelled by curiosity visited the Montezuma hotel, near Las Vegas. Their presence was markedly offensive, and the manager would have speedily turned them out, but they afforded an attraction for eastern visitors and in consequence were permitted to prolong their visit. After much persuasion they were permitted to indulge in a bath.

SEIZED THE EAGLE BY THE LEGS.

"Ah!" exclaimed the younger Moqui, when the bath was over, "the water you washed in is dirtier than mine."

"Yes," replied his companion, "but you must remember I am a year older than you are."

Like most American Indians, the Moquis delight in ornamenting their hair with the feathers of the hawk and the eagle, the latter being especially prized for the purpose. At each of the villages hunters of these birds watch throughout the year for the appearance of broods from the nests on the neighboring inaccessible mountain peaks. One day, not long ago, Hultani, a young Moqui hunter, observed an eagle with a brood just from the nest, hovering over the summit of a neighboring mountain searching for food. Taking a companion with him he hastened in the night to the mountain, and just before dawn secreted himself in a narrow fissure in the rock. His companion then covered him over where he lay with twigs and cedar bark, on which he placed the dead body of a freshly killed rabbit, and hurrying away hid himself nearby.

Soon after daylight the eagle again appeared with her brood, hovering over the mountain, and finally, catching sight of the rabbit, swooped down upon it and seized it in her claws. Hultani instantly thrust his hand through the covering above him and seized the eagle by her legs. The great bird at once spread her broad pinions and rising in the air carried the young savage bodily out of the fissure. She beat him over the head and shoulders with her wings, and pounded him in the face with her strong beak. Once or twice she ceased to fight and extending her pinions sought to escape, dragging her captor for some distance over the stony surface of the mountain. In the meanwhile the companion of the young man hastened to his assistance, and casting a sheepskin bag over the great bird ended her struggle for freedom.

FAST FIRE RUN RECORD.

Chicago Firemen Astonished French Visitors, But the Strategy Was Costly.

A score of firemen were relating anecdotes of the late Denis J. Swenie, for a score of years Chicago's fire marshal "One day," said a grizzled veteran, who, according to the Journal, for years worked under the old fireman in the down-town district, "a party of French gentlemen called on the mayor. They said they were directors of the Paris fire department, and would like to inspect the fire department. The mayor called Chief Swenie and turned the party over to him. Sure! he would show them everything. He sent out a notice to the fire department that he would pull box 74, Hubbard court and Michigan avenue, at four o'clock. He wanted three engines and a truck to make a record run to the box.

"Among the companies to run in on the box was engine 10 and truck company 1, both located next to the Harrison street police station. There was a great deal of pleasant rivalry between these companies and another due on the test run. Accordingly the captains decided that 10 and 1 were going to beat out all the others.

"They arranged to get the apparatus out in Harrison street. The operator at the Harrison street police station agreed to give them a signal when the box call came.

"The scheme would have worked to a charm had the visitors been on time. They were, however, about two minutes late. Now, it just happened that a fire was discovered on the North side at four o'clock to the second.

"The operators in the fire alarm office struck off box 8-4-6. Before he counted off the alarm, the operator waved to the waiting companies, and away they went. When he discovered the mistake it was too late. He had sent the companies away to box 76, and the box had not been pulled. The firemen rounded the corner just as Chief Swenie was walking up to the box.

"He was the most surprised man in the crowd. The companies were on the scene before he had touched the box.

"'Seems to me you had a wrong hunch,' was all he said. He then pulled the box, and brought out the other two companies. At the next session of the trial board two captains forfeited five days' pay for 'anticipating an alarm of fire.'

"Ever since that time, test runs or no test runs, no horse has poked his nose out of a stall until at least one round of the box has been received."

TOO MUCH LOVE-MAKING.

London Art School of Twenty Years' Standing Disrupted by Spoony Students.

Prof. Hubert Herkomer, the noted painter, has closed his well-known art school at Bushey, near London, because of the irrepressible love-making of the students. This school, says a London report, quite an art institution in England, was established 21 years ago and has been conducted by the professor without any gain to himself, but merely out of love for art.

The students work together. Of late, especially, they have contracted the habit of falling in love with one another. Eighteen couples out of 35 are now engaged.

Love-making, the professor says, is far more seriously pursued than the study of art. So he has withdrawn his patronage from the school, which accordingly comes to an end.

The students indignantly contend that they are at liberty to court when the day's work is over and that nothing contributes more to developing artistic capabilities than love.

The chauffeur is beginning to become a serious social problem in England. Formerly the flighty young woman of fashion afflicted with a mania for horses frequently fell in love with her groom. Nowadays the good-looking expert chauffeur is run after by the same class of young persons, with the same results.

Society is ringing at the moment with the story of a handsome girl of 22 belonging to one of the oldest untitled families in England who has announced her positive intention of marrying her father's chauffeur. She has an income of $5,000 and must succeed ultimately to a great fortune. Her parents sent for the chauffeur and offered him $50,000 cash down to decline their daughter's hand.

He simply asked:

"What is the matter with me? I have given my word, and no money can make me break it."

Thus the affair stands at present. The girl's parents are distracted. It is simply a not uncommon case of an impressionable girl who gets crazed about motoring and comes to regard the chauffeur as the god of the machine.

Danger That Lurks in a Rabbit.

A correspondent of the Washington Post tells of a rabbit which killed a hound with one blow of its claws. A rabbit is more dangerous than is really thought. Last winter on Pocosin creek Mr. John Hobbs, while hunting rabbits, had his dog run one into a hollow log. As he stooped to peep into the log the rabbit leaped out full against Mr. Hobbs, breaking his nose and knocking him upon his dog with such force as to crush that animal to death. The rabbit escaped. We don't know as to the truth of the story in the Washington Post, but Mr. Hobbs is a living but disfigured witness of the tragedy on Pocosin creek.—Princeton (W. Va.) Journal.

from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Bradley, who has been playing third base for Alis, will have a rest today. Gray, of Aeolian, will cover this position.

Doescher, the Brooklyn National League pitcher, will be in the box for Aeolian on Saturday, July 2, in the third game against Alis

The Evansville Club has signed second baseman Frank Bonner, of Boston, who played one game with St. Mary's team last season. Bonner was formerly with the old Crescents.

It is understood that if the St. Mary and Alis teams play a series of games, one of the agreements will be that St. Mary's team shall not play Westfield. It is said that both managers have agreed to this.

Walter Clarkson, the crack pitcher, has been barred from about everything in sight at Harvard. Foolish boy. He could have waited two weeks to sign professionally, thereby not injuring his standard at college.

Nine girls of Dover, Morris county, have organized a baseball team to be known as the Jersey Blues. The have refused to play a game with the married men for the championship of the town, but will cross bats with he single fellows for a series.

The Washington Star says: "Badgley may be up this way pitching before long. He made his debut with the Alis, of Plainfield, last Saturday, and the Hoboken team put him out of the business in a couple of innings. Hoboken won by a score of 9 to 5."

But two runs have been made off McGinnity's delivery in 32 innings. He shut out Pittsburg 2 to 0 and 7 to 0; Philadelphia, 1 to 0, St. Louis 2 to 0 twice, Chicago 3 to 0, Cincinnati 3 to 0. He had a fourteen inning tie game with Philadelphia 1 to 1. He held Philadelphia down to one run three times and Chicago, Boston and St. Louis each one. In sixteen games twenty runs have been made in games in which he pitched for New York.

DISPUTE OVER REALTY DEAL

ALEXANDER KANE CAN NOT GET POSSESSION OF CHURCH HE PURCHASED.

Trouble over the possession of the Filmore Avenue Baptist church, colored, is still simmering. The latest development is a threat to sue the heirs from Contractor Aleck Kane, who claims that he bought the property from the owners and has since been blocked from taking over the holding.

Kane said this morning that he had served formal notice on the Scheidecker estate yesterday that unless the property is turned over to him within a week suit will be commenced. He claims that after the property was sold to him, when the heirs had foreclosed on the church, the owners extended the time for payment to the colored people. Kane says he got wind of the matter and demanded that the heirs keep to their agreement with him, which provided for the immediate dispossessing of the congregation. Then, he says, the heirs refused to take the negroes' money, and now the colored people claim that the refusal followed a witnessed agreement to accept, and demand $450 before consenting to move.

Kane maintains that the property as it stands now damages his present holdings nearby, and claims that damages are due him on the ground that the heirs prevent the improvement of his property by failing to keep their agreement to sell.

The heirs are represented by C. M. Dolliver, Esq. W. S. Angleman, Esq., is the lawyer for the congregation.

BIG GATHERING OF JUNIORS

PLAINFIELD MEMBERS OF JR. O. U. A. M. AT MEETING IN BOUND BROOK.

Representatives from Franklin, Somerset and Benevolent Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., of this city, to the number of about eighty-five attended a union meeting of Juniors at Bound Brook, last night. The local members made the trip by special trolley car. There were present at the meeting delegations from many Councils in this vicinity, chiefly in Somerset County.

W. B. LaRue, past Councilor of Pioneer Council, presided. There were interesting addresses by State Councilor J. Fred Lang, of Elizabeth; State Council Secretary W. H. Miers, of Trenton; P. Hall Parker, of Seabright, and Rev. T. E. Davis, of this city.

The officers gave facts and figures to show the excellent condition of the order in New Jersey. The entire membership now is nearly 40,000. It was also stated that the legal complications have all been settled and the State Council was never in better condition. At the conclusion of the addresses, each Council present, through a representativ, gave a brief report of the individual organizations. This was encouraging.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served and a smoker enjoyed. The Plainfielders left Bound Brook at 12:15 and arrived home at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Silvers Buried.

The funeral services of Mrs. Randolph Silvers were held this morning at 11 o'clock from the late home in Westervelt avenue, North Plainfield. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. Rev. G. M. Shott, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, conducted the services, after which the interment was made in the Baptist Cemetery at Scotch Plains, beside the remains of Mrs. Silvers' husband.

ANOTHER BUILDING BOOM

NEW YORK CONCERN TO IMPROVE LARGE PART OF MARTINE PROPERTY.

Fifty acres of the Martine estate have been sold to a New York real estate company for exploitation as a residence section. The buyers are F. M. Welles & Co., of 45 Broadway.

The parcel lies between Park and Watchung avenues and Hillside avenue and Ninth street. It is proposed to restrict the tract to good residences.

The company will build houses to order. There are no payments down, but as soon as a lot is purchased, the concern will erect a house of whatever design desired by the buyer, taking monthly payments, smaller than rent for the same class of home, in liquidation of the cost.

There is to be a parkway or boulevard midway between Martine avenue and Prospect avenue. The tract and the houses are to have all city conveniences.

Y. M. C. A. ATHLETIC CONTEST

PLAINFIELD TO PARTICIPATE IN STATE MEET AT ORANGE NEXT SATURDAY.

Plainfield athletes will participate in the annual meet for the State championship of the New Jersey Y. M. C. A. which will be held at the Orange Oval on Saturday afternoon, July 2. The events are open to members of the New Jersey Y. M. C. A. The following will be run off:

One hundred yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, one mile run, 12-pound shot put, running broad jump, running high jump, one mile relay race, half mile relay race for boys 16 years and under.

The prizes offered will consist of a silver fob bearing the association's insigna, for the first prize; a bronze fob for the second prize and a silver cup to the winning relay teams. In addition to these a shield will be awarded to the association scoring the most points. Points will count on a basis of five for first, three for second and one for third. The boys' relay will not count in the association championship.

The entries will close today. The following associations will participate: Orange, Montclair, Plainfield, Newark, Summit, Passaic, Paterson, New Brunswick, Morristown, Jersey City and Hudson City.

The Archbishop of Canterbury (the Most Rev. Dr. Randall Thomas Davidson) has definitely accepted the invitation of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States to be present at the General Convention at Boston in October.

General O. O. Howard will deliver the Independence Day oration in the Auditorium, at Ocean Grove. Bishop FitzGerald, who is president of the Camp Meeting Association, will preach the first sermon of the season next Sunday morning.

The Baptist Theological seminaries throughout the country are generally raising the standards of admission to the equivalent of the A. B. degree. "Notwithstanding that this policy has called forth considerable criticism," says the Baptist Examiner, in a recent issue "it is completely justifying itself and is being rapidly followed by the law and medical schools. * * * * * * The position that good intentions are a sufficient qualification to entitle a man to become a public teacher of religion is seen to be no more tenable than that good intentions qualify a man to tinker with our drain pipes or with our electric lights."

COMPLAINT OVER STREET WORK.

Fire Chief Protests Against Poor Job of P. S. C.

While the extension of gas mains along West Fourth street is considered an improvement, the manner in which the back-filling has been done at the intersection of West Fourth and Liberty streets, is calling forth condemnatory remarks from Chief Doane, of the Fire Department. The Chief points that in case of fire the long stretch of banked-up earth from the trench would prevent vehicles from taking the off side of the street to give the apparatus sufficient room.

This would be particularly true, said he, at the corner of Liberty and Fourth street, where more than half the road is blocked, the trench having been filled only for a space of perhaps nine feet, the rest of the width of Liberty street being barricaded with timbers to prevent teams from getting into the ditch.

ROW IN STRAWBERRY PATCH.

William Bourgeoise Accused of Knocking Mrs. Klein Down.

William Bourgeoise, arrested by Detective McCarthy, was in the city court this morning to answer to a complaint, charging him with assault and battery. Mrs. Elisabeth Klein, the complainant, stated that Bourgeoise had thrown her to the ground after striking her repeatedly.

The attack took place on Thursday in a strawberry patch, the property of the defendant, and he made a counter accusation against the woman of theft of fruit.

Judge Runyon released the prisoner on his own recognizance, to appear again before him Monday, June 27.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Patrolman Had Difficult Time in Bringing Prisoner to City Jail.

Patrolman McGinley had a lively time with a suspicious character this morning when he arrested Frederick Benjamin, of 2230 Fulton street, Brooklyn. When first captured, the man was on Cottage place and not liking the feel of the bracelets, he broke from the officer and ran in the direction of the freight-house.

The officer fired several shots and finally recaptured his man near Richmond street. In court Benjamin entered a plea of not guilty and on promising to leave town immediately, as released under a suspended sentence.

HERE'S AN ODD CASE.

YOUNG NEW YORKER SUES AN AFFECTIONATE MAIDEN.

Girl Hugged So Hard That She Broke Admirer's Rib—Now the Victim Wants Her to Pay the Doctor's Bill.

Walter Lorraine, of Riga, N. Y., has brought an action against Marie Du Calm of Niagara Falls, to recover damages. It is charged by Lorraine that Miss Du Calm hugged him so tightly as to break one of his ribs.

It appears that last winter the plaintiff was visiting Ottawa. While there he met the defendant, who was visiting an aunt in the Canadian city. Mutual subjects of interest drew the young people into an acquaintanceship that speedily developed into an attachment of a deeper nature. Lorraine overstayed his original time, and the young woman also found it more agreeable than she had anticipated in the province. The ice carnival was at its height, and the young people decided to go to Quebec to visit it, and also to secure a number of photographic views, both being ardent amateur photographers.

The visit was made, and conversation was punctuated with the click of the kodak. Lorraine was to return home on the following day, and it was decided to develop the negatives that night. At the home of the defendant's aunt there had been fitted up a temporary dark room for the use of Miss Du Calm while she was visiting, and the room was fitted with the regular ruby lamp. That's where the red rays enter into the case.

Several negatives had been developed, and one in particular appealed to the enthusiastic nature of the defendant. As she saw the image of the gay scenes which they had witnessed earlier in the day she was completely carried away. With a gurgling, "Oh, Walter, doesn't anything like that make you love nature? I'm just going to give you a big hug!" she hurled herself at the plaintiff. As her arms encircled him there was a crackling sound, and Lorraine uttered a cry of pain.

Interest in the negatives terminated and the plaintiff was assisted to an adjoining room. His pallor alarmed the defendant, and she had a physician summoned. He decided that Lorraine had suffered a fracture of one of the ribs on the right side. Lorraine underwent the usual treatment, and under the pain incident to the knitting of the fractured bone his affection rapidly cooled.

Upon his return to Riga, he talked the matter over with friends, and they urged the bringing of an action to recover for his injuries. The advice of his counselors prevailed and he wrote and suggested that the expense incurred in treatment of his injuries be paid by the defendant. She refused to listen to any such proposition and then the law was called in.

In defense of her action Miss Du Calm sets up that she is of an affectionate and clinging nature, that the fact was well known to the plaintiff, and that up to the time of the unfortunate incident or accident that led to the estrangement the plaintiff had shown no disinclination to submit to caresses.

Furthermore, it is set forth that the action of the defendant at this time complained of was involuntary and due to the effect of the red rays of light resulting from the use of the ruby lamp, that it is a recognized scientific fact that the red rays are the most strenuous and likely to provoke excitability in one of ardent temperament, and their effect upon the defendant is and was at the time alleged in the complaint known to the plaintiff, wherefore judgment is asked that the complaint be dismissed with costs to the defendant.

Frigate Bird Sleeps on Wing.

The frigate bird can feed, collect materials for its nest, and even sleep on the wing. The spread of the frigate bird's wings is very great, and it can fly at a speed of 96 miles an hour without seeming to move its wings to any great degree. Mr. J. Lancaster, an American naturalist, asserts that he has seen a frigate bird on the wing for a whole week, night and day, without rest.

WM. NEWCORN WEDS MRS. MAMIE LEVENTHAL

Prominent Lawyer and Former Assemblyman the Groom at a Marriage in New York.

CEREMONY A QUIET ONE

WERE WEDDED AT THE HOME OF THE BRIDE'S BROTHER.

Honeymoon at Atlantic City—Couple to Reside in This City on Their Return—Mr. Newcorn's Career.

Former Assemblyman William Newcorn, of this city, and Mrs. Mamie Leventhal, of New York, were quietly married at the home of the bride's brother, Israel M. Finkelstein, in East Eighty-seventh street, New York, yesterday afternoon. Only the near relatives and immediate friends of the couple were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. A. H. Davidson, assisted by Rev. Joseph Martin, both of New York.

The bride and groom were unattended and in all there were about sixty guests present. The bride was gowned in a pale gray renaissance robe, trimmed with chiffon. She also wore a gray hat trimmed with silk flowers, and in her hair a crescent of thirty diamonds, the gift of the groom.

After the wedding the couple left for Philadelphia and today they will go to Atlantic City for a brief stay. Upon their return they will live at 920 West Front street.

For a number of years Mr. Newcorn has been active in Union County politics and he was a member of the Legislature in 1902-03. For several terms he was a member of the city and county Republican committees and a leader in the Fourth ward. He has also been active in several fraternal lodges, being a past great sachem of the Improved Order Red Men of New Jersey and an officer of Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W. Mr. Newcorn was admitted to the New Jersey Bar several years ago and as a practicing lawyer has been very successful.

Mrs. Newcorn has been prominent in New York society, where she has taken an active part in many social events. Both she and her husband are very popular in a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The bride was the recipient of many costly and useful gifts.

REV. RICHARD MOLDENKE DIED VERY SUDDENLY

Wealthy Lutheran Minister, Stricken at Breakfast Table, Passed Away Soon After.

ATTACK DUE TO GRIEF

PASTOR BEMOANED THE FATE OF SLOCUM DISASTER VICTIMS.

He Was Seventy Years of Age and Had Been in Charge of One Church for Thirty Years.

Rev. Dr. Richard Moldenke, one of the best known and wealthiest Lutheran clergymen in the country, died at his summer home, "Elsinore," Washingtonville, on Saturday. He was stricken with heart disease while at breakfast and before medical aid could be secured he passed away. The cause of his illness was believed to be due to grief for members of his congregation who lost their lives on the ill-fated Gen. Slocum, and his compassion for the bereft families of St. Mark's church.

A week ago yesterday he broke down while holding memorial services for the Slocum dead. He then went to his country home. Dr. Moldenke was pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, New York, for thirty years. He was 70 years old and leaves a widow and three sons—Dr. Richard Moldenke, manufacturer and secretary of the American Foundrymen's Association; Dr. Charles Moldenke, a retired clergyman, and Dr. Alfred Moldenke, who is the assistant pastor of St. Peter's church.

The remains have been taken to New York, where services will be held in St. Peter's church tomorrow. They will then be brought back to this city and placed in a vault which the deceased built near his home several years ago.

DUNELLEN, 4; CLINTON AVE., 1

SUPERIOR BATTING AND FIELDING DEFEATS LOCAL TEAM.

The Dunellen A. C. was able to defeat the strong Clinton Avenue A. C. on Saturday afternoon at Dunellen by superior work in the field and at the bat. The game was highly interesting because of the quick fielding and clever batting. Started scoring in the first inning when two runs were secured by three hits and a stolen base. In the seventh, Dunellen secured two more runs by bunching hits and daring base running.

The lineup:

Dunellen—Giles, ss; Craig, 3b; Mathews, 1b; Alberts, 2b; Emery, rf; Smith, p, Scott, lf; Montross, cf; Davis, c.

Clinton Avenue—Farmant, cf; Brit Martin, 2b; J. Martin, ss; Beekman, 3b; Darling, rf; Magee, c; Barnes, 1b; VanArtsdale, p; Belmer, lf.

Score by innings:

ALIS DROPS A GAME TO THE MURRAY HILLS

Errors by Lauder and Gray Help Visitors Win a Ten-Inning Contest.

WERE EVENLY MATCHED

BOTH PITCHERS WERE TOUCHED FOR THIRTEEN HITS.

McGoey Almost Makes a Home Run—Gauven Gets Three Hits—The Scores in Detail—Lauder Not to Play Until Ankle is Well.

The dropping of an easy fly ball by Lauder and a wild throw by Gray to first base in the fifth inning, together with a couple of singles, was the cause of Alis losing an otherwise interesting game to Murray Hill on Saturday. The two errors were largely responsible for three runs made in that inning, and barring these the score would have been 8 to 7 in favor of Alis, instead of 10 to 8 in favor of the visitors. It required ten innings to decide the contest, the score being a tie with eight runs each at the end of the ninth. A two bagger by O'Neil and singles by O'Gorman and Conroy netted two runs, one to spare, while Alis could do nothing in their half of the tenth.

The locals started the game in merry-go-round style, making four runs, while the visitors were shutout in the first two innings. In the third they tallied three runs, while Alis drew one. In the fourth both teams drew a blank, but the fifth brought three more for the visitors, and only one for Alis. The next inning was a blank; while in the seventh each team scored two more runs. Alis failed to make any more, while Murray Hill chalked two in the tenth, giving them the game.

There seemed to be a hoodoo spell about the Alis team and Captain Lauder was particularly affected. His fumble of two easy fly balls was unusual and especially unfortunate. He made two of the four errors for the team, Gray and Davis each making one. Billy covered second and barring his two misplays handled himself well. He has decided, however, to retire from the game for the present and he will not be with the team until his ankle is entirely well.

In the eighth inning McGoey was cut out of a home run at the home plate. After putting the ball far beyond the reach of the fielders, he made the circuit, only to be thrown out at home. He failed to touch the rubber.

The score in detail:

It was a disappointment to the local fans to see Alis lose. Two or three times they seemed to have the game, only to fall down at the wrong time. Davis tossed the leather sphere in his usual good style, dividing honors with Conroy, late of the Boston Americans. Each pitcher was touched for thirteen hits. The visitors played a good steady game, and at the bat they excelled in bunching their hits. "Al." Farmer put up his same top-notch

ALBERT I. LITTELL SERIOUSLY INJURED

NOW AT THE HOSPITAL

PLUNGED HEADFOREMOST FROM HOUSE WHILE AT WORK.

Dr. George W. Endicott Hastens to Spot and Cares for Injured Man—Chief Kiely Takes Him to Muhlenberg in Patrol Wagon.

Pitching head first from the roof of a three-story house, Albert I. Littell, of North avenue, narrowly escaped death about 9 o'clock this morning. He was on top of the three-story, mansard roof house at the corner of Putnam and Kensington avenues, occupied by Mrs. Amelia F. Lavelle and lost his balance while hoisting some roofing material from the ground. In falling, he turned completely over and struck the ground on his left foot, sustaining a compound fracture of the lower part of the left leg.

Dr. G. W. Endicott was called and temporarily cared for the injured limb, which had to have the clothing cut from it, the broken bone having protruded through the flesh. The patrol wagon was sent for and responded promptly, Chief Kiely coming out with it. Littell was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital and a careful examination was made to ascertain the extent of his injuries, it being feared for a time that some internal hurt had been sustained in addition to the broken bone, which had to be bound rigidly together with wire. It was found, however, that outside of his leg, Mr. Littell suffered no other injuries except to his face. The facial injuries were slight, however, consisting only of a few scratches and abrasions.

At the hospital this afternoon it was reported that Mr. Littell was getting along nicely and that his leg will not have to be amputated.

KILLED ON RAILROAD TRACK

UNKNOWN MAN STRUCK BY EXPRESS TRAIN AT SOUTH CRANFORD.

The body of an unknown man, supposed to be J. P. Lamorvey, of Brockton, Mass., is at Cole's undertaking establishment, on West Second street, awaiting instructions from Brockton. The man was killed at the South Cranford depot of the Lehigh Valley Railroad by the express train which passed through there at 3:40 this morning, his head being crushed at the back and one arm and one leg broken.

The papers found in his clothing included a book of the by-laws and regulations of the Journeyman Barbers' International Union of America. In the book were found the name and address given above. The book also bore the number of local 238, Brockton, Mass., and the individual member's number 48,256.

The man was fairly well dressed and appeared about forty-five or forty years old and of dark complexion. The local union at Brockton has been communicated with for instructions regarding the disposal of the body.

DR. E. L. EARP CALLED TO SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Will Take Charge of the Department of Sociology There.

WILL LEAVE AUGUST 1

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE YESTERDAY CAUSES DEEP REGRET.

The Official Board of Grace M. E. Church Adopt Resolutions—A Committee Appointed to Secure a Supply.

Rev. Dr. Edwin Lee Earp, pastor of Grace M. E. church, has been elected to the chair of sociology at Syracuse University. The appointment has been accepted, and at yesterday morning's service at his church the formal announcement that Dr. Earp is to give up pastoral activity for educational work was made to the congregation. The announcement came as a great surprise.

Dr. Earp laid the matter of his departure from the charge before his official board Friday night. His resignation was accepted after expressions of regret. Next Wednesday final action on the matter will be taken at the quarterly conference of the church.

It is expected that Dr. Earp will begin his duties at the university next September. He is to be released from his charge in the borough on August 1.

Dr. Earp is highly educated and a wide student. He has received four degrees: Ph. D. from Leipsic University, A. B. from Dickinson College, A. M. from New York University, and B. D. from Drew Theological Seminary, where he prepared for the ministry. He is a native of Maryland. He has been in the ministry for five and a half years. His first charge was at Ridgewood, where he stayed a year. He was in charge of St. James' church, Newark, during the next two years, and has been pastor of Grace for the past two and a half years.

In making the announcement of his approaching departure, at the morning service yesterday, Rev. Dr. Earp spoke very briefly. He simply stated that he had received a call to take charge of the department of sociology at Syracuse University early in the week, and that to enable him to begin his work there it was necessary for him to be released August 1. He explained that a special meeting of the Official Board had been called to take action in the matter, and that he had been freed from his pastoral obligations, beginning August 1, and that a committee had been appointed to co-operate with Presiding Elder Halloran in securing a pupilt supply until the next annual conference. At some later time, he said, when it would be more fitting and appropriate, he would have something to say as to his feelings in severing connections with Grace church.

After the service there were many expressions of regret over Dr. Earp's going. His flock gathered about him to assure him of their best wishes in his new field, and to make it plain that they were sorry he had to go.

In releasing Dr. Earp, the Official Board passed the following resolution of appreciation: "The Official Board has received the announcement from Rev. Dr. E. L. Earp that he has been called to the chair of sociology in Syracuse University, and hereby express their gratification at the opportunity open to him of wider usefulness. With great regret we contemplate the necessity of releasing him of his obligations to the church as its pastor. He has endeared himself to our people by his Christian courtesy and bearing, and by his faithful and sympathetic ministration. In consenting to release him August 1, we pray earnestly for his success and happiness in his new sphere, and pray God's blessing on his wife and children."

The committee appointed to look after the pulpit supply in co-operation with Presiding Elder Halloran is composed of Dr. H. K. Carroll, John Valiant and E. E. Winckler.

FR. BOONE CELEBRATES HIS FIRST HIGH MASS

Big Congregation at St. Mary's to Witness Solemn Ceremony Conducted by Young Priest.

FATHER EGAN'S SERMON

VERY REV. DEAN SMYTH, THE FORMER PASTOR, ASSISTS IN SERVICE.

Superior of the Sulpicians in Baltimore Present—Elaborate Musical Programme—Features of the Services.

Father Charles Boone, son of Dr. W. C. Boone, of this city, celebrated his first high mass yesterday morning at St. Mary's church. The occasion called a notable group of priests together.

Assisting Father Boone were the Very Rev. Dean Smyth, the former rector of St. Mary's and his cousin, Very Rev. Dr. Dyer, who is superior of the Sulpicians in Baltimore, where he has charge of St. Mary's Seminary. Dean Smyth was deacon, Rev. Father Albert, of Washington, was sub-deacon; Rev. Dr. Dyer was assistant priest, and Mr. Dutcher, a seminarian from Seton Hall, was master of ceremonies. In the sanctuary were Rev. Father Egan, rector of St. Mary's and his assistants, Rev. Fathers Clifford and Federici.

There was an unusually large congregation. In honor of the occasion the altar was beautifully decorated with flowers.

Father Egan preached the sermon. His discourse was on the priesthood, and an extended report of it will be found in these columns tomorrow.

There was an elaborate and beautiful musical programme. The mass was Farmers' and Georgine,' the solo parts being sung by Miss Anna Daly, soprano; Miss Lizzie Day, alto; Mr. Matthews, tenor, and Joseph O'Keefe, basso. Mr. Eagleston sang the anthem "Exaltabor" and Williams Holmes sang "O Salutaris" in splendid form. Miss Mary Smith presided at the organ.

CHAMPIONSHIP TENNIS PLAY

TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD ON ROSELLE CASINO COURTS.

E. B. SHOEMAKER WINS FIRST HONORS AT HILLSIDE.

Nelson A. Miller Gets Three Points at Park Golf Club—June Handicap at Westfield—The Individual and Team Scores.

The high temperature of the weather on Saturday had no material effect on the golf enthusiasts and a large number took part in the events at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. The course was in the best of condition and as a rule low scores were made. There were two events; a team match between Hillside and Hackensack and the weekly competition for the Golf Committee cup. In the team match Hillside won a decisive victory by a score of 45 to 0. The home club had an exceptionally strong team out and not once did the visitors have a chance to win.

This is the summary of the match:

Hillside—F. O. Reinhart, 7; Robert Abbott, 9; W. L. Glenney, 1; Willard Wadsworth, 9; Story Rowland, 3; Dudley H. Barrows, 3; C. Westley Abbott, 3; S. D. Lounsbery, 10. Total, 45.

Hackensack—Temple, 0; Whitbeck, 0; Colder, 0; Eypper, 0; Williams, 0; Hodgson, 0; Cowee, 0; Johnson, 0. Total, 0.

E. B. Shoemaker won first honors for the Golf Committee cup with a net score of 76, while C. B. Morgan, E. E. Iremonger and George T. Van Boskerck were tie for the remaining honors, each receiving a point. The scores:

E. B. Shoemaker, 88, 12—76; C. B. Morgan, 88, 9—79; E. E. Iremonger, 90, 11—79; George T. VanBoskerck, 90,11 —79; W. L. Glenney, 80, 0—80; Willard Wadsworth, 83, 3—80; S. D. Lounsbery, 89, 8—81; H. F. Fox, 102, 20—82; H. D. Hibbard, 92, 9—83; Olaf Saugstad, 95, 8—87.

The only event at the Park Golf Club was the weekly play for the President's and Park Golf Club cups, the latter a scratch event. Nelson A. Miller won first honors for the President's cup, while T. W. Morris, Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll and Charles L. Nichols were tie for the other honors, each receiving a point. For the other trophy, T. W. Morris won first honors, Dr. Carroll second and Rev. C. L. Goodrich the one remaining point. The scores:

Nelson A. Miller, 101, 23—78; T. W. Morris, 95, 12—83; Charles L. Nichols, 111, 28—83; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 96, 13—83; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, 100, 16—84; R. L. Hallock, 104, 19—85; J. B. Betts, 116, 30—86; H. C. Wells, 104, 17—87; L. W. Hallock, 106, 18—88; J. L. Watson, 122, 30—92; E. Maxwell Honeyman, 113, 17—96; Charles B. Morse, 144, 14—100.

The Park Golf Club team met defeat in its first match with the Cranford Golf Club team at Cranford, on Saturday, G. W. Faber and Morgan T. Townsend scoring the only points. The final score was 10 to 6, on the Nassau system. The summary:

Park—G. W. Faber, 3; Morgan T. Townsend, 3; Arthur Peck, 0; Charles Faber, 0; Charles A. Reed, 0; Herbert Rogers, 0; Rev. J. O. McKelvey, 0; Samuel Townsend, 0. Total, 6.

Cranford—Fuller, 0; Davis, 0; Tappen, 1; Waterbury, 1; Boger, 2; A. Edgecumb, 0; Fiske, 3; Bigoney, 3. Total, 10.

At the Cranford Golf Club, Saturday afternoon, there was another team match between the home team and Morristown. Cranford lost by 24½ points to 10.

The June handicap was the only event at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday, and E. R. Perkins was the winner with a net score of 71. There was a large field and considerable interest. The leading scores were as follows:

E. R. Perkins, 89, 18—71; E. B. Proudfit, 99, 25—74; J. A. Woodward, 86, 12—74; H. I. White, 106, 30—76; H. W. Gladwin, 109, 30—79; R. L. Townley, 90, 10—80; E. D. Floyd, 95, 14—81; S. A. Trevvett, 91, 10—81.

In the evening there was the formal opening of the new addition to the clubhouse. The event was marked by a dance and reception at which a number of women and officials of the club received. There was a large attendance of members and friends and all expressed themselves as being pleased with the additional room.

STAND TO BE MADE

Russians Intrenching at Tatshekiao to Fight There.

BATTLESHIP SUNK AT PORT ARTHUR

Large Warship of the Peresviet Type Goes Down Before the Fire of Togo's Fleet—Japs to Enter Kaichow Today.

LONDON, June 27.—A Tientsin dispatch says that 40,000 Russian troops are at Tatshekiao, fifteen miles north of Kaiping, where intrenchments are being erected and where a stand will be made against the Japanese.

Thirty officers of the Red Cross society went into Newchwang and purchased medicines and comforts for the sick.

A courier who has been out three days from Newchwang has returned and reports that the Japanese are scouting ten miles southwest of Kaichow.

Information from private Russian sources indicates that the Russians have only a few pieces of field artillery between Liaoyang and Kaichow.

It is reported that the Japanese expect to enter Kaichow unopposed today and expect a battle near Tatshekiao. If victorious they will hold Newchwang with a strong force.

Advices from the far east show that six Russian battleships, five cruisers and fourteen destroyers, apparently planning a dash southward, were attacked as they lay under the shelter of Port Arthur's guns by a fleet of Japanese destroyers. One battleship of the Peresviet type was sunk, the Sevastopol was disabled and a cruiser of the Diana type was badly damaged. The Japanese losses were few.

There were rumors in Newchwang that the Russians had lost 16,000 men in a battle near Siuyen on Thursday. General Sakharoff reported a sharp skirmish on the Tashichiao road on that day, but there was nothing to show that a general engagement had taken place.

General Oku's army continued the march on Kaiping, traveling slowly and keeping in order of battle. General Kuroki's position is practically unchanged.

Heavy firing in the direction of Port Arthur was heard at Chefu, and the active work of reducing the fortress has apparently begun. The fleet's attempt to escape lends credence to the report that the Japanese siege guns are in effective operation.

A Liaoyang report says that the second Japanese army, under General Oku, is withdrawing all along the line, having apparently abandoned the intention of effecting a junction with General Kuroki's army.

Advices from St. Petersburg say that the Japanese report of the loss of three Russian ships at Port Arthur has not been published there, though the authorities have allowed to be printed a statement that the squadron had made a sortie and also the news of the loss of Japanese topedo boat destroyers. Some of the papers have even commented with satisfaction on the prospect of a fight in the open sea, where the merits of the two fleets would be fairly tested.

An official explanation of the suppression of the Japanese report is that the admiralty is unwilling to unnecessarily alarm the public by the circulation of such statements entirely on the authority of the enemy and in the absence of definite advices from the commander at Port Arthur.

A Seoul dispatch says that Russian troops have burned numerous dwelling houses in the towns of Kilju and Hamheung, and at the latter place women were subjected to ill treatment.

One thousand Russian troops are commandeering live stock, foods and carts from a wide area in northwestern Korea. These men are on their way to Vladivostok and will cross the Tumen river by means of recently constructed bridges.

A Tokyo report says that the failure of the Russians to furnish information concerning Japanese prisoners of war in their possession is arousing a strong feeling of resentment there. Japan's attitude concerning Russian prisoners is most correct. Careful reports of the condition of the Russian prisoners are prepared and forwarded weekly to the Russians through the American government.

It is probable that the government of the United States will be asked to make pointed inquiries at St. Petersburg concerning the present condition of Japanese prisoners and to arrange a system of regular reports.

It is reported at St. Petersburg that a serious land fight has taken place near Tatchekiao, in which the Russians were defeated.

Skrydlof Visits Jap Wounded.

VLADIVOSTOK, June 27.—The Japanese wounded in the attack by the Vladivostok squadron on the Japanese transports are doing excellently. Vice Admiral Skrydloff has visited the hospital and chatted with them through an interpreter. The Japanese thanked the admiral for his attention and for the care they were enjoying.

ITALIAN MARAUDERS

Wild West Man Hunt In New York State.

ALL HIGHWAYMEN NOW IN THE TOILS

Remainder of Gang Who Robbed Treasurer Longyear Rounded Up After Great Chase by Police and Farmers Near Shokan.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 27.—Crazed with fear and exhausted from their long flight without food or rest, the two remaining Italian bandits, confronted by two of their pursuers armed with revolvers, weakly threw up their hands and surrendered. Thus, after sixty hours of pursuit by numerous gangs of men and boys, armed with every conceivable weapon, from shotgun and revolver to hay rake and pitchfork, the most exciting man hunt Ulster county has ever known ended in a truly wild west fashion. Not even the bloodhounds were lacking to make the hunt realistic, for the local penitentiary supplied three, which were imposing if ineffective.

When the news reached this city that the bandits had been captured, great crowds began to gather, and when at last the prisoners were brought in, handcuffed and bound in great coils of rope, for the captors took no chances, hundreds of people jeered and howled until the terrified Italians cowered behind their captors for protection, fearing mob violence.

The arraignment before Judge Humphrey was equally dramatic. Until that time all the prisoners had refused to talk. But there Vincenzo Crezella, a brawny Sicilian, generally believed to be the leader of the gang, broke down and sobbingly begged to be sent back to Italy. His broken talk of a far-away sweetheart convinced many that the whole desperate scheme had been planned by him to get enough money to return to his native country and win his Sicilian bride. But this romantic explanation is not accepted by others, who point out that $800 of the $2,766 stolen by the highwaymen when they held up Longyear and, after robbing, bound him and left him helpless by the roadside is still missing. This they believe was the share of other confederates, perhaps members of a local Mafia of the Italians in the quarries.

The story of the capture of the bandits is replete with sensational details of dime novel character. When the pursuit became hot and the bloodhounds were close on the robbers' trail the four desperadoes separated. The two who were captured turned back toward Kingston, while the others made for the mountains and from the hilltops watched their pursuers. The former couple were rounded up, but for many hours the other two eluded their pursuers. Late in the forenoon, however, they were gathered in by the man hunters.

Finally, weary and disgusted, the sheriff and his deputies had given up the chase and started home. Among the pursuers were two men, Elmendorf and Teas, residents of Shokan, a mountain hamlet on the Ulster and Delaware railroad. They were returning dejectedly from the pursuit and had just come out of the underbrush near Browns Station, on the Ulster and Delaware road, when before them, sitting dejectedly by the trackside, they saw their desperadoes, looking anything but desperate. Both Teas and Elmendorf were armed, and without warning they rushed at the Italians, pointed their revolvers at them and ordered them to hold up their hands. Apparently the exhausted fugitives had just enough strength remaining to do this.

Then followed a long delay. The captors and captives sat looking at each other from different sides of the revolvers, neither side caring to move until the station agent came along and opened his office. Then a telephone call brought sheriff and posse, and in a few brief hours the Italians were safely behind bars.

No Word of Loomis.

PARIS, June 27.—Not a word has been received regarding the whereabout of Kent J. Loomis, brother of Francis B. Loomis, American assistant secretary of state, who disappeared shortly before or after the arrival of the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. at Plymouth. Although a week has passed since the disappearance of Mr. Loomis, the officials still cling to the belief that he will turn up.

Supreme Court Justice Married.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., June 27.—Mrs. J. E. Tyler of Crosswicks and Justice Henry Brown of the supreme court of the United States have been married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary English. The ceremony was performed by the Right Rev. Bishop Scarborough of New Jersey. The bride and groom left for Atlantic City immediately after the ceremony.

His Holiness Pleased.

ROME, June 27.—The pope has expressed himself as highly satisfied with the very cordial reception given in the United States to Cardinal Satolli. Speaking to Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, his holiness said, "The American Catholics surpass all my expectations in loyalty to the church."

Big Figures at World's Fair.

ST. LOUIS, June 27.—The total attendance at the world's fair for the week ending June 25 has been officially announced as 540,485, an increase of over 65,009 over the previous week and 402,777 over the total attendance for the first week.

A STORY OF ILLINOIS IN PIONEER DAYS

By MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD.

THIS is what Mrs. Catherwood often called her favorite story. Mrs. Catherwood loved the simplicity of pioneer days in the west, and around these three historic characters has woven a charming romance. The place of the story is New Salem, Ill., and the time when Lincoln was keeping a store there and studying under Minter Grayham. It is

UNKISSED MAY WED.

Prophet Dowie Arrives With Future Daughter-in-law.

NEW YORK, June 27.—John Alexander Dowie, known, principally to himself, as Elijah III., has arrived here on the Cunard line steamer Lucania, bringing his unkissed son and the suggestion of a romance.

With him was a young and beautiful woman, who appeared on the passenger list as Miss Ruth Hofer, and a rumor circulated on board was that she and Elijah IV., A. J. Gladstone Dowie, were engaged to be married. Indeed, there appears in the ship's manifest the name "Mrs. Gladstone Dowie," and on the back of the list is the correction, "Not on board."

Voyagers on the Lucania believed there was to have been a wedding and that the precipitate flight of the "prophet" from England—for he took refuge on the vessel in which he arrived a day in advance of her sailing—interfered with whatever matrimonial arrangements might have been contemplated.

SLOCUM DISASTER.

No More Bodies In Hull of Vessel. Nine Hundred and Thirteen Found.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Captain Kivlin of the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking company reports that there are no more bodies in the hull of the General Slocum so far as he can ascertain. Coroner O'Gorman and his assistants, however, will make a thorough search of the hull.

The bodies of two victims of the Slocum disaster, those of a woman and a child, were picked up and taken to North Brother island.

The wreckers and grapplers who have been engaged for the past ten days in searching for bodies have so far recovered 913.

There are still at the morgue thirty-two unidentified bodies.

French Upheaval Averted.

PARIS, June 27.—Political circles have been convulsed over the parliamentary investigation into the charges that the Grand Chartreuse millions were used in an attempt to corrupt leading personages. The affair threatened to cause a greater upheaval than the Dreyfus, Panama or Humbert affairs. The public at first stood aghast at hearing the names of the chief officers of the government connected with the transaction. It was generally believed that the fall of the Combes ministry had finally come, and it was asserted that its wreck would involve the reputations of many persons in the highest station. But the sensation has been practically exploded. There is no further thought that Premier Combes will be seriously weakened.

Mystery Surrounds This Death.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Mystery surrounds the death of Mrs. Ralph Pratt Hinchman, whose body was found by relatives in her home, 35 Washington avenue, Brooklyn, with a bullet hole in the right temple. Mrs. Hinchman disappeared from her summer home at Sound Beach, Conn., last Thursday. Search by members of her family and private detectives failed to reveal any clew as to her whereabout. Her husband, who was absent on a business trip, was communicated with and, hastening to Sound Beach, joined in the effort to find his wife. While her husband was making inquiries in Manhattan relatives visited the family residence and there discovered the body.

France Is Not Satisfied.

PARIS, June 27. — Haiti's apology for the insult to the French minister at Port au Prince, M. Deprez, who was stoned by the palace guard recently, has been received by the foreign office, but does not give satisfaction. It appears to seek to make light of the incident. Officials here are indisposed to assume a belligerent attitude toward a small power, but they expect Haiti to adequately realize and redress the offense. This contributed to the decision to send a warship to Haitian waters.

Mormon Colony For Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 27.—A report is being circulated here to the effect that the Mormon church would be quite actively engaged during the next few months in securing land in various portions of Mexico for the purpose of colonization. The assertion is made that it had been decided recently to purchase a tract of 500,000 acres in Sonora or Chihuahua, to be used as an extension of the colonies of Colonia, Dublan and Diaz.

Run on Saratoga Bank.

SARATOGA, N. Y., June 27.—The Citizens' National bank, which has suffered a heavy run, is declared to be sound and fully prepared to meet all obligations should small depositors today continue their demands. Losses by unfortunate investments and alleged irregularities of Cashier John H. De Ridder, who has resigned, are now placed at from $30,000 to $40,000.

Catboats Upset; Girl Drowned.

BRISTOL, R. I., June 27.—A squall capsized and sunk two Providence catboats lying at anchor with sails down in Hunter's cove, Prudence island, and of the eight people who were thrown into the water Miss Ellen May Adams of East Providence was drowned. The others were rescued by men from an oyster steamer.

A CAPTIVE'S STORY

Perdicaris Tells of His Experiences With Briganda.

KEPT PRISONERS IN FILTHY HUT

Raisuli, Being Deprived of Much Property, Took Law Into His Own Hands to Obtain Relief—Outlaw Poses as a Patriot.

TANGIER, June 27.—Ion Perdicaris, the American who has just been released by the brigand Raisuli, is better and stronger now and has given a description of the circumstances of his capture and of his experiences while a prisoner in Raisuli's camp.

He says that on the night of May 18 he had just entered the drawing room after dinner, and, hearing a noise among the servants, he and Cromwell Varley, the British subject, who also was captured by Raisuli, went out to investigate the cause. They were immediately surrounded by armed Moors, who bound and maltreated them. Varley resisted and was struck on the head with the butt of a rifle, and a knife was slashed across his hands, making a serious wound. At first it was thought Varley's skull had been fractured.

Perdicaris and Varley were then carried away on horseback. They were bound with ropes, and roundabout roads were taken in order to avoid villages. The bandits stopped at Tsarradent, twenty-four hours from Tangier, and Raisuli allowed Perdicaris to write to his wife next morning and also to the shereef of Wazan asking them to intervene for himself and Varley.

At Tsarradent the captives lived in a filthy hut. They were not allowed to go a hundred yards away from it and were strongly guarded. When the shereef of Wazan arrived a big tent was placed at the disposal of the prisoners, and in other ways the shereef was the means of considerably alleviating their condition. The attitude of the Moors changed from insult to fair treatment.

Spies of the pretender who were in the camp all the time tried to induce Varley to accept a post under the pretender.

Raisuli daily held long conversations with the prisoners. He said anarchy was reigning in the country. The animosity of the people, he said, was not directed against the sultan, but against his governors.

Raisuli's father, Perdicaris said, left him much property and cattle, which aroused the animosity of the Kaids, who induced the bashaw by presents to rob Raisuli of his belongings and finally to imprison him for four years at Mogador. On his release Raisuli interviewed Mohammed el Torres, representative of the sultan at Tangier, concerning the restitution of his property, and, this being without avail, Raisuli swore to take the law into his own hands, with the results already known. Raisuli said that he bore no ill will to Europeans, but stated that the only way to bring the Moorish government to its senses was by capturing Europeans until the foreign powers awaken to a realization of the existing conditions.

Mr. Perdicaris said that Raisuli is posing as a patriot, who wants to see the country happy and peaceful, and he is offering to accept the responsibility for maintaining the country from Tangier to Fez and clear it of robbery and crime if he is backed up by the powers. He found in Raisuli a man educated and intellectual.

The only time the prisoners were anxious was during the last two days, when they were at Barabin, the village of Zelel, the governor of the Beni M'Sara tribe. When the exchange occurred over three hours were lost in the exchange of compliments, Raisuli refusing to talk business until the last moment, being apparently very suspicious of an attempt to capture him. When he received the money and the men turned over to him by the ransom party, he hurried away toward the village.

Perdicaris and Varley immediately mounted horses and proceeded for Tangier, a journey of sixteen hours.

Rear Admiral Chadwick's squadron left Tangier today for Gibraltar and Genoa, but Rear Admiral Jewett's squadron will remain for the present.

Will Make No Claim on Moors.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—The state department does not contemplate any claims upon the Moorish government on account of the Perdicaris incident. In its view that government has suffered severely both from a financial point of view and in national humiliation through its compliance with the demand of Secretary Hay. American legation officials at Paris are hopeful that the Washington government will take steps to recognize the good offices of France leading up to the release of Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley. France practically furnished the money from which the ransom was paid, as the recent French loan of $12,500,000 gave the sultan the means to meet Raisuli's demand for $70,000.

Six Hundred Teachers Aboard.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 27.—The transport Kilpatrick, having on board 400 Porto Rican teachers, has sailed for Boston, and the Sumner, with 200 teachers, sailed for New York. The teachers will spend two months in educational institutions in the United States.

Negro Lynched by Mob of 500.

EUPORA, Miss., June 27.—Starting Dunham, arrested for criminal assault, was hanged in the public square here by a mob of 500 men. Dunham was captured at Clenna, Ala.

Few great advertising successes were made in a day—few that really lasted. Just as a skilful engineer starts a train of Pullman coaches, gently, waking not a single passenger, so the broad advertising campaign is started—easily, but with gathering headway that is soon resistless power. "Keeping everlastingly at it" is the idea, but this phrase includes keeping at the machinery behind the advertising. The instantaneously successful advertising often consists of nothing more than advertising. The campaign that gathers momentum from month to month and goes on steadily for years is one that reflects a thorough selling organization.—Ex.

COLORED GIANTS DEFEAT WESTFIELD

Denman's Colts Get a Good Coat of Whitewash Saturday.

"RED" WALLER PITCHED

THE DUSKY BRAVES GIVE A FINE EXHIBITION OF BASEBALL.

Only Nine Hits Made—The Two Teams Will Meet Again on Wednesday at Business Men's Matinee—The score.

According to the schedule prepared by Charles Denman, who is the original Foxy Quiller, there was to be pie for the Westfields Saturday afternoon. Blackberry pie. Instead of pie, they got eggs—goose eggs. Nine of them, and the New York Colored Giants, who were slated to go down the maw of the Denmaniacs, tripped gayly away with one run. Just one, but quite enough for all practical purposes.

It was expected that the Giants would furnish a lot of fun, but hardly that they would have any—and shut-out frolicing at that. They put a lot of horseplay and gurgling rag-mastication in their coaching, but they played ball and played every minute of every inning.

Good ball, too. Both sides played fast, the Giants hanging right to the darlings of the Denman hamlet. While the pitchers had an old-fashioned duel, there was enough for the fielders to do, and they were kept open-eyed with admiration.

Red Waller was in the box for Westfield, and he pitched golden-tipped ball. Once Charley Denman repudiated Red, because he went away with other and naughtier players, and vowed that Red would never wear the Westfield tailor made suit again. But Charley has forgiven the erring one, and Red showed how happy he was by shining up his rosate top and striking out eleven of the mahogany and ebony batsmen.

But Red lost his own game, and maybe Charley will grow cold and distant again. It was one of those foolish wild pitches that will come up. Red put too much muchness on the ball in an effort to catch the runner at first, in the fourth, and the run sailed in. After that it was nip and tuck, and nothing doing but wild attempts for both sides. Westfield got a man to third twice, but Warrick, the gunmetal shootsmoth and his backers were all there to block the threatened gallop down the homestretch.

Mr. Denman is so tickled over the way his pets were beaten that he is going to take another shy at the Giants Wednesday afternoon. "They are the best colored players going," he said after the game. Of course. After beating Westfield they couldn't be anything else. The Wednesday game is down as a "business men's matinee." It will start at 5 o'clock.

Score by innings:

ALIS DROPS A GAME TO THE MURRAY HILLS

game behind the bat, but he fell off a trifle in hitting.

Cregan and McGoey and Badgley, the latter of Lehigh University, took care of the outfield to perfection. Gauven held down first without an error and he swatted Conroy for three singles. Walton covered short in good style, but was weak with the stick. He made one mistake in not coming up on Farmer's throw down to catch a man running home from third.

The Murray Hill team is a fast bunch, proving themselves a worthy opponent of Alis. It is to be hoped that when they return here Fourth of July morning, the score will be different. In the meantime, Manager Johnston expects to have Quinby at second and a new man on third. Gray only came for the one game, as he is playing regularly with Aeolian.

Mrs. John Stevens, of Watchung-avenue, has returned form a visit with relatives at Raritan.

Mrs. Wallace Hall and grandson, C. W. Vail, of Valley, Hunterdon county, are visiting friends here.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

A reunion of the Stryker family was held on Saturday at the home of Mrs. John Campbell, of Dunellen avenue. Quite a number of the members of the family were present and all enjoyed the day exceedingly. About thirty-five sat down to a sumptuous dinner which was enlivened by merriment and good feeling. Members of the family were present from Philadelphia, Camden, Whitehouse, Lebanon and this vicinity.

Christopher Gray, the fourteen-month's old son of Edward Gray, of South avenue, was severely burned yesterday morning. The youngster overturned a cup full of boiling hot water in his face.

A letter received from John Peters says that on the voyage to Europe he was the only one of his family who was not seasick. Mr. Peters enjoyed the trip immensely and was not sick a minute.

The Dunellen Field Club will play the Somerville High School next Saturday at Somerville.

A number of Dunellenites spent Sunday in the cooling breezes of various summer resorts.

Stacy B. Opdyke and family entertained relatives from out-of-town yesterday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local ball team certainly won a game Saturday when everything seemed to be against them. On Thursday, Williams was notified that Saturday's game had been cancelled, and on Saturday morning a telegram was sent him to report as usual for play. For some reason he did not receive the message and failed to show up. This left third base, a most important position, to be filled. Joe Alberts was pressed into service and although Joe's regular position is outfield, he played third without an error. George Allen was behind the bat playing with a sprained ankle, and then to cap the climax, Painter, the first batter up for the Colonials, collided with Baldwin on first base and George was out of business for about ten minutes. When he recovered he went back into the game. After the first inning the "cripples" settled down and played an elegant game of ball, and one would hardly have known that they were playing under conditions that would discourage any team.

Less than 100 people attended the ball game Saturday afternoon. This enthusiasm will not support a school team, much less an article of baseball such as the locals are playing. Scotch Plains will miss it if the team disbands or transfers its schedule of games to some other more profitable field.

The local ball team played at Riverside Park Sunday afternoon. An effort may be made to have the local team play there regularly, as it is claimed that the Sunday games being played are being well supported and a good team could make the venture a paying investment.

Mrs. Randolph Silvers, who died Thursday at Muhlenberg Hospital, was buried Saturday morning in the family plot in the Baptist cemetery. Mrs. Silvers was a former resident of this place, removing from here to Plainfield a number of years ago.

The B. Y. P. U. meeting was the only evening service held last night at the Baptist church. Rev. Mr. Todd, of Dunellen, occupied the pulpit at the morning service, Rev. Mr. Shott preaching in the Decatur street Baptist church, of Brooklyn.

John, the eighteen-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Munroe, of Park avenue, died Saturday afternoon after an illness of several weeks. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home.

The weekly meeting of the Epworth League was held last night in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

The balloon ascension at Galvin's Park yesterday afternoon was the attraction for a large crowd.

Miss Emily Winants, of Carlton avenue, has been visiting Miss Elsie Shott, at The Manse.

David Patterson, of Johnston avenue, has been visiting friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

A quantity of wire was recently stolen from the telephone line near Stelton. Watchmen were set a few days afterward and last week two men were caught making another attempt at plundering.

Carrie Teeple met with an accident Saturday from which she received some injuries by falling down the back stoop of the house, while carrying a pail of water.

A new well recently bored at the water works was blown out by dynamite Saturday afternoon. Others will be finished in this way after a few days.

The parents of John Reilly, who has been at the hospital in Plainfield some weeks, were sent for this morning, the boy being much worse.

T. C. Laing ate new cucumbers from his garden yesterday.

NEW MARKET, 10; REFORMERS, 5

TEMPERANCE BOYS LOSE AN EXCITING GAME OF BASEBALL.

The New Market Y. M. A. continued on its victorious career by defeating the Reform A. A., of Plainfield, on Saturday at the New Market field. The Reformers were no match for them at any time and were easily beaten by a score of 10 to 5. The feature of the game was the batting of the Y. M. A. team. This makes the tenth straight victory for New Market and the fans are enthusiastic over the showing.

The score by innings follows:

New Market..... 0 0 2 2 1 3 0 2—10
Reform Club..... 3 0 0 1 1 0 0 0—5

CANDIDATES MANY.

General Nelson A. Miles May Be Nominated by Prohibitionists.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 27.—The Prohibition national convention will meet in Tomlinson hall, this city, tomorrow. The nominations for president and vice president will not be made until Thursday. It is still an open question whether General Nelson A. Miles will accept the nomination for the presidency. He has left for an unknown summer resort without leaving any definite statement. Other names mentioned for the presidential nomination are: Alfred L. Manierre, New York; Professor A. A. Hopkins, Hornellsville, N. Y.; Dr. Silas C. Swallow, Harrisburg, Pa.; A. G. Wolfenbarger, Lincoln, Neb.; Dr. E. L. Eaton, Allegheny, Pa.; T. R. Caskadon, Keyser, W. Va.; I. H. Ames, Portland, Ore.; H. B. Metcalf, Pawtucket, R. I., and James A. Tate, Harriman, Tenn.

There is a faction of powerful temperance advocates who believe that General Miles should be nominated even if he be not heard from before the convention meets. Others favor the postponement of the convention until that of the Democrats, so that the platform and the candidates nominated in St. Louis can be inspected before the Prohibitionists take action.

PANIC AT BOSTON.

Edward Barrington Badly Injured on Steamer Mount Desert.

BOSTON, June 27.—While hundreds of excursionists were boarding the Nahant steamer Mount Desert at Union wharf here one of the counterbalance weights to the gangway, weighing 600 pounds, fell, striking Edward Barrington, a son of the purser. Barrington suffered internal injuries, both legs were broken and his left hip fractured. His condition is critical.

Barrington's screams were heard by every one on board the boat, and a panic followed; the passengers trying to crowd on shore through a narrow passage just wide enough for one person to pass through. In the crush Mrs. Daniel Murphy of Charlestown had her right arm broken. Only the opportune action of the steamboat officials in quickly reassuring the passengers prevented many persons from being pushed into the water.

Train Wrecked Motor Car.

NEW YORK, June 27.—Charles Ballanchon and Paul Lawrence, two well known automobilists of Simonson avenue, Clifton, N. Y., had a narrow escape from death. Both are members of the Staten Island Automobile club. They had been to Plainfield and returned by way of Perth Amboy and Tottenville ferry and thence along the Amboy road. As they reached Crooks' crossing a train came in sight, which they had not seen or heard. They saw their predicament simultaneously and jumped, one from each side of the machine. As they struck the ground the machine was hit by the locomotive and wrecked. Ballanchon and Lawrence suffered much from shock and were later taken home in a carriage.

His Heart Was Forced Out.

CLEVELAND, O., June 27.—Christopher Frese, an ex-city councilman, and his wife, Louisa, both over sixty years of age, were struck by a Lake Shore electric car here while crossing the tracks on the Clifton boulevard and killed. The husband was killed instantly, and the wife died within a few minutes. A peculiar feature about the husband's death was that his heart in some strange manner was severed from its tendons, forced from the body and was found lying at the side of the dead man.

Denounce Murder of Bobrikoff.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 27.—The Finnish senate has issued the following manifesto: "The senate, assembled for the first time since the death of its president, Governor General Bobrikoff, feels the need of expressing deep indignation at the detestable and revolting crime, which is without parallel in the annals of the country, of which the governor general became the victim. All well disposed inhabitants emphatically pronounce their censure of this act."

Four Dead From Mother's Act.

CHICAGO, June 27.—Threatened with starvation and with her husband hopelessly insane in the asylum at Kankakee, Mrs. Anna Kelsdzick gave up the struggle for existence, killed her three small children and then ended her own life. Illuminating gas was the means of destruction she adopted, and when the bodies were found all four had been dead several hours.

Captain Coffin Ill.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 27.—Captain Coffin of the Cornell crew, accompanied by Manager Aldrich, came to this city and has entered a private sanitarium, where he is confined to a bed with fever. His trouble is nothing more serious than malaria, but his condition is such that it will be a matter of days, if not weeks, before he can leave the hospital.

Five Killed In Mexican Wreck.

CITY OF MEXICO, June 27.—Official information has been received in this city by officials of the Mexican Central railroad stating that five persons lost their lives in a wreck which occurred on the Central railroad near Tampico. A freight train collided with a yard engine just outside the yard limits at Tampico.

Pierola Proclaimed a Candidate.

LIMA, Peru, June 27.—Amid perfect order 20,000 persons of all classes in Lima and the suburbs paraded through the center of the city, proclaiming General Nicolas de Pierola as a candidate for the presidency. The scene was one without precedent in Peru.

STRIPED BASS IS A FIGHTER

When Biting It Is a Fish That Will Give the Angler a Good Day's Sport.

"Would you go a-fishing?" observed an enthusiastic lover of salt water angling, according to the New York Sun. "Then do not dream of your speckled trout, nor of black bass waters, nor the far-away salmon, but seek the haunts of that shyest, gamest, handsomest of all fishes of the Atlantic coast, the striped bass.

"The striped bass is a fish of sporting blood. He has teeth on his tongue, a square jaw, a fierce eye and power in his shoulders. Born and reared in the turmoil of swift waters, he is aggressive always and fears no foe. Even in the depths when the water is in repose, he draws near shore when it is astir and where his easier prey then lies. At times he seeks the ditches in the salt water meadows, eager for the crustacea that may be found afloat as the tide rises.

"He follows up the streams that flow into the sea, and finds his food where the water of other streams mingles with that in which he is swimming. He may at times be found on the bottoms of rocky channels, where the water runs swiftly. If you love a contest with nature as well as with fish, go into the surf or brace your feet on a low, rocky headland, where the spray will drench you, and cast your baited hook into the midst of the white water when the tide is at flood.

"But perhaps you would rather handle the oars and troll. Then take your boat where the tide rushes to and fro in some rocky inlet and you will find your bass there, alert, and ever ready for the contest. Or, preferring a tramp, along the shore and a cast from the land, go to the ditches on the sunken meadows connected with the sea, and drop your hook into the water over the bordering grass that overhangs the bank.

"He will take the fly, this most versatile of fishes, and if you would put him to the test with this, equip yourself with split bamboo rod and gaudy flies; go up the Hudson river, at any likely spot, and they are plentiful almost anywhere above Spuyten Duyvil; get into a boat and anchor it where some stream comes into the river. With a red and white ibis for your stretcher fly and a white miller for your dropper, let your lures fall gently, as for brook trout, and sink them a foot below the surface, as for black bass, drawing them smartly and cast-

"You will strike plenty when the tide comes. None will be large fish. Some will weigh three pounds, and a three-pound striped bass on an eight-ounce rod will put you to your best skill in outgeneraling him in his fierce rushes and sudden plunges and the many eccentricities of his resourceful tactics. When you can save your fish in such a bout and maintain the tip of your rod intact, you may have no fear of a trial of conclusions with any ing again.

other fish that swims.

"For trolling for striped bass no stronger rig is needed than one that will serve in black bass trolling. Artificial silvery lures are used, one that anglers have found particularly killing being an imitation minnow three or four inches long. For fishing in the surf and from rocky headlands heavier and stronger tackle is necessary."

DANGERS OF CROWD POISON

Impure Air Inhaled in Working Places and Some of Its Ill Effects.

"Crowd poison" confronts us at all turns in this city. In our own homes, in places of employment, in public buildings and in conveyances we are constantly breathing impure air and being poisoned by it, the only part of the day, perhaps, when we breathe pure air being the few minutes which are spent in walking to work or in waiting for the trolley which will carry us thither, says Health Culture.

So insidiously does "crowd poison," which is the poison of impure air produced by a vast population in a small area, enter the system that it is hard to persuade people of its existence. The occupants of a work-room, entering it in the morning and remaining all day, or of a sleeping-room, do not notice the gradual withdrawal of the oxygen from the air and its substitution by "crowd poison" thrown off by their own lungs. The sleepiness, lassitude and headache that follow it they ascribe to the fatigue of long-continued labor.

The inability to rise brisk and fresh in the morning, after a night spent in a close room, the lack of appetite for the morning meal, the pallor and muddy complexion that ensues after awhile, they do not recognize as the results of days and nights spent in impure air. They seek relief from their ailments in taking medicines, rather than in the simpler method of cure by exercise in the open air.

Born Diplomat.

"But," protested the fair maid after the engagement had been duly ratified, "this is the same ring you gave Edyth three months ago when you were engaged to her."

"I know it is, darling," replied the wise youth, "but I had it cut down three sizes in order to make it fit your shapely finger."

And his explanation pleased her so much she immediately fell on his collar and giggled for joy.—Chicago Daily News.

SUMMER REQUISITES.

Dainty Bathing Suits, Mull Gowns and Shirt Waists.

Though long delayed by stress of weather the summer girl is here, and just as sweet and frilly as she ever was. Her gowns are of as thin goods as ever, her underwear as fluffy and lacelike and her general appearance quite up to her reputation for beauty and daintiness. Laces of every description are seen everywhere and on everything. I saw something quite new the other day, and, though it was called lace, I think it rather too heavy to come exactly under that head, though it is exceedingly rich and handsome. It is a sort of guipure made by sewing fine fancy silk braid into elaborate designs, sometimes in applique on silk mull, white, black, cream or ecru. The most of this is made in the shape of deep collars, in stole shape or with some hanging portion, while the rest is in form of a wide collar. Sewing is scarcely the word to use, for this rich silk braid is wrought into its designs by regular lace stitches like that used for the renaissance laces and the Irish point. So the different pieces are very elegant additions to any fine costume. The black can be worn over the white, and vice versa, but probably the finest taste would suggest that each be worn over its own color. Some of these, though few, have the braid of red or blue, and those with the silk threads make stylish collars very suitable for young girls. But the others are calculated only for very handsome wear. I believe they are called silk soutache renaissance collars. They would make a plain suit dressy.

The bathing suits are now to be seen everywhere, and some of them are very pretty and modest. There are many made of mohairs, which, next to the silk warp henriettas, are the best materials, for the water does not penetrate, but falls off the fabric at once, and the garments do not cling to the figure. Light colors in mohair are seen very frequently, white being much liked. This is trimmed with bands and narrow fluting of some pretty color or even ribbon. But more are made for use rather than for display. There are so many colors in mohair that every one can be suited, but black and dark blue are the best. Skirts are made short, and close Turkish trousers are worn beneath, reaching to the knee, and the waist is made with more or less likeness to the dresses for ordinary wear. One I saw had a deep bertha of lace, but this is rather farfetched for a bathing suit. Slippers and stockings are of course among the necessities, and dainty little oilskin caps protect the hair. Some have the caps made to come very close to the head and with them wear fancy silk handkerchiefs to hide the cap. Others, again, think it beneficial to let the hair get wet in the invigorating brine.

But I set out to speak of the summer girl, though bathing and yachting suits also belong to this time of the year. Silk mull in delicate tints is one of the best liked of all the materials offered for summer dresses for nice wear. In the illustration one can see a beautiful model of one, this being made in pale mauve, the shade which looks pink at night. The underdress is, as are all of such gowns, made of taffeta and has a plaited ruffle set on the edge, while the outer dress has a hem and above that a deep ruffle, headed by a band of gauze ribbon with chine design in faint tints, mostly greens, and this is edged by triple shirrings top and bottom. Another flounce treated in the same way finishes the skirt. These deep flounces each have the scallops outlined by embroidery in soft green shades of floss. The yoke and bertha are trimmed and made to match the skirt, and the sleeves follow the same general design. This makes an exquisite dress and would be equally pretty in any thin material.

Shirt waist dresses made of louisine, taffeta and other pretty and light silks are to be found everywhere now marked down to half what was asked for them a month ago, as the summer trade is about over. Striped, figured and pin head checks are all much favored this season for such dresses.

Shirt waists of sheer lawn and delicate embroidered effects are much liked now, and so far this season I have to see one of those very openworked waists so much ridiculed last year. All waists are, while thin, of a uniform thickness. Among those now most popular are some made of sheer Persian lawn with Tenerife medallions, tucked waists made of handkerchief linen, many of them with fine Mexican hand work and tucks, and other styles of Persian lawn in which between fine tucks and fine colored embroidery, valenciennes lace is inset. The collars are made separate, and the cuffs also. These sell for as much as $8 or $10.

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL.]

Adjourned meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Tuesday, May 10, 1904, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll call showed all members present except Freeholder Bonnel, Embree and Swain—3.

The minutes of the previous meeting (the reading of bills being omitted) were on motion approved as read.

The director stated that it was his painful duty to announce to the Board the death of Freeholder N. W. Bonnell, of Springfield Township.

On motion of Freeholder Cady, the director appointed the following as a committee to draft suitable resolutions relative to the death of Freeholder Bonnel, viz.: Freeholders Cady, Connoly and Brucklacher.

Freeholder Cady moved that the rules be suspended and that the Board proceed to the payment of bills, which was so ordered without dissent.

The following bills, properly audited and approved, were read and on roll call unanimously ordered paid, viz.:

Members' Pay Account—Charles A. Smith, $10; W. W. Connoly, $30.

Committee Expense Account—Charles A. Smith, $1.75; W. W. Connoly, $6.25.

Incidental Account—S. R. Ryno, $229.75.

On motion of Freeholder Cady it was ordered that the Board take a recess of 20 minutes.

Second roll call showed all members present except Freeholders Bonnel Embree and Swain—3.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital an invitation to attend the graduaiton exercises of the Training School for Nurses, Thursday evening, May 26th, 1904, at 8 o'clock, in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, Plainfield, N. J.

On motion of Freeholder Pierson the same was accepted and placed on file.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

By the committee on resolution relative to the death of Freeholder N. W. Bonnel:

Whereas, God has seen fit in His allwise and inscrutable wisdom to remove from our midst our friend and fellow member, Nathan W. Bonnell; and

Whereas, In his death the Board of Chosen Freeholders has lost an active and efficient member and the county of Union a useful citizen; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend to his family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in the loss which they have sustained. And be it further

Resolved, That an engrossed copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of the deceased, and that the same be entered upon the minutes of the Board.

John N. Cady,

Ideal Location

Fairview and Linden Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

From Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark.

14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

KAISER'S YACHT SECOND.

First Prize at Kiel Went to American Schooner Ingomar.

KIEL, Germany, June 27.—The improved weather has brought out large crowds of holiday makers. King Edward's and Emperor William's presence has given great eclat to the regatta.

The race for schooner yachts, over a seventeen mile course, was won by Morton F. Plant's Ingomar, which secured the First Jubilee prize and a challenge cup offered by the North German Regatta club. The Meteor III. was second and the Hamburg third. Robert Goelet's thirty footer Swan won the race for boats of the fourth class, securing the Challenge cup.

King Edward and Emperor William attended divine service on board the German imperial yacht Hohenzollern and afterward took lunch on board the empress' yacht Iduna, which did not take part in the regatta. Later King Edward, accompanied by Prince Henry and other members of the royal party, paid an informal visit to the Royal Yacht club.

The emperor and the empress dined last night with King Edward on board the British royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

Broke Motor Pace Record.

NEW YORK, June 27.—J. Moran of Chelsea, Mass., has broken the mile motor pace record, covering the distance in 1 minute 26 2-5 seconds in the first mile of the final heat of the motor paced bicycle race on the Manhattan Beach track. In the first of the heats Moran lost his pace in the third mile and was easily beaten by Leander. In the second heat Moran just beat MacFarland at the tape, but the New England man had no difficulty in winning the final heat, as Leander's pace was faulty toward the end of the race.

Brooklyn Players Arrested.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The Brooklyns had an easy time of it at Washington park, defeating the Bostons by the score of 8 to 2. Fisher, who was in the box for the visitors, was pounded hard in the first inning, the home club scoring six runs. Jones and Jacklitsch of the Brooklyn team were arrested after a few balls were pitched. The game then went on without interruption on the part of the police.

Chicago Won Double Header.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The American local team won two hard fought battles here. They won out in the first game by bunching hits with a pass in the seventh and eighth innings. The second game was a pitchers' battle, in which Smith not only held the Detroits safe at critical times, but batted in the winning run in the final inning. Score—First game, 5 to 4; second game, 3 to 2.

Cincinnati Made Errors.

CINCINNATI, O., June 27.—Cincinnati has contributed a game to St. Louis by making errors at critical stages. Taylor was hit hard by the local team, but was fortunate in being able to hold his opponents on several occasions when the bases were full. Score, 7 to 5.

Chicago Downed Pittsburg.

CHICAGO, June 27.—The locals defeated the champions very easily by

TENNIS.

The match scheduled for Friday evening, in the Y. M. C. A. tennis doubles tournament, did not take place, Denton and Neal losing to the Rogers' brothers by default. The action gives the Rogers' brothers the match by a score of 6 to 0 in both sets. Mundy and Aalholm will meet Miner and C. B. Koons tomorrow afternoon.

THE FORUM.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

Editor of The Daily Press:

I believe that there is a borough ordinance which prohibits the exploding of any kind of fireworks except on the Fourth of July. Should not this ordinance be strictly enforced even though it does effect the family of a borough official. Law and Order.

Justice Court Cases.

Judgment in full has been rendered by Justice David Smalley, in the contract case of William H. Abbott against Jane B. DeMott. The suit was brought to recover unpaid insurance premiums. Papers have been issued by J. E. Mosher, in the landlord and tenant case of V. W. Nash against William Haggerty. The papers are returnable Wednesday, June 29. The case of the Wheeler & Wilson Mfg. Co. against Elizabeth Ryan comes up for trial in Justice VonMinden's court at Dunellen, Thursday, May 30. Landlord and tenant proceedings have been instituted in Justice VonMinden's court by E. S. Schenck, of Piscataway, against Charles Vail. Trial has been set for Tuesday, June 28.

Exhibits at St. Gabriel's.

A two-days' exhibition of the handiwork of the pupils of St. Gabriel's Academy was opened in the school building on Jackson avenue yesterday afternoon. The display included painting, drawing and needlework. It was viewed by a large number of the parents and friends of the pupils, and the Sisters in charge of the academy received many expressions of gratification over the results of their training from the visitors interested in the pupils. The exhibition will close this afternoon.

Telegraph Company Gets Franchise.

The ordinance granting a franchise to the Northeastern Telegraph and Telephone Company was passed by the Fanwood Township Committee at a town meeting held Saturday night. The franchise will permit the company to string overhead wires through the township.

J. W. A. Bauersachs, a member of the finance committee of the A. O. U. W., of the State, has returned from Camden, where he attended a meeting of the committee on Saturday.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. John W. Musson, of Faith chapel, will have charge of the mid-week prayer meeting at the First Baptist church, Wednesday night.

Rev. Herbert England, of Asbury, N. J., who has accepted a call to the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, Elizabeth, will be ordained in the Greenwich, N. J., Presbyterian church, on Tuesday, June 28.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—According to the State law it will be permissible to kill bullfrogs from July 1 to November 1.

—In the future Vice Chancellor Pitney will hold his hearings at Newark instead of Jersey City.

—The Red Men of Warren county are arranging for their annual picnic which will be held at Belvidere. The local tribes will be invited.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Perrin, of 1251 North avenue, are parents of a daughter, born this morning. Mrs. Perrin is the daughter of Patrolman Myers, who has already claimed his granddaughter as a "Daughter of Liberty."

Supt. Maxson Honored.

Superintendent of Schools H. M. Maxson and wife and daughter are spending a week at Alfred, N. Y., attending the commencement exercises. Superintendent Maxson is president of the Alumni and toastmaster of the annual banquet, and gives the annual address. Mary Alice Ross, Plainfield H. S., class of 1900, is a member of the graduating class. Superintendent Maxson received an honorary doctor's degree on commencement day.

Baptized Three Children.

Three children were baptized at the morning service in Trinity Reformed church, yesterday, and the pastor, Rev. Dr. Schenck, preached a sermon to children. The floral display consisted of an abundance of daisies.

Mr. Carney Going With Smith Party.

David J. Carney, of the borough, has been invited to go with Senator James Smith and his party to St. Louis on Saturday. He will probably accept the invitation.

Child Critical From Fall.

William Browning, three-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. W. K. Browning, of Park avenue, is quite ill, the result of a fracture of the skull. The father was carrying the boy down stairs, when he fell over a trunk, striking the lad's head against the iron part. Hemorrhages followed and the condition of the boy causes much anxiety.

Home After Long Absence.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Grannatt, of West Fourth street, has been made happy by the return of their son, H. C. Grannatt and his family, now of Los Angeles, Cal., after an absence of sixteen years. They will remain at 742 West Fourth street, where they will be glad to meet their friends.

New Law Not Applicable.

The new provisions of the State building law will not be applicable in the case of the building now being erected on Madison avenue by W. M. Stillman. The first floor beams are now up and according to the law those not in position before the first of July will be subjected to the more stringest provisions.

Teacher Going Abroad.

Miss Susie Glass, a teacher in the North Plainfield High School, sails for Germany on Thursday to be gone an indefinite time. As a token of esteem she has been presented with a purse of $50 in gold by several teachers.

—Soothing, cooling and comforting, the finest of drinks for summer are iced tea and iced coffee. But they must be good. To be sure of quality get the leaf or the berry at Neuman Bros.

SUBLIME DIGNITY OF CHRISTIAN PRIESTHOOD

Father Egan's Discourse on Occasion of Father Boone's First Celebration of Mass.

THE RESPONSIBILITIES

A POWER OF VAST INFLUENCE OVER THE INDIVIDUAL.

Reverence Due the Clergy—Sermon by Father Egan Preached on Invitation of the Young Priest.

At the celebration of the first high mass by Father Charles Boone, the young Plainfielder who has just been admitted to the priesthood, Father Egan preached a striking and unusually interesting sermon. There was a strong personal note to it, his opening words embracing an eloquent reference to the newly ordained priest.

Father Egan's main theme was on the dignity of the priesthood. His text was from the fifth chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Hebrews. In beginning his sermon Father Egan said:

"On last Tuesday morning, my dear brethren, in the Cathedral of the primatial see of these United States, twenty-five young levites were promoted to the sacred and sublime dignity of the Christian priesthood. Here this morning in this sanctuary of the early piety of his boyhood days, in this temple where he first imbibed the love of the sacred calling that is now inexpressibly his, there is one of that privileged band to whom the consecrating prelate solemnly said 'Thou art a priest forever according to the order of Melchisedek.' Here, he is permitted to ascend that altar, and perform a rite that has no compare in this world, an action that sets him off from among men, makes him on earth the very vice-gerent of the living God.

"We are here this morning to honor him, a priest of the Most High and to share with him and his respected family and friends the inexpressible joy, that must needs fill his soul, as he says his first solemn introibo at that altar, where a child of this parish, he first became united to his Lord, by the bond of sacred baptism, and where the Divine spirit sealed him as a member of that Christian army that daily battles against the enemies of the Lord.

"At his very kind invitation, I am asked to preach the sermon at this, his first solemn high mass. Let me say to you, my dear friend, and newly consecrated brother, in the sublime priesthood of the new law, that at no time in my unworthy relation hereunto, has there been a more pleasant task than that which has been requested of me.

"It is at once apparent on this joyful occasion that there is and cannot be but one thought uppermost in our minds today, when we reflect that we rejoice, because a young man has just been made a priest forever according to the order of Melchisedek. The theme then on this occasion is naturally the sublime dignity of the priesthood. Let me unfold a while the solemn thoughts arising therefrom.

"No man," said Father Egan, "who believes in the fact of the great mystery of the Incarnation and death of Jesus Christ who equally believes in the divine significance of that mediatorial work of our Savior, and unwaveringly assents to all that his church solemnly declares divinely revealed, no man can but honor and reverence with the deepest affection the minister of Christ. It is an honor and an affection that spring from a true conception of what it means to be a priest. Once we perceive what the priesthood of Christ is, and acknowledging the sublime fact of the participation thereof and its perpetuation for ever more in the visible ministry of the church that He had instituted and which He still directs and governs, there is left for us, the children of the faith, but one unanimous tribute of the soul's undying endearment to him who stands at that altar as on every altar throughout the universe. And we do not wonder that at all times, in every clime and by every race, men have esteemed the Catholic priest, and recognized in him a power of immense influence over the individual, the guide of the hearth, and the savior of society, whose membership can be united only by that bond of unswerving attachment to Christ and His divinely delegated

REPAIRING WEST FRONT ST.

THE FORCE AT WORK ON THOROUGHFARE; NEW TROLLEY TRACKS LAID.

The city street force is busy repairing the holes and depressions left by the trolley company along West Front street in laying its new tracks. The work will be charged to the company.

The stretch of track that the corporation has just completed from the city line to DeKalb avenue is one of the finest pieces of rail work that it was possible to construct. The tracks have been laid in as thorough and careful a manner as the best example of track-laying anywhere. While the exact cost is not known outside the P. S. C. offices, the manner in which the rails were put down makes it certain, according to statement made yesterday by a city official, that the amount expended on the work was large.

CO. K IN KHAKI UNIFORMS

MAJOR NELSON Y. DUNGAN INSPECTS CAPTAIN MARTIN'S MEN.

Captain W. B. Martin put the boys of Company K through their paces last night in the last regular drill of the season, before going to camp at Sea Girt. The drill was witnessed by Maj. Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, as inspecting officer.

The spectators commented on the fine appearance made by the company in the new khaki uniforms. An extra drill will be held Wednesday evening, July 6, as Capt. Martin wishes to lose no opportunity of rounding the men into first class form for the regimental drills at camp.

As a result of Quartermaster Sergeant A. I. Littell's accident, which will keep him from camp, a substitute will have to be chosen. The place will probably go to former Quartermaster Sergeant F. J. Pope until Sergeant Littell's recovery.

The officers of the company feel that while the marksmanship of the boys will undoubtedly show the effects of Sergeant Littell's coaching and instruction, he will at the same time be sadly missed by everyone.

L. T. L. MEETING.

Several Women to Make Addresses at Closing Exercises Tonight.

The Loyal Temperance Legion will hold its closing exercises tonight in the W. C. T. U. rooms on Madison avenue. It is expected that Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county president of the Union; Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, president of the local Union, and Miss Keron, of Elizabeth, county superintedent of the Legion, will be present and make addresses. An interesting feature will be the presentation of a silver medal in a prize speaking contest.

MORE SPRINKLING WORK NOW.

Additions to Mileage of Macadamizing Brings Increased Task.

In consequence of the completion of newly macadamized streets, the sprinkling system this year includes fully four miles more of roadway than last year. As fast as Contractor Meeker finishes them up, other new macadamized streets will be added to the burdens of John Keely, the sprinkling contractor.

The increase in the mileage naturally stretches the sprinkling work out thinner to a certain extent. There are just the same number of wagons as last year, and all these new streets must be taken care of just as much as any of the old ones.

The main increase in mileage on West Seventh and West Fifth streets, from Clinton avenue to the line. Prospect avenue's new roadway is partly done, and that will soon be on the sprinkler map.

Golf Schedule.

There will be mixed foursomes, scratch, at the Westfield Golf Club on Saturday. In addition to the weekly competition for the Golf Committee Cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Saturday, there will be the regular play for the Women's Handicap Cup

Tennis Practice.

The singles tournament at tennis, proposed by some of the Y. M. C. A. players, as a sort of try-out for the Y. M. C. A. championship tournament, to be played later in the season, has been called off because of a lack of interest.

Alis vs. Aeolians Next.

The Aeolians will be here Saturday for the third game of the series with Alis. Doescher, the Brooklyn National League pitcher, will be on the slab for them.

MANAGER HAND'S TEAM HAS BEEN DISBANDED

Attendance at Games Not Up to Expectations, So Scotch Plains Club is No More.

CONSOLIDATION TALK

CONFERENCE WITH ST. MARY'S CLUB UNSUCCESEFUL.

Scarcely One Hundred at Scotch Plains-Colonial A. C. Contest—Running the Game at a Loss—No Plans Announced.

Baseball which has flourished successfully for three years at Scotch Plains, is a thing of the past so far as the present club is concerned. This decision was reached Saturday night, after the game with the Colonial A. C. team, of New York. Scarcely one hundred persons attended the contest, so the club decided that local interest is dead, and any attempt to revive it would be a losing venture. The end has not been an unexpected one, as the game has been run at a loss for some time. Only a balance left over from last season has carried the club along.

Manager Hand's team is playing as fast an article of baseball as has been seen on the local diamond. The team is composed of local talent, the pick of the Plainfield Amateur League, which thrived a few years ago, so the fans have no reason to find fault with the games.

Several weeks ago the club considered the matter of placing the team in Plainfield, if suitable grounds could be secured. At a meeting held last night, a delegation from the St. Mary's Club met the Scotch Plains club, but the two organizations were unable to come to any agreement as to a consolidation of management. A party of St. Mary's club has arranged a series of five games with Alis, it being proposed to use the Hoboken team for the games. The other faction is afraid that if a consolidatin of management is made it will cause a split in baseball here among the St. Mary supporters and the plan has been given up.

F. M. THIERIOT DEAD.

Former Plainfielder Passes Away at His Home in South Orange.

Ferdinand Melly Thieriot, a son of the late Ferdinand Thieriot, of New York, and formerly a resident of North Plainfield, died yesterday at his home in South Orange, N. J. He had been ill for six months. He was born in Jersey City and was fifty-one years old.

Mr. Thieriot was a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and served on the Board of Governors, and was also a member of the firm of L. von Hoffmann & Co., bankers. He was also a member of the New England Society of the Oranges, the South Orange Field Club, the Union Club, Downtown Association, and the Chamber of Commerce of New York and the Baltusrol Club. He leaves a wife, two sons and two daughters.

HILLSIDE TENNIS.

Contests Arranged for Men and for Women on Local Courts.

Play in the singles handicap, tennis tournament for women, will begin at the courts of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, Thursday, at 10 o'clock in the morning. Entries can be sent to either Miss Schuyler, 319 East Seventh street, or Miss Goddard, of 205 East Ninth street. Entries will close promptly at 6 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, June 29.

In the men's singles, scratch, the entries, which should be sent to T. M. Day, Jr., 740 Carlton avenue, will close at 6 o'clock in the afternoon in the afternoon, Friday, July 1. Play will begin Saturday, July 2, at 3 in the afternoon.

Two new courts will be opened for play, on Saturday, July 2, the greatly increased interest in tennis this season, having made it necessary to add that number to the four already in use.

Guests of a Commodore.

Miss Daisy Snyder and Miss Margaret Kennedy, of this city have returned from Greenville, N. J., where they have been visiting friends. While away, Miss Snyder and Miss Kennedy were the guests of the Commodore of the Greenville Yacht Club and were passengers aboard his flagship, the Jessie M. during the most exciting race of the season.

FINE RACING CARD FOR INDEPENDENCE DAY

Speedy Trotters and Pacers Among the List of Entries for Driving Park Attraction.

THREE BIG EVENTS

THE PURSE FOR EACH RACE IS TWO HUNDRED.

Col. Edwards, R. A. Fairbairn and and Mr. Rose to Act as Judges—Joshua Rogers As Starter—Music by the Band.

No finer programme for racing has ever been offered at the Driving Park than the card prepared by the Driving Association for the Fourth of July. Some of the speediest trotters and pacers off the big tracks will compete for honors. Places as far away as Ossining, N. Y., are represented in the entries. The list is better and bigger than ever before.

There will be three races in all: 2:35 trot, 2:17 trot and 2:20 pace, and 2:25 trot and 2:28 pace. The purse in each race will be $200.

The entries closed last night, the final additions to the list being received in this morning's mail. As announced by the Association this morning, the list is as follows. The name of the owner and his place of residence follow the name of the entry. A. C. Blair, J. W. Johnson, M. W. Brandon, Stonewall Jackson, J. H. Greene, Jr., of this city, and Philip Jenner, of New Market, are among the owers on the list. Mr. Greene has a horse in every race:

2:25 trot and 2:28 pace, purse $200—Jerry Red, J. H. Greene, Jr., Plainfield; Lady Onward, G. Ditzler, Elizabeth; Red Wing, B. F. Brown, Hastings, N. Y.; Mary Tudor, J. P. Matthews, Princeton; Nellie Collins, James Smith, 3d, Newark; Albert L, M. H. Brandon, Plainfield; Woven Wind, J. W. Johnson, Plainfield; Agnes, Stonewall Jackson, Plainfield; Rosetine, bl g by Baron Stein, J. H. Power and Son, Brooklyn.

2:17 trot and 2:20 pace, purse $200—Glitters Lad, J. H. Greene, Jr., Plainfield; Jessie Dine, J. S. Irving, Westfield; Fonda, Pitman Farm, Trenton; Buss, Moses Hand, Lyons Farms; Billy Pizzaro, J. F. Brown, East View, N. J.; Rex, A. C. Blair, Plainfield; Harry H, ch. H. by Mary King, dam by Alerdeen, J. H. Power and Son, Brooklyn.

2:30 trot, purse $200—Fancy Spot, J. H. Greene, Jr., Plainfield; Jessie Delmar, J. Gregory, Newark; Hank, Theodore T. Maxfield, Bloomfield; Otario, Andrew Rohr, Ossining, N. Y.; Karachi, E. M. Grover, Newark; Lida Mc, Philip Jenner, New Market; Estella br. m. by Elector, dam unknown, Mercer Driving Park Stakes, Trenton.

Close and exciting contests are expected by all the horsemen interested in the event. The track is in the finest shape it has ever been since racing started there, and all the other conditions are in favor of magnificent sport. The events will start at 2 o'clock sharp.

It is hoped to draw a record-breaking crowd to the meet. The grandstand has been repaired, the seats have been covered with muslin, and feminine horselovers will find nothing to detract from their enjoyment of the sport. Boxes may be hired at Bowley's drug store.

The judges will be Col. Edwards, of Newark; Robert A. Fairbairn, of Westfield, and Mr. Rose, of Perth Amboy. Joshua Rogers, of Brooklyn, a veteran starter, will send the horses off. William L. Smalley, Jr., will be clerk of the course.

A full brass band will furnish music between heats.

I. O. O. F. Election.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., had a busy meeting last night, the time being taken up with initiations and the election of officers. Four candidates were put through the third degree. A fourth candidate was prevented from attending, by a slight injury, the result of an accident and will be initiated later. These officers were elected: Noble grand, Harvey L. Schmeyer; vice grand, Andrew Stiglitz; recording secretary, Joseph F. Sheppard.

Pastor Going West.

Rev. George B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will leave Plainfield about August 1 for Milton, Wis., where he will remain for a time with his family. From there he will go to Nortonville, Kansas, to attend the conference of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL GRADUATION EXERCISES

Promotion of the Primary and Kindergarten Pupils is Marked by Special Exercises.

GIVEN CERTIFICATES

JOSEPH GALLAGHER DELIVERS THE PRIMARY VALEDICTORY.

The Primary Salutatory is Made by Miss Ursula Colvin—An Operetta Closes the Programme.

Graduation exercises to mark the advancement of the primary and kindergarten children of St. Mary's Parochial School were held last night in the parish school hall. The programme was an elaborate one, delightfully rendered. A large-sized audience enjoyed the affair.

The programme opened with a musical selection, "Flatterer," by Miss Mary Smith, on the piano. Miss Ursula Colvin delivered the primary salutatory, in a charming little address.

"Sleepy Sue," an exercise in which fourteen children took part, followed. Miss Dorothy Cashin was "Sue" and the other characters were taken by the following: Harvey Lyon, John Traynor, Lawrence Nichols, William Ball, John Powelson, Frank Kane, James Traynor, Richard Lawton, Hugh Breen, John Kane, Edward Forrestel, Frank Arnold, M. Angerbauer.

"Sleepy Sue" was followed by a selection by the "Children's Symphony" in which the following took part: Violin, Miss Quinn; piano, C. Galbraith and L. Brown; quirl and whistle, Frank McInerney; nightingale, Helen O'Keefe; drum, E. Hanrahan; castanets, M. Watson; mandolin, Misses M. Smith and H. Hanrahan; trumpet, K. Trembley; tambourine, M. King; bell, C. Kelley; cuckoo, M. Traynor, wood devil, M. Caulfield; rattle, M. Crosby.

After the "Symphony," the kindergarten tots were called up and presented with tiny diplomas. Father Egan, the rector, made the presentations, just as though the little ones were receiving sheepskins. The small boys and girls bowed gravely as they received the certificates. The graduates were: Margaret Motley, Florence Witterman, Helen Newell, Joseph Gallagher, Arthur Kyle, Vincent Mullen, Anna Fosbre, Lillie Coffey, Lizzie Ennis.

Joseph Gallagher delivered the primary valedictory. His address was a clever one, neatly phrased.

The exercises closed with a tuneful operetta, "The Pixies' Triumph." The cast was as follows:

Jewel Scissors, Pixie King, Master Frank McInerney; Knowall Dolittle, King's Executive, Master John Casey; Laughing Gas, Master Edward Hanrahan; Stay Behind, Master John Geary; Fatima, Queen of the Fairies, Miss Lillian McInerney; Franchon, Miss Annie Heffernan; Silver Sprite, Miss Anna O'Loughlin; Golden Hair, Miss Mary Traynor.

The parts were splendidly acted and sung. Frank McInerney, Edward Hanrahan and Lillian McInerney were particularly good.

The children were trained for the operetta by Sister Mary Esther and Madam Menzelli-Bartlett. Miss Quinn, violin, and Miss Smith, piano, played the incidental music and accompaniment.

Tonight the grammar children will be graduated into the commercial school, and Wednesday night the commercial graduates will hold their commencement exercises. Elaborate programmes of entertainment will mark each event.

Her Annual Trip Abroad.

Mrs. Emily H. Cory, of Somerset street, sailed today on one of the Cunard Line steamers for a two-months' trip abroad. She is accompanied by a party of Brooklyn friends with whom she travelled in Europe last year. The trip this year will be to Norway and the "Land of the Midnight Sun."

Killed a Ground Hog.

A son of Frank DeCamp, of 23 Linden avenue, killed a good-sized ground hog this morning.

—It is not necessary to be a fruit lover to feel tempted by the display at Neuman Bros.; an abstemious hermit would want to taste of the red raspberries, blackberries, black raspberries, huckleberries, currants, gooseberries, cherries, peaches, apricots and plums. Splendid looking and deliciously flavored.

EXEMPTS DECLINE INVITATION

PLAINFIELD ORGANIZATION NOT TO ATTEND CELEBRATION AT RAHWAY.

The Exempt Firemen's Association has declined the invitation extended by the Rahway organization to attend its Fourth of July celebration and parade, and the secretary has been authorized to communicate with Rahway to that effect. This action is taken because of the general unwillingness of the members to pass the holiday away from home.

A number of the Plainfield Exempts will undoubtedly attend the celebration and will be the guests of the Rahway men for the day. The silver hose carriage has been loaned by the local association for the day.

BASEBALL GAMES SCHEDULED

ATTRACTIONS ON LOCAL DIAMONDS FOR SATURDAY AND MONDAY.

The Alis Club has three strong attractions for Saturday and Monday, two games being arranged for Independence Day. On Saturday the Aeolians will return for the third game in the series. The team is greatly strengthened and it is said that Doescher, of the Brooklyn Nationals, who shut Westfield out, will pitch for them. The organ grinders are determined to win the game and thus retrieve themselves.

Fourth of July morning the Murray Hills will be here again for a second game. Those who saw Saturday's contest, know how well Nat. Strong's combination can play, but Manager Johnston is making preparation to take their scalps. The game will be called at 10:30.

In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Manager Daab will have his rejuvenated Hoboken aggregation here. Two weeks ago this nine gave a fine exhibition with Alis, winning by a close score.

With these three games, the fans will have a feast of good baseball, and Manager Johnston has promised to strengthen all weak points for future contests. He has lines on a strong pitcher, a first-class third baseman and if Quinby comes here he will probably be made captain of the team.

The Y. M. C. A. team will cross bats with the Reform Club nine on the Myrtle avenue grounds Saturday afternoon.

HORSE KICKED T. J. MAHER.

Animal Planted His Hoof in Blacksmith's Forehead.

Thomas J. Maher, a former jockey at Long Branch, and now a well-known blacksmith in Sycamore avenue, was put out of business for a time by a four-year-old horse yesterday afternoon. He was just getting ready to put shoes on the horse and had taken off one shoe, when the colt raised his foot and struck Maher in the forehead. The blow knocked the horseshoer down and for some minutes he was in an unconscious condition.

Men in the shop rendered assistance at once and through the constant application of warm water kept the swelling down. Mr. Maher's face will not be scarred and his eyesight will not be injured.

Change in Timetable.

The most important changes in the new timetable going in effect on the New Jersey Central puts the 11:25 morning eastbound train on at 11 o'clock from here and the 6 o'clock from New York at night only stops here on signal. The full Long Branch schedule went into effect on Sunday. There is also a Sunday afternoon train to Newark at 3:17, and the Sunday morning train for New York now leaves at 8:36.

Model Auto Repair Shop.

Among the enterprises of this city none opens with brighter prospects for success than the Laing Machine Auto Repair Co. Allen B. Laing, the well known electrical contractor, is head of the concern, which has a perfectly equipped shop at 416 Sycamore street, an office at 124 North avenue, and will find ready appreciation of the class of work turned out by them.

Building Permits Granted.

Permits have been issued by Building Inspector Doane, one for the erection of a two and a half story frame dwelling, on West Fourth street near Darrow avenue, to be built for Jerry Elliott, of Central avenue and the other, a two story and attic house, on West Front street, being built for Mrs. Ina D. Tallamy, of West Sixth street.

Jack Sullivan has been visiting friends in Pennsylvania.

W. J. Lucky, of West Second street, has left for a vacation stay at Kenoza Lake, N. Y.

DENMAN ARRAIGNS ALIS CLUB'S POSITION

Westfield's Manager Charges That There is Too Much "Personality" in Alis Committee.

HE QUOTES JOHNSTON

COMMON SENSE AND BUSINESS DEMAND CONTINUANCE OF GAMES.

Plainfield People, He Declares, Wants Westfield and Alis Play—Reasons for Forfeit.

The following communication was received today from Manager Denman, of the Westfield Baseball Association:

Editor, The Daily Press:

The position of Westfield in the Alis controversy is consistent. It stands for true sport and honesty. When the rules which govern the game are disregarded the game becmes an absurdity. The disputed game was forfeited to Westfield by the refusal of Captain Farmer, of Alis, to continue play and the withdrawing of the team from the field by Manager Johnston. This is ball law. It is admitted by the Alis Club and no reasoning can alter the situation.

The sole contention of Alis is that "there was so much suspicion in the minds of the public regarding the umpire that in justice to them (entirely their own enthusiasts) it would be policy for Westfield to consider the game as nothing and play it over." This can mean nothing more than the inference that Westfield deliberately selected an umpire who was instructed to make it his sole purpose to decide plays in a manner to ensure the game to them. This is as false as it is absurd and the record and standing of the Westfield Baseball Association is a monument that doesn't need to fall and crush such a calumny.

The real reason for the tie-up in the series is bringing into the matter personality. This personality exists among the Alis ball committee. George H. Johnston is an able and clear manager. He knows that the game was forfeited and admits to the writer that it is personality and that alone which threatens to deprive the public from having their expected pleasure in the continuance of the series. Is the public interested in this personality?

The public will not hasten to throw water on a flame started with the Lucifer of personalities, but will rather stand around and gloat over the destruction.

The series should continue for two reasons:

1st.—Common Sense: Will Alis ever have prestige until they defeat Westfield?

2nd—Business: The attendance at games is measured according to the attraction and rivalry. With the series continued it means more than the two places moving their supporters with each game.

There are hundreds of Plainfield people who would exert themselves to attend a Westfield game who wouldn't bother themselves to see the Murray Hills, Chatham, Madison or any foreign team. Again, what people who pay admission, will any club, other than in near-by or local rivalry, bring with them?

Westfield isn't going to heave a sigh, disband its team, or sell its plant for firewood, if there are no further games. It will feel the loss of revenue that the games would bring, but the two hundred and fifty and over members of its association are an organization strong enough in honesty to keep the game "just traveling along," and there is more to baseball than the season of 1904.

Charles H. Denman,
Managar Westfield Baseball Club.
June 28, 1904.

Lodge Election.

These officers were elected by Martha Washington Council, No. 23, Daughters of America, Saturday night: Councilor, Mrs. Sadie Dodge; associate councilor, Mrs. Annie Angleman; vice councilor, Mrs. Winnie Allen; associate vice councilor, S. H. Allen; recording secretary, Gilbert S. Martin; financial secretary, G. B. Allen; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Welsh; conductor, Mrs. Niles; warden, Mrs. Mary Alpaugh; trustee, eighteen months, S. H. Allen; representative to State Council, F. G. Welsh; representative to Funeral Benefit Association, G. B. Allen.

Miss Jeannette Summers, of Orchard place, has been visiting friends in New York city.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Have you any kodak views you want developed? Take them to F. W. Van Winkle, North avenue. Bicycles at surprisingly cheap prices.

Still the leading cigar in its class—the C. O. D., sold by Henry Eggerding, of Park avenue. All the leading brands of smoking tobacco, always fresh.

Charles Conover & Co., of Elmwood place, contracts to do only first-class painting and papering. If you want this kind of work let the firm give you an estimate.

J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, has had years of experience in his business and his word can be depended upon in the selection of goods at his store.

Others may claim to do painting and decorating cheaper than Woolston & Buckle, but the quality of the work done by this well-known firm is the very best answer anyone could ask to such an assertion.

Who has any objection to increasing the radiance of his electric light by thirty per cent., without getting a bigger bill? No one, of course. The Holophane Shade, sold by W. H. Pope, North avenue, does that.

Good men, good wagons, good horses, good pay and best but not least, good sense; have made the trucking business, carried on by Henry J. Wierenga, prosper in a remarkable degree. Try him and be convinced.

Try some of W. W. Warnock's fresh flaky tea-biscuit for tea one of these hot evenings and then see if you can do anything but make up your mind to get all the bread, cake and pies for your table, from Warnock and no one else.

The H. E. Gayle Hardware Company carries the best line of hardware, farming and garden implements, oil stoves, refrigerators, window screens and all kinds of kitchen utensils. The goods are of the best manufacture and very reasonable in price.

Roth & Co., the East Front street butchers, have an established reputation for selling the best quality of meats, fish and poultry and the firm takes special pains to please its customers and the prices will be found cheaper than at many other markets.

If you are in need of a summer suit of clothes of the proper style, weight, material and price, call at the New York Clothing Store on West Front street, and you can be fited to your complete satisfaction. There is also a custom tailoring department and a full line of men's furnishings.

It is still bargain time at I. H. Boehm's store. Fine values in summer dress fabrics. Lawns and fancy ginghams, in the newest designs. Pretty display of summer headgear. The prices on the Boehm hats have no apparent connection with the value. They are remarkably low in every kind of shape and trimming.

Summer clothes for man and woman at the easiest rates of payment ever offered to the public is what can be obtained at the People's Credit Clothing Company, of East Front street, opposite Police Headquarters. The wage earner will find the P. C. C. Co. system just what he has been looking for. Courteous and careful treatment.

The art of making irradescent glass was thought to be a lost one for many years, but if you go to Gavett's, the assortment of this class of goods there displayed will convince you that it has been pretty thoroughly found again. The specimens of "l'art nouveau" to be seen among Gavett's stock, are at the same time, the most unique and the most reasonable in price, of any.

Whatever you do when buying summer clothes, don't let some third-class tailor gold-brick you with something apparently in the extreme of style, when it is in reality, nothing but a sham, losing its shape as soon as removed from the dummy. In fact, after a suit of this kind has made you uncomfortable, two or three times, you will be perfectly willing to believe it was merely taken off one dummy, to be put on another, the one that paid for it. Werner's clothing house is the place to buy, if you would escape all such annoyances.

Get in line, young man! That girl won't wait for you to get rich, unless you show some pretty marked tendency that way, without unnecessary loss of time. IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
Are serious—if neglected.

A Plainfield citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

About Piano Tuning

are continually doing a great deal of mischief to good pianos. It will therefore doubtless be of interest to owners of Steinway and other pianos, residing at not too great a distance from New York, to learn that we are now prepared to take orders for the tuning and regulating of pianos during the summer months at special rates Not only the members of our large regular tuning force but also those of our staff of experts who, during the winter season, have been traveling with eminent pianists on their concert tours, and who have now returned to New York, are available for this work. The greater the number of orders from any one place or vicinity the lower our charge will be for each piano attended to. Consequently we would suggest to prospective customers in any locality that they "club together" in sending us their orders, whenever feasible and agreeable, as the most economical and satisfactory plan. Your patronage is respectfully solicited.

Women's Hanan & Son Shoes

2.50 1,200 Pairs of 5.00 and 7.00 Shoes and Oxfords added to this, the GREATEST OF ALL SHOE SALES 2.50

Hundreds of women, who profited by our last great sale of Hanan & Son shoes, were keenly disappointed at the nonappearance of women's footwear in our announcement of last week. This was caused by an unavoidable delay in shipment. Over 1,200 pairs are ready—all conveniently arranged on our second floor, and the women of Plainfield and vicinity will be afforded an opportunity of participating in a shoe bargain that is at present causing so much excitement among the men.

Regular 5 00 and 7.00 Footwear.

These 1,200 pairs represent a six month accumulation of slightly imperfect shoes and oxfords from the women's department of Hanan & Son's shoe factory. The injuries are in many instances wholly imperceptible and in no case do they impair the wearing qualities of the shoe.

The styles are quite too numerous to describe in detail. Vici kid, patent kid and patent colt—Louis XV, Cuban military and mannish heels. Sewed, turned and welted soles. Not a pair made to sell for less than 5.00 to 7.00. . . .

The Sale of Men's Hanan Shoes Continues.

DOUBTFUL OF MILES

Prohibitionists on Eve of Convention at Indianapolis.

GENERAL AWAITS ST. LOUIS VERDICT

Leading Antiliquor Men Want Definite Statement as to Soldier's Sentiments, but Fail to Get It.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 28.—Indianapolis Prohibitionists last night held a meeting which proved an introduction to the national convention. It was attended by upward of 100 visitors who have arrived for the convention, besides a large crowd of Indianapolis citizens. William Frost Crispin of Akron, O.; State Chairman Charles R. Jones of Pennsylvania, National Chairman Stewart and others spoke.

National Chairman Stewart, H. B. Metcalf of Rhode Island, Prohibitionist vice presidential candidate four years ago; Charles R. Jones of Pennsylvania, C. E. Newlin, Indiana chairman, and L. W. Clark, secretary of Indiana, and other leaders of the party took a prominent part.

Mr. Metcalf said that when a party of ten Prohibitionists, of which he was one, called on General Nelson A. Miles the general evaded questions and wished the convention postponed until after the Democratic convention. This, it is said, has been his policy since that time. Mr. Metcalf said that in his opinion the New England states would demand a man who would make a positive statement of his position, and unless General Miles should make one they would vote against him.

National Chairman Stewart said: "General Miles is an able man. He has been a consistent friend of the antiliquor movement and in a broad sense is a Prohibitionist. But those who are pressing forward his name for the presidential nomination by our party this year do not say how he stands on the methods of the Prohibition party.

"There are probably 2,000,000 voters in the United States who believe in prohibition, but we have never polled on a national ticket more than 300,000 votes. We not only want a man who believes in prohibition, but we want a man who believes in the policy and methods of the Prohibition party. Neither General Miles nor his friends have said that he is a Prohibitionist in that sense, and there are many Prohibitionists who believe it wise to nominate a man who has been a Prohibitionist in the party sense of the word in the past."

BELL ON MARTIAL LAW.

Says Governor Peabody Stands For Peace and Good Government.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 28.—General Sherman M. Bell, who is governing Teller county under martial law, has issued a statement, in which he says:

"There are 10,000 lies being written about me. I am acting under orders of the governor of the state of Colorado. He stands for peace and quiet and good government and has instructed me to see to it that the Western Federation of Miners shall not directly or indirectly murder any more men, and they shall not.

"So far as placing Denver under martial law is concerned, that rests solely with the governor. Provided he should see fit to do so I am his adjutant general commanding the military forces of the state and will see to it that hundreds of bad men are deported. And after martial law has finally been called off, if the citizens permit the cattle I intend to deport to return, that will be their business.

"No man who wants work will be molested, but the person who lives solely and only by his mouth, provided Governor Peabody gives me the word, will have to emigrate. The time for temporizing talk in Colorado has passed. What we ought to do now is to act."

Airship Man Under Arrest.

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—E. J. Pennington of Mount Vernon, Ill., who is a contestant for the prize in the airship contest to be held at the world's fair, has been arrested on a telegram from Pittsburg saying that Pennington was wanted on a warrant charging conspiracy and fraud. Pennington denies that he has had any trouble in Pittsburg and says he is at a loss to understand the arrest. When the world's fair was first talked about in St. Louis Pennington organized a company to build an airship, saying he was the inventor and the first builder of a dirigible airship. His tent was blown down and his airship demolished.

Trouble In the Fisheries.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 28.—Newfoundland fishing vessels having occupied the French stations on the treaty coast in the mistaken belief that the treaty ratification had been exchanged, the Frenchmen appealed to the British commander, who dispatched a warship to the scene to warn the offending colonial vessels from the coast. The incident is the occasion of much concern.

Fire In Panama Barracks.

PANAMA, June 28.—Considerable excitement was caused by a fire which started in the barracks of the troops on the Chiriqui plaza last night close to the ammunition storeroom. Prisoners who were confined in the vicinity of the barracks were taken to the police station and the barracks isolated. After much effort the fire was brought under control.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and warmer; northeast winds.

OUTPOSTS IN TOUCH

St. Petersburg Expecting a Great Battle.

THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND IN ARMS

Kuropatkin Has an Immense Extended Line, Which the Japanese Will Try to Strike In Flank and Rear.

LONDON, June 28.—Advices from St. Petersburg say that a report from Lieutenant General Sacharoff confirms the belief that the great decisive battle of the campaign between General Kuropatkin's main army and the armies of Generals Kuroki and Oku is imminent. The three armies probably aggregate 300,000 men, and their outposts are in touch all along the line.

The Japanese evidently tried to draw Kuropatkin as far south as possible, holding out as an incentive a check to the advance of Oku's main army. Meantime Oku swung sharply to the eastward to join Kuroki toward the Chapan pass, Kuroki at the same time moving a strong force by the right flank toward Haicheng.

The main Japanese advance continues along the main Fengwangcheng-Liaoyang road, avoiding the Maotien pass by a detour to the northward. The advance at all points is being attended by constant skirmishing.

Nothing is known here of the exact point at which Kuropatkin's main force is concentrated, though it is believed that a large part of the Liaoyang force has been moved to a point between Kinchau and Tatchekiao.

According to dispatches from Tatchekiao, a large force has pushed southward from Tatchekiao against Oku. While Kuropatkin is thus extending himself the Japanese, with great mobility, seem to be trying to concentrate for the purpose of striking the Russians in flank and rear.

A brief dispatch from Rear Admiral Withoft, naval commander at Port Arthur, throws little additional light on the sea fight off Port Arthur. The admiralty and the emperor are awaiting further details with the same eagerness as the general public. The latter for the first time received information through the medium of foreign telegrams that a fight had occurred.

The loss of three vessels of the Port Arthur fleet is admitted to be a severe blow, especially if not purchased by greater loss to the Japanese than reported by Vice Admiral Togo.

British Ship a Russian Prize.

VLADIVOSTOK, June 28.—The prize court has condemned the British steamer Allanton, captured by the Russian Vladivostok squadron recently in the strait of Korea for carrying contraband of war, and has confiscated the ship and her cargo of 6,500 tons of anthracite coal, valued at $500,000. The firm at Singapore to which the coal was consigned is the same concern that supplied Japan with contraband during the Japo-Chinese war. The Japanese schooner captured by the Russian torpedo boats at the time of the recent raid has also been condemned. The captains of the prizes are allowed a month in which to appeal.

Exchange Bank Was Lottery Game.

CHICAGO, June 28.—An alleged lottery scheme, which is said to have netted its operators hundreds of thousands of dollars annually, was disclosed when the Manhattan Exchange bank, situated at 150 Lasalle street, was entered by United States marshals, who arrested John H. Dalton, politician, and L. A. Gourdain on warrants sworn out by postoffice detectives. The warrants charge that lottery tickets were sent out of Illinois by the Manhattan Exchange bank in violation of the interstate commerce law. Dalton is well known in the federal courts for his connection with lottery concerns in the last few years, having paid fines aggregating several thousand dollars.

Edward and Kaiser at Kiel.

KIEL, Prussia, June 28.—The German naval review planned to be held here has been abandoned at the request of King Edward. After viewing a grand boat procession the emperor received the winners of the Heligoland race on board the Hohenzollern and presented the prizes. King Edward attended a reception given by the empress on board the Hohenzollern. His majesty chatted affably with many of the empress' guests. Last night King Edward, Emperor William and the members of the royal party attended a banquet given by the Royal Yacht club in honor of King Edward, who is an honorary member of the club.

Is Unable to Explain.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 28.—First Lieutenant William H. Plummer, Sixth infantry, U. S. A., who disappeared ten days ago, has been brought back from Hiawatha, Kan. He is in a hospital and will be tried by a court martial. He says he is unable to explain his absence. Lieutenant Plummer was appointed to the army because of excellent service in a Massachusetts volunteer regiment during the war with Spain.

Judge Kyle For Panama Zone.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 28.—Judge Osceola Kyle of the Eighth Alabama district court, while in this city, was officially notified of his appointment as one of the federal judges of the Panama canal zone. He will resign as soon as he qualifies for the new place, which he will accept.

Farmer Hanged Himself.

NYACK, N. Y., June 28.—While temporarily insane Philip Leib, a New City farmer, committed suicide by hanging.

Motor Paced Racing at Revere.

REVERE, Mass., June 28.—The motor paced race at the Revere cycle track last night, previously announced as a match race for twenty-five miles with Hugh McLean and Louis Mettling against Will Stinson and Nat Butler, was run as an individual competition instead. McLean started in the lead, with Butler second, Stinson third and Mettling fourth, and this order was maintained throughout. At the finish McLean was four and a half laps ahead of Butler and five and a half laps in advance of Stinson. Mettling was not a factor in the race at any time. McLean's time was 36 minutes and 21 seconds.

Dolly Spanker Won Handily.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Dolly Spanker, added starter, won the Equality stakes, one mile, at Sheepshead Bay. He was quoted at 6 to 1 and ran the mile in the fast time of 1:38. Roehampton made the pace to the stretch, where Dolly Spanker took command and won handily by half a length. Cascine, backed down from 20 to 1 to 12 to 1, finished first in the second race, but was disqualified for fouling, and a big killing was prevented. The race was given to Tepee, who was fouled.

Tennis at Orange.

ORANGE, N. J., June 28.—Play was started in the middle states tennis championship tournament on the courts of the Orange Tennis club at Mountain Station. The feature was the overwhelming defeat of William J. Clothier of Philadilphia, who last year was the runner up at Newport in the national championship, by R. D. Little of New York in two sets.

Vassar Girl Won Sports Prize.

SILVER LAKE, N. Y., June 28.—The students who are attending the students' conference here held field day sports, which were participated in by a large number. Miss Evelyn Gardner of Vassar college was the chief winner. At the conclusion of the regular events mock contests were held.

Canadian Derby at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, June 28.—The Highland Park Jockey club's summer meeting opened at Fort Erie. The chief event was the Canadian Derby, which was won easily by Fort Hunter, the Canadian horse which carried away the Buffalo Derby at the recent Kenilworth meeting.

Elastic Beat Icewater.

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—Favorites and outsiders divided a fair card at the fair grounds. Elastic won the feature after racing Icewater into submission, the latter quitting before the wire was reached. Charlie Thompson and Thane at odds on won the fifth and sixth events easily.

Foxhunters In Polo Match.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—The Foxhunters of Bryn Mawr defeated the Rockaway team at Bryn Mawr by the score of 14 goals to 11¼. This was the second match for the Pembroke cup.

Glassful and Bad News.

CHICAGO, June 28.—Glassful and Bad News were the only favorites to win at Hawthorne. The other four races went to two second choices, one outsider and one long shot.

Soldiers After Sheriff's Slayer.

LACROSSE, Wis., June 28.—The slayer of Sheriff Harris of St. Croix county has been seen in the fields near Holman. A detachment of militia is reconnoitering near the place. Near Trempleau the fugitive compelled a woman to give him her outer clothing, and in this disguise he went through the town unharmed.

All Ships Leave Tangier.

TANGIER, June 28.—Rear Admiral Jewell, commanding the European squadron, which has been at Tangier pending the negotiations for the release of Perdicaris, has sailed with his squadron to join Rear Admiral Barker in Greek waters.

Two Years For Postal Robber.

TRENTON, N. J., June 28.—Louis Matheny pleaded guilty in the United States district court here to robbing the postoffices at Alloway and Shiloh, N. J., two years ago. He was sentenced to two years in the Essex penitentiary.

Cured by Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure After Doctors and Other Medicines Had Failed.

I have been suffering for the past ten months with pains in my back and stiff joints. I could get no relief from anything. I tried many doctors and used many medicines. I am happy and thankful to say that three boxes of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure entirely cured me. I can always cheerfully speak a good word for this wonderful remedy.

A Free Sample Treatment Laid the Foundation for a Permanent Cure.

I was suffering with my back and kidneys, and no medicine which I took brought me any relief. I was greatly benefited by the free sample of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure, and one box of it worked a complete cure. I can always speak a good word for such a wonderful remedy.
CHARLES HAWLEY, Greenfield, Mass.

Raised from a Bed of Torture to Immediate and Permanent Health by One Box.

I want to tell you how much good Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure has done for me. Was down in bed with my back and could not get up and nothing seemed to help me. Seeing your advertisement in the paper I bought a box of your medicine and after the second day I commenced to get better and now I am completely cured. The pain is all gone and I feel just as well as ever. Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure is certainly a wonderful remedy.

Cured by Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure After Spending $1,000 With Doctors.

I paid a thousand dollars to doctors but nothing helped me as Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure did.
JOHN LETTON, Hartford, Conn.

To the People of Plainfield, N. J., and Vicinity.

I am pleased to inform the public that I have arranged to give every adult calling at my store Wednesday, June 29, a free trial package of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure. This wonderful remedy is performing cures which seem almost miraculous. As my supply of Free packages is not large, it will be to your interest to call early.

HOW TO OBTAIN
Summer Boarders!
There is in New York City one daily newspaper which has made tremendous gains in popular favor during the past five years. Its net cash paid circulation is over 100,000 copies daily throughout every section of New York City (including Brooklyn), larger than that of any other recognized resort medium. This newspaper's readers are among the wealthy, and well-to-do, intelligent people—those who can afford and do take extended vacations in the country during the Summer. It carries more resort advertising than any other morning newspaper, so the public naturally look to it for information as to where to go.
An advertisement in its columns is, therefore, exceedingly valuable and sure to produce results. This paper is

DOORS CLOSED.

First National Bank of Saratoga Suspends Payment.

SARATOGA, June 28.—The First National bank of Saratoga has been closed by the government examiner. The following notice was posted on the door:

"At the request of the directors and by order of the comptroller of the currency this bank is closed."

The run which began on the Citizens' National bank Saturday led many to fear a raid by small depositors on the First National. The announcement on Saturday in the local newspapers that William H. Bockes, for many years cashier of the First National bank, had been superseded as cashier by former Village President Robert F. Milligan, led to conjectures that added to the local excitement. One of the First National bank directors said:

"We felt that our bank would undoubtedly be compelled to meet a run, and we did not have money enough on hand to meet such a run as the Citizens' National is having now, and not having sufficient time to procure the needed financial assistance to meet all demands that might be made we requested the comptroller of the currency, through Bank Examiner Van Vranken, to close our bank and thus avoid the run. The deposits in our bank reach over $700,000. The suspension is but temporary, I hope."

TO SHAKE NEW YORK.

"Elijah" Dowie Met Another Frost on His Return From Europe.

NEW YORK, June 28.—"Elijah" Dowie on the eve of his departure from this city spent a busy time on "personal" or, rather, "Zion's" business, as he expressed it, and from his headquarters in the Fifth Avenue hotel he completed his preparations for his departure today over the West Shore railroad for Chicago and Zion City.

The "profit," as he was dubbed in England, and his party, including the unkissed son and the millionairess whom he converted while in Europe and whom it is said Gladstone Dowie is to marry, left the Fifth Avenue hotel in a carriage, but refused to reveal their destination.

Following the chilly reception which his lectures received on Sunday and the pittance put on his contribution plate the "profit" has determined to shake the dust of this wicked city from his feet.

Through his secretary he made arrangements to leave for Zion City, and his special car is now on the siding at Weehawken waiting the arrival of his party.

THIRTY-THREE KILLED.

Accident to Workmen Near Spanish Town, Jamaica.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 28.—Thirty-three persons have been killed by an accident which took place near Spanish Town, ten miles west of Kingston, in the main conduit of the West India Electric company, which operates the street cars from Kingston and the shareholders of which are principally Canadians.

Nearly a hundred laborers had been detailed to remove the sand from the enormous pipe, which is a mile long and which conveys water from the intake on the Rio Cobre to the turbines of the power house. The work had practically been completed when orders were given to allow a small quantity of water to enter the conduit. Through misapprehension, accident or carelessness the full force of water was turned on, and a mad struggle to escape by means of the manholes ensued, with the result that thirty-three persons were killed.

The tragedy has cast a gloom over the colony, and a rigid investigation into the cause is now in progress.

Only a Conventional Chat.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—President Roosevelt heard the first personal reports of the proceedings of the Republican national convention at Chicago last week when George B. Cortelyou, chairman of the national committee, called at the White House and had a long talk with him. Elmer Dover, secretary of the national committee, also joined the conference. Mr. Cortelyou said afterward that his talk with the president was only a chat about the convention.

Stewart Is Silent.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Frank L. Stewart has been held for examination on a charge of stealing $600 worth of jewelry from Henry Baxter Kingsley of Rutland, Vt., who disappeared in this city last November. Earlier in the day Stewart was examined by Assistant District Attorney Rand, but on the advice of counsel he declined to answer questions.

Boston Strike Ends.

BOSTON, June 28. — Two hundred members of the local branch of the International Elevator Constructors' union, who have been on a strike for several weeks to secure a new working arrangement, have returned to work, a satisfactory agreement with the employers having been effected.

Hawaiian Democrats Arrive.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Three of the Hawaiian delegates to the Democratic national convention at St. Louis have arrived here. They are Colonel C. H. Cluken, T. B. Lyons and J. L. Coke. Former Associate Justice Galbraith, another delegate for Hawaii, will join them in the east.

GIBRALTAR, June 28.—The American battleship Missouri has sailed for Piraeus, Greece, to join the battleship squadron under the command of Rear Admiral Barker.

ISKENT LOOMIS DEAD?

Hamburg Report Says Body Has Been Washed Ashore.

PLYMOUTH POLICE SAY DROWNED

Last Seen at Midnight on Kaiser Wilhelm II. June 19 on Eve of Ship's Arrival at English Port.

WASHINGTON, June 28. — A dispatch from Hamburg says it is reported there that the body of Kent J. Loomis, who disappeared from the Kaiser Wilhelm II. shortly before her arrival at Plymouth on June 20, has been washed ashore near Cherbourg, France.

A Bremen report says that all evidence available there shows that Kent J. Loomis, brother of Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, was last seen on board the Kaiser Wilhelm II. about midnight of June 19, when he went on deck after the usual captain's dinner had been given on the eve of the vessel's arrival.

Shortly afterward William H. Ellis, Loomis' companion, searched for Loomis, but he was unable to find him. The captain and the head steward, both of whom knew Loomis well, were standing at the gangway as the passengers landed at Plymouth, and they both declare positively that Loomis did not land.

Government Councilor Mueller of Berlin, who was a passenger on the Kaiser Wilhelm II., drew up a report of the affair, according to which Ellis deposed that Loomis often sat in a reckless fashion close to the rail despite repeated warnings.

Ellis also said Loomis drank a good deal the last few days preceding his disappearance. None of the other witnesses, however, remarked this.

Mr. Loomis, the assistant secretary of state, has had nothing whatsoever to confirm or contradict the rumor that the body of his brother, Kent J. Loomis, has been washed ashore on the French coast, and in spite of the energetic efforts of the combined foreign and consular service of the state department not the slightest clew has yet been obtained with reference to the mysterious disappearance. The fact that nothing has been heard of the lost man is tending to confirm the fears of his family that he was either drowned or has met with foul play. The assistant secretary has denied very emphatically a number of reports emanating from Parkersburg, W. Va., the home of his brother, which stated that the family of Mr. Kent Loomis had received word from him some days ago that he was having trouble with Mr. Ellis, with whom he was traveling.

The state department has had advices of the sailing of Mr. Ellis from France for Djibouti, where he commences his overland journey to Abyssinia's capital with the commercial treaty which he is to deliver to King Menelek. This treaty was in the luggage of Mr. Kent Loomis which was sent on to Paris. Word was received that Mr. Ellis had offered to remain on the scene for two weeks to assist in the search for Mr. Loomis and had offered to have one of his party return to Plymouth to aid the authorities there, but it was thought that no such assistance would avail in the search.

The police of Plymouth now say that Mr. Loomis was drowned and that he must have fallen overboard before the vessel reached her anchorage. After a most exhaustive search and the investigation of every clew they are confident that he did not land at Plymouth.

Neither in London nor Plymouth has anything developed throwing the slightest light on the situation, and where it was at first believed that a few days would solve the question of the where about of the missing man the gloomiest view is now taken.

Baron Rothschild's Good Work.

PARIS, June 28. — Baron Alphonse de Rothschild, Baron Edmond de Rothschild and Baron Gustave de Rothschild, three of the chiefs of the De Rothschild family, called upon M. Trouillot, the minister of commerce, and informed him of their intention to give $2,000,000 for the purpose of providing cheap and healthy dwellings for the Parisian working classes. It is announced that the profits arising from the rents of the proposed dwellings will be devoted to the amelioration of the condition of workmen.

Monument to Rochambeau.

WATERBURY, Conn., June 28.—The unveiling of a monument to mark the place on the Middlebury road where the French army under Rochambeau stopped while passing through Connecticut took place here yesterday. Viscomte de Cambrun, charge d'affaires of the French embassy at Washington, missed his train at Kingston, R. I., and was unable to be present. The event was under the auspices of the American-Irish Historical society.

Cuba at World's Fair.

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—The Cuban pavilion at the world's fair was formally dedicated last night with a reception in the parlors of the building. The receiving party consisted of Minister Quesada, Mrs. Quesada, Commissioner General and Mrs. Duque Estrada and Mr. and Mrs. E. Morales, Dr. G. G. Lewis and Antonio Carillo, secretary of the Cuban fair commission.

John T. McGraw For Vice President.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 28.—The West Virginia delegation to the Democratic national convention has started for St. Louis. They will launch a boom at St. Louis for John T. McGraw of West Virginia as a vice presidential candidate.

The Keans could not get rid of giving dinners even when out in Chicago. They've got the habit.

A St. Louis sculptur is executing a bust of William Jennings Bryan. This should not be confounded with the "bust" to be executed at the St. Louis convention.

For the sake of the solution of the problem of aerial navigation it is to be hoped that Santos-Dumont will be more successful than Bryan at St. Louis next month.

Fairbanks was given a warm welcome by his home people upon returning from the Chicago convention. Jim Martine says warm welcomes can't be counted in the returns on election day.

The bestowal of an honorary degree on Henry M. Maxson is a fitting recognition on the part of Alfred University of his real worth. Under Dr. Maxson's able supervision the Plainfield Public Schools have attained a standard that has called forth unlimited praise from the foremost educators and leading educational journals in this country.

According to some interviews with prominent Democrats, published by the Elizabeth Evening Times, Grover Cleveland is the favorite at the county seat. The same is true in this city and generally throughout the State. If former United States Senator James Smith could induce the Sage of Princeton to accept a nomination from the Democratic National Convention, New Jersey would undoubtedly present his name. And there are some who say that he would sweep the State on election day.

PERSONAL.

Wm. Gaston has returned from a stay in Pittsburg.

John Hiscox, business manager at the Sabbath Recorder office, is detained at home by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Aldrich, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Rachel Boice, of Park avenue.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Hank Sheldon, of Brooklyn, has returned to his position after a visit with friends in this city.

The entire lathe gang on the night shift at the Campbell Press Company's plant were laid off Saturday.

Charles Everett, "Duffy" Muldowney and George Woodland will leave this week for the St. Louis Fair.

James Welsh, who was injured at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant a week ago, has resumed his position.

Michael Higgins has resigned his position at Asbury Park. Mr. Higgins has taken a position with a local contracting plumber.

Thomas Muldowney and Joseph Cory, both of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, have returned from a visit with friends in Montclair, N. J.

Although orders were recently issued at the Manganese Steel Safe Company's plant to the effect that the shop would run but five days a week, the grinders were working all day Saturday.

John Kelly, a former resident of this city, who was struck with a passenger train at Elizabethport last week, is still alive. The young man had four fingers and one foot taken off. The injured lad is the brother of Mrs. Patrick Boyle, of Pond place.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Harry Huff has resigned his position with M. R. Giles, of Park avenue, to occupy a place in a big New York meat dealer's store.

—T. S. Armstrong, druggist, will give to every adult calling at his store tomorrow a free trial package of Dr. Gossom's kidney and bladder cure. See ad on page 3.

—The city water connection was made to the new Stillman building in Madison avenue, yesterday. The pipe line was run from the corner of Front street and Madison avenue.

Eric Erickson, of West Eighth street, was the guest of friends in Pittsburg Saturday.

Frank Jungalenda's baby son was christened Sunday. In honor of the event there was an old-fashioned christening party at the Jungalenda home on Richmond street.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

All the matches which have been played in the tournament for the championship of the Dunellen Tennis Club have resulted as follows: Casselberry vs. Fisher, won by Casselberry, 6-1, 6-1; Platt vs. Gardener, won by Platt, 6 2; Fedderman vs. Wilcox, unfinished; Coriell vs. Kennedy, won by Coriell, 6 2 Matches that have not yet been played will be played off this week.

The patronage given the Dunellen A. C. at the game with Clinton Avenue on Saturday, was very small considering the quality of ball which the reorganized team is putting up and the strenuous efforts which are being made to keep a team in the field, it seems as if the support should be better. As it is the team is scarcely paying expenses.

The congregation of the Presbyterian church was given a reception last evening by its new pastor, Rev. Mr. Casselberry and his wife. The affair took place in the church parsonage and was a very pleasant one. A large number were present and the occasion served to make many acquainted with one another.

A game has at last been arranged between the Dunellen A. C. and the New Market Y. M. A. The teams will clash next Saturday and interest is high among the fans. The fine record of the Y. M. A. so far and the splendid work of the reorganized Dunellen team makes the outcome doubtful.

William G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will entertain the officers of the State order at the meeting this evening. Several new members will be initiated and afterwards there will be a collation and a general good time. This is one of the big events of the local order of the year.

The game between the Dunellen Field Club and the Levering & Garrigues' team was not played on Saturday. It will probably be played at some future date.

Walter Hazeltine, of Washington avenue, is spending some time in an extended trip over the country. He will not return home until August.

The tournament for the championship of the Dunellen Tennis Club was not finished on Saturday as a number of contestants did not show up.

The Levering & Garrigues' baseball team will play the Bound Brook team on the Madison avenue grounds next Saturday.

Work has been started on the new side tracks which the Central Railroad is going to build through Central park.

Mrs. VonMindon, of New Market, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sandford Staples, of the borough.

The regular monthly meeting of Court Dunellen, I. O. F., was held last evening.

Street Commissioner Staats is at work repairing culverts around town.

Peter Apgar, of Front street, is confined to her home by a slight illness.

R. W. Coriell and family entertained out-of-town friends over Sunday.

The young son of Willard Apgar is recovering from a slight illness.

Clarence Smalley, who is severely ill, has suffered a relapse.

Mrs. Schepflin is confined to her home by illness.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The trolley weed crop between Park and Leland avenues, is about ready for harvesting. Patrons who are obliged to stand on the running board during the rush on Sundays get the full benefit of the crop, especially after a shower.

The local ball team lost in their game with New Brunswick at Riverside Park Sunday afternoon, the score being 5 to 3.

Miss Addie Johnston, who has been taking a course of study at Peddie Institute, is home for her summer vacation.

Samuel Hueston, who has been visiting at the home of Mrs. John Marsh, has returned to his home in Cranford.

The Misses Meyers, of Park avenue, have been entertaining Miss Clara Ippen, of New York, for a few days.

The Tuesday night meetings of the Bible study class have been discontinued until fall.

Rev. G. M. Shott was in New York Monday attending the Ministers' Conference meeting.

Miss Louise Robinson has returned from a visit with friends in New York.

H. H. Gallagher, night towerman, is taking a vacation.

ministers."

Continuing, Father Egan said in part: "On an occasion like this, beholding a young priest celebrating his first solemn mass, we all are moved to consider anew the sublime dignity of the Christian priesthood. We are likewise not unmindful of the awful responsibility that this office begets—and if this is so, how dependent must a man be upon the prayers of the faithful for its due and proper fulfillment. I know you, my dear brethren, will not, you cannot forget to ever pray the Great High Priest in Heaven, that He may guide and bless him whom we this day honor. May the ministry with which he has just been richly invested be a source of untold blessings to those whom he shall meet on the journey of his sacerdotal life, and may he in all things prosper, and be a joy to the church that has chosen him to sit in the sanctuary of the living God, abiding the time when Christ shall welcome him to everlasting happiness, rewarding him for the conscientious fulfillment of the great and sublime duties of that priesthood and the possession of that unspeakable delight that eye hath not seen nor mind conceived what is in store for those who love and serve the living God. In the familiar greeting of priest to priest, 'Ad multos plurimosque annos.'"

Priests as His Guests.

After the service at St. Mary's Church Sunday morning, when Rev. Charles Boone celebrated his first high mass, his father, Dr. W. C. Boone entertained all the priests present at the service at dinner. The guests included Very Rev. Dean Smyth, former rector of St. Mary's, Father Egan, the present rector, Very Rev. Dr. Dyer, of Baltimore, Father Albert, of Washington, D. C., Father Clifford and Father Federici.

His Father Much Alive.

In connection with a recent announcement concerning the advancement in business of Edward T. Perrine, formerly of this city, a report was in circulation that he was the son of the late James R. Perrine, who at one time was one of Plainfield's leading citizens. Mr. Perrine is not dead, but on the contrary is very much alive and living at 11 Brevoort place, Brooklyn. He is engaged in business in New York.

No Time for Baseball.

Lynch, who has been playing a few games with Alis, failed to show up on Saturday. Inquiry about the matter brought forth the information from Manager Johnson that the right fielder got married on Wednesday, and enough said.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

BUT VERY FEW PEOPLE REALLY KNOW BIG CHICAGO.

NOT ALL DIRT AND ODORS

Many Pretty Residence Districts with a Flavor of Village Simplicity—Where Business Cares and Hustle Are Forgotten.

Chicago.—You can live for years in Chicago, and at the end have scarce a speaking acquaintance with her, so difficult it is really to know the giantess who reigns here on the south end of Lake Michigan. But it being true that as you progress in acquaintance the more you grow to desire intimacy with her, eventually you may announce that you know Chicago fairly well. I am just starting in to pursue the acquaintance with any sort of zeal, and must confess I also am just beginning to grant any sort of justice to the big, rushing town in which I dwell. I so hated her dirt, her odors, her unkempt bigness, I failed to pay her the homage due her many wonderful successes; heretofore had not realized the solid, quiet worth that existed in good measure within her wide domain. But recently I was given opportunity to see her better, saner self, and am tardily becoming enthusiastic about her.

Typical Chicago.

I find she is not all made up of depressing contrasts, a few beautifully-kept boulevards and many squalid, poverty-haunted streets; but, now here, now there, you may come upon communities quite village-like in their temperate prosperity, their pretty, moderate-sized houses, their carefully cultivated "yards." Here dwell folk of comfortable incomes and leisure; sturdy, but not haughty; domestic, social, agreeable; not over-ambitious, over-strenuous climbers after the gods of wealth and social distinction.

Just a Little Way Out.

The other day, aweary to the death of town bricks and smells and bang, I boarded a local train to go somewhere, anywhere, away from the town's oppression. I knew not where I would alight, cared not, only felt the impulse to get away from the stifle of many jostling people. The train started, and the farther it got the deeper it got into close-huddled houses, massed humanity. Dreadful, horrible seemed Chicago, naught but factory and railroads and freight trains and drudging men and women. It were better to abide at home and bury oneself in a book, read of green fields and running brooks. But, stay, after a bit I find the aspect of things changing; dense flat-areas are giving place to blocks of small cottages, each with ground space about it; there is not such oppression of industry now noticeable.

A Block from the Station.

Far back from the track, in among the trees, are glimpses of houses, roomy- verandaed, groups of children playing on the porches and lawns. Surely no race-suicide here, no landlord sign of "No children." The train makes frequent stops, and we get good views of the local life; see boys and girls laden with wild flowers that, spring and summer, blossom most generously in this prairie region; see ladies engaged in wholesome work in flower gardens; see rows and rows of delectably fresh-looking vegetables. Village life of a truth.

When the watch's minute-hand marks 20 minutes from time of taking the train, I alight at a tiny station bearing the alluring title of Walton; a name to fishermen suggestive of the cherished sport of angling, to me hinting of the running brook. Everything about Walton wears the varnished green of June. You step from the tracks into high grass; a block away, on either side the steel highway, the most verdant of woods invite. Is this stopping-place then a pure wilderness, the only inhabitants the birds I hear, the squirrels and rabbits I see running about with such fredeom and trust? No, over there and there rise roofs of houses. I will investigate.

A City Village.

I walk the block to the woods, and find this side the rows of trees a long village street, extending far as the eye can reach. The houses are all on one side, face the woodland, and every house stands in spacious, shady grounds. At the first place I see a comely middle-aged woman setting out pansies, so intent on her work she pays no heed to her fellow townsman from 50 blocks away. For fellow townsman I am, this charming little village in which the gardener lives being well within the city limits. This is no suburb, this is still Chicago proper. And whoever dreamed of such a blessed spot within the confines of the town! There is nothing to suggest city life here, the one railway being concealed behind the screen of trees. The gutter blossoms with wild geranium and meadow-rue, some more squirrels scamper across the road, another rabbit appears. Birds carol, children laugh and call, all the air is full of unhampered youth, of care-free gayety. I notice the children have on as few clothes as possible, that the women wear simple wash-dresses. I observe a pretty girl mount a step-ladder, tying up vines, a rosy, charming country miss, with a trim, charming city frock to show she has not given up style simply because she is a little "out." I come upon a family having their supper in the side-yard, and it seems to me this is the crowning touch to the city-village.

A City Village.

That I may get to the station in time and see what manner of men dwell in this Arcadia, I soon retrace my steps. Yes, they are coming, hurrying over each other to get at the particular small arms stretched their particular way, sniffing the posy brought as a bit of welcome to "Papa;" then, with their companions, leisurely walk up the streets to their pleasant abodes that, after the day's combat of business, must seem a very heaven of refreshment. Typical Americans I judge them, alert, intelligent, kindly. They saunter down the street, me eavesdropping after them, and as the front gate swings to behind each vanishing figure and each group of rejoicing children, I smile at the glimpse of the old-fashioned family life offered here, and think we need not be so pessimistic in regard to the tendency of married folk to escape household cares. Here people seem to have them aplenty; and not only accept them, but consider them the road to happiness.

Pleasant Social Life.

I decide to stay awhile and study the folk of Walton from various viewpoints. First, I must find a roof, and this I do at the abode of a washerwoman, a friendly soul, at peace with the world; good friends with her employers, having a house and fraction of land of her own to engage her attention and give her independence

The Union Church.

The next day, being Sunday, my Irish landlady walks a mile away that she may receive the blessings of attendance at mass, and I stroll out to "the street" to go to church with the crowd. The crowd all pass one way, and presently we come upon a pretty little churchly structure, vine-adorned, tree-surrounded — the union church. Yes, in this Utopia, no creed nor sect dissent; there are funds for only one church, so one church is built, and a pastor installed that will be careful to avoid dogma and other cause for dispute. To be sure, the catholicity does not make a universal appeal; there is my washerwoman, for instance; and the Episcopalians gather in that handsome barn over the way, the interior of which they have converted into a place of ecclesiastical form. In the social gatherings, which I learn about later in the week, the lines are drawn even less firmly than in church matters, and the fact that you are settled in Walton is introduction in itself. Calls are made and exchanged promptly, invitations are given and accepted, and very soon the stranger is on easy terms with his neighbors. What matter if he is 20 blocks from down town; he has a congenial set right about him. I say good-by to Walton with regret. I, too, would like to settle in the city-village.

Children and Society—Girl Work.

It is not optimism that accounts for my growing fondness for Chicago, for surely the town is fast improving under the awakened civic pride of the townspeople. All classes are being stirred to take a share in the work of transformation, and it is of much interest to observe the divers sorts and conditions of folk that are showing enthusiasm over the cleaning and beautifying of different localities. One of the post office employes has converted a rubbish heap back of the down-town post office building into a garden, which reclaimed spot is called by his friends a park and named in his honor. A certain society girl on the West side, instead of spending her youthful energies in the commonplace way of entire devotion to amusement, is zealously leading a movement to keep clean and make pretty a certain portion of her neighborhood. And think of the power she will be able to wield! Surely indifferent aldermen will bow to beauty's call, lazy Dagoes jump to obey her command, white-gloved policemen step lively when she bids. And a veritable children's crusade is another feature of the present movement in Chicago, children of the wealthy and children of the slums all taking an interest in this effort to make the "Lady of the Lake" fair and seemly.

Unhappy Marriages

Selfishness Is Generally the Cause

"I TELL you what!" exclaimed the unmarried girl. "It's mighty hard to get me into the matrimonial noose since I've seen the number of marriages which have turned out ghastly fizzles. Marriage isn't lucky. I've come to that conclusion."

"I suppose you never study cause and effect in these little matters," returned the married woman. "You never blame the contracting parties themselves, but simply the institution."

"Yes, I do. It's mostly the man's fault"—

"After it's the woman's fault," interpolated the married woman. "She is lacking in some respect, and then, I'm bound to say, he usually goes her ten times better—or rather worse."

"I suppose you'll hark way back to the beginning and say that girls' education is to blame; that they are not prepared for marriage?"

Yes, I could talk on that by the hour, but I'll spare you and simply remark that the two chief causes of marital unhappiness are short acquaintance and selfishness."

"It's pretty true that people don't know much about each other before they are married."

"Much? They don't know anything except each other's good qualities, and that's pretty poor knowledge to start on. Love is necessary, but there are a few other things—congeniality, for instance, having tastes in common and being able to take a common interest in things which are not sentimental or personal."

"What about the selfishness part of it? That's where the man comes in, isn't it?"

"That's where he comes in, but the woman does also. Man thinks too much of his material comforts, woman of her feelings, and both think only of themselves instead of each other. If a man isn't right there, worshiping every minute of the time, the average bride thinks she is the most abused mortal alive, and if the meals don't run on clockwork lines, or if there is a jog in the wheels of household progress, the husband thinks he is the most uncomfortable and consequently unhappy man alive. There is another thing which is more selfish on the woman's part than on the man's—a man will rarely trouble a woman with his business fiascoes, but how many dinners have been spoiled by the rehearsal of the woes and troubles of the day—why the butcher didn't do this or that or what a trial the maid is!"

"And bad temper?"

"Oh, I'm coming to that. I would like to tack up in every home the following motto: 'Don't get angry first.' If husband or wife would only be a little slower to take offense there wouldn't be any quarreling at all, for it takes two to do that."

"There is such a thing as flirting on the man's part"—

"And not enough on the woman's part. Some women appear to mistake the holy state of matrimony for painless death and to govern themselves accordingly. It is by no means the ultimate state, and they would do well to remember that and be a trifle alive."

"And money matters?"

"Ah, that is the man's fault! If he would only put himself in his wife's place and imagine how painful it would be to his pride to have to ask her for every cent he wanted to spend, he would make her an allowance, however small, with which she could do as she pleased."

"And sloppy weather dress and unattractive appearance?"

"Coupled with mental laziness? Oh, well, women know all about that, and when they allow themselves to slump, whether physically or mentally, it's just because they would rather be comfortable, and it's another case of selfishness; that's all. You'll find, on the whole, that almost every bit of marital unhappiness comes from one cause—selfishness. If each thought of the other first, everything would be all right."

SOUVENIR OF THE JAPANESE

Bell at Annapolis That Was Presented to Commodore Perry Fifty Years Ago.

One of the reminders of the early friendship of Japan for America now adorns the grounds of the naval academy at Annapolis, Md.

Suspended in a pagodalike structure just off "Lover's Lane" is a queer looking bronze bell of unique design. It usually attracts the attention of visitors, but few ever learn that it possesses a history of importance. It was presented to Commodore Matthew Perry on July 12, 1854, by the regent of the Lewchew islands, a dependency of the Japanese empire. Commodore Perry was at that time commander in chief of the United States squadron in the Asiatic seas and minister plenipotentiary, charged with the duty of opening intercourse between Japan and the United States. After his death, in 1858, Mrs. Perry presented it to the naval academy, in fulfillment of his wish.

The bell is covered with an inscription in Japanese, which was recently translated by a young Japanese who was at one time a student at the naval academy. The inscription reads as follows:

"In the eighth year of Riraku and Konoye Tara of the reign of the king of Lewchew, Kei-shi-yo-hi-ho-o offered a prayer of benevolence for the people and afterward ordered a large bell to be founded. He did this as an act of thanksgiving, and presented it to the temple of Daisen Anji, in the kingdom, in order that the king might reign prosperously and live long, and that the people of the three worlds, Heaven, Earth and Hades, might be saved from infernal doctrines, and therefore it was that he instructed Sho-ko-ku An-sai to frame this inscription: This beautiful bell has been founded and hung in the tower of the temple. It will awaken dreams of superstition. If one will bear in mind to act rightly and truly, the lords and ministers will do justice in a body, the barbarians will never come to invade. The sound of the bell will convey the virtue Tuski, and will echo like the sing of Tsniray, and the benevolence of the Lord will continue forever like these echoes.

The 20th day, 10th month, 7th year,
Kaitai.
Shui Eishi
Chief Priest of the Temple,
Emonoske Tujirvara Kumimito,
Founder of the Bell.

As the "7th year Kaitai" refers to the year 1456 of the Christian era, this bell is exactly 448 years old.

CANOEING IN SWIFT WATER.

Seasonable Suggestions for the Amateur Who Wishes to Enjoy the Sport.

To give any description of handling a canoe in rapids would be a waste of time, both for the writer and the reader. The best way to learn is first to watch some one do it and then try it yourself under his direction. You will soon find out which is the safe water and how to force the light craft over the seemingly impossible falls. Running rapids, provided they are not too bad, appeals to me as one of the most exciting forms of sport and exercise that I know of. Never attempt a rapid that you do not know can be run without examining it from end to end to see that it is possible, and also to get an idea how to take it. Many a man has lost his life through neglecting this precaution, and remember that a rapid which is safe to-day may not be so in a day or two, as the rising and falling of the water will frequently make it impassable or at least very dangerous.

I scarcely envy anyone his first attempt at shooting rapids if he suffers as I did. From an overhanging rock I had carefully watched a guide go through the galloping, foamy waters, and then, after emptying my canoe and leaving my watch and other unnecessary articles on shore and putting my heart carefully into my mouth, I made for that noisy little run of water. What I suffered when the curling wavelets first struck the canoe was bad enough, but nothing to the agony of the return trip, when, traveling with startling speed, the whole river seemed a mass of menacing rocks being boiled in the seething water. How I got through I do not know, but I came safely to the smooth water, and after a rest made another run with less trepidation. Then, loading the canoe with my light outfit, I took her through with little difficulty.

Women as Expert Mariners.

In some coast villages among the Danes, Norwegians and Finns, women are employed as sailors and prove themselves to be expert mariners. In the smaller sailing ships, where there is a woman on board, whether she be the wife of the skipper or the stewardess, she is expected to take her turn at the ordinary work of the sailor, not even excluding the duties of the man at the wheel or of the night watch. Denmark employs several women as state officials as sea. Experienced captains assert that the women make excellent sailors and are equal to most seamen in dexterity and power of endurance.—London World.

Victims of Alcoholism.

During the last 30 years there died in Europe alone of alcoholism a total of 7,500,000 people. That is more people than were killed in all the wars of the nineteenth century. The authority for these statements is a professor in the University of Denmark, who goes on to show that in Denmark one out of every seven men who die between the ages of 35 and 55 is a victim of alcoholism.

CIRCUS WOMEN GOOD WIVES

They Lead Strenuous But Not Unhappy Lives and Enjoy Home Comforts.

"Of all the women engaged in public employment there are none who are better known in a public manner by the great masses of people living in city and country than circus women. And there is no class of women in public employment who are so little known to the general public in a private manner. There are no women who are so little understood, whose real character is so little discussed from a correct standpoint."

The speaker, says the Chicago Tribune, was a man connected in an executive capacity with one of the largest shows in the world, and whose experience in the amusement field has been sufficiently diversified to make him an authority.

"I must confess that there has been nothing that I have seen in my surroundings that has given me so much surprise as the women of the circus," he continued. "Several years as a reporter and critic around the theaters of several cities gave me an intimate knowledge of the women of the stage, and I did not fancy there was much difference between them and the women of the arena. But there is.

"The latter day stage, with its insatiate demand for young and pretty faces and forms, particularly in those most popular forms of stage entertainment, comic operas and extravaganzas, enlists thousands of young girls from every walk of life and all stations in society. It is safe to say that the vast majority of them are without talent or training, and the moment the bloom of youth vanishes their usefulness is at an end and their living is precarious and various. Few marry, or, if they marry, they usually marry nomads like themselves.

"Nothing of that sort may be said of the women of the circus. To begin with, they are comparatively few in number. So seldom are they enlisted from the general public that it might be well said that they must literally be born to the business. At least nine out of every ten circus women have circus parents. The remaining one marries into the business or gets into it through a brother, sister, or some other relative. No manager of a first class circus will engage a female performer in any capacity unless she is accompanied by some male relative. The reasons for this are many and obvious to any one who will give the subject a moment's reflective consideration. This rule is so general that exceptions to it are rare.

"Dissipation is an impossibility among circus women and is seldom indulged in by circus men, performers, or executive officers. Managers enforce the most stringent rules against dissipation in its every form, and will accept no excuses. The first offense brings a heavy fine as a penalty, and instant dismissal invariably follows a second violation. The nature of their work makes is impossible to dissipate. Not only their livelihood, but life itself, depends upon a clear mind, firm muscles, and steady nerves. Their lives while on tour are made up of the most vigorous activity. Their work is from early morning until late at night, with no opportunity to gain any rest or recreation away from the show. Midnight must see them in their beds on the trains. After that hour the car doors are locked, and if they are behind time their trunks and belonging are simply placed outside along the track and their engagement is at an end.

"Circus women are most devoted wives and mothers who take life seriously and soberly. I believe that there is no other class of women in any sort of employment where they come in contact with the public which supplies so little food for scandal.

"Their home life in winter is pleasant and agreeable. Some of them, but not many, work in the theaters in the winter time. It is a most curious fact that few of them care to live in the large cities, but make their homes on farms or in small towns. There they have their small circles of friends and relatives and pass the time away in the usual social functions and household affairs, many of them preparing their wardrobes for the coming season on the road. Few of them ever become indigent or dependent upon their families or the public authorities.

"They, of all women in the world, most truly appreciate and enjoy the comforts and blessings of a home after being compelled to be away for six months—in a strange town and among strangers every day, and in the narrow confines of a sleeping berth on a circus car every night. It is a hard life, but by no means an unhappy one. The rigorous labor and plain but good food and abundant sleep bring good health and attendant good spirits and pleasant disposition.

"Charity in its truest sense abides among them. The slightest call for aid from them always elicits a ready and hearty response. The 100 women with a show like ours are surrrounded by their male relatives and 500 other men, each one of who considers himself the protector of their welfare and their honor, and woe betide any one who assails either. I maintain that circus women are a credit to their calling and an honor to their sex."

Old Jug Repaired a Church.

A church-warden of West Malling (Kent) parish church discovered in a lumber-room some time ago a peculiarly-shaped jug, which was subsequently identified as a rare old Elizabethan stoup. An offer of £50 for it was refused, and the church authorities decided to send it to Christie's, where it was sold for 1,100 guineas. With the proceeds the authorities have just completed several important improvements in the fine old church. Parts of the fabric have been restored, a new porch has been erected, and the seating accommodation has been greatly improved.—London Tit-Bits.

Ideal Location
Dale and Linden Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
From Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

Proposals for New High School Building.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, at a meeting held June 13, 1904, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Tuesday, July 5, 1904, at 7:45 p. m. at the Board room in the High School Building, corner of West Fifth Street and Arlington Avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place, said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the construction of the New High School Building as provided in the plans and specifications that will be on file in the office of the Board, in the High School Building, corner of West Fifth Street and Arlington Avenue, Plainfield, N. J. from June 21, until the day of the meeting, as above mentioned, copies of which may also be found at the office of the Architect, Mr. Herbert D. Hale, 92 William Street, New York.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, at the time and place specified, the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided such parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

All proposals should be endorsed "Sealed Proposals for Construction of New High School Building."

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to ask for modifications of the same.

FIREWORKS EXPLODED.

Diamond Company's Plant Destroyed—Three Killed.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—Three persons lost their lives and half a dozen others were injured here as the result of the explosion of a small bundle of fireworks in the storeroom of the Diamond Fireworks company.

The fireworks concern occupied the first floor of the building. The second floor was vacant, and the third story was occupied by the French Hat and Bonnet Frame company. Jacob Jancovitch was the proprietor of the hat and bonnet concern, and O. Berman and Miss Lena Sempson were his employees. These three were the only persons killed. About a dozen persons employed by the fireworks company were injured.

The cause of the fireworks exploding is not known. Thomas Conway, one of the firm of the fireworks company, was wrapping up a small bundle of fireworks for a customer when it exploded. Almost instantly the entire room, full of fireworks, became ignited from the flying rockets and firecrackers. All the employees on the first floor escaped without serious injury. The front of the first floor was blown out by the explosion of powder, and soon the entire building was in flames. Every effort was made to rescue those on the third floor. Firemen climbed ladders in the midst of the pyrotechnics and finally reached those on the third floor.

During the rescue three firemen were injured, and three other persons were also cut and burned, but their injuries are not considered serious; loss, $30,000.

A GOLD VANITY BOX.

At World's Fair Luncheon Mrs. Mack Nearly Lost Valuable Trinket.

ST. LOUIS, June 28.—The New York world's fair commission gave a luncheon to 250 women at the New York state building. The affair was in honor of Mrs. Odell, wife of Governor Odell, and she was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, Mrs. William Berri of Brooklyn and Mrs. John K. Stewart of Amsterdam, N. Y. The decorations were roses, daffodils and lilies, the exposition colors, red, yellow and white.

Just before the luncheon Mrs. Mack missed a gold "vanity" box, valued at $200, which she had laid on a table. Guards were placed at the doors, and the rooms were searched. The box was found tucked under a napkin at another table. Two waiters who were under suspicion accused each other of having secreted the box. The mirror was broken, but otherwise the box was recovered intact.

SAVE ONLY RUSSIA.

Flag of the Salvation Army Flies Everywhere Else.

LONDON, June 28.—The international congress of the Salvation Army is drawing immense audiences and is receiving much attention from the newspapers.

The meetings have been devoted to "foreign war." General Booth reviewed the work of the Salvation Army in foreign countries and said that its flag now flies everywhere except in Russia, which he hoped the army would soon invade.

As illustrating the scope of the army's work a remarkable demonstration took place at Exeter hall when native delegates from Asiatic countries conducted the proceedings. A Japanese delegate made a speech in which he said that the army had caused many reforms in the morals of Tokyo and other cities of Japan.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Manager Denman expects the Y. M. C. A. team to play at Westfield some day next week.

The Reform Club's next game is with the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday afternoon on the latter's grounds.

John Ramsey, of High Bridge, pitched for Summit against Madison on Saturday, losing the game by a score of 1 to 0.

"Warry" MacLaughlin pitched a great game for the Elizabeth Stars on Sunday. He allowed the Gloucester team two hits and won his game by a score of 10 to 1.

A newly-organized knocker's club attended Saturday's game between Alis and Murray Hill, and the players were obliged to listen to a lot of "jolly." Loyal support of the home team with plenty of legitimate rooting would be far better.

According to the Elizabeth newspapers, the Y. M. C. A. baseball team of that city lays claim to being the whole thing in the National game. If the team wants its real worth it can do so by coming here and meeting Alis. If they win, the aggregation will have a basis for its claim.

It is reported that Bradley, formerly of Alis, will play third base for St. Mary's new team. Another report says that Jack Dunn will play with the Saints and that Doescher and Jacksitsch will be the battery. An effort is being made to have the first game played Saturday, July 16, instead of July 30.

In response to the demand for a baseball game here on Fourth of July afternoon, Manager Johnston feels as though he must put on the game with the crack Hoboken team. No doubt the team would lose money by going out of town that day, especially for a $100 guarantee. By playing home the Alis Club will make money. Mr. Johnston expects that his team will be able to reverse the score of a week ago with Hoboken. In the morning of the Fourth the Murray Hills will be here for a second game.

REPORTER KILLED IN BATTLE

A LONDON CORRESPONDENT MEETS DEATH IN SKIRMISH AT WAFANGTIEN.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Tientsin, June 28—It is reported that Edward F. Knight, the correspondent of the London Morning Post, with the Japanese army, was killed at Wafangtien.

Several engagements between the Russian and Japanese forces have been reported as having occurred at or near Wafangtien, that town being occupied by the Japanese June 19, and it is possible that, if the report of Mr. Knight's death be true, he was killed in one of these battles. Spectators at one of the engagements state that they saw three horsemen appear on a hill, one of whom resembled either an American or British attache. This man fell from his horse when the Russians fired and was evidently killed.

To Arraign Disturbers.

A dozen young men have been cited to appear in the borough court tonight by Chief Marshal Weiss, charged with playing ball on Sunday and assaulting the caretaker of the Brunson farm on Greenbrook road. It is alleged that the gang played on the Brunson property and that when the caretaker protested they knocked him down. It is said the crowd drank as much as it played ball.

Bring Dr. Moldenke's Body Home.

Attached to the noon train from New York, tomorrow, will be a special car bearing the body and funeral party of Rev. Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Washingtonville. A funeral service will be held on the lawn at "Elsinore," the Moldenke home, after which the body will be interred in the vault on the premises.

ST. MARY'S GRAMMAR DEPARTMENT EXERCISES

Sixteen Pupils Are Graduated, Programme Being Given in the Parochial School Hall.

FATHER EGAN SPEAKS

MISS ELIZABETH BROWN IS THE VALEDICTORIAN.

Salutatory by Miss Mary McCarthy —An Operetta is Presented—It's Title "An Irish May Day"— Singing by the School.

The closing exercises of the grammar department of the parochial school of St. Mary's parish was held in the school hall last night. There was a large attendance, and the audience enjoyed a most delightful programme, in which tuneful music was prominent.

Sixteen children graduated: Mary McCarthy, Christine McEachen, John Caulfield, Cornelius McCarthy, Elizabeth Brown, Mary Murray, John McEachen, Harry Forristel, Ada Flatley, Annie Callahan, Elizabeth Casey, Jeanette Hand, Warren Seaman, William Summers, Thomas Kennedy and John Casey. The first four named doubled their studies during the past year and will graduate with the commercial department pupils tomorrow night.

Miss Mary McCarthy delivered the salutatory. Her address was happily worded. The valedictorian was Miss Elizabeth Brown. She spoke upon "The End Crowns the Work," her main theme being that labor conquers all. The essay was cleverly handled.

Certificates admitting the graduates to the commercial department were presented by Father Egan, the rector. He made a striking address to the graduates, urging higher ideals of study and living in their advanced schooling.

The principal feature of the entertainment was the presentation of the operetta, "An Irish May Day." The cast was as follows:

Mrs. Carew, Miss Elizabeth Casey; Mary, Nora, Sheia, Mrs. Carew's daughters, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Miss Loretta Walsh, Miss Mary Murray; Eileen, Mrs. Carew's domestic, Miss H. E. Hanrahan; Captain Miles Fitzgerald, Master James Buckley; Daisy, Captain Miles' daughter, Miss Nora Callahan; Maurice, Mrs. Carew's son, Master John McEachen; Gerald, Mrs. Carew's son, Master Harry Forrestel.

The operetta was full of merry jingles and dances. It was well acted and cleverly sung. All the young actors and actresses were roundly applauded, and deservedly. James Buckley and Nora Callahan were particularly clever.

There were four brilliant dances in the operetta, and a chorus of 100 children's voices supported the principal members of the cast. The first of the dances, the Shamrock Dance, was tripped by Mary Connelly, Josephine Rock, Madaleine Dady, Madaleine Seaman, Mabel Schuck, Ella Lappan, Mary Crosby, May Kennedy, Mary Trayner, Katherine Powers, Anna Callahan and Ada Flatley. In a Gypsy Dance the following children took part: Nora McCarthy, Margaret Brown, Florence Buckley, Regina Brady, Theresa Murray, Mary Sullivan, Earl Moran, John Motley, Patrick Powers, Edward Hanrahan, William Sullivan, William Colvin. The following took part in a minuet: Thomas Kennedy, George McCusker, William Summers, Warren Seaman, John Casey, Edward Carty, Helen Mullen, Jeanette Hand, Katherine Galbraith, Emma Killoran, Lillian Fennessy, May Huntington. As a grand finale a Country Dance was stepped by Katherine Kelly, Mary Kyle, Emma Killoran, Ella Lappan, Lillian Fennessy, Bridge Hepner, Helen Mullen, Katherine Galbraith, Mary Crosby, Margaret Conway, Mary Conway, Katherine McCauley.

Sister Mary Esther and Madam Menzeli Bartlett, the physical culture teacher, trained the children in all their parts and dances.

In addition to the operetta there was a piano solo by Miss Smith, the church organist; a recitation, "Robert of Sicily," by Miss Blanche Skinner, and the singing of Poe's "Bells" by the school.

Miss Mary E. Lewis to Wed.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Lewis, daughter of Mrs. George Lewis, of this city, and Henry Clifford Riley, of Bishopville, Md., will be married on Tuesday, July 12, at the Lewis homestead, Bishopville.

SEATS FOR 575 AT PARK

GRANDSTAND ENLARGED AT BAND CONCERT PARK.

Additional seating capacity sufficient to accommodate 100 people, has been arranged for, at the Band Concert Park grandstand. This will allow accommodations for 575 persons. It has been stated erroneously that the grandstand, which was erected at a cost of over $100, was donated. This notion was caused by the donation of the small stand used as a bandstand, which did not cost the management anything.

Bandmaster Ben LaVere said last night, that because of a report to the effect that no collections would be taken on the stand, the receipts from that source had been so light that it will take two more concerts, at the same rate, to bring the receipts up to the expenditures. In case no increase takes place in the collections it is likely that the concert set for July 14, will be postponed.

GUARDSMEN AT SEA GIRT

PRACTICE OF NEW JERSEY SOLDIERS FOR 1904 HAS BEEN BEGUN.

Practice for the season of 1904 on the State rifle range at Sea Girt has been begun by the National Guard of New Jersey, and for two months the sharp crack of the Krag-Jorgensen rifle will resound over one of the finest rifle ranges in the world. Plans have been formulated, which will enable the men of the Second and Third Regiments and the regiments in the First Brigade as well, to get plenty of practice this year without interference in any respect.

Arrangements were made last summer for the "regulars" stationed in New York harbor to practice for their qualification on the rifle range, as they did not have any range in the vicinity of the harbor where they could camp and shoot conveniently. There was an impression prevalent last year that the presence of the "regulars" prevented the Jersey guardsmen from having free access to the targets. This was erroneous since the "regulars" manned the targets and provided their own scorers. As they seldom took possession of more than a score of targets, and there are 125 on the range, it is evident that the practice of the Jersey guardsmen was not interfered with.

BISHOP ON CHURCH MUSIC

GREGORIAN CHANT MUST BE USED EXTENSIVELY IN CATHOLIC CHURCHES.

Half of the priests of the Diocese of Newark, including Father Egan, of St. Mary's church, were on retreat last week at Seton Hall College. At the concluding conference of the retreat Friday, Bishop O'Connor addressed the clergy on the subject of church music.

He said nothing to the effect that boys would be substituted for women in the church choirs, nor that women will be eliminated from the choirs. Whether the women will remain in the choirs will depend upon a decision of a commission appointed in New York recently. The bishop said the recommendations of the commission will be followed in Newark diocese.

The bishop informed the priest, however, that operatic features must be abolished from the church music, and the Gregorian chant used more extensively. Palestrina music and that recommended by the Cecilian society will be permitted.

To Act on Dr. Earp's Call.

The second quarterly conference of Grace M. E. church will be held tonight after the midweek prayer meeting. Final action in the matter of releasing Rev. Dr. Earp from his pastorate, to accept the professorship of sociology in Syracuse University, will be taken. Rev. Daniel Halleron, the presiding elder, will preside over the conference. He will be the speaker at the prayer meeting.

In Justice Huff's Court.

Two contract suits have been brought in Justice Huff's court against Thomas J. Walsh; one by the A. A. Griffing Iron Co., and the other by J. A. Murray. Papers in both cases are returnable July 6. Execution has been issued in the cases of Samuel Werner against Wm. A. Shoemaker, and Chas. Holstein against Michael Armstrong. Both are contract suits.

PRIZES ARE AWARDED AT L. T. L. EXERCISES

Young People Participate in a Speaking Contest for a Silver Medal at Closing Meeting.

MISS ETHEL VAIL WINS

REWARDS ARE ALSO GIVEN FOR ATTENDANCE AND DEPORTMENT.

Session in W. C. T. U. Rooms—Miss May E. Howlett in Charge—Songs Rendered and Speeches Made.

Presentation of a silver medal in a prize-speaking contest and other prizes for good attendance and deportment, together with interesting addresses, marked the closing exercises of the Loyal Temperance Legion last night. The entertainment was held in the Woman's Christian Temperance Union's rooms in Madison avenue, and there was a large number of persons present. The Legion will not meet again until next fall.

Miss May E. Howlett, superintendent of the Legion, was in charge of the programme. Miss Ethel Vail won the silver medal, her selection being "I'll Take What Father Takes." Other contestants and their selections were "No Drunkard Enters There," Miss Sadie Stelle; "The Mouse and the Boy," Miss Lulu Rockafellow; "Since Papa Doesn't Drink," Miss Hilda Bennett; "Dolly's New Dress," Miss Anna Vail.

In addition to the prize speaking there were these songs: "The Bird With the Broken Wing," Miss Hilda Bennett; "Spirit of Water," Miss Julia Lemasty; "What Would Mother Say," and "I Use to Kill Birds," by the Legion. Miss Kizzie Neagle presided at the piano as the accompanist.

Other features of the programme were an address of welcome by the Legion and a written address on the contest by Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse. The judges of the contest were William Lunger, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse and Mrs. Ira West. While they were deciding the question as to who should receive the medal, there was an address by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, county president. Afterward Miss Keron, county secretary of the Legion, made an address and presented the medal to Miss Ethel Vail. Mrs. Parse then made a short address.

Mrs. P. H. Bennett presented a white flower to Miss Mabel Field for excellence in deportment, while Miss Field, Miss Ethel Vail, Miss Elsie Clark and Miss Elsie Perrine also received prizes for excellence in attendance and deportment.

Drunken Women in Court.

Martha Parkinson and Mary Moore, both of 692 West Fourth street, were in the city court this morning, charged with being drunk and disorderly. The Parkinson woman was sentenced to pay $5 fine, or spend twenty days in jail. As she had not succeeded in raising the necessary cash at noon, it is likely that an enforced vacation at the county's hotel will fall to her portion. The Moore woman was subjected to a severe lecture by Judge Runyon, who wound up by suspending sentence on her.

K. G. E. Election.

Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagle, elected officers at its meeting last night. The elections were as follows: Noble chief, William Allen; vice chief, Albert Levers; high priest, W. T. Banks; venerable hermit, L. A. Hummer; eir herald, John Bicknell; trustee, William Day. Installation will take place next Tuesday night. The ceremonies will be followed by a collation.

Charged With Non-Support.

To answer to a charge of non-support, preferred by his wife, John Burgess, colored, of 214 Plainfield avenue, was arraigned this morning before Judge Runyon. He was arrested yesterday by Detective McCarthy. The defendant promised to do his duty and was released under suspension of sentence.

Alleged Robbers Not Guilty.

John McGilvary, Timothy McCarthy and Daniel J. Carrig, the three men accused of robbing the Central Railroad station at Westfield, were acquitted yesterday, their trial being held before Judge Vail in Elizabeth. They were released.

DR. EDWARD MOLDENKE BORNE TO RESTING PLACE

Last Sad Rites Over Lutheran Minister, Who Died From Grief Over Disaster.

FUNERAL EULOGIES

SERVICES IN NEW YORK ATTENDED BY BIG CONGREGATION.

Prof. Spath, of Philadelphia, Makes Funeral Address—Floral Tributes Magnificient—Interment at Watchung Today.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Rev. Dr. Edward F. Moldenke, senior pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church, at Lexington avenue and Fifty-fourth street, New York, were held last night in the Beekman Hill M. E. church, in Fiftieth street near Second avenue, in that city.

Dr. Moldenke, who was sixty-eight years old, died at his summer home, "Elsinore," Watchung, on Saturday, and it is believed that the Slocum disaster was indirectly the cause of his death. Twenty members of his congregation were lost in the burning of the steamboat.

Pastor Moldenke was, perhaps, the best known Lutheran minister in New York. His congregation numbered 3,000 families. So great was the crowd at the services last night that the reserves from one of the police stations were called out. Hundreds were unable to get into the church.

Prof. A. Spath, president of Mount Airy Seminary, Philadelphia, a lifelong friend of Dr. Moldenke, made the funeral address. Rev. D. W. Peterson, president of the New York Lutheran Conference, and Rev. Dr. J. J. Heischmann, president of the New York Ministerium, also made addresses.

The platform and altar rail were literally covered with floral pieces. Among them were eight huge wreaths, four crosses, three harps and a half dozen broken columns, as well as six "Gates Ajar." The casket had for a foundation a mass of roses and carnations.

This morning the remains were brought to this city for interment in a private vault near Dr. Moldenke's home at Watchung.

The 12:46 train from New York had a special car attached, bearing the remains of the dead minister and a party of friends and relatives from the city. Eighteen coaches met the train and took the party to "Elsinore," the late home of the clergyman, where the services were held, the body being interred in a family vault on the property.

FAREWELL DINNER FOR CLASS

L. H. BIGLOW, JR., ENTERTAINS SUNDAY-SCHOOL PUPILS.

Lucius H. Biglow, Jr., who, with his family, will leave for Long Island tomorrow to spend the summer, entertained his Sunday-school class of boys last night at the Park Club. It was a farewell dinner and no pains were spared in making it enjoyable. In all there were twelve persons seated at the table. The table was appropriately decorated in true Fourth of July style, there being an arrangement of flags, bunting and favors representing firecrackers and skyrockets.

After the dinner, the young men spent the remaining part of the evening in bowling, playing pool and billiards and have a general social time. In the fall Mr. Biglow and his family will move to Montclair. While in this city Mr. Biglow has been very active in the work at the Firts Baptist church and there he will be greatly missed.

These persons were present at the dinner: L. H. Biglow, Jr., A. W. Day, H. H. Woodland, Fred Armstrong, Everett Hartley, Herbert Du Bois, Chester Mollinson, Kenneth Robbie, George Egel, Jr., DeWitt Brokaw, Allen Vanderhoef and Harry Joseph.

R.R. Victim's Relatives Heard From.

George W. Cole, the undertaker, has received telegrams from the wife and brother of J. P. Lomavney, of Brockton, Mass., asking for particulars of the death of their relative and promising detailed instructions immediately.

SILVER HOSE CART TO LEAVE PLAINFIELD

Relic of Volunteer Days May be Loaned to Rahway Firemen for Safe Keeping.

FORMAL OFFER MADE

NO PLACE TO KEEP IT PROPERLY IN THIS CITY.

Brightaing Up the Valuable Cart Costly—Plainfield to Retain Proprietory Rights—To Consider Proposition.

After many years in dusty and unsafe quarters, the old Amity hose cart, the silver mounted treasure of the Exempt Firemen, may very shortly find proper housing. The Rahway Exempts, to whom the carriage has been loaned for their Fourth of July celebration, have made a formal offer to the local Association to store the priceless relic in its building, which has ample and perfect facilities for sheltering it.

For a great part of its stay in this city the cart has stood in dirty, and more or less exposed quarters. When the cart was driven from the rooms over Gazelle Engine house on Second street by the organization of the paid department there was no particular or proper place for storing it, and since then it has dragged out a very humble existence in barns and other unsatisfactory places, its only bright moments being at the time it has gone to Elizabeth or other towns to be shown in parades or celebrations.

Disfiguring tarnish has been threatening the magnificent filligree work on the silver mountings for lack of cleaning, but the way in which it has been stored hitherto has made it impractical to have the necessary polishing done. At least $20 would have to be spent in cleaning and polishing the silver work properly, and the Exempts have not felt that the expenditure would be justified as long as the cart must go back into the conditions that made the cleaning necessary.

These considerations have led to a serious consideration of the Rahwegians' offer. It is very probable that the Exempts will vote to accept it, being careful to retain every proprietary right in the machine.

JOHN E. KEELY WEDS SECRETLY

MISS MARIE M. GARRY BRIDE AT A CEREMONY AT NOON TODAY.

Stealing away without the knowledge of their relatives, Miss Marie M. Garry and John E. Keely were married at noon in St. Mary's church. Father Egan officiated.

The young people were engaged and their relatives were aware of their intention of marrying, but today's ceremony proved a complete surprise to their relatives and friends.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Keely left for a wedding trip.

The groom is the owner of the Keely Livery Co., and is proprietor of a coal yard. He is the Plainfield street sprinkling contractor.

BOYS' CAMP TO OPEN.

Jersey Y. M. C. A. Lads at Lake Wawayanda, Sussex, Tomorrow.

The Jersey Boys' Camp will be conducted under the auspices of the State Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Associations at Lake Wawayanda, Sussex County, opening tomorrow, and continuing for four weeks. One hundred or more boys will be in each party for a period of two weeks. The advance party started for the camp last week under the leadership of Charles R. Scott, State secretary boys' work, and have spent several days in preparing the camp for the summer campaign.

This is the fourth year that the State committee has conducted the camp, and over five hundred boys throughout the State have enjoyed the privileges at this beautiful lake. The camp has been a success from the beginning, and the committee have every reason to believe that this year will be the best in its history.

—Another new typewriter and the latest improved mimeograph have been purchased this week by the Plainfield Business College.

—Mrs. H. C. Drake has ordered a big plate glass show window for her store on North avenue, to match the window in the Sattels piano store.

DESCRIBED HER SLUM WORK

MRS. DIEHL TALKED TO METHODISTS ON HER MISSIONARY LABORS.

Mrs. J. D. Diehl, the field agent of the Church Extension and Missionary Society, of the Methodist Episcopal church, of New York city, delivered an address on the church settlement work of the Methodist church in the slums of the metropolis at Grace M. E. church last night. Her talk was profusely illustrated with stereopticon slides, showing the houses of the slum denizens before the society workers come among them and the improvement that follows the advent of the missionaries.

There was a large audience, in which the congregations of the First and Monroe Avenue M. E. churches were represented. The lecture was delivered under the auspices of the Grace church Epworth League.

A good sized silver collection for the benefit of the work was taken.

TAX LAW IN EFFECT FRIDAY

COLLECTORS REQUIRED TO SELL LANDS ON WHICH TAXES ARE IN ARREARS.

The State Board of Taxation is calling attention to the fact that the last Legislature passed an act requiring tax collectors of all municipalities in the State to begin proceedings for the sale of lands on which the taxes for the preceeding year are unpaid. The new law becomes effective July 1.

Under the old act it was necessary for municipal bodies to issue warrants for the sale of lands bearing delinquent taxes, and the original owners had twenty years in which to redeem the lands so sold. This made it unprofitable and risky for any one but the municipal authorities to pay the tax on the lands, and so secure them.

The new act makes a radical change, and provides that persons buying the land the conditions mentioned may proceed after two years to sue in the Court of chancery for a settlement or a deed.

For several years past bills have been presented in the Legislature providing for the publication of the assessment lists so as to enable the taxpayers to compare their assessments with others. The new act provides that assessors must file a copy of the assessments with the clerk of the municipality, and this list must be kept open at all times for inspection by taxpayers.

MISS PHILLIPS' PUPILS RECITAL

MUSICAL AT FAITH CHAPEL BEFORE AN ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE.

Miss Frances L. Phillips and her pupils gave a pleasant recital at Faith chapel, last night, before a large and appreciative audience. The programme was an excellent one and well rendered by pupils from the first grade to those nearing perfection. The numbers given by the Misses Katharine Shea, Blanche Stryker, Irene Day, Margaret Stryker and Louise Davis with the remarkably fine work of the young pupils, Irene Stoffel, Margaret Lair, Lena VanZandt and Sadie Davis, deserve special mention.

The violin selections by Mrs. George W. Saums were up to her usual excellence and the vocal selection by Miss Bertha VanN. Willis was a treat. In Miss Phillips is found the rare combination of pianist, vocalist and teacher, as exemplified in her pupils. Her touch is pleasing and her vocal work was appreciated by the audience. Miss Florence Randolph, an amateur in vocal, work possesses a high soprano and promises to develop into a singer of merit.

Others who gave piano selections were the Misses Florence Nichols, Katie Stols, Irene Stoffel, Mary VanCleef, Lillian VanDerVoort, Edna Magaw, Louise Daily, Louise Rosseau, Jennie Robertson, Clara Weber and Mrs. E. E. Mamie Phillips. All of the pupils received handsome bouquets of flowers from relatives and friends.

Graduation Tonight.

The graduates of the commercial department of St. St. Mary's Parochial School will hold commencment exercises tonight. As at the previous graduations, a class play will be the chief feature of the programme of entertainment. Following the commencement, the alumni will hold a reception and dance in the hall. Prof. Eugene O'Reilly will furnish the music.

Miss Anna Daley has started upon a five-weeks' vacation.

YOUNG LAWYER WEDS MISS MINNIE CALLAHAN

John P. Owens the Groom at a Solemn Nuptial Mass in St. Mary's Church.

THE BRIDAL PARTY

MISS MAMIE CONNOLLY AS THE MAID-OF-HONOR.

William Owens as Best Man—Four Priests Officiate—Mr. and Mrs. Owens Off on Wedding Trip.

With the splendor of the solemn nuptial mass, Miss Minnie A. Callahan was made the wife of John P. Owens, the popular young lawyer, this morning, at 10 o'clock. The ceremony took place at St. Mary's church, being performed by Rev. Michael J. Glennon, assisted by Rev. J. A. Westman, of Cranford, as deacon of the mass and Rev. Charles Boone, of this city, as sub-deacon. Rev. A. M. Egan was master of the ceremonies. Father Glennon is a classmate of the groom's, both having graduated from Seton Hall College in the class of '98.

The church was decorated with pink and white flowers and the sanctuary was a mass of palms and ferns. The regular quartette of the church, consisting of Miss Annie Daly, Miss Lizzie Day, Joseph O'Keefe and Albert Mathews, rendered the musical portion of the service, accompanied by Miss Mary Smith on the organ. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Thomas Callahan, of Richmond street. The little flower girls were Nora Callahan, a sister, and May Troy, a cousin of the bride, dressed in white and carrying baskets of lilies of the valley.

The bride looked charming in a gown of peau d'soie, trimmed with chiffon and lace, and wearing a veil. She carried a white prayer-book, the gift of the groom. Miss Mamie Connelly, the maid of honor, wore white mull and carried pink sweet peas. The four bridesmaids, Miss Helen F. Callahan, a sister of the bride, Miss Anna Ryan, Miss Katherine Leahy and Miss Mary Leahy, wore blue mull and carried shower bouquets of roses. William Owens, a brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were Jeremiah Callahan, a brother of the bride, Jeremiah Callahan, Jr., a cousin of the bride, Maurice Owens, a brother of the groom and John Coan, of South Amboy, a classmate of the groom.

Each of the bridesmaids received from the bride a handsome hand-painted gauze fan, as did the maid of honor. The flower girls received pearl necklaces from the bride. The groom's gifts to the best man and the ushers, were gold cuff links in the friendship knot design.

A wedding breakfast, at which about fifty guests gathered, was served at the bride's home after the service. After the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Owens left for a fortnight's trip, their destination being kept a deep secret.

COAL AT $6.25 ON FRIDAY

PRICE TO ADVANCE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS A TON ON JULY 1.

According to the announcement made some time ago, the local coal dealers will on July 1 raise the price of anthracite to $6.25 per ton, which will be twenty-five cents more a ton than at present. This will probably be the prevailing price for several weeks and when another jump is made to $6.50 it is quite likely that it will remain there for some time.

Some time ago the local dealers complained about the way the operators withheld their supply of coal, claiming that this was done for the purpose of getting an advanced price. Since then the operators have been more generous and they have been keeping the retail dealers well supplied with coal of the various sizes.

The quality of anthracite being received here now is excellent, in fact, the dealers claim it is the best they have handled for some years, being very clean and free from slate. Last year many complaints were heard because the coal contained so much slate and in some instances was very dirty.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

A mouse met death in a strange way in the carriage house of the Hedden livery stables on East Fourth street yesterday afternoon. One of the tires of Mr. Hedden's bicycle, which was filled with a thick, sticky patent fluid for preventing the escape of air through punctures, started to leak, and a stableman hung it on a nail in the carriage house. The sticky compound ran out and spread over the floor. The mouse ran into the pool and stuck fast. He was found gasping on his side, exactly as a fly is caught on fly-paper. Duke, Frank Hedden's big collie, finished the mouse with a nip back of the ears.

Asbury Park's luxurious flyer which will begin with the summer schedule Sunday is announced to make the run to and from New York in 75 minutes. No intervening stops are to be made between this city and the metropolis. The popularity of this splendid summer service is sure to be unbounded. To the Central Railroad Company belongs the credit of an innovation altogether unexpected but doubly appreciated on that account. While the railroad company is to be commended for its unsurpassed train accommodations, it seems a pity that more freight handlers cannot be employed at the freight depot. Merchants should not be asked to unload their own freight at this busy season.—Asbury Park Press.

A Model Newspaper.

It is gratifying to note that the circulation of "The Record" is constantly increasing in our vicinity, for there is no more able exponent of up-to-date journalism. We congratulate the management upon the fact that "The Record's" enormous circulation is gaining in volume all through the State. It is surely deserving of the confidence of a large patronage. Although an appreciation of the stirling qualities of Pennsylvania's leading newspaper seems quite a matter of course, it may not be superfluous to state that "The Record's" daily visits to our sanctum are fraught with much pleasure. Its facilities for gathering the news of the world are unsurpassed, and it presents this abundance of news in the most attractive form. The average newspaper reader little suspects the gigantic task involved in the handling of telegraphic and cable dispatches from every quarter of the globe every night, and the editorial judgment displayed in getting everything within the available space. With "The Record" it is never a case of "filling up." The question is "to get everything in," and so make the various articles readable irrespective of length or relative importance. Naturally the most important news takes precedence, but this does not mean that the happenings that interest the comparative few should be sacrificed. It is this sort of treatment of the news that has built up the paper's large country circulation. Moreover, "The Philadelphia Record" is essentially a family paper. Its woman's page, for instance, is a most excellent feature that is fully appreciated by the busy housewife. Its agricultural notes have for years been regarded as authoritative. Its editorial page is scholarly and dignified, and its financial news and market reports are famous for their accuracy. In fact, there is no better newspaper published than "The Philadelphia Record."

Thomas Carty, of Orchard place, is in New Brunswick visiting friends.

SYRACUSE BOYS WIN

Great Intercollegiate Regatta at Poughkeepsie.

CORNELL WON FOUR OARS WITH EASE

In the Great Race of the Meeting, the Eight Oar Varsity, and In the Freshmen's Syracuse Oarsmen Won by Handsome Margins.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 29.—The perennial Cornell spell is broken, and the comparatively small number of Syracuse men in town are in a state of hilarious delight, in which surprise at their own achievement is quite as active a factor as the delight, for in two out of the three races on the Poughkeepsie course, the only races in which she was entered, the crews of Syracuse university won victory from the sons of Cornell in a fashion which will return all hands here another year seeking further honors.

In the four mile eight oar varsity race and in the freshman two mile eight oar race the Syracuse oarsmen won by handsome margins, coming out of obscurity in the minds of the boating sharps so marked that the friends of Syracuse could not find takers for bets at 1 to 12. Cornell won the four oar varsity race with ease.

Wisconsin, which was thought to threaten all competitors in the four oar and varsity races, was never a factor, coming in fourth out of five in the four oar race and last in the varsity.

Columbia, the "dark horse," whose mysterious doings upstream have led to a good deal of solicitude on the part of all of her competitors, did well in the four oared race, in which she came in second, though she made but a feeble showing in the others, coming in last in the freshman race and fourth in the varsity.

No records were broken. Indeed the time was slower than for three years in two of the races and more than a minute and a half slower than last year in the varsity race. What might have been done in the varsity race had Cornell pushed Syracuse may be inferred from the statement of the Syracuse cockswain, in which he is quoted as saying that his men were prepared for a surprise from Cornell in the last part of the race and were ready for it with reserve power to hit up their speed materially, but they were not pressed in any part of the race.

The effect of the unexpected victory of Syracuse is very marked here in a great increase in all manifestations of interest in the racing in general and in vows to make next year's regatta a contest surpassing all those of the past. Fireworks, singing crowds and a great din of tooting horns kept the people of Poughkeepsie awake until far into the night.

The weather was on the whole nearly perfect for racing. Dashes of rain marred the enjoyment of the spectators somewhat, and a rather brisk southerly breeze toward the close of the day made the water somewhat rough, to which the slow time may be attributed.

Cornell led off at the pistol shot in characteristic style, but lost her lead almost immediately to Syracuse, which with a quick stroke pulled out ahead with a lead which, never lost during the race, was increased to five lengths at the finish. Once, near the two mile mark, Cornell in a fine burst of speed did press her sturdy rival on almost even terms.

Decision Against Chippeway Indian.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Justice Anderson, in the supreme court here, has sustained a demurrer upholding the department of the interior in its defense of a suit brought by Joseph Naganab, a Chippeway Indian, who claims that his tribe will be injured if the order of the secretary of the interior should be carried out setting aside 300,000 acres of Minnesota pine timber, worth $3,000,000, as a perpetual forest reserve.

English Colonel Killed.

LONDON, June 29.—Colonel Bloomfield Gough, who during the Boer war was ordered home for refusal to obey General Lord Mathuen's orders, has been killed in a carriage accident at Kelso, Scotland. Gough, at the time he refused to obey orders, was in command of the Ninth lancers. He claimed that his men and horses were not fit for duty and refused to lead them to destruction. He was a veteran of the Afghanistan campaign.

Divorced Teacher Weds Millionaire.

CHICAGO, June 29.—Marion Lintner, a Chicago kindergarten teacher, has been married to Samuel Park, the millionaire banker and lumber merchant of Beaumont, Tex. The wedding took place on the day the bride was granted a divorce from H. H. Newton of Toledo, O. Mr. and Mrs. Park are now preparing to go to Port Arthur, Tex., and board Park's steam yacht for a two months' cruise in Mexican waters.

Workers For Panama Zone.

COLON, June 29.—The steamer Allianca, from New York, has arrived here, bringing Chief Engineer Wallace and his party and also Majors Gorgas and Lagarde of the sanitary department and trained nurses for the hospital corps, the chief of whom, Miss Hibbard, is a veteran nurse of the Spanish-American war. They all proceeded to Panama during the day.

A STORY OF ILLINOIS IN PIONEER DAYS

By MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD

It is a story of the martyr president, Abraham Lincoln; of the war governor of Illinois, Richard Yates; of Lincoln's sweetheart, Ann Rutledge. It is located in New Salem, Illinois, at a time when Lincoln was a young man there. In characters, plot, location, time and literary merit it is an ideal story. Mrs. Catherwood called it her favorite. Remember the opening chapters

THE SLOCUM HORROR

Captain Van Schaick Testifies at Inquest on Disaster.

DID HIS DUTY AS FAR AS POSSIBLE

Commander Brought Into Court a Cripple—Knee Broken Jumping Overboard In Shallow Water While Clothing Was Afire.

NEW YORK, June 29.—William H. Van Schaick, captain of the steamboat General Slocum when it burned at the entrance of the sound, with the loss of more than a thousand lives, has testified at the inquest held by Coroner Berry at New York. He was wheeled into court in an invalid's chair, and his examination had to be interrupted to allow him to recuperate. Other witnesses testified in the interval, one of whom, the Slocum's candy counter clerk, contradicted the captain to the extent of saying that he had never seen or taken part in fire drills on the Slocum. The captain said that he had held three on the boat this year, but when asked to say in what they consisted replied that he could not tell exactly.

Once under way Van Schaick answered most questions, sometimes after temporizing, but generally as the prosecutor wanted. He said that only 250 new life preservers had been put on board the Slocum since 1891, and all that he recalled by way of repairs to them was that new straps were put on 300 last year. He told a whole lot of things that Federal Inspector Lundberg of the steamboat bureau did not do. He said Lundberg, who refused last week to testify at the inquest on the ground that to do so might tend to incriminate him, boarded the Slocum this spring and examined "maybe ten, maybe a hundred," of the Slocum's life belts. He did not inspect the hose, Van Schaick said, nor test the lifeboats and life rafts. He made no tests of the life preservers in water, said Van Schaick, who added that the Slocum's life preservers had never been tested in water. The bar cashier, who testified, said that the bartender tried to get some of these lifebelts on the day of the fire and that they burst, scattering cork all over the bar.

When Van Schaick was told that the district attorney had asked all the questions he wanted to, the captain turned to the jury and said:

"I want you gentlemen to understand that I did all in my power that could be done under the circumstances at the time of the accident. I could not turn the boat and beach her any sooner than I did. I remained standing in front of the pilot house until we struck. Then I started to go downstairs.

"A volcano of fire had broken out along the decks and was sweeping up the stairways. I could not get down the stairs. Some one yelled, "Jump for your life, captain!' and then I jumped overboard. I struck in shallow water on the rocks and broke my knee. My clothes had been on fire. I was stunned.

"A large, fleshy woman and a young nurse girl came to me and dragged me up over the rocks to the shore. Then I managed to crawl up to a small tree, and I lay down under it. As I looked toward the Slocum I saw the pilot house and the upper decks fall."

Van Schaick's explanation started the jurors asking questions. They demanded explanations of the delay in notifying the captain that there was fire on board and how he reconciled his information with the stories of passengers who began to jump off at Ninety-second street.

The district attorney wanted explanations too. All that the captain could say was that he did his duty, did his best and couldn't explain.

He said that he gave no orders to the crew after he knew of the fire.

The witness said he had been on the General Slocum since the boat was built in 1891, that he was fifty-three years old, that he had been a boatman for forty years and master of vessels for thirty years.

Blind Helen Keller a B. A.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 29.—Helen Adams Keller, the deaf, dumb and blind girl whose wonderful achievements have made her name familiar throughout the world, was the central figure among the ninety-six ladies of Radcliffe college who received their degrees of bachelor of arts at the hands of Dean L. R. B. Briggs, the president of the college. Miss Keller was attended by Miss Sullivan, her teacher and companion, and when her name was called and she rose to receive her degree the large audience broke into hearty and prolonged applause.

French Cruiser For Haiti.

PARIS, June 29.—The French cruiser Jurien de la Graviere has been ordered by the ministry of marine to proceed to Haiti to insist on the punishment of those guilty of the outrage against M. Deprez, the French minister, who was stoned by the palace guard at Port au Prince recently while driving with the minister of Germany.

Will Only Demand Punishment.

BERLIN, June 29.—It is semiofficially stated that the satisfaction which Germany and France will demand from the government of Haiti for the attack on the respective ministers of those countries by the palace guards at Port au Prince will consist of the punishment of the guilty persons.

Plainfield, N. J., June 29, 1904.

Davy Baird's friends have presented a diamond to the astute politician of Camden. Most politicians get so many gold bricks that this gift must have been somewhat of a novelty.

In its caustic style the Somerville Unionist-Gazette attacks the Trenton State Gazette for saying some unkind things about former State Senator L. A. Thompson. It brings to mind the unwarranted attacks made on former Senator Reed by the Somerville paper. "People in glass houses—" 'Nough said.

John Cotton Dana, of the Newark Public Library, has compiled statistics concerning the reading matter of the American people. He concludes: "This is the newspaper age. No single person reads everything in a newspaper, but each item and advertisement is read by some, and the total effect of all this reading must certainly be tremendous."—Ex.

Surely the people of this city will not permit the much prized silver hose cart, a relic of volunteer fire department days, to be loaned indefinitely to Rahway on the ground that there is no place to keep it properly in Plainfield. The local exempt firemen should be able to arrange for a suitable place for the valuable cart. Before taking any final action it would be well for the firemen to lay the matter before the Common Council.

Now that the coroner's jury has fixed responsibility for the Slocum disaster, it is to be hoped that the proper authorities lose no time in bringing the eleven accused men to justice. A charge of manslaughter is likely to be preferred against each of them. If guilty of the criminal negligence attributed to them by the coroner's jury, no punishment can be too severe. It is to be hoped that there will be no miscarriage of justice in this instance and that heaviest possible penalty be inflicted on those to be blamed for the loss of so many lives.

THE FORUM.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

Editor, The Daily Press:

As a lover of good clean baseball and one interested in the development of the game in this city, I want to enter a protest against the methods employed by Manager Denman, of the Westfield Baseball Association, regarding his trouble with the Alls management. For one thing, I believe that the Plainfield newspapers have given Mr. Denman too much free advertising. This city has a good ball nine and one that should be supported. It is not necessary to help Manager Denman by advertising his aggregation and games in the local papers. It was predicted after the Alls-Westfield disputed contest that Westfield would feel the lack of patronage from this city, and this assertion has come true.

The Westfield management is now giving "business men's matinees" to swell the treasury of the association. Mr. Denman hopes by this move to attract local fans to his camp. It is not necessary for baseball cranks to journey to Westfield to see a good game, and besides such teams as the Madisons, Chathams and other organizations of similar strength, to which Mr. Denman takes exception as not being able to arouse enthusiasm, play clean ball and do not resort to questionable tactics.

Mr. Denman intimates that if he agreed to throwing out the disputed game, it would infer that he deliberately selected an umpire who was instructed to make his sole purpose to decide plays in a manner to insure the game to them. As a matter of fact there were so many suspicious things about the contest that that is exactly what many fans think. The cranks are thoroughly tired of questionable baseball. They want to see contests played on their merits. Until Mr Cullem began umpiring for Westfield, there was always a question about the indicator's work. Those who remember the work of Umpire Ruddyard will substantiate this. It was impossible for a visiting organization to play at Westfield in those days and get a square deal. The members of the Seventh Regiment team can testify to this as regards their experience at Westfield a year ago. Mr. Denman talks about being on his dignity. It would pay him to come off his dignity and do the only right thing—throw out the disputed game and start with a clean slate. He says it can mean nothing. It will mean a whole lot so far as his future dealings with Plainfield are concerned and it may help his coffers. If Westfield isn't going to disband, and there are enough persons in that town to keep the game "just travelling along" why does he insist on sending communications to the Plainfield and Elizabeth papers in the hope of re-opening of the series. The shoe is pinching pretty hard, and if Manager Johnston's word counts it will continue to pinch until the foxy manager comes to realize that he is not the whole thing in baseball. There is no reason why Plainfield should spend its money in Westfield, while there is an opportunity to leave it at home. As for prestige, Plainfield has this already and defeating Westfield would not materially add to her glory, especially under conditions that have existed at Recreation Park. "A Lover of Clean Sport."

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Following the reception to their older parishioners which Rev. and Mrs. Casselberry, of the Presbyterian church gave on Monday evening, they gave yesterday afternoon a reception to the children of the congregation. Over twenty youngsters were present, most of them members of the Presbyterian Sunday-school, and they had a splendid time playing games, many of which were led by the pastor and his wife. During the afternoon refreshments were served.

Wm. G. Holton Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., gave its members and visitors an enjoyable time last evening. Several of the State officers were present and several new members were initiated. After the routine business was over cigars and refreshments were passed around and all enjoyed an informal programme that was presented. The affair broke up at a late hour.

Fred Giddes, of Philadelphia, who played last year on Dunellen, will cover second base in Saturday's game with New Market. "Shorty" Alberts will be shifted to the outfield where he plays his best game.

"Abe" Nelson, catcher on the Y. M. A. team, hopes to have his sore hand in trim to go behind the bat in Saturday's game with Dunellen. If he is not able to play the team will be weakened.

In Justice VonMinden's court, the landlord and tenant case of E. S. Schenck against Charles Vail has resulted in judgment being rendered in full for the plaintiff.

The music pupils of Miss Irene Day will give their annual recital in the chapel of the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening. Admission is by card.

Monday night's meeting was the last Court Dunellen, I. O. F., will hold in Apgar's Hall. In the future the town hall will be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Day are spending their wedding trip at the World's Fair. They are expected home shortly.

Philip Jenner has entered his trotter "Lida Mack," in the Fourth of July races at the Plainfield Driving Park.

The Dunellen Tennis Club will probably play a match with an out-of-town club on the Fourth of July.

Willie Dunham has recovered from the effects of an accident in which his eye was cut quite badly.

Miss Louise Doolittle and Miss May Apgar sail for Europe on Saturday.

Charles Doolittle entertained Arthur Conant, of Plainfield, yesterday.

David Smith, of New York, spent Monday evening in town.

A. N. Enander is confined to his home by illness.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

While blasting at the Hetfield & Weldon stone crusher on Monday, a number of fine particles of what was pronounced to be gold quartz was exposed. The discovery failed to start the usual gold fevers, which always follow such a discovery.

The Ladies' Circle, of the Baptist church, are anticipating a large attendance at the musicale to be held tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. F. W. Westcott.

The weekly meeting of the Chautauqua Boys' Club will be held tonight in the class rooms of the Methodist church.

The members of the Epworth League held their monthly social Friday night at the home of Mrs John Marsh, of Park avenue.

Joel Manning is beginning to gather his hay crop which promises to be large.

'PLAINS NINE NOT COMING

TEAM DECIDES AGAINST LOCATING HERE AND WILL QUIT FOR GOOD.

The Scotch Plains baseball team will not locate in this city, a decision to that effect being reached at a meeting of the club last night. This practically means the disbandment of a club, which for the past four seasons has taken prominent part in the National game, defeating some of the best teams in this section of the State, as well as the strongest of the teams in the Metropolitan district.

Starting four years ago with a strictly amateur team, under the management of George Johnston, the present manager of the Alls team, the club thrived and the following season it entered the semi-professional ranks. While other clubs were losing money Scotch Plains was taking in the shekels and strengthening its treasury. Each successive season found a nice nest-egg to begin the following year's play with. Harmony prevailed and while the town itself was not supporting the team entirely, still there was not one but what had its interests at heart and was always found ready to do their share towards furthering the interests of the club.

During the past winter interest in the club seemed to lag and at one time it looked as though the club would withdraw from the game. Finally after a great howl from the fans it was decided to put a team in the field once more, but instead of paying fancy prices for players, the club thought it more profitable to cater to the demand which had been made in the past for a team of local players. Manager Hand, in making up the team, selected the pick of Plainfield and Scotch Plains players, his lineup including any of the familiar faces of the popular City League of several years ago. The article of baseball presented by Mr. Hand and his colts was as fast an article as the most ardent fan could have desired. Smiling Jimmy Montross's work in the box has been very creditable.

During the past five games only three runs have been scored against the team and these were scored on errors, but interest in the game seemed to be gone and it was seldom that the admission revenue would half cover the expense of maintaining the team, even as small as it was. The club decided some time ago that they would continue under these adverse conditions until the club's treasury was depleted, then a halt would be called, as the members did not feel like putting up money for a venture that was not appreciated by the public.

The end came on Saturday, when the team met the Colonial A. C., of New York. What the future means for baseball at the 'Plains can only be surmised, but from present indications the game is down and out for some time, although the time may come when the lovers of the sport may attempt to revive it, but it is doubtful.

TITLES AND THE 400

EXPERIENCE OF AMERICAN WOMEN WITH NOBILITY.

PRODUCTIVE OF SCANDALS

Daughter of Vice President Morton Bringing Suit for Divorce from Brute of a Husband—Some Exceptions to the Rule.

NEW YORK.—The divorce scandal in the case of the Duchess de Valencay was no surprise to New York. For some time the duchess, who was Miss Helen Morton, the daughter of Levi P. Morton, has been sheltered by her father's home in this city. The Morton family is prominent in society. Its head has been governor of New York and vice president of the United States. Its wealth is ample, its country estate at Ellerslie on the Hudson one of the finest in the country. Mr. Morton himself is in feeble health and old. He is broken by the sorrow of his second daughter's death, which came almost at the same time as the final news of the irrevocable parting of the Valencays.

One of Napoleon's plain-spoken marshals described Talleyrand as a "shovelful of mud in a silk stocking." The description would fit some of Talleyrand's distant relatives of to-day. The man who married Miss Morton is fully named the count of Talleyrand-Perigord. The ducal title of Valencay came from Mr. Morton; at any rate, his money to the tune of $600,000 bought the ducal chateau, and that may or may not carry the higher title. That point is disputed.

In New York Mr. Morton lives in a house on the east side of Fifth avenue, about 35 feet in width—one of those slice-of-cake-shaped houses that cost a lot of money and are bigger than they look. In France his daughter was for a little time nominally the mistress of a great mediæval palace with a proud name, but not with happiness, actually she never occupied it. It was seized by her mother-in-law.

This lady, the Princess de Sagan, is that rare phenomenon, an aristocrat with a decided personality, and decidedly unpleasant at that. The duke's elder brother was once in prison half a year for forgery. Another member of the family, Charles, has actually been divorced by two American wives.

Other Pitiable Cases.

MR. MORTON has been vice president when his daughter married abroad. Not the first case in the families of men distinguished in American politics. Gen. Grant's granddaughter married a Russian prince. President Arthur's son married a woman of title. Miss Edith Van Buren, who was a grandniece of President Van Buren, married the Count de Castelmenardo of Italy, and was badly treated by him.

Other cases turned out better; the early ones apparently more often than those of recent happening. Thus the daughter of Preston King married the French minister, Waddington. Her memoirs, which have just been published, reveal a happy life spent in high places, vexed by nobler cares than trouble the titled do-nothings who seem preferred by so many silly girls nowadays.

To this latter class belong the Prince Rospigliosi, whose noble family have made miserable the life in Rome of the former Miss Marie Reid of New Orleans; the Baron von Schellendorf, who took his Cincinnati bride to German East Africa and tortured her by drunken attentions to dusky rivals; the Baron Halkett, whose American wife is now a hermit in the Adirondacks; the Prince Colonna, who, with the proud record of a thousand years of nobility behind him, drove the adopted daughter of John W. Mackay from his home with her two children; the Baron de Focke, arrested for embezzlement in Vienna within the honeymoon with his bride, Miss Anna Cox, of New York; the Count Larisch-Monisch, who was backed by a marriage syndicate in his campaign for the hand of Miss Mary Satterfield, heiress of eight Standard Oil millions in Buffalo.

In spite of the marriage last winter of the duke of Roxburge and Miss Goelet; the fashion of international romances is decidedly going out. And Roxburge, unlike the creatures who have been named, is a manly fellow well worth marrying on his own account.

Cabe Case's Tavern Morns.

IN GABE CASE a picturesque New York character has passed away. Case was born in the city; almost no one is, so that this alone was a distinction. In successive taverns in the upper part of the city he catered to those horsey people who before the advent of the automobile fared forth of the city gates to find dirt roads and room for speed in Westchester county.

Gabe Case was the founder in this section of the practice of setting up a magnum of champagne for the first driver—amateur, of course—who reached his hotel in a sleigh or cutter and upon runners each autumn. The magnum was always taken after a fierce struggle on perhaps a quarter inch of rapidly fading snow, and of course it brought to the hotel enough custom to more than compensate for the cost of the wine. Afterwards other hotel keepers copied the idea. One man in Yonkers used to set up wine for the first bicyclist to reach his place every year. Result a race beginning at one minute after midnight between 50 or more hooting scorchers, making night hideous, and sometimes pedaled through six inches of snow. After the winner got his supplies, the others still had a thirst to assuage.

Thirteen years ago Case moved for the third or fourth time to McGown's Pass tavern in Central park. Gov. Flower and his staff had a festive dinner there. In his day Case knew well Robert Bonner, W. H., W. K. and "Commodore" Vanderbilt; the Jeromes, the Works and other people who loved horses because they were horses.

"Citizen" Genet's Son.

ONE doesn't need to have read much American history to remember the row that was made more than a century ago about "Citizen" Genet, the French minister who in the time of the Paris revolution came to this country to prevent a British-American alliance—of which, by the way, there was no danger.

Genet's son died the other day in New York, where he had lived all his 80 years. His father, the minister, who came to this country in 1793, remained and became a citizen; he was a friend and admirer of George Clinton, and when in his middle life a son was born to him he gave the boy Clinton's name. So when George Clinton Genet died so recently New York took—not of course, so much interest as in a prize fight or something really important—but a decent degree of interest.

For it was a curious fact that this gray-haired old man had heard in his youth from his father's own lips personal reminiscences of both the French and the American revolutions; and that thus a single life intervened between Washington and the present day.

Genet married an Albany lady of good family and practiced the law until 15 years ago and gained a fortune.

This country has always had an attraction for Frenchmen of title or ability. Few men of his day knew our west better than Chateaubriand. The Bonapartes of Trenton and Baltimore are a famous case in point. It has long been believed by many that Marshal Ney was never really shot by the soldiers of the restoration, but escaped to this country and lived here many years. And the story of Eleazer Williams' identity with a missing dauphin belongs to the curiosities of history.

Authors with Money.

MANY jokes have been exploded at the expense of Irving Bacheller and Hamlin Garland, who went to Mexico with the object, as the funny men will have it, of buying gold mines. As a matter of fact Garland is an experienced miner and both men have earned big money by their pens, so they could try their luck if they wished. Bachelier, who already has a beautiful seaside place in Connecticut, is preparing to build a new one of magnificent proportions. I do not see how he can bear to leave the study he has built of native granite upon a rock fairly overhanging the water.

All the successful authors seem to take to country places of manorial size. Winston Churchill's mansion up in New Hampshire is a show place for miles around. R. H. Davis has a place up the Hudson with a private golf course, kennels and stables; but he married money. Frank Stockton had but just moved upon a big Virginian plantation with a stately mansion when he died, older far than he looked with his sprightly figure and keenly intellectual face. One of the finest houses I have seen in New York was that in which the late Paul Leicester Ford did his writing—fine, that is, from a writing man's point of view. The library was vast and well filled, partly with books that old Gordon Ford, Paul's father, who was one of the owners of the Tribune, had collected.

Authorship was 15 years ago a very uncertain business. The number of men and women who earned more than $4,000 a year by their pens, except in newspaper work, was small. The great sale of fiction of recent years has changed matters. Suppose, for instance, that Mr. Churchill's new book goes to 200,000 copies; multiply that by 20 cents a copy—and his royalty is probably more than that—and you can see that the proceeds will keep up a New Hampshire mansion for some time.

HOME DRESSMAKING.

A Few Hints For the Woman Who Has to Do Her Own Sewing.

There are plenty of women who have to do their own sewing in these days of incompetent and high priced dressmakers, and perhaps a few hints on how to make it easier will not be amiss at this time of the year.

In the first place, and I would like to put this in italics, don't undertake more than you can do. Remember that another summer is coming and that what you can't have this summer you may get next summer. You don't have to lay in a supply for two years.

Don't attempt things that are too elaborate. Ten to one they won't turn out so well as the simpler modes would under your untrained fingers. Pick out a design as unpretentious as possible and follow it closely and be neat and trim in your stitching, with attention to corners and detail. Better one piece of applique sewed on firmly and smoothly than a dozen pieces scattered all over a gown with four stitches and a promise.

Don't invest in poor materials that you may have more lace and trimming. Cheap materials fade and do all sorts of disappointing things during the making process. There is an exception right here in favor of muslin. The inexpensive plain varieties are just as pretty when simply made up as the expensive ones.

Unless you have plenty of money stick to the plain shirt waist, and don't attempt to make at home the fancy one, all tucks and lace. Don't get so interested in your work that you will go without your meals and bolster yourself with a cup of tea instead. When you feel that you can't eat, it is time to take a rest. You will be able to accomplish all the more work afterward.

Don't sew at night. Another day is before you, and you can get up early in the morning. Besides, if that is any consolation to you, what you do at night you generally rip in the morning.

Get along with as few things as possible. It is better to wear a plain dress with a fresh smiling face than an elaborate one with a countenance drawn and weary from sewing over it.

HELEN CLIFTON.

IN COUNTRY HOUSES.

Old English Effects Are Popular For Dining Rooms and Libraries.

The dining room of the present is an echo of the past, and the accompanying cut illustrates this.

Here we have a room in a country house the walls and ceiling of which are done in grayish plaster and brown oak. The floor, of course, is of hard wood sparsely covered with one or two Turkish rugs. The shelf all around the wall holds blue and white china and bits of old pewter and brass. The inglenook seat and the quaint fireplace are most attractive. The tables and chairs are of antique pattern. The light comes from electric bulbs placed in lanterns suspended from the ceiling. The china closet is built into the wall, as is the custom now in most houses.

This room could be equally well carried out in Flemish oak, with the plastering painted a rich tone of venetian red.

ST. LOUIS PLUNDERED.

Charles A. Gutke Confessed That Delegate Kelley Got $50,000.

ST. LOUIS, June 29.—Charles A. Gutke, former member of the house of delegates, convicted on a charge of bribery and soon to be tried on another similar charge, has made a complete confession to Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk, in which he declared that former Delegate Charles F. Kelley had told him he had received $50,000 for going to Europe when his presence in St. Louis jeopardized men of prominence. Kelley is also resting under one conviction and is soon to be tried in another case. Circuit Attorney Folk attaches great importance to the revelations which have been made by Gutke. He said that it opened up many new avenues of investigation and that it brought things to light which have not been heard of before involving the men higher up.

When he came out of the office of Circuit Attorney Folk, Gutke said: "The best reparation that I can make for the wrongs I have done is to confess fully to everything in order that the public may realize what has been going on. Yielding to the pleadings of my wife, I have determined to do all I can to atone for my sins against the public. The people of St. Louis even now do not realize how they have been persistently plundered for years and years by men they elected to make laws for their city."

GIVEN UP FOR DEAD.

Report From Cherbourg Says Body of Loomis Has Not Been Found.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A dispatch from Cherbourg, France, says that the report circulated that the body of the missing man Loomis, brother of American Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis, who disappeared from the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. shortly before her arrival at Plymouth, had been washed ashore near here is false.

It is reported from Parkersburg, W. Va., that the name of the brother of Assistant Secretary of State Loomis, whose mysterious disappearance has attracted much attention, is Frederick Kent Loomis and not J. Kent Loomis, as reported in the cables. Frederick Kent Loomis was manager of the Parkersburg Daily News. He was highly connected socially and in business there. His wife has a child only five weeks old and is prostrated over her husband's disappearance. She has given him up as dead.

Government Gets Wireless Lines.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Admiral Manney, chief of the naval equipment bureau, has entered into agreement with Abraham White, president of the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph company, for the acquisition by the navy of five of the longest wireless telegraph circuits in the world up to date, two of them being over 1,000 miles in length—from Key West to Panama, 1,000 miles; Porto Rico to Key West, 1,000 miles; south Cuban coast to Panama, 720 miles; Pensacola to Key West, 450 miles; south Cuba to Porto Rico, 600 miles. The service proposed is exceptional in that the wireless currents must traverse not only the ocean, but leap over considerable islands, such as Cuba and Haiti, and in the latter case and perhaps in others run a risk of crossing currents set up by apparatus on islands not a part of the United States.

French Monument at Waterloo.

WATERLOO, Belgium, June 29.—The monument to the memory of the French who fell at the battle of Waterloo has been unveiled. It was designed by Gerome, represents a wounded eagle and is situated near the Caillou farm, where Napoleon's Old Guard made their last stand. M. Gerard, the French minister to Belgium, unveiled the monument. M. Houssaye of the French academy, Detaille, the painter, and others made speeches.

Rev. Sam Jones Has Not Time.

CATOOSA SPRING, Ga., June 29.—The Rev. Sam P. Jones when asked concerning the mention of himself for the vice presidential nomination on the Prohibition national ticket said: "I ain't got time for a little job like that. I can sit on the front end of my own shebang and do my own driving, and I like that better than crawling up behind some other fellow."

Charged With Assassination.

PUNTA GORDA, Fla., June 29.—Sheriff Fielder has arrested R. S. Windham of Punta Gorda charged with the assassination of Marshal Bowman. Windham was taken to Arcadia jail. A man named Cooper has been sentenced to hang for this same offense Aug. 5. The public believe that more than one person is connected with the assassination.

Ian Maclaren at Liverpool Meeting.

LIVERPOOL, June 29.—The eighth general council of the International Alliance of Reformed Presbyterians has opened here. The inaugural address was delivered by the president, William Caven of Toronto. The Rev. John Watson (Ian Maclaren) also addressed the delegates.

Mark Twain's Sad Journey.

NAPLES, June 29.—Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain) has sailed for New York on the Hamburg-American line steamer Prinz Oskar with the casket containing the remains of his wife, which will be interred at Elmira, N. Y.

British Steamer Total Loss.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 29.—The British steamer Mary Hough, Captain Crossett, went ashore near Cape Ray during a dense fog and will probably be a total loss. Her passengers and crew were saved.

SENATOR GORMAN DENIES.

Has Not Held Conference to Obstruct Parker's Candidature.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Senator Gorman has made the following statement regarding the report that he, with National Committeemen Guffey of Pennsylvania, McLean of Ohio, Smith of New Jersey and others, had held a conference here for the purpose of ascertaining how many votes could be combined in the convention against Judge Parker, the object being to secure more than one-third of the convention in order to prevent his nomination:

"The persistency and regularity with which statements of this character have recently appeared would seem to indicate a studied desire to misrepresent me. The fact is that all the conferences I have attended have related solely to the proper organization of the convention, which it is the duty of members of the national committee to consider. So far as I am concerned I have not been a party to any arrangement for effecting a combination to obstruct the efforts of any candidate for the nomination. The Maryland delegates have not yet determined the course they will pursue in regard to the candidates at St. Louis and will probably not reach any conclusion until after their arrival at St. Louis and after an opportunity to confer with the delegates from other states.

"I have perfect confidence that the convention will adopt a sound, conservative platform and nominate a ticket which will command the confidence of the country."

Homesteaders and Cowboys Clash.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 29.—Governor Mickey has received several requests from officers and sheriffs in Custer county, Neb., for militia to help keep order at Broken Bow and in the surrounding country, where thousands of persons have gathered for the opening of homesteads under the new Kinkaid land law. The governor has ordered Company K of Broken Bow to be in readiness, and if there is an outbreak the militia will be put into action at once. The trouble arises from the fact that cattle owners have sent their cowboys to file on government land that is now illegally fenced in and to interfere with homesteaders who are seeking claims under the provisions of the new law. Many of the homesteaders at Broken Bow are armed, and bloodshed is feared.

Leishman-Gontaut-Biron Nuptials.

PARIS, June 29.—Miss Leishman, daughter of the American minister to Turkey, was married here to Count Louis de Gontaut-Biron in the Church of St. Pierre de Chaillot before a large and fashionable gathering of French and Americans. The civil ceremony between Miss Leishman and Count Louis de Gontaut-Biron took place at Mr. Leishman's residence in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne. The witnesses for the bride were Ambassador Porter and General Wilson and for the groom his two brothers.

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

It is rumored that Courtney, who plays third base for Murray Hill, may fill the same position for Alis.

Manager Daab, of the Hobokens, has released Outfielders Wall and Andeberg, formerly of Rochester.

The baseball fans would like to see Quinby made captain of Alis. He is especially qualified for the position.

The Underwood baseball team has reorganized for the season. The aggregation is composed of the pick of the local school nines.

Quinby, playing short for Crescent A. C., on Saturday against Englewood, had a record of four times at bat, one run, one hit, four put outs, six assists and two errors.

Herman Long, who for years, was considered the finest short-stop in the country, has retired from the game for good, his arm having gone back on him. His palmy days were with the Bostons.

It is understood that Manager Johnston has been negotiating with John Ramsey, of High Bridge, for the purpose of securing this twirler for the Alis team. On Saturday he held Madison down to four hits.

The Cuban X Giants defeated Hoboken several days ago by a score of 8 to 5. This was the second consecutive defeat for Manager Daab's team and a shake-up may be looked for. McKenna pitched on Sunday.

Lynch, the Brown University pitcher, had his second try-out on Saturday against Chicago. After pitching a winning game, allowing Chicago but three hits, he made a wild throw of a bunt ball in the ninth inning and lost the contest.

The fast Hoboken team has been playing in hard luck during the past two weeks. A week ago Sunday the nine was beaten by the Philadelphia Giants. Last Saturday Trenton Y. M. C. A. defeated them for the third time this season and on Sunday the Cuban X Giants defeated them by a score of 8 to 5.

If Alis plays a series of games with the Hobokens, and then another series with the same nine under the name of St. Mary's, the local baseball fans will have plenty of fine sport for some time to come. The St. Mary's management claim to have a signed agreement whereby the Hobokens are to play for them.

Nat Strong, manager for the Murray Hills, announces that he will put Tyler, the Columbia College twirler, in the box against Alis on Fourth of July morning, and Manager Daab, of the Hobokens, says that Lindeman will face Alis in the afternoon. With these two fine pitchers, Manager Johnston will have to look after his pitching department for that day.

STOLEN GIFTS FOR HIS GIRL

DANIEL C. WALDRON, OF MARTINSVILLE, CHARGED WITH ROBBERY.

Accused of stealing opera glasses, a camera and other valuable articles to give to his sweetheart, Daniel C. Waldron, a prominent young man of Martinsville, a village six miles from Somerville, N. J., was arrested in Bound Brook yesterday. The charge of robbery is preferred by Morris Rosenthral, who keeps a sporting goods store at Bound Brook. The articles were found in the rooms of Miss Lucy Cullens, of Martinsville, by a detective who went there with a search warrant, and were identified by Rosenthral as having been taken from his store. Miss Cullens said Waldron had given the articles to her as presents.

County Detective Totten began to "shadow" Waldron and found that he was engaged to be married to Miss Cullens, a pretty school teacher, whose home is in Pennsylvania, and she had resigned her position in the Martinsville school to prepare for the wedding.

Waldron stoutly denies his guilt. He was taken before Justice Kitchen, in Somerville, and released on bail to await the action of the Somerset Grand Jury.

FAIR ACRES CLUB DISBANDS

DRIVING ASSOCIATION TO BE SUCCEEDED BY HORSE SHOW ASSO.

At a recent meeting of the Fair Acres Driving Club it was decided to discontinue the organization and to send the cash balance in the hands of Treasurer J. S. Irving to the Children's' Country Home, a fresh air institution of that town.

It was decided to form an association to be known as the Westfield Horse Show Association, and a large two-day show will be given on Friday and Saturday, October 14 and 15, at the pretty half-mile circle.

The executive committee intends to make this show one of the most attractive shows in this vicinity, and no effort or expense will be spared. Any information regarding the show will be cheerfully furnished by H. P. Condit, secretary, No. 71 Broadway, New York, or Westfield, N. J.

GOV. MURPHY'S CHOICE.

He Indicates That E. C. Stokes Will Probably Succeed Him.

That Governor Murphy is convinced his successor in the Gubernatorial is to be Clerk of Chancery E. C. Stokes was shown yesterday when he refused to name a private secretary until he could ascertain what appointment would be acceptable to Mr Stokes, the idea being to keep the secretary in office for the new administration. The appointment is to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of John L. Swayzee to the post of Assistant Attorney General.

Juniors at Dunellen.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., paid a fraternal visit last night to William G. A supper was served late in the evening, during which remarks were made by a number of the officers of the order.

Trying Apparatus.

Chief T. O. Doane had the extension ladder on the truck extended and inspected last evening to ascertain that everything was in good order and working smoothly. The sixty-five feet ladder was run up to its full length, everything operating satisfactorily throughout.

FRANK A. BARNABY ARRESTED

FORMER PLAINFIELDER MUST ANSWER FOR DISASTER TO THE SLOCUM.

All the directors of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company who have not surrended, or are under bail, will appear bettore Coroner Joseph I. Berry, in the Coroner's Court in the Bronx today, where they will be arraigned on a charge of criminal neglect in failing to see that the General Slocum was adequately provided with fire fighting and life saving apparatus. Each will be arraigned separately and bail will be fixed.

Among those already under arrest is Frank A. Barnaby, formerly of this city, the president of the Knickerbocker Steamboat Company, who is under $5,000 bail. C. deLacey Evans, another former resident of this city, is wanted by the coroner. He is a director of the steamboat company.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Unity Lodge, No. 105, K. of P., will elect officers tomorrow night.

No more appropriate place could have been chosen nor a more opportune time selected than Atlantic City for the meeting of the Imperial Council of Mystic Shriners. Atlantic City is a place of a thousand in as much as its make-up especially in the summer is that of fun and gaiety. Atlantic City is decidedly accessible because of the excellent train service furnished by the New Jersey Central from New York. Fast trains leave station foot of Liberty street at 9:40 a. m. and 3:40 p. m., making the run in three hours and passing through the famous resort Lakewood. For the occasion of the Imperial Council the New Jersey Central has placed on sale reduced rate tickets good going on July 11 and 12, and good returning July 13 to 23, and with the famed seashore resort at its height there is no reason why everybody who goes there should not have a good time. If you want a time table write to C. M. Burt, General Passenger Agent, New Jersey Central, New York city.

TWELVE BEFORE RECORDER

ALL DISMISSED, THE CHARGE AGAINST THEM SUNDAY BALL PLAYING.

Twelve Sunday baseball players were arraigned before Recorder Dond in the borough police court last night, charged with disorderly conduct. Only the complainant appeared against them, and they overbore his testimony on the disorder charge. Eleven of them were found not guilty, but the twelfth man, Frank Keller, was convicted of assaulting Samuel McMann, sixty years old, in a quarrel growing out of the game.

Sentence in his case was reserved.

Besides Keller the following were arraigned: Charles Emmons, Frank Denta, Fred Kaeding, William Gaub, August Gaub, Charles Perry, Louis Perry, Augustus Feiring, Lewis Bimble and Charles Keller. According to the evidence, the crowd went to the Brunson farm at the foot of the mountain, with a couple of kegs of beer, Sunday afternoon, to play a Boulevard team. The Boulevarders failed to turn up and the boroughites started to play among themselves. The level of the beer had sunk some by that time.

McMann, who is the caretaker of the farm, came up and protested against their playing. After an altercation he started away. Keller followed him and after an exchange of words the ball player knocked the old man down. Keller acknowledged that much, but claims that McMann had a coat belonging to one of his companions and struck him with a whip before he, Keller, closed with him. McMann was pretty badly cut up, and alleges that he was kicked while on the ground.

Recorder Dond said he did not know just what to do in the Keller case. He released the convicted prisoner on his own recognizance to await the decision of the court.

The choir of the First Baptist church will have a vacation during a part of July and all of August.

LITERARY.

The July Atlantic in its handsome new dress opens with an article on Washington in Wartime, drawn from Ralph Waldo Emerson's Journal of a visit to that city in 1862, recording pen pictures and notes of conversations with Lincoln, Seward, Sumner, Chase and others.

The head of one of the most famous packing houses in Chicago uses as a pet phrase, "'Tis the fortunes of war." It is said that at a recent family gathering at his home, a small grandson overheard his grandfather's remark that he had closed a very profitable beef contract with a representative of the Russian government, previous to the opening of hostilities with Japan. "Grandpa," piped the small boy, "if you make lots and lots of money then, will that be the fortunes of war?"—From "Success."

It will disappoint the applicant to find that her voice is the least consideration. She need, indeed, have none. A good figure and at least a claim to good looks are necessary for her. Her weight and height are important. A hundred and sixty pounds is too much to weigh; five feet seven inches is the limit in height. On account of the general peroxiding craze, brunettes are in demand. Good altos are rare, the proportion being six of these to fourteen sopranos. One of the first questions propounded to the applicants will be: "Do you wear tights?"—The Era Magazine for June on the chorus girl.

The Architectural Record for July is sarcastically critical of modern reconstructed business house fronts. It says that as business sections are continually changing we are often confronted with an apparition of what was an orderly and well-designed dwelling-house now supported on stilts in the form of iron columns, and these surmounted by a galvanized cornice, the upper part of the building being apparently held up by the plate glass show windows. How a city may be redeemed in a large measure if the right kind of effort is used in these reconstruction proceedings, is described and illustrated with fullness. "Hillair," the country house of Paul Gilbert Thebaud, at White Plains, N. Y., is the subject of a number of plates and an article by William Heming.

PLAINFIELD GROOM FOR ELIZABETH GIRL

T. H. Chamberlain, of This City, Married to Miss Susan May Moore, at County Seat.

AFTERNOON WEDDING

PETER J. GALBRAITH IS THE BEST MAN AT THE NUPTIAL EVENT.

Ceremony in St. Michael's Church Rectory—Supper Followed by Reception — Two Hundred Friends Present.

Miss Susan May Moore, of Elizabeth, became the wife of Thomas Henry Chamberlain, of this city, yesterday. The ceremony was performed at the rectory of St. Michael's church, Elizabeth, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, by Rev. Dr. Baer, a number of relatives and friends being present.

Miss Lillian Civeltte was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Anna Moore, sister of the bride, and Miss May McGrath. Miss Viola Harriman, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Peter J. Galbraith, of this city, was best man. The ushers were John E. Harriman, cousin of the bride, and William Dilts, of this city.

The bride was gowned in white embroided russell net, studded with pearl buttons over white silk. She wore a white tulle veil, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was held at the home of the bride. Fully two hundred friends and relatives attended the reception, which was held at the T. A. B. Hall in the evening. Covers were laid for two hundred guests. Dancing was also a feature. After the reception the young couple left for a wedding trip to Niagara. On their return they will reside on West Sixth street, corner Clinton avenue.

Each of the bridesmaids received from the bride a pearl necklace. The groom's gift to the best man and the ushers were stick pins.

Among the Plainfield guests present were Mr. and Mrs. James Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. William Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walls, the Misses Bessie and Hattie Walls, Lillian Duckworth, Jessie Chamberlain, John Duckworth, Edwin Howes, William Porter.

BAND CONCERT PROGRAMME

FREE OPEN AIR PERFORMANCE TOMORROW NIGHT INSTEAD OF TONIGHT.

If the merit of the programme offered furnishes any indication of the probable attendance, the third band concert, which takes place tomorrow night instead of this evening, should be a banner occasion in this respect. Descriptive pieces and the latest popular tunes, interspersed with classical selections and songs, will undoubtedly prove universally attractive.

Those who were disappointed at not hearing John J. Nestor in his two song hits, "My Lonely Little Lonesome Maid" and "I Wish the Band Would Play," can congratulate themselves on another chance to listen to this popular tenor. Mr. Nestor will sing these two selections tomorrow night. A feature of the programme will be a cornet solo, "Aquarilla Polka," played by L. R. Anderson.

If the proper arrangements can be consummated in time, a display of fire works will be given. The detailed programme follows:

March, "Souvenir de Suisse," Vereechen; overture, "Tambour der Garde," Titl; concert waltz, "Hearts Courageous," Blanke; corner solo, "Aquarilla Polka," Short, L. R. Anderson; medley, "Bedella," Sutton; vocal solo, (a) "I Wish the Band Would Play," (b) "My Lonely Little Lonesome Maid," by request, John J. Nestor; selection, "The Mocking Bird," Sione; descriptive, "Cavalry Charge," Luders; reverie, "The Birds and the Brook," Stults; finale, (a) "Polly Prim," Henry, (b) "The Man With the Ladder and the Hose."

Attractions at Men's Meeting.

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon, will be addressed by Rev. Ernest Nash, a returned missionary from the West African field. Iced lemonade and fans will be furnished and should form a pleasant accompaniment to the exercises related by the speaker, of his service on the Dark Continent.

ALIS AND WESTFIELD TO RESUME THE SERIES

Mayor Perkins, of Westfield, Brings About an Amicable Agreement With Alis Club.

REFEREES TO DECIDE

DISPUTE TO BE SETTLED BY A COMMITTEE OF THREE.

Next Game to Take Place on Saturday, July 16—The Decision of the Judges to be Final.

It is practically agreed that the Alis and Westfield baseball series will be resumed. At a meeting held at the Alis Club, last night Mayor Randolph Perkins, an officer of the Westfield Baseball Association, being present, a form of agreement was drafted whereby each club is to select a man and they in turn are to pick a third, to compose a committee of three.

To this committee will be referred the disputed questions and each club agrees to abide by the decision of the three men, one of whom is to be a wholly disinterested person. The chief question for the committee will be the disputed contest and after considering all the details in connection with it, a decision will be made as to whether the disputed game should be counted.

In the meantime arrangements will be made to continue the series, the first of which may be played on Saturday, July 16. It is safe to say that Kenzie will not umpire the game as the Alis Club will not agree to his handling the indicator. Other conditions will be arranged satisfactorily.

While Mayor Perkins was attending the Alis meeting, Manager Denman was in town with the committee representing St. Mary's proposed team. It became noised about that in case Alis and Westfield failed to come to terms, the St. Mary committee would arrange for a series with Westfield in the hope of defeating Alis in its purpose. Manager Johnston has given up his agreement with the St. Mary committee, because, as he says, he learned that the committee does not represent the St. Mary Club. This information he secured from John P. Owens and Henry Weirenga. If the committee is not a representative one, the Alis management does not care to enter into an agreement with them.

After the meeting other troubles threatened to cause another disruption between the two managers. Manager Denman intimated that he was going to play St. Mary's team, unless Manager Johnston would agree to throw down Hoboken and give him a game at Westfield Fourth of July afternoon. This the Alis manager refused to do and when the two managers left each other it looked as though the new agreement would be broken at once. This morning Denman called Johnston on the telephone and said that he had decided to abide by his original plans to play the New York Colored Giants at Westfield.

AUTO CAUSES A RUNAWAY

O. T. WARING'S MACHINE FRIGHTENS MICHAEL ARMSTRONG'S HORSE.

An automobile owned by O. T. Waring, of Park avenue, and a horse owned by Michael Armstrong, the plumber, had a bout yesterday afternoon in front of Mr. Armstrong's shop on Park avenue, near Fourth street. The auto, in charge of a couple of men, who have been engaged in repairing the machine, rode up in front of the plumbing shop within five feet of Mr. Armstrong's horse. The animal was tied to an iron post, but the pounding noise made by the machine was too much for him.

The horse gave a plunge, sliding completely out of his bridle, and before he could be caught, was making for Fourth street. At the corner he slipped and fell on the iron culvert, cutting his legs considerably. Quickly jumping to his feet he continued his journey to Watchung avenue, where some one caught him and returned him to the owner. Owing to injuries it was necessary to take the horse to Dr. Pocock's stables for treatment.

Queen City Election.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., met last night and elected these officers: Noble grand, H. H. Hoffman; vice grand, Joseph M. Gray; recording secretary, R. J. Neal. The third degree was worked on two candidates and there are now nine candidates awaiting initiation.

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS ARE GOING TO CAMP

Plainfielders to Pitch Their Tents Along the Shores of Lake Hopatcong Saturday.

MR. ROBBIE IN CHARGE

CAMP IS NAMED IN HONOR OF PRESIDENT S. A. CAHOONE.

Silver Cup Offered as Prize in Athletic Contest—Some of the Attractions—Members of the Camping Party.

The Y. M. C. A. members will pitch their tents at Camp Cahoone, at Lake Hopatcong, on Saturday morning.

The camp will be the vacation home of a large party of members of both the junior and men's departments of the local Y. M. C. A. and has been named Cahoone in honor of the president of the organization. Eleven large wall tents have been secured, several of which will be used for sleeping apartments. One will be for a headquarters tent, one for dining purposes, one for a store room and the other as a galley or cook-tent. The camp cuisine will be under the personal charge of Henry Kingslow.

An athletic meet will be arranged and run off while the party is in camp, the first prize being the handsome silver cup now on exhibition in Moraller & Sons' show window. Boats and canoes will be on hand for those who wish to try the fishing offshore and boat-races may be one of the features of the sports held from day to day.

The leaders of the party will be Kenneth Robbie, secretary of the junior department, who is to have full charge, Fred K. Armstrong, Arthur R. Humble, Herbert S. Brokaw, F. A. Henckel, Francis K. Anderson, Martin B. Stutsman and Arthur Jeffery. These will go ahead of the main party, consisting of members of the junior department, who expect to take the 8:21 train Tuesday morning, July 5. The following boys are going: Charles H. Line, Lawrence Edgar, William Burtis, James Fleming, Malcolm VanArsdale, Arthur VanArsdale, Russell Morris, Edward Alpaugh, Victor Houston, George M. Rittenhouse, Jr., Raymond Greene, August Stephany, Edward Embree, C. B. Leggett, Chester Denton, William Heath, Howard Freeman, Stewart Freeman, Edgar Freman, Walter Caldwell, Frank Webster, Clyde Doane, Robert Bellows, Arthur Perrine, Fred McClintock, Byron Mc Clintock, Ray Hart, Dudley Wilcox, John Schofield and Albert Coddington.

It has been planned that when the boys are gathered at the North avenue depot to take the train, a banner inscribed with the name "CAMP CAHOONE" will be stretched along the side of the car and a group photograph made of the whole party before boarding the car.

CAPT. HORN TAKES A BRIDE

U. S. MILITARY OFFICER WEDS MRS. MABEL PRETTYMAN AT HIGHWOOD.

Captain Tiemann Newell Horn, U. S. Artillery Corps, formerly of this city, and Mrs. Mabel Tillon Young Prettyman, daughter of Mrs. George Wright Young, were married yesterday at the home of the bride's mother, "The Lindens," Highwood, N. J. The affair was a quiet one, being attended by a limited number of guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. B. Carpenter.

Captain Horn spent his boyhood days here and was graduated from the Plainfield High School. Later he received an appointment to West Point and he was graduated from the Military Academy with high honors. During his army service, he has been employed in the performance of various duties. At one time he was in charge of the school of instruction in drills in the South and he received special commendation for his work. During the past few years he has been stationed at Forts Hamilton and Hancock.

Social at Hope Chapel.

After their weekly meeting last night the members of the Young People's Society, of Hope chapel held an informal sociable. Games and refreshments were the features. The committee in charge comprised Mrs. A. B. Lewis, chairman; Mrs. H. K. Lister, Miss Mabel Firstbrook, Harry K. Lister and John Adams.

LEAL'S BOYS IN ATHLETICS

FINE RECORD MADE THIS SEASON IN OUTDOOR SPORTS.

During the early spring followers of the various school teams here was able to witness interesting athletic events and in this Leal's School took the lead in many contests. The football eleven made a good record, inning five games and playing the other one to a draw. The contests resulted as follows:

Leal's, 0, Montclair Military Academy, 0; Leal's, 11, Pingry, 0; Leal's, 17, Plainfield High School, 0; Leal's, 34, Pingry, 0; Leal's, 29, Plainfield High School, 0; Leal's, 5, Montclair Military Academy, 0.

In basket ball the school team did not do so well, winning only four out of thirteen contests. The opposing fives made a total of 217 points against 134 for Leal's.

Little interest was shown in hockey, only four games being played, in which the opposing teams scored 10 points as against seven for the school boys.

A better showing was made in baseball, although the nine was composed almost entirely of new material. Out of eleven contests, Leal's lost five and won six. The school boys made a total of seventy-six runs against seventy-five by the opposing teams. Some of the teams played were among the best of the school aggregations and included Montclair High School, Pingry, Princeton Charter Club and Newark Academy, and in nearly every case the scores were low.

The prospects for next year's team is better for it is believed that some strong material will enter the school in the fall. The school has joined the New Jersey Interscholastic League composed of schools at Elizabeth, Newark and Orange and some interesting athletic events may be looked for during next season. It is expected that the new league will prove a strong incentive for the boys to develop themselves in various athletic feats and that Leal's School will make a good showing.

WAR ON INSURGENT JUNIORS

JR. O. U. A. M. TO BRING SUIT AGAINST INDEPENDENT ORDER.

Alexander M. DeHaven, of Philadelphia, is authority for the statement that the Junior Order American Mechanics will once more go to law. The regulars are to bring suit against the recently formed Order of Independent Americans to recover $44,000, said to be the overdue per capita tax owed by the insurgent Councils to the National organization. It is also proposed to apply for an injunction to prevent the Order of United Americans from declaring its objects to be those of the Junior Order United American Mechanics and from retaining the franchise and paraphernalia now in possession of the insurgent Councils.

It is said that about $350,000 is now in possession of the "insurgent" Councils, which organized the Order of Independent Americans a week ago at Reading, Pa. As far as can be learned, it is the evident purpose of the new organization to take the objects and operate an organization exactly like the Jr. O. U. A. M. It is not proposed to interfere with the name of the new society, but only so far as it imitates the objects of the original society. It is believed by the actions and plans of the new organization to stampede members from the Jr. O. U. A. M.

Difficulties between the two factions of the Junior Mechanics arose several years ago over the question of assessments and other details of administration. The "insurgents" seceded and formed a State Council in Pennsylvania which they claimed was the legal one. The judiciary of the National Council and the State Courts both decided against them. The "insurgents" are planning to organize Councils in every State in the Union.

Will Return to the Postal Service.

Daniel Shea, who has been operator at the local office of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, will on Friday return to his former position in the postal service, either as a letter-carrier or clerk in the postoffice. His place at the telegraph office will be taken by Miss C. Holmes from the main office of the company in New York. She will make her home with Mrs. Sharp on West Sixth street.

POPULAR COUNCILMAN IS QUIETLY MARRIED

Robert L. Lee Springs a Pleasant Surprise on His Friends by Becoming a Benedict.

CEREMONY AT HOME

MRS. EMMA J. CUMBERSON, FORMERLY OF RED BANK, IS THE BRIDE.

The Groom Well-Known About Town — Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck Officiates—Now Living at His Residence.

Councilman Robert L. Lee and Mrs. Emma J. Cumberson were quietly married at 7:30 o'clock last night by Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, at his home on West Front street. Councilman and Mrs. J. Stephen Higham, the latter a sister of the groom, and the bride's three children, were the only ones present to witness the ceremony. The couple are now residing at the home of the groom, 828 West Fourth street.

The bride was a resident of Red Bank until three years ago when she came to this city to live. Mr. Lee has been a resident here for many years and for several terms has been one of the representatives of the Fourth Ward in the Council, and a member of several of its important committees.

Since his election to the Council he has manifested more than ordinary interest in city affairs. He is a member of Perseverance Lodge, Knights of Pythias and other fraternal organizations and is very popular.

COLORED SOCIETY WEDDING

MISS ROSA THOMPSON BECOMES THE WIFE OF PERRY JENKINS.

The wedding of Miss Rosa Thompson, of this city, to Perry Jenkins, also of Plainfield, was celebrated last night at 9 o'clock, at the home of the bride, 217 West Third street, Rev. Scott Wallace, pastor of Calvary Baptist church, officiating.

There were two bridesmaids, Miss Rebecca Hamlet and Miss Mary Mattison, both of this city. William Johnson and Waverly Carter were groomsmen.

The house was elaborately decorated with flowers and foliage. The bride was dressed in white china silk and carried white sweet peas. The bridesmaids wore white mousselaine de soie and carried shower bouquets of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins left after the ceremony for a Southern wedding trip. They will reside in this city. The bride is a native of Charlotteville, Va., while the groom's home is in Philadelphia. Both are well known in colored church and social circles in this city and start their married life with the best wishes of a host of friends.

A JUVENILE CLUB'S FAIR

NORTH PLAINFIELD CRESCENT CLUB MAKES A SUCCESS OF ATTRACTION.

The treasury of the North Plainfield Crescent Baseball Club was increased about $20 by the club's second annual fair held on the Sebring lot at the corner of Prospect place and Grove street, yesterday. The sale started at 2:20 in the afternoon and continued until 9 at night, the grounds being illuminated after dark by Japanese lanterns.

Ice cream was dispensed by Leroy Vanderbeek, Charles Lee and Dorrance Smith, candy by Carlton Smith; peanuts and lemonade by Pierson Bailey and cake by Albert Tester. The committee in charge consisted of Leroy Vanderbeek, Charles Lee and Carlton Smith. In addition to those mentioned, the following members of the club assisted: Cory Adams, A. Russell Dorringer, John Rittenhouse and Reginald Fawcett. The profits will be devoted to the purchase of jerseys and caps for the club's baseball nine.

Alis Signs Heckman.

Manager Johnston, of Alis, has signed Heckman, the fast third baseman of the Hobokens, and commencing Saturday he will play that position for Alis. In the Alis-Hoboken contest on Saturday, June 18, Heckman made two singles and a three bagger. He also played his position without an error. Alis was only able to get him through a general shakeup being made by Manager Daab, of Hoboken.

RELUCTANTLY RELEASE REV. DR. EDWIN L. EARP

Quarterly Conference of Grace M. E. Regretfully Dissolves Relations With the Pastor.

PRAISE HIM HIGHLY

MINISTER ACCEPTS CHAIR OF SOCIOLOGY AT SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, Presiding Elder Halleron and William J. Conroy Make Addresses—Resolutions Are Passed.

Final action on the release of Rev. Dr. Earp from the pastorate of Grace M. E. church to enable him to begin his work as professor of sociology in Syracuse University in the fall, was taken at the second quarterly conference of the church last night. In formally dissolving relations with the pastor, the members of Board of Trustees and Presiding Elder Halleron, who was in the chair, expressed regret over Dr. Earp's departure in eulogistic phrase. Resolutions of appreciation of his character and his work were passed.

Following the presentation of the usual conference reports, Dr. Earp formally laid the matter of his call to the university before the Conference. The action of the Official Board, last Friday, in releasing Dr. Earp August 1 was ratified.

By unanimous rising vote a resolution similar to the highly complimentary one on the minutes of the last meeting of the Official Board, the full text of which was published on Monday, was passed.

Dr. H. K. Carroll expressed the regret of the trustees over the approaching departure. He was sorry to hear that Dr. Earp was going away, he said, but glad that in his going he went to so wide a field. He congratulated him, and felt sure that in his new field the church, the community and the world at large would bear of him.

W. J. Conroy spoke feelingly of the endearment that had grown between the pastor and his people. He said that not only the people of the church but outside citizens, even those not members of a church, would regret to hear of Dr. Earp's departure.

Presiding Elder Halleron added an eloquent word of praise and regret. He spoke of the friendship he had formed for Dr. Earp since his first meeting with him when Dr. Earp had charge of a Newark pastorate. He eulogized the Doctor's character, and said he had had his eye on him, and expected just such an advance as had come.

Dr. Earp's response was feelingly worded. He expressed a deep sorrow in leaving his charge and Plainfield. This had practically been his first home, he said. His two children were baptized at the Grace font, and this community would always be large in his memory and in his heart.

There was some talk of Dr. Earp's temporary successor between the supply committee and Presiding Elder Halleran, but nothing of a definite nature developed. Two or three names have been suggested to the committee, but no actual steps toward filling the pulpit have been taken as yet. The conference adjourned subject to the call of the Presiding Elder, who will convene it when some definite action upon the pastorate is to be taken. The pastorate will be filled in as short a time as it is possible to arrange matters to that end.

Dr. Earp will speak his final word to his charge on Sunday, July 31.

Miss Mary VanCleef, of Millstone, has been the guest of Miss Anna M. Garretson, of Clinton avenue.

ST. MARY'S PUPILS COMPLETE THEIR WORK

Graduates in Commercial Department Present Elaborate Programme.

SOME GOOD ESSAYS

MISS MARGARET LUTZ IS THE SALUTATORIAN.

Pupils Give "The Bogus Inspector," an Amusing Operatta — Father Egan Presents the Diplomas—Reception to Graduates.

Completing the three-nights' series of graduations, the commercial department of St. Mary's Parochial School, the highest of the institution, held its commencement last night in the school hall. As at the other two exercises there was an elaborate programme of entertainment. Additional interest was given to the exercises by the distribution of honors for which the grduates strove during their last year of study.

Eleven young people composed the graduating class: Margaret F. Lutz, Helen E. Hanrahan, Margaret A. King, Mary T. McCarthy, Christine V. McEachen, Blanche A. Skinner, John P. Kyle, Eugene E. Johnson, Joseph B. Sullivan, John T. Caulfield and Cornelius J. McCarthy. A large audience of relatives and friends, and members of the parish, saw the class go forth on the careers for which they have been preparing under the tutelage of the gentle and motherly Sisters, and the counsel of the wise and fatherly priests.

An interesting aspect of the audience was the presence, in a body, of the recently organized alumni association. The old graduates were accorded seats of honor near the platform.

Miss Margaret Lutz delivered the salutatory. Her address was happily worded, with well turned phrases. John Kyle was the valedictorian, the subject of his address being "Christian Education." He gave an eloquent and interesting exposition of the value of religious instruction in conjunction with secular teaching.

Father Egan distributed the following honors: Gold medal, for general excellence, to Miss Margaret Lutz; second honor, gold cross, for excellence, to John Kyle; gold medal, for best essay on Christian doctrine, Miss Mary McCarthy; gold medal, for prize essay, to Miss Helen Hanrahan; gold medal, for excellence in stenography and typewriting, to Miss Margaret Lutz; gold medal, for arithmetic, Miss Mary McCarthy.

Honorable mention was awarded to the following, in the order named: Miss Elizabeth Brown, George McCusker, Katherine McCauley, James Cullen, Mary McKenna, William Sullivan.

For attaining 100 per cent. in attendance, the following were given honorable mention also: Margaret Lutz, John McEachen, Madeline Seaman, Mary Powers, Charles Schuck, James Cumiskey.

The chief feature of the entertainment was "The Bogus Inspector," a pretty little operetta of school life. It abounded in funny situations, with many tuneful numbers, of which the cast took full advantage. The music was well rendered, and all the members of the cast filled their parts with a degree of cleverness that reflected very much credit upon Sister Mary Esther and Madam Menaeli Bartlett, who coached them.

The main parts were taken as follows:

Colonel Fig, inspector of schools, Edward Carty; valet to inspector, James Cullen; Mr. Pointer, school teacher, James Cumiskey; Mr. Fetchem, school attendance officer, Martin Welsh; Johnny Stout, a lazy schoolboy, Thomas Harding.

There was a large and well-trained chorus in support of these leading characters. A feature of the operetta was a Dunces' Dance, in which James Lynch, Thomas Harding, William Colvin, Frank Hand, Thomas Lappan, William Casey, John Barry, John Miles, John Brown, Joseph Schuck, Charles Rodier, Edward O'Loughlin. The Country Dance performed at the grammar graduation the night before, which scored a remarkable success, was repeated. It evoked as much enthusiastic applause as was brought out by its first presentation. Those who took part in it were: Katherine Kelly, Mary Kyle, Emma Killoran, Ella Lappan, Lillian Fennessy, Bridge Hepner, Helen Mullen, Katherine Galbraith, Mary Crosby, Margaret

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Alex. Lusardi, the fruit dealer, of 311 West Front street, has a large stock and full line of fireworks, fire-crackers, torpedoes, caps and cannons for the Fourth of July. He has also received a good stock of fresh fruit and choice confectionery, nuts and cigars. Before buying your fireworks give him a call.

The stock of jewelry, silverware, watches and diamonds at Charles E. Vail's store in Park avenue, is one of the best in the State. Mr. Vail guarantees all his goods to be of the best quality and his prices will appeal to you.

Besides dispensing a superior soda water with pure fruit syrups, Dudley Miller, the Park avenue druggist, conducts a first-class drug store. His prescription department is one of the best and all prescription work is promptly attended to day or night.

For fresh vegetables, the highest grade groceries, fresh meats and poultry go to S. Scheuer & Co.'s store in West Front street, and your wants will be fully satisfied. The firm buys good in such large quantities that it can afford to sell cheaper than a smaller dealer and a share of your patronage is solicited. Prompt deliveries are made to all parts of the city and vicinity.

TenEyck & Harris, coal dealers, have the reputation for selling the best grade of anthracite. The firm would like to receive your patronage, believing that it can please you.

It is very difficult for some persons to save money. If it is placed in the Dime Savings Institution you will not only save the money, but you will receive a liberal percentage. This institution is well established and conducted along the best lines.

It is the heighth of foolishness to go away for the summer and leave your silverware in the closets or family chest. That is simply inviting thievery. Nine chances to one the invitation will be accepted. Put your valuables in the City National Bank's safe deposit vaults. They will be safe there, and nowhere else in the city.

Only one jewelry store of real proportions and methods of doing business in Plainfield. That is L. Moraller & Son's place on Park avenue. Everything in jewelry, low or high priced. Low or high, though, the price is right. Fine line of silver novelties, suitable for summer uses.

Still the call comes from discriminating smokers for the full flavored Nickel Yara cigar. You must go to M. C. Dobbins for it. Also for the the Pinar del Rio.

Better beer on draught than that offered at the cafe of the Hotel Waldorf, East Front street, is not in Plainfield—or anywhere else

Think awhile before taking your auto repair work to anybody but Allen B. Laing, Sycamore street. At any other place you are apt to be "stung."

Fine hemstitched linen handkerchiefs at Peck's, where the goods are always the same. Lace ones too and the finest you can get anywhere at that. In all lines of goods handled by Peck the premier grade is the rule.

Hoagland's express is the proper means of carrying your freight and any other goods you may want carted. The best is good enough for those who deal with Hoagland.

When you want a fancy vest, go to the Plainfield Surprise Store and look over their store for something to suit your taste. It is certainly there and your search will be amply repaid by the saving in price. Fine summer underwear there also, that will tempt you into buying more than you really need, just for the sake of the bargain. Another hot weather leader is the alpaca coat These alpacas are the real article, not cheesecloth, and will give more satisfaction than any other one thing you could purchase.

It is safe to assert that you will never buy an automobile until you have established a bank account and the best start toward that end is to deposit a modest sum with the Plainfield Trust Company, where it will be increased by that delightful scheme known as compound interest. Try it and find out how it feels to have money working for you, day and night.

Try a large bottle of the pure, sparkling Washington Rock Spring Water. It is best when kept in the refrigerator and brought, cold and clear to the table. The care exercised in the bottling of this spring water is the best safeguard that could be asked in the direction of purity.

It Is Guaranteed to Cure

It destroys the very roots of these diseases. It fortifies the body against the attack of disease germs of every kind. It tones up, renews and invigorates the entire system. It is the only remedy in the world which completely and permanently drains out of the blood every particle of Uric Acid, Urates, etc., which cause these terrible diseases. It has cured thousands of others. It will cure you. Why shorten your life by neglect when health can be yours now.

Had Almost Given Up In Despair.
Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure Brought Health.

It is with a feeling of thankfulness that I write you this letter, and if it will be of any benefit to suffering humanity, you have my permission to publish it.

I was suffering with my kidneys when I saw your advertisement offering a free sample of Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure. I got the sample and was so much benefited by it that I continued taking the medicine, and now I am entirely well. I had tried many things to relieve me of the awful pain in my back and when I had almost given up in despair, Dr. Gossom's Kidney and Bladder Cure brought the relief for which I had so long hoped.

FLOOD ON PANHANDLE

Five Hundred Homes Near Pittsburg Inundated.

CLOUDBURST'S LOSS HALF A MILLION

Many Narrow Escapes From Death In the Water—Buildings and Bridges Washed Away—Horses and Cattle Drowned.

PITTSBURG, June 30. — Over 500 homes, business houses and schoolhouses a short distance from Pittsburg, on the Panhandle railroad, have been inundated in from two to ten feet of water in Robinson's Run hollow and the Chartiers valley by a cloudburst.

The damage will reach nearly $500,000.

Many buildings and bridges were washed away, horses and cattle were drowned, and at least one life was lost. It is rumored that many others have perished.

In the Bastian hotel, at McDonald, Charles Hayes, the engineer, was caught in a room in the basement. Almost without warning the water poured in upon him. Escape by way of the door was cut off. He reached safety by crawling through the transom.

The Murchland sisters, who conduct a millinery store at McDonald, narrowly escaped death in the flood. Their store was washed from its base, with the three women in it. They were rescued by Charles Cameron, who waded to the building and carried out the sisters one by one.

The house of Arnold Glaser was overturned by the rushing water. The five members of the family had sought safety in one of the upper rooms. All succeeded in escaping.

Miss Blanche Bush, a clerk in a newsstand at McDonald, had a narrow escape. The store was lifted from its place and swept into the stream. Miss Bush was caught in the structure, and as it floated away she screamed for help. Her cries were heard by George Hemmerling, an oil operator. He plunged into the water and swam to the building, bringing back Miss Bush with him.

Both the electric plants at McDonald were flooded, and the town was in total darkness. The flood did not subside until daylight, and many families slept outdoors during the night.

Railroad traffic on the Panhandle railroad through the flooded section was completely tied up, the tracks washed away, and many towns above and below Oakdale and Carnegie were left without means of communication.

The only fatality reported thus far was the drowning of an unidentified Italian, whose body was found floating in Robinson run.

Thirty More Miners Deported.

DENVER, June 30.—Thirty-nine men who were deported from Cripple Creek under military escort have arrived in this city, joining the colony of exiles already established here. This colony numbers over 200 men, and they have organized a local union affiliated with the Western Federation of Miners. It was General Bell's intention to leave the thirty men at Colorado Springs, but as the authorities of that city strongly protested the train came on to Denver. Up to date 183 men have been deported from the Cripple Creek district by the military. In addition hundreds fled to avoid arrest and incarceration. About sixty union miners against whom, it is said, criminal charges will be filed are still in the custody of the military at Cripple Creek and Victor.

Senate Passed Anti-poolroom Law.

NEW ORLEANS, June 30. — The Hunsicker anti-poolroom bill has passed the state senate. This means that the seven poolrooms doing business in New Orleans and others throughout the state will have to close on Sept. 1. Governor Blanchard will sign the bill at once. The penalty attached to running a poolroom or being employed in one will be a fine of not less than $200 or not more than $600, with imprisonment of six months.

Sons of Veterans at Newark, N. Y.

NEWARK, N. Y., June 30. — This was the most important day of the annual state encampment of the Sons of Veterans. The big feature was the parade of the delegates from the various state camps in, conjunction with the annual review of the Newark fire department. Resolutions were adopted expressing the encampment's appreciation of the hospitality of the people of Newark.

More Rapid Transit For New York.

NEW YORK, June 30.—August Belmont, president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, has assured Mayor McClellan that the great underground electric railway will be opened for traffic on Sept. 1. The occasion will be marked by ceremonies in which the city officials will take part. The time set in the contract for the completion of the road is Aug. 21. It has cost nearly $40,000,000.

Nice Doings at Hardwick's Camp.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 30.—In a shooting at Hardwick's camp, on the new extension of the Seaboard Air line, two white men, Matt Bunn and Walker Wheeler, were killed, and Samuel Bunn, a brother of Matt Bunn, was wounded by Will Williams, a negro desperado. Williams escaped, but a posse is after him.

What Will He Do With Them?

HAMBURG, June 30.—The senate has sent to King Edward two silver decanters as a souvenir of his recent visit.

VICTORY FOR JAPS

Capture of Forts Foreshadows Port Arthur's Fate.

NAVARIN RAMMED AT CRONSTADT

Report of Russian Reverse East of Haicheng, Where They Made a Hurried Retreat, Fearing to Be Cut Off.

LONDON, June 30.—A special from Tokyo says that after fierce fighting in which the Japanese attacked simultaneously the three fortified hills Chikwanshan, Chitanchan and Sochoshan southeast of and part of the Port Arthur defenses, they were captured.

After an overwhelming bombardment the mikado's men drove out the Russians.

Sochoshan was first captured, and the other forts fell soon afterward. The Russians retreated west.

The Japanese lost three officers and a hundred men killed or wounded, and they captured two guns and a quantity of ammunition.

It is reported from Tientsin that the Russians were defeated about sixteen miles east of Haicheng and owing to the rapid advance of the Japanese at Tatchekiao are hurriedly retreating north, fearing to be cut off.

A Cronstadt report says that the Russian battleship Navarin while returning to her anchorage was rammed by the Russian ironclad Netron Menia, which struck her amidships. The damage to the Navarin is not serious, though it may be necessary to drydock the vessel.

Advices from Chefu say that eight refugees who left Port Arthur in a Chinese junk have been picked up at sea. They belonged to the upper class. They state that the Russian fleet now consists of the following ships in good condition: The Cesarevitch, Retvizan, Pobieda, Peresviet, Poltava, Askold, Diana, Bayan, Novik and twenty torpedo craft and smaller boats. The torpedo transport Amur is damaged and the battleship Sevastopol slightly damaged, but they can soon be repaired.

There are 12,000 sailors and 40,000 soldiers in Port Arthur. There are 250 artisans and 2,000 citizens. These 2,000 have now been drafted into the army and are drilling daily. There is plenty of food, but the government is controlling prices in order to prevent speculation.

RUSSIAN DISASTER.

Submarine Crew In Panic—Twenty-one Dead.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 30.—The submarine boat Delfin went down at her moorings in the Neva, off the Baltic shipbuilding yard, yesterday, with the loss of an officer, Lieutenant Cherkasoff, and twenty men.

The accident was due partly to the excessive number of the crew, mostly inexperienced men, and chiefly to the unfortunate attempt of a man to escape while his comrades were screwing down the manhole.

The officers and men detailed for submarine boat instruction had assembled at the Baltic yard, and three officers decided to go down in the Delfin, although her captain was not present, relying on the experience of her skilled crew. A score of novices were anxious to go with the three officers.

The Delfin's nominal capacity is ten men, instead of which thirty-two entered the boat, bringing her manhole in dangerous proximity to the river level. Just then a tug passed, sending a heavy wash against the boat.

So soon as the water splashed into the submarine boat's interior it created a panic among the novices, and one of them tried to get out of the manhole, which the older hands were screwing down preparatory to the descent, the submerging compartment having already been opened. The water rushed in, and as the submerged vessel sank like a stone the officers and some of the men were saved by being blown up through the manhole by the rush of escaping air. When the Delfin shortly afterward was raised the bodies were recovered.

Frenzied Woman's Act.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30.—Temporarily insane and resisting an attempt to send her to a hospital, Mrs. Margaret Morris fatally cut her husband, Isaac F. Morris, a packing house employee, at their home here with a razor. Morris fought despegately with his wife for fifteen minutes in an attempt to escape. The woman barred the door and slashed him in a fearful manner, cutting gashes in his throat, arms and on several parts of his body. Morris finally escaped by jumping through a window.

Tibetans Ask Armistice.

GYANGTSE, Tibet, June 30.—A lama came in under a flag of truce from the Tibetans asking an armistice pending the arrival at Shigatse of officials from Lassa, who will be prepared to negotiate with the British expedition. The British will undertake negotiations providing the Tibetan officials have sufficient authority.

Wealthy Planter Killed.

MOBILE, Ala., June 30.—John H. McDuffie, a wealthy planter at River Ridge, Mon[illegible] county, has been killed there by Sonny English, another planter. Mr. McDuffie was highly regarded. He assisted in the capture of Rube Burrows, the noted outlaw and train robber, several years ago.

EDWARD SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

Two Monarchs Saw German Boat Suzanne Win Gold Cup.

KIEL, Germany, June 30.—King Edward's visit was brought to an end by a farewell banquet on the German imperial yacht Hohenzollern last night The British royal yacht Victoria and Albert, with his majesty on board, sailed for England at daybreak, escorted by the British cruiser squadron.

King Edward and Emperor William witnessed part of the racing from Eckernfoerde to Kiel on board the Victoria and Albert.

The German yacht Suzanne won the gold cup given by King Edward. The empress' yacht Iduna was second, and Morton F. Plant's Ingomar was third. The victory of the Suzanne greatly delighted the German yachtsmen. The emperor's yacht Meteor III. did not finish and was towed in by a torpedo boat.

Emperor William went on board the Victoria and Albert, which, escorted by British and German torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers, proceeded to sea to meet the yachts. The weather was fine. All the warships and yachts in the harbor dressed ship in honor of the last day of King Edward's visit.

MILES MAY ACCEPT.

Boom For the General at Prohibition Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 30.—The boom for General Nelson A. Miles for the Prohibition, nomination for president was given a decided forward movement by a public meeting of delegates and visitors at the statehouse following the adjournment of the afternoon session of the convention. Fifteen hundred people were present, of whom over 400 wore delegates' badges. Alonzo E. Wilson, the Illinois state chairman, presided. John G. Woolley of Chicago, editor of the Voice, gave evidence as to General Miles' position. He said he had been in close communication with General Miles during the past six weeks by letters, visits and conversations.

"I do not know that he will accept the nomination," said Mr. Woolley, "but I believe he will. I told him I was coming to Indianapolis to assist in his nomination unless he forbade me. He did not forbid me, and if he were to allow me to come under these circumstances and then decline the nomination he is not the sensitive gentleman he should be."

YOUNG GIRL KILLED.

Body Found Partly Submerged In a Shallow Stream.

DANVILLE, Va., June 30. — Miss Pauline Edwards, daughter of a well known farmer, has been drowned in a creek near her home in this county. The body, partly submerged, was discovered by a farm hand before the young woman was missed from her home. The young woman's clothing was torn and disheveled, and the sod on the bank of the stream was loosened as if in a struggle.

It is believed that the girl, who was not more than sixteen years of age, was assaulted and that her head afterward was held in the stream until she drowned. The water in the creek is not more than a few inches deep.

Clasped in the dead girl's fingers was found a piece of cloth which might have been a part of a man's coat. All the circumstances indicated that the girl had made a desperate fight. There were marks on her neck which might have been the impressions of human fingers.

Indorsed Cockrell For President.

JOPLIN, Mo., June 30.—The Democratic state convention to elect thirty-six delegates to the national convention at St. Louis last night selected the following delegates at large: United States Senator William J. Stone, Governor Alexander H. Dockery, Congressman Champ Clark and David A. De Armond. Thirty-two district delegates were also chosen. The convention was controlled by the so called "machine" element, which is opposed to the faction supporting Joseph W. Folk of St. Louis for governor. The convention indorsed Francis M. Cockrell for president. The delegates were instructed to vote as a unit on all questions in the national convention.

Max Reisner Like the Cat.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 30.—The coroner's inquest in the case of Roxie McGee, who was killed in the Victor rioting, is still in progress behind closed doors. The first "They Can't Come Back" button has reached the city and was worn by Special Agent K. C. Sterling of the Mine Owners' association. Three thousand buttons will be distributed among those favorable to the movement to prevent deported men from returning to the district. Max Reisener, who was deported to the Colorado-New Mexico line two weeks ago, returned to camp and was immediately placed under arrest and taken to the armory prison at Victor. He will be sent out again.

Cheers For Roosevelt In London.

LONDON, June 30.—United States Ambassador Choate presided last night at the seventy-seventh anniversary festival of the Printers' Pension Almshouse and Orphan Asylum corporation, at which 300 persons were present. In proposing the toast of the evening, "The Printers' Corporation," Mr. Choate paid a tribute to the increasing power of the press. In conclusion the ambassador said he had received a letter from President Roosevelt asking him to convey the president's greetings to the Printers' Pension corporation. The toast was drank with cheers for President Roosevelt.

Funeral of Daniel D. Emmett.

MOUNT VERNON, O., June 30.—The funeral services over the remains of Daniel Decatur Emmett, who enjoyed a national reputation because of his authorship of the famous song "Dixie," will be held tomorrow afternoon at St. Paul's Episcopal church, Rev. William E. Hull officiating. Interment will be made at Mount View cemetery, where Uncle Dan's first wife and members of his family are buried. Al G. Field, the minstrel, will attend the funeral.

Seven Hundred Got Degrees.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 30.—The feature of the programme in connection with the Yale commencement exercises was the conferring of degrees by President Hadley. About 700 members of the university were given their degrees, and honorary degrees were conferred upon a score of men, some of whom possess national reputations.

Former Senator Dead.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 30.—Former United States Senator John L. Mitchell is dead here after a lingering illness. He had been critically ill for the past ten days, and his entire family was at his bedside when he died. He had recently resigned as a member of the national board of soldiers' homes on account of his failing health.

DUMONT FOR PARIS

Famous Aeronaut Declined to Have Repairs Made Here.

Rumor Current on Fair Grounds That the Brazilian Could Tell Who Damaged His Airship—Work Will Cost $5,000.

ST. LOUIS, June 30.—Colonel K. P. Kingsbury, commandant of the Jefferson guards, who has been investigating the attempted destruction of the gas bag of Santos-Dumont's airship, has made his report to President Francis of the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

After reciting in detail the movements of the guards during the night of June 27, when the damage was done, Colonel Kingsbury says in part:

"I learn from Lieutenant Walsh of the secret service, who has investigated the matter thoroughly, that Mr. Hudson, superintendent, spoke to Mr. Dumont of the advisability of placing special watchmen over the balloon and placing the cover on the box. This Mr. Dumont failed to do, only partially replacing the cover, as he stated he desired to get all the air possible in contact with the balloon.

"One of Mr. Dumont's assistants is said to carry a large, strong knife. Owing to the strength of the numerous folds and thickness of the balloon envelope some such knife as this would have been necessary to cut the balloon.

"I am told that Mr. Hudson stated that the balloon could be repaired here, at least temporarily, in from two to five days."

The rumor became current in St. Louis that Mr. Dumont could tell who damaged the gas bag, and a statement to that effect was published in a newspaper. When shown this statement Mr. Dumont said it was ridiculous. He said further: "It will probably cost me $5,000 before the damage is repaired. I have the gas bag packed and ready to ship and will send it to Paris at once. I myself shall go to Paris and superintend the repair work."

"Professor Meyers has said he can repair the damage here. Why do you not let him do it?" was asked.

"Because," replied Mr. Dumont, "I do not think Professor Meyers or any one else this side of Paris can make the repairs. If Professor Meyers repairs the bag he can go up in the ship. I will not trust myself in it.

"I shall leave all the machinery of the airship here and take only the damaged bag to Paris. I expect to return to America in about six weeks and will then make an ascension."

Charles F. Morrison, who was arrested on a charge of having cut the gas bag, has been released.

Republican Convention at Montpelier

MONTPELIER, Vt., June 30.—The Republican state convention has opened here. Candidates for nomination are C. J. Bell of Malden, Z. S. Stanton of Roxbury and J. A. De Boer of Montpelier. The headquarters of these men at the pavilion were busy places. The Bell supporters claim that their candidate will be elected on the first ballot, and the indications are that he will be provided the delegates from Rutland county stand solidly for him. In the number of pledged delegates Bell leads Stanton, and many delegates have been instructed for De Boer, who, however, has made no effort to secure the nomination. The convention was called to order by Thaddeus M. Chapman of Middlebury, chairman of the state committee, Congressman D. J. Foster of Burlington presiding.

Blight Destroys Fruit Trees.

BALLSTON, N. Y., June 30.—Trees laden with fruit are dying in the apple orchards throughout Saratoga county. About two weeks ago leaves began to wither as if they had been scorched by fire, the affected trees were soon destroyed, and the blight continued to spread. Stark Dake of Greenfield cut blighted twigs from the trees in his orchard and sent them to the state experimental farm at Geneva asking the cause. He received a reply saying the cause was uncertain, but that probably the roots were frozen by the severe cold last winter and are now dying. Peach, pear and plum trees were mostly winter killed throughout the county, and grapevines not carefully protected last fall met the same fate.

A Thorough Inspection at New York.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Secretary Cortelyou of the department of commerce and labor has sent the following telegram, which is self explanatory, to George Uhler, supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, New York: "You are hereby directed to begin at once the reinspection that has been ordered of the passenger carrying steamboats in New York harbor. Detail the very best men in your service for this work and order that those who made the inspection of any particular boat earlier in the season shall not make the reinspection now."

Lady Doctor a Suicide.

BURLINGTON, Vt., June 30.—Dr. Mary Partridge of Bennington has committed suicide by drowning at Red Rocks, on Lake Champlain, two miles south of this city. Dr. Partridge came here from her home in Bennington to visit her son. She went for a drive, but when the carriage reached Red Rocks she dismissed the driver. A half hour later the body was found in the water. A large stone had been attached to the clothing. Dr. Partridge had been in poor health for some time and recently underwent an operation.

Judge Parker is up against it. Bill Devery advocates his election.

The shortest telegram of congratulation received by Roosevelt was from a Western admirer who merely wrote "How." There is no record of his having replied "$$."

The New York State editors who visited Coney Island the other day thought the stories told by the press agents of the resort the greatest attraction. Wonder why?

"Jim" Smith is willing to pay the freight but every self respecting American citizen prides himself upon his ability to pay his own way.—Trenton State Gazette (Rep.)

Is this sound Republican doctrine?

According to a dispatch from St. Louis, the decorations for the Democratic National convention in the Coliseum will be in red, white, blue and yellow. Thus is Mr. Hearst given recognition.

A Mississippi man has gotten the Sphynx of Esopus to open his mouth to the extent of saying that he trusts the Democratic party. The man from Mississippi should get some share of the Carnegie hero fund.

Whenever a man's wife tells him that he talked in his sleep he is always afraid that he mentioned some other woman's name.—Paterson Evening News.

"And everybody wondered how he knew."

Three forts at Port Arthur are reported to have fallen again. In fact they have fallen about nine times in as many weeks. If the Japs will only bury the old walls, the few readers of the war news and fiction will be grateful.

Buying newspaper space means buying an audience. The man who has nerve enough to make a liberal contract for advertising, must have faith—faith in himself, faith in his business and faith in the newspaper he pays his money to. Advertising is the greatest force in business today, but it takes nerve to use it.—Ex.

Provided the debts are undisputed, business men in Connecticut may maintain a blacklist of debtors according to a decision just made in that State. In several States these lists have been declared illegal. The decision of the Connecticut judge will undoubtedly be a means of protecting business men from the "dead beats." There should be some way in every State of protecting the man who lends credit to that class of people which never pays any debts where escape is possible.

—A very successful season is predicted for Asbury Park, over one hundred thousand dollars having been expended in improvements. The boarding-houses report rooms engaged ahead and the railroad company states that every available day has been engaged for excursionists. The First Baptist church was fortunate in securing the first date, Thursday, July 7, for its annual excursion.

WESTFIELD WON HANDILY

TABLES TURNED ON THE COLORED GIANTS YESTERDAY.

The Westfield team reversed the Saturday score in its second contest with the New York Colored Giants at a business men's matinee, held yesterday afternoon, defeating the visitors by a score of 8 to 3. "Red" Waller only allowed six hits, while Westfield secured twelve. The score by innings:

BOOK NEWS.

It is planned to issue on Thursday of each week items of library news. This will frequently take the form of book lists, such as lists of books recently added, lists on special subjects and like topics. Frequently the lists will be annotated, the aim being to make these annotations of real service to the reader, by giving him the opinion of a trustworthy critic as to the value of the books or a few words as to their scope. Borrowers should keep these lists. The Plainfield Public Library will furnish to anyone making application a list of its books on a given subject.

ST. MARY'S PUPILS COMPLETE THEIR WORK

Conway, Mary Conway, Katherine McCauley.

Other features of the programme included the rendition of Chopin's Polonaise by Miss Mary Smith on the piano, the singing of "The Palms" by the graduates, and the singing of the class song, written by Miss Helen E. Hanrahan, by the alumni and the graduating class.

Immediately after the exercises the graduates and their friends gathered in Stafford Hall, where the Alumni Association tendered a reception and dance to the Class of 1904. Music for the dancing was furnished by Prof. Eugene O'Reilly's full orchestra.

During the intermission a colaltion was served. The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Miss Anna Daley, chairman; Dr. Frederick Hughes, Miss Katherine Flynn, Miss Mary Smith, Miss Anna O'Keefe and Miss Mary Burke.

AMUSEMENTS.

Arrangements for the opening of the Madison Square Roof Garden, New York, on the night of Saturday, July 2, are completed, and it is believed that this amusement resort—perhaps the most famous in America—will have, in "Paris by Night," an attraction well worthy its reputation. The spacious roof of the Garden has been elaborately decorated, and swept by breezes from both the East and Hudson rivers, it is certain to be delightfully cool at every performance. "Paris by Night" is not only the name of the varied attractions to be seen atop the Garden, but is the name of the musical play as well. This is a new musical offering, in two acts, and was written by Harry B. Marshall. The scenes are all laid in Paris, and the numerous rehearsals already held give promise that it will be tuneful, filled with bright comedy, and costly stage settings.

Frank C. Bostock, the Animal King, arrived at Coney Island Saturday, direct from his Paris hippodrome. Among his fellow passengers was the widely advertised Dr. John Alexander Dowie, the self styled Elijah III. Mr. Bostock was met off quarantine by a party of friends and capitalists, headed by Senator Reynolds, on a yacht, and taken off and brought direct to Coney Island. When Dowie heard the band and saw the Bostock flag at the peak, he thought the demonstration was intended for himself. The New York reporters asked the great trainer if he could train Dowie, he replied, "He doesn't belong to me."

Melville & Albaugh, the new managers of Riverside Park, assumed charge of the place this week and at once made some improvements about the place. They have lengthened the dancing hours so that the pavilion is now open from 8 to 11:30 p. m., with music all of the time by an orchestra of five pieces. The vaudeville bill has been strengthened, both as to quantity and quality. A high standard of shows is promised by the new management. This week the vaudeville is furnished by Miss Edith Doyle, soprano; Edwards and Rooney, comedians; Axtell and Howard, eccentric comiques; Weston Sisters, singers, dancers and burlesque boxers; McDonald and Huntington, comedy sketch.

Last Sunday, the hottest day of the season, Dreamland's bathing beach was opened for the first time. So great was the crowd that the sale of bathing tickets was suspended three times. At one time 1,000 people waited in line for vacant rooms. It has been arranged to open the bathing pavilion hereafter as early as six o'clock every morning and between the hours of 6 and 10 no charge for admission to Dreamland will be made. The price of a bathing ticket is 25 cents, which includes the use of suit and bath-room. For next Saturday, Sunday and Monday, practically three holidays in succession owing to July 4 coming on Monday, provision has been made to accommodate everybody without the tiresome delay of waiting in line. Four experienced life guards, with long records as life savers, are stationed in row boats at the bathing limit prepared for any emergency.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

July 3: "Christian Patriotism."—Rom. xiii, 1-7; I Pet. ii, 13-17.—A True Patriot.

It is a serious mistake to consider government as a necessary evil and to restrict its powers to a kind of police protection of the weak against the strong. Government, to be sure, has the duty of defense, but it is in fundamental conception a good and not an evil. It is necessary to the best development of men.

If one might always live alone and apart from all other creatures, his own will and desires might be the only rule he would need or know. As soon as a second person appears, and the attempt is made to live together, society has been constituted and there must be defining of rights, duties, privileges and relations. Nor are these dependent upon the arbitrary will of the two persons associated. Some exist in the nature of things without regard to the desires or views of the individuals under consideration. Others are dictated by surroundings and circumstances equally independent of the opinions of any one. The best way to state it is to say God has made the world and men as they are. When persons come to live in community they cannot alter, but must recognize, the truths which are basal in nature and must make their laws the plain expression of the facts fundamental in the constitution of man and nature. Government is an ordinance of God because He has so made men that they invariably constitute society in an ordered way. The task is to find out the basal rights which inhere in man and proclaim them in institutions and not merely in words.

Land is needed on which to raise food crops. What are the rights and corresponding duties of each and all as regards the locality where home is located? Patriotism is defense of heritage and homestead and fatherland against oppression and aggression. But it is far more than this. It is an enthusiasm for proper development of all resources and natural advantages for the betterment of community interests. Patriotism is a generous passion for the advancement of spiritual good of one's fellows as well as for the overthrow of enemies.

It is more than drums and bugles. It is more potent than cannon and bayonets. It means far more than ships of war and military equipment. Love of country may cause the eyes to fill with tears when we see the old flag of stars and stripes float on the breeze in a foreign land; it may lead one in the wild charge against bristling heights, smoke wreathed and bullet swept; it may demand all one's possessions and life itself, if need require, yet none of these is the highest tribute patriotism claims by right from us.

To be manly and womanly and live soberly with right reason, using every power of being for God gladly and for the good of our brother man, whether near or afar—that is true patriotism. He who would wrong any other land to benefit his own is no patriot, but a traitor in disguise. Love of our own lives only in advancement of the good of all.

For mankind are one in spirit, and an instinct bears along,
Round the earth's electric circle, the swift flash of right or wrong.
Whether conscious or unconscious, yet humanity's vast frame
Through its ocean sundered fibers feels the gush of joy or shame;
In the gain or loss of one race all the rest have equal claim.

The Path God Has Prepared.

Well did Luther triumph that the Lord of Hosts was with him and that he had for his refuge the God of Jacob. He who doeth according to His will in the armies of heaven and among the children of men ever makes His people a majority, though they may stand forsaken and alone among the people of the world. The hosts are at His command and encamp around His children, though, like the prophet's servant, our eyes may not discern them. With such an ever wakeful guardian, with such cohorts encircling us, we need have no anxiety, we need fear no evil. Whatever comes to pass can only be with the consent and approval of our Father. The path may be hidden from our dim eyes, the mist may obscure our vision, but we can confidently put our feet down, knowing that they will occupy just the position our God has prepared for us to walk in.—Episcopal Recorder.

Sinning Against Grace.

There are some things which the grace of God cannot do. It cannot save those who deliberately continue in sin. It is only effective in the lives of men and women who have formed the single purpose to walk in the ways of righteousness. There are many who make a sort of halfway covenant, secretly pledging themselves to the service of Satan while openly taking the vows of a Christian disciple. They have an idea that there is a positive virtue in being identified with the church. It costs little, they argue, in the way of personal effort or personal sacrifice to be a nominal church member, and the connection, moreover, may have some advantages. While they bear the Christian name they may secretly engage in selfish and sinful pursuits, taking care to repent and reform when death threatens.—Independent.

Duty of Church Membership.

The duty of church membership is plain and is an obligation of gratitude and love and life service; the joy of pardon and peace and hope of glory; the joy of salvation and loving devotion. To confess Christ before men in His church should be the very first desire of a new disciple. The church is His spiritual home, and Christians are its brethren and its work is Christ service.—Evangelist.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Pursuant to the provisions of the statute, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., for the years 1904-05, met at the rooms of the said board in the county jail building, in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on Wednesday, May 11, 1904, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Of the new members of the Board, Noah Woodruff, of Union township, was sworn in by Judge Vail, of the Court of Common Pleas; the other new members of the board were then sworn in by Noah Woodruff, Justice of the Peace, as follows:

Clark Township, Benj. King; Cranford, E. K. Adams; Fanwood, John Robison; Linden, Henry Krouse; New Providence, John F. Wahl; Springfield, Peter H. Meisel; Town of Westfield, W. W. Connoly, M. M. Scudder; Mountainside, Elston Darby.

The oaths of office of the foregoing named members were filed in the office of the county clerk, as required by law.

The Board was called to order by S. Rusling Ryno, clerk of the Board.

The roll was called as follows:

Clark Township, Benj. King; Cranford, E. K. Adams; Elizabeth City, Jacob Brucklacher, Jos. McCandless, Thomas J. Pierson, Emil Klee; Fanwood Township, John Robison; Linden Township, Henry Krouse; New Providence Township, John F. Wahl; Plainfield City, J. Frank Hubbard, W. A. Westphal; Rahway City, George B. Cladek, John J. Marsh; Springfield Township, Peter H. Meisel; Summit City, Wm. H. Swain, John N. Cady; Union Township, Noah Woodruff; Town of Westfield, W. W. Connoly, M. M. Scudder; Mountainside, Elston Darby.

All members were present—20.

The clerk stated that the first business was the election of a director, and called for nominations.

J. Frank Hubbard was nominated for director by Freeholder Connoly, and seconded by Freeholder Swain; there were no other nominations.

The clerk requested Freeholders Robison and Swain to act as tellers.

It was ordered that the clerk cast the ballot, and he thereupon cast the ballot for J. Frank Hubbard for director, and who was then declared elected as director for the legal term.

The director was escorted to the chair by the tellers, and briefly returned his thanks for the honor again conferred upon him.

By Freeholder Connoly:

Resolved, That the salary of the clerk of this Board be fixed at the sum of $600 per annum.

On motion of Freeholder King the resolution was adopted without dissent.

Freeholder Connoly nominated S. Rusling Ryno for clerk, which was seconded by Freeholder Cladek; there were no other nominations, and the director, on motion, cast the ballot for S. Rusling Ryno for clerk, who was thereupon declared elected as clerk for the legal term.

The clerk briefly returned his thanks.

By Freeholder Connoly:

Resolved, That the salary of the county attorney be fixed at the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) per annum.

On motion of Freeholder King the resolution was adopted without dissent.

Freeholder Connoly nominated W. R. Codington for county attorney, which was seconded by Freeholder Brucklacher; there were no other nominations, and the clerk, on motion, cast the ballot for W. R. Codington, who was thereupon declared elected as county attorney for the legal term.

The county attorney then briefly expressed his appreciation of the honor again conferred upon him.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That the director be and is hereby constituted a member of all committees.

On motion of Freeholder King the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Pierson:

Resolved, That all special committees heretofore appointed be continued to act until the object for which committee were appointed is accomplished, the director to fill any vacancies existing in such committees

On motion of Freeholder Brucklacher the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder King:

Resolved, That the regular meetings of this Board be held on the first Thursday in each month, except when said Thursday falls on a legal holiday, and then the regular monthly meeting shall be held at such time as the Board may direct.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Brucklacher:

Resolved, That when the Board adjourns it stands adjourned to meet on Thursday, May 26th, 1904, at 2:30 p. m.

On motion of Freeholder Robison the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder McCandless:

Resolved, That the county collector be authorized to have his annual report printed in pamphlet form at a cost not to exceed one hundred and twenty-five dollars ($125.)

Freeholder Krouse moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Woodruff:

Resolved, That the rules governing the last Board be adopted as the rules of this Board.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse the resolution was adopted without dissent.

Resolved, That the proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders be published in the following papers at the compensation of one hundred dollars each per annum, viz.: Elizabeth Daily Journal, Daily Leader, Freie Presse, Evening Times, Courier News, Daily Press, Summit Record, Summit Herald, Westfield Leader, Union County Standard, Cranford Citizen, Passaic Valley News, New Jersey Advocate and Union Democrat, provided said minutes are published within twenty days from each meeting of the Board.

Freeholder Krouse moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

The following protest was presented and read:

To the Honorable the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen: The undersigned, members of above named Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, respectfully protest to the seating of Elston Darby as a member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of said county, representing the borough of Mountainside in said county, for the reason that said borough is not, under the law, as we understand it, entitled to representation as a borough in this Board; that the gentleman claiming to have been elected for the said borough of Mountainside was elected without any warrant or authority of law; no other borough in the county is represented in the Board, apart from the township of which it constitutes a part. If said borough has any right to representation in the Board, such right, it would appear to us, must be exercised in connection with the town of Westfield, formerly Westfield township, from which it has never been separated, so far as its right to participate in the election of a member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders is concerned. This protest is not made for partisan ends, but because we conceive it to be in the interest of fairness, equity and good government.

Very respectfully, etc.,

Noah Woodruff, Wm. H. Swain, Emil Klee, J. J. Marsh, George B. Cladek, Thos. J. Pierson, Joseph McCandless, Jacob Brucklacher, M. M. Scudder.

On motion of Freeholder King the foregoing was received and referred to the county attorney, and to the legal questions committee, when the latter was appointed.

The director announced the appointment of the committee on appropriation as follows, viz.:

Freeholders Krouse, Westphal, Connoly, Brucklacher and Woodruff.

Freeholder Krouse moved to adjourn, which was carried.

The director declared the board adjourned until Thursday, May 26, 1904, at 2:30 p. m.

S. Rusling Ryno, Clerk.

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Plainfield People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling,
The pains and aches of kidney ills
Are serious—if neglected.

A Plainfield citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid little attention to them. They, however, grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

KEEP DEATH RATE DOWN.

Hospital Physicians Get Rid of Patients Whose Cases Appear to Be Hopeless.

When Mr. Smith realized that no matter how good his plays were, the St. Louis public could not or would not appreciate them, he packed up his manuscripts and came to Chicago. He had no sooner come here, says the Inter Ocean, than a severe illness necessitated his going to a hospital, and it was while an inmate of the convalescent ward that a little incident occurred of which he determined to make use at some future time.

Among the occupants of the ward was a theatrical manager whose heart was three times its natural size, a thing which Mr. Smith, of St. Louis, had reason to believe was unusual with theatrical managers. Although he was by no means well, he was recovering to his entire satisfaction. One afternoon when all the men were in a comparatively cheerful frame of mind, conversation turned to the low death rate at this particular hospital.

"There is nothing wonderful about that," said the theatrical manager, who seemed to know a great deal about hospitals, "whenever the doctors have reason to believe that a patient is going to die, they have him transferred to another hospital. So you see it is an easy matter for the authorities here to report a low death rate."

The men were still in the midst of their discussion when several doctors entered the room and walked to the bedside of the theatrical manager. They stood with their hands behind their backs and talked about his case in scientific terms. At last one of the doctors remarked to the manager:

"Yes, you are getting on very well; very well, indeed; but we hardly have the facilities here for taking care of you, and we have decided to send you to a bigger hospital on the West side."

The theatrical manager turned a dingy yellow. The other doctors nodded their assent, and walked complacently from the room. The patient was immediately removed. Two days later the men in the convalescent ward heard that he was dead.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 3.

Topic.—Ways of consecrating ourselves to our country.—Rom. xiii, 1-7; I Pet. ii, 13-17.

Christianity was predetermined of God to be a universal religion. It does not therefore advocate any particular form of human government for the obvious reason that one form of government would not meet the wants and needs of all people. We believe that for Americans self government is the only thing, and yet our government has decided that for the 10,000,000 inhabitants of the Philippine Islands self government is not the thing. But, while advocating no particular form of government, Christianity teaches that all governments are from God and that they should be respected and obeyed. Every Christian should therefore desire to consecrate himself in every way to his country's best good. He is a most ungrateful citizen who partakes of all the advantages of citizenship and then declines to do anything for the benefit of his country.

How may we therefore as Christian citizens celebrate this anniversary of our country's birthday by consecrating ourselves to our country?

1. Let us consecrate ourselves to our country by respecting its government. God teaches us to respect human governments even though the occupants of official positions may be personally unworthy. In a government like ours many unworthy men are certain to be elected or appointed to official positions. The danger therefore is that we may lose respect for the office as well as for the officers. Indeed this is a prevalent condition in our land. The license with which public officials are attacked in the press and on the platform is teaching many to lose respect for our various forms of government and even to wonder whether government by the people can be successfully carried on. But such logic is false. Let us not be deceived. Let us even respect an unworthy man, if compelled to do so, for his office's sake rather than lose respect for the office for his sake. "Fear God; honor the king."

2. Let us consecrate ourselves to our country by participating in it by government. Ours is self government, and every citizen should take his part in it—in the selection of candidates, in their election, in supporting good measures and in opposing evil ones, and, if called upon to do so, holding office under the government. Failure to participate in governmental affairs rather than participation in them should be proscribed by the church of Christ. There are "bosses" and "rings" and "machines" in our political life today largely because the best citizens of the land fail to fulfill their duties as citizens and are indifferent to the affairs of the government. And yet God commands us to "be subject unto the powers that be," to "render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's"—yet how can we do it when we neglect our highest duty to our land—the duty of participating, as citizens, in the affairs of the government—municipal, state or national? We cannot, and therefore should consecrate ourselves to this work.

A Convention Button.

The Buffalo convention button is unique in that the Endeavor monogram, sheltering a healthy specimen of the bison tribe, indicates where the convention will be held. The button has come to play an important part in telling the story not only of international conventions, but of state gatherings as well.

In New Zealand.

The official programme of Dr. Clark's meetings in New Zealand is an elaborate affair covering thirty-two pages. It provides for meetings in thirteen of the principal centers in the island, covering eighteen days. On some days Dr. Clark is scheduled for three and four addresses. New Zealand has about 200 Christian Endeavor societies.

Recent Gains.

In the increase campaign Maine, North Dakota, Oklahoma and Indian Territory have each recently passed the 10 per cent increase mark, and Illinois has rolled up a complete 100 new societies.

Endeavors That Count.

Camps of Mexican and Japanese workmen have been visited by the First Congregational Endeavorers, Pasadena, Cal., with religious services in their native tongues. In one, thirty Spanish Testaments were presented. When these camps moved they were turned over to another Endeavor society. The Endeavorers would have entered a camp of Greeks, but could find no one who spoke the language.

The Christian Endeavor societies in the cathedral of Gibraltar are flourishing, both Young People's and Junior, under the earnest patronage of Archdeacon Govett, who is most interested in the work among young people.

About 200 conversions in the Cook County hospital, Chicago, are reported in two months in 1903, through the labors of the Endeavorers, who hold meetings in twenty-one wards every Sunday and Wednesday night. Not long ago they distributed about 3,500 bouquets, besides holding a number of concerts and visiting many.

TALL AND SHORT WOMEN.

They Have to Adopt Separate Versions of the Prevailing Modes.

The fashion of piping, gauging and ruching is well fitted for summer costumes, but at the same time it is very trying to small or stout people. These last should remember that styles may be modified for their benefit and still remain in good taste. The full gathered ruffles are especially trying, and no woman under the average height should even think of them. For the short woman there are skirts eased in a trifle around the hips and trimmed around the bottom very simply with two or three folds or, better still, a couple of ruchings to give the effect of fullness. There are also the pin tucked skirts, which are allowed to flare from above the knees down and are only trimmed with a bias fold or two around the feet.

Nothing is more unsightly than the serpent-like skirt of a few seasons ago done in muslin.

A cream spotted muslin seen recently was trimmed with insertions of plaited muslin edged on either side with tiny baby blue ribbon. These insertions became wider and wider as they neared the bottom, finishing at last in a mass of frills. As the wearer lifted her gown one caught glances of a bewitching blue glace silk petticoat. The waist was buttoned in the back and was adorned with a scroll pattern of the plaited muslin edged with the ribbon ruching. Above this there was a deep yoke shape of white Irish lace over chiffon, while the elbow sleeves were edged with ruchings and plaitings.

The picture shows a foulard silk gown trimmed with yellow lace. There is a particularly good long shouldered effect, and the skirt illustrates an elaborate shirred model.

The Latest Hats Turn Up at the Side. Shirt Waist Suits.

Many of the new hats turn up at the sides and are trimmed on the upturned brim by a bunch of roses or a coq plume. Small toques are trimmed on both sides, geisha fashion, and dressy hats are loaded with long and handsome ostrich feathers.

Taffetas of every shade vie with foulard gowns for shirt waist dresses. Some of these taffetas are almost white in color, being merely ruled here and there by hair lines of black. Others are in the new coral pink and old rose tones, the pattern being a tiny check. Still others again are in a grayish green changeable tone with silvery effects.

Envelope shirt waist hats are made of lightweight white straw, turned up on one side and filled in with a twist of white chiffon or a wreath of white roses.

The picture shows a child's dress of white lawn and lace over pink silk. The ribbons are also pink and are run through insertions. With this is worn a poke bonnet trimmed with two roses under the brim and pink ribbon.

A STORY OF YOUNG ILLINOIS

By MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD

Copyright, 1899, by Herbert S. Stone & Co.

CHAPTER I.

Abraham Lincoln lay stretched on his stomach, his head supported by his hands, facing the cooper's fireplace. A blaze of shavings and blocks lighted cobwebby beams overhead, clean staves and hoop-poles standing around the wall, the cooper's work-bench and tools, the lank, aguish face of a man who sat on a keg beside the hearth, holding a book from which the young student recited. The shop had part of a log left out in the side, filled, like all New Salem windows, with oiled paper instead of glass. Outer darkness made this a blurred oblong framed by logs.

People knew that the cooper let young Lincoln turn his shop into a study every evening, and no one before this night had come picking at the latch.

"The string's pulled in Minter," said Lincoln, turning his head, as suppressed laughter and a shuffle of feet on the log step disturbed his recitation. "Never mind the boys; they'll go way pretty soon."

"Maybe the Grove fellows have come to town," said the aguish young man on the keg, listening anxiously. "They'd as lief break in the cooper's paper as not."

"I reckon we'd better hurry, anyway," urged the student, and he continued repeating as rapidly as he could the remainder of the lesson.

Presently with a click the door turned back on its wooden hinges and bumped the wall.

"I know you, Slicky," declared the interrupted scholar without looking. "Come in. Folks wouldn't give you the name of Slicky Green if you hadn't a way of getting what you want." He scooped a double handful of blocks and shavings on the blaze, and, warned by some unusual restraint at the door, hastily drew up his length before the fire. It showed him a slim giant in blue homespun trousers, which did not quite cover his ankles, and an open roundabout hanging loosely from the shoulders, and betraying the fact that his vest was buttoned crooked. Seeing a stranger on the threshold with the boy he called Slicky, Lincoln ran his hand through his dark hair, leaving it tossed in every direction.

"How did you know I was home from college, Abe? Dick and I rode in from the farm on purpose to see you. This is Dick Yates, one of our boys from the Jacksonville school. Dick, this is Abe Lincoln."

"How do you do, Dick?" said Abe, offering his hand.

"How do you do, Abe?" said Dick, seizing it.

"And here's our schoolmaster, Minter Grayham," continued Slicky, presenting the pale occupant of the keg. Minter rose with the dignity of a man who often pronounced words of five syllables. The mounting firelight found reflecting threads in Dick Yates' bright auburn hair. The schoolmaster thought him a beautiful young fellow, with modest manners. His features, perfectly modeled and rosy as a girl's, were manly, from full forehead to outstanding chin. Though of a robust, well-knit figure for a lad of 18, his head barely reached Lincoln's shoulder as the two stood looking at each other.

"I've been telling Dick so much about you, Abe, that he wanted to see you," said Slicky.

Abe blushed and Dick blushed, with eager friendliness and recognition of power.

"Are you studying Blackstone?" inquired Dick, indicating the huge book which Minter Grayham held closed.

"Yes. It's mighty interesting reading to me."

"I'm going to study law, too. But it scares me to death to begin a debate; and Slicky says you make a fine speech."

"If I ever met you as an opponent, I'd want some advantage. S'pose we make a compact to work together on our first case?"

"Done!" said Yates. "It's as good as won."

"William Green!" spoke a girl's voice from the humid spring darkness outside; "have you forgot how bad the wolves are in the timber we have to ride through?"

"Come in, girls!" exclaimed the proprietor of the rough study. His tutor echoed the invitation. "It's Abe's recess. Come in, Nancy and Ann Rutledge, and the rest of you."

Half a dozen figures emerged from the night of the village street, bearing Nancy Green company, laughing and half reluctant; and let themselves be coaxed into sharing a long bench which the boys drew up before the fire. It was like an invasion of swallows. Abe raked up all the shavings and blocks and brought them to the hearth. A festive spirit filled the place. Nearly all the girls were bareheaded, in linsey dresses. They had stepped out of their homes along the winding road for the mere pleasure of being abroad and free from the tasks at the end of the day; with the exception of Nancy Green, and Martha Bell Clary, who had come from Clary's Grove to stay all night with Mahala Cameron. A similar group of young people in a French cabin would have cleared the floor directly for dancing, all the merrier for having met unexpectedly. But these children of serious Massachusetts, Tennessee, Carolina, and Kentucky pioneers held experience meeting instead. The state was still so young, and their knowledge of the wide world so limited, that they and their elders took primitive delight in telling over their own adventures. The oftener a story was repeated the more dignity it acquired.

"Talking about wolves," said young Green, when nobody had said a word about wolves since the girls' entrance, looking at his sister with sly enjoyment, "I was going afoot to the mill early one morning last summer, and met two in the path—a black one and a gray one. I stood still and looked at them, and they stood still and looked at me. I knew if I turned to run they would pull me down in a minute. Finally I whipped out my jack-knife and cut a rosin-weed, and lashed at them, yelling with all my might. They were so scarred they ran like sheep."

"Or like that wagon that you stopped before we came to Illinois," retorted his sister Nancy. "When daddy was going to move from Car'lina he bought a new wagon. We children had never seen such a thing, and we climbed the spokes, and William took hold of the chain on the tongue. The wagon started down hill, and everybody let go but William. The tongue ran into a tree and broke, and left the chain in his hand. 'I was going to hold on if it killed me, mother,' says he. 'For if that wagon had got away, how were we going to move out to Illinois?'"

"Speaking about sheep," continued young Green, as if he had not heard the wagon story, "daddy told Nancy when she was herding the sheep, that she must carry a bag with her and save the wool that stuck to the bushes. Our old ewe was tame, and it was easier to pick the wool off her back than to hunt through the bushes. So Nancy picked the old ewe, and came home with a full poke two nights hand running. The first night daddy praised her; but the second night he found it out!"

"I wasn't ten years old then," remembered Nancy; "and my conscience hurt me worse the first night than daddy's punishment did the second."

"That reminds me, Nancy," said Lincoln, "of what your mother told me Slicky did when he was about ten years old. He brought in some frozen eggs and raked out the coals and put the eggs to thaw on her best pewter platter. She said when she found the melted pewter running all over the hearth she felt discouraged about him!"

Ann Rutledge laughed, and flung one of her thick auburn braids behind her shoulder.

"Haven't you any tale to tell of Abe, Minter Grayham?"

Minter Grayham, used to having his name prolonged by the soft southern drawl with gentle familiarity, smiled and shook his head. No one around the cooper's fire-place had a sense of the degradation of poverty or the triviality of any human experience. Life in New Salem was full of zest which they brought from Massachusetts, from Kentucky and Tennessee and Carolina mountains, and from good English ancestry; though it was merely the ordinary pioneer life of a young state.

As Abe cast on more fuel and the blaze flared higher, a scream like a rabbit's pierced the doorway, and something writhed over the step on the puncheon floor. A furious woman, the vision of a witch, with beard growing tufted on her long chin, whacked the writhing object with a crutch as hard as she could plant the blows. Ann Rutledge screamed.

"Hold on!" cried Lincoln in two or three long strides. "Don't do that!" He received on his arm the last stroke of the stick, which the woman carried with her as she ran from him.

"Oh, my dear!" said Ann, brushing shavings off a little girl whom she helped up from the floor, "are you hurt?"

"Sally got me that time!" the child answered, hopping to balance herself, and laughing while tears ran down her cheeks. "She took my crutch from me so I couldn't run. But I saw this door open, and goody! I'm in!"

"And she was born a white woman!" cried Ann indignantly. "Sally Shickshack behaves like a savage! You would think she was the Indian and Shickshack the white."

"I'm nimbler than Sally when I have my crutch," laughed the child, still weeping through her laughter, and trying to swallow her sobs. Ann and Dick Yates helped her to the cooper's bench. Piteous and courageous as the little figure was, the other girls looked at her with disfavor, and one of the younger Rutledges whispered to Mahala Cameron that "a certain person was always tagging Ann," as if resentnig interference with a sister's privilege.

"Never mind, Peggy," said Lincoln, cheerfully. "Sally will make a man of you if hard knocks can do it. Where are Shickshack and the boy?"

"They haven't come in from hunting yet."

"And Sally took the opportunity to enjoy herself."

He drew his own large bandana handkerchief out of his pocket and kindly wiped the child's face. She hiccoughed in her effort to control more tears, and smiled at him. Ann kept one arm around her, and brushed down the hair which straggled to her shoulders. Peggy had a colorless, aquiline face, and a prominent though tiny mouth, her short upper lip failing to quite conceal her teeth. Her dress was of soft tanned deerskin and showed by its lines that it had been cut out by a masculine knife instead of by feminine scissors. There was scarcely a fold to conceal her slim shape, and its scantiness displayed one moccasined foot hanging down. Her other foot was curled under the bench, while pointing straight at the fire was a wooden leg strapped to her knee. She tried with careful hands to spread the skin drapery over it.

Dick Yates could not help looking at her with curiosity. Even in that time when so many mixed elements went to the creating of a settlement, she was an unusual figure. Ann Rutledge, seeking on Peggy's head and back the welts left by the crutch, noticed the inquiry in his eye and answered it.

"She is not Sally Shickshack's child, or Shickshack's, either. They have been in New Salem only a little while. He is a Sac Indian and likes to live among white men. His white wife you saw. She has a stepson, I think, a Canadien boy. There are four in the family. Shickshack and his wife have no children of their own, though people say she was married twice before. He is a good Indian."

The good Indian that moment appeared at the door with his wife's stepson behind him. That he had almost come upon his wife in the act of using the crutch was evident, for he carried the crutch in his hand, and had not yet unslung from his back a full game-bag. His gun he rested against the wall within the door.

"Come in, everybody," cried young Green. "All New Salem is on a frolic to-night. Sally has just been here enjoying herself, Shickshack, and we expected you and Antywine would follow."

The Indian with dignity stepped upon the puncheons, and as soon as he saw Peggy a look of satisfaction relieved the tension of his face. She sat still within Ann Rutledge's arm, but gave the men of her family an affectionate glance. Antywine, who had probably been christened Antoine, and was known to bear the name of La Chance, kept shyly in the background, lifting himself with a graceful spring to sit by the vise on the cooper's high work-bench. But Shickshack strode forward to sit in full council, as became his age and character, Minter Grayham hastily giving him the keg.

The blaze showed his moccasins roughened by much tramping, and his leggins fringed down the outside seams. But Shickshack had compromised with the white man's dress by substituting a roundabout for a hunting-shirt. This was buttoned around the breech-cloth girding his waist, but stood open, showing his sinewy red neck at the top. He had also let his hair grow and it made a black thatch upon his head.

Dick Yates gave Shickshack the grave salutation which he knew an Indian loved. The Sac fastened his eyes on Dick as the chief man at the fire, and the one for whom perhaps it had been kindled. Though his face did not betray it, he was pleased also to hear the young pale face talking to Peggy under the chatter of other voices.

HOW TO OBTAIN
Summer Boarders!

There is in New York City one daily newspaper which has made tremendous gains in popular favor during the past five years. Its net cash paid circulation is over 100,000 copies daily throughout every section of New York City (including Brooklyn), larger than that of any other recognized resort medium. This newspaper's readers are among the wealthy, and well-to-do, intelligent people—those who can afford and do take extended vacations in the country during the Summer. It carries more resort advertising than any other morning newspaper, so the public naturally look to it for information as to where to go.

An advertisement in its columns is, therefore, exceedingly valuable and sure to produce results. This paper is

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

ON THE THAMES.

Annual Regatta of Harvard and Yale at New London.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 30.—The annual regatta of Harvard and Yale oarsmen scheduled for Thames course today serves to transform this old town. Thousands of visitors have poured into the quaint little city, and the crimson of fair Harvard and the blue of old Yale mingle in easy style.

The prevailing odds are on Yale at 2 to 1. At one of the hotels a slate of results that seemed to have some supporters had it that the four oared race will surely go to Harvard, that there is every prospect of a fairly stiff fight between the freshmen eights, with the probabilities in favor of Harvard, and that the Yale varsity eight will win the big race after a grueling contest.

In the toss for positions Harvard had phenomenal luck and won all three choices. Captain Dillingham chose the west lane for the university eight and four oared races and the east lane for the freshman event.

The events will be rowed as follows:

Freshmen race, two miles, from railroad drawbridge up stream.

Four oared race, two miles, from the navy yard up stream, immediately after the freshmen race.

University race, four miles, down stream.

Convention at Bangor.

BANGOR, Me., June 30.—The Republican state convention has opened here. Hon. William T. Cobb of Rockland was nominated as a candidate for governor in the September election. Only one ballot was required, Mr. Cobb having 38 votes to spare. Hearty receptions were accorded Senator Hale, who presided as permanent chairman, and Congressmen Burleigh, Littlefield and Powers, who were among the delegates. The platform adopted declares for protection, t[illegible] reciprocity of Blaine, Arthur, Harrison, McKinley and Dingley, indorses the administration of President Roosevelt and pledges a support of the Republican national ticket. Supporters of the rival candidates for the gubernatorial nominations made repeated demonstrations, and the convention was at all times interesting and enthusiastic.

Bank Cashier Under Arrest.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Colonel Jacob H. Plain, cashier of the German-American National bank of Aurora, Ill., has been arrested charged with the misappropriation of $60,000 of the funds of the bank. The peculations have extended over a period of three years, during which time bank examiners have several times gone over the affairs of the bank and reported all correct. When the shortage was finally discovered by a special bank examiner Mr. Plain was placed under arrest.

SPORTING NEWS.

DIAMOND DUST.

Frank Clarkson, the Harvard pitcher, joined the New York Americans at Boston, yesterday.

For some unknown reason "Kid" Walton did not play with the Elizabeth Stars on Sunday.

It is said that "Lefty" Davis will pitch for the Ridgewoods against the Cuban X Giants on Sunday.

Co-operation in the management of a ball nine is a good thing, but too much management is disastrous.

The Reform A. C. will play the East Millstone team at East Millstone on Saturday. George Dupee will pitch for the home nine.

It is stated by a relative of John Ramsey, of High Bridge, that he recently sustained an injury to his side while pitching baseball.

McGeehan, who pitched the winning game for St. Mary's last year against Westfield, is doing great work with the Harrisburgs this season.

Farmer, who had his hair cut recently, is not altogether unlike Sampson of old. His strength for hitting the ball seems to have taken a drop.

It is possible that Manager Johnston may use Pitcher Badgley, of Lehigh University, either on Saturday or in one of the Fourth of July contests. It is not known which game Davis will pitch.

There is a rumor that Manager Johnston has secured McManus to play right field for Alis. This player will be remembered as one of the best. He has been with a Pennsylvania team that recently disbanded.

The employes of J. A. Smith & Bros.' grocery are practicing every night in preparation for their contest with the clerks from Neuman Bros.' store on Fourth of July. The game will be played on St. Mary's field.

John Carty, who was chosen manager of St. Mary's proposed baseball team, informed a reporter for The Daily Press last night, that no arrangements have been made to have the Hobokens play here under the St. Mary name.

GOLF.

The Westfield Golf Club team will meet the Park Golf Club team on the borough course on Saturday.

Frank O. Reinhart, the crack golfer, has returned from Princeton. This season he has been rather inactive regarding golf tournaments.

In addition to the regular holiday events scheduled for the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club on Fourth of July, there will be several special events.

PIRATES GAVE A SHOW.

West End Club Raised Money for Baseball Paraphernalia.

The West End Pirates raised money for new baseball paraphernalia Tuesday and yesterday afternoons with a production of "The Coming Man" and "Bill Brothers" in Westphal's barn on West Fourth street. The cast included in the following:

William Westphal, Howard Firstbrook, Clinton Firstbrook, Howard Sweeney, James Ennis, Joseph Roach, William Doyle, Charles Oregar and Thomas Lappan A special feature of the entertainment was a five-round boxing bout between John Day and Andrew Brady. It ended in a draw.

Silver Hose Cart Not to Go.

In its article upon the supposed probability of the storing of the old Amity hose cart in Rahway. The Daily Press was in error yesterday. The story resulted from a confusion of the Gazelle hand engine, which has been loaned to the Rahway Exempts, with the silver-mounted cart in the mind of a reporter.

Robert Crane, of East Second street, left town yesterday for an extended vacation trip.

Robert Hand, of Fairview avenue, will cruise in the South Sea this summer on the Standard Oil ship Eclipse.

NAIL PIERCED HIS BRAIN

PECULIAR ACCIDENT PROVED FATAL TO JOHNNY RIELLEY.

John Rielley, aged 8 years, died at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, the result of brain affection caused by a fall four weeks ago at his home in South Plainfield. The lad was running about the yard when he stumbled and fell on a plank in the end of which was a nail. The boy's forehead struck the nail and it penetrated the skull fully three inches, reaching the brain tissue.

The lad was at home a few days after the injury before he was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital and upon his arrival at the institution the physicians was afraid of brain affection. Everything known to surgery was done in the hope of saving the boy's life and at once time it was believed he might recover. Several days ago he began to grow worse and in spite of the best treatment he passed away yesterday afternoon.

The funeral services will be held from the residence of the parents at South Plainfield tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

SOME MORE SPEAKEASY CASES

SENTENCE IS SUSPENDED ON PAOL AND BROWN AFTER A WARNING.

Lorenz Paoli, of North avenue, who entered a plea of non vult in the action brought against him on a charge of keeping a "speak-easy," was arraigned in the County Court at Elizabeth yesterday for sentence. Judge Vail suspended sentence.

William G. DeMeza, Esq., represented Mr. Paoli, also Mrs. Carbone and D. J. Ramazotti, of Park avenue. There were two indictments in each case. Mrs. Carbone and Mr. Ramazotti were both acquitted. As these were second offenses had the accused been convicted they no doubt would have received very heavy fines. Mr. DeMeza's defense of his clients was considered clever.

Sentence was suspended also on James Brown, another Plainfielder, who was similarly warned that it would go hard with him in case he is brought before the court again.

POLITICAL NOTES.

James R. Nugent, delegate to the St. Louis convention from the Seventh Congressional District, has sent a letter to each member of the New Jersey delegation containing information relative to the trip to the convention city. The letters were sent by Mr. Nugent in his capacity of treasurer of the delegation, to which position he was assigned by State Chairman William B. Gourley, in accordance with custom. Mr. Nugent informed the delegates that former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., has offered to bear the expenses of transportation to St. Louis and return and that he has accepted the offer, on behalf of the delegates. The delegation will leave for the convention city on the St. Louis limited, on the morning of Saturday, July 2.

PERSONAL.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy Hillman have returned from their honeymoon.

Mrs. Daniel Dodge, of Bayonne, is visiting relatives in this city for several days.

Mrs. H. S. Bonnell, of Orange, has been visiting her brother, A. J. Brunson, of this city.

Clayton M. Nagle, the druggist, will soon move to West Front street, opposite Washington avenue, which property he has purchased.

Mrs. Ella B. Smith and daughter, of Westervelt avenue, leave next week for New Rochelle, where they will spend part of the summer.

The St. Louis Fair in Pictures.

Ten parts of the New York World's photographic art portfolios of the St. Louis Fair are now ready. Each part contains sixteen superbly engraved large photographic reproductions of scenes in and about the fair. To turn the pages of these several art albums is next best thing to a trip to St. Louis. The buildings are accurately reproduced, as are the plazas, the statuary, and many of the most interesting exhibits. The entire ten parts can be obtained for one dollar. Send one dollar to The World, Pulitzer building, New York, and the portfolios will be sent to your charges prepaid.

Patterson's Store Alterations.

Extensive alterations have been arranged for by the Patterson Brothers, formerly of this city, but at present of Los Angeles, California, to improve the store property on West Front street, where they were for many years engaged in the wholesale and retail tobacco business. The inside partitions are to be torn out and a flight of stairs built outside the store, doing away with the present inside stairway and improving the interior appearance of the place.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow night and elect officers.

His Fifth Birthday Celebrated.

LeRoy Mills, of West Front street, gave a party in honor of his fifth birthday to twenty-five of his little friends yesterday afternoon. These were present: Jennie Roe, Clara Mills, Beatrice Ackerman, Mildred and Walter Smith, Helen McCarty, Kate Nolan, Edith Swarts, Hazel Blair, Annie Whitley, Thelma Cook, Grace and Ralph Tudgate, John and Jules Kriney, Rolie Apgar and Marian Smith, Harry and Howard Folk, Bobby, Wilson and Adolf Mills, Roy and Helen Mills.

POPULARITY OF HOUSEBOAT

Summer Outings on the Waterways of This Country Are Coming More Into Favor.

Dealers in boats say there is an increased call this year over last for houseboats, and some of them believe that this way of taking a summer outing is at last coming into popular favor after a delay that has always been inexplicable, says the Philadelphia Record.

In London the fad has flourished on the Thames to such an extent as to necessitate special legislation to regulate it, and at certain times the boats have been so numerous as to make it possible to walk across their decks from one bank to the other.

In this country the trouble seems to have been that there is too much rather than too little available room, and the long reaches of water, such as those in Barnegat bay and other places which are ideal for sailing, are found rather lonesome for living on the anchored houseboat. It is to be noticed that the enthusiast of one year, full of really convincing arguments concerning the absence of taxes and other possible economies, is ready to sell his craft the next year after having tried it, and often finds it hard to make a satisfactory sale.

A company which was organized to build houseboats to order and to keep a number on hand for rent went into business on an extensive scale in New York about ten years ago, getting out a magazine as a further means of popularizing the idea, but only lasted a year. Since then there has been a small increase in the total number of boats thus used, and now the hopeful ones think the boom is at last in sight.

Surgeons as Guests of Central.

Under arrangements made personally by Passenger Agent W. G. Besler, all the surgeons of the Central New Jersey Railroad, of whom Dr. J. T. Fritts is one, together with their wives, were tendered an outing to Lake Hopatcong today. The special train with the party on board passed through here shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. It was made up of No. 900, which is the directors' car, a day coach and the parlor car Atlas. Dr. and Mrs. Fritts were aboard.

Y. M. C. A. Tennis Results.

In last night's match in the Y. M. C. A. doubles tennis tournament, Collier and Long defeated Gavett and Strong two straight sets by scores of 6 to 3 and 6-0. The match was a fairly easy one for the winners. It begins to look as if the finals would be between Koons and Miner on one side and Collier and Long on the other. If such should prove the case, the deciding game will be well worth witnessing and should call out a good-sized crowd.

Business Transfer.

Louis C. Ortner, the Park avenue grocer, has sold out his entire stock to M. B. Walker, the Westfield grocer, and will not engage in active business for a time. Mr. Ortner's health has been rather poor lately and he takes this action on his physician's advice.

Precautions Against Fire.

Arrangements have been made to have a second team in the borough fire house over the Fourth. This is a precautionary measure against the expected crop of fireworks blazes.

Mrs. Devine Buried.

The funeral of Mrs. Catharine Devine took place this morning, mass being said in St. Mary's church. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

—The City Union of King's Daughters has postponed the opening of the baby camp until next week.
